We are fortunate in having secured a part of the stock from the liquidation sale of the Percy Rug Company, handlers of the rugs made by the famous Whittall Mills of Worcester, Mass.

These rugs so closely imitate the Oriental Hand Made Rugs that it is practically impossible to see any difference in them except perhaps that they are better made. The looms in the Whittall Mills have produced what rug makers all over the world have been undertaking for years.

Perfect Reproduction of Oriental Rugs.

The colorings are most delightful and the designs just such as people have most admired in the Orientals. The pile is high and soft and will wear almost a lifetime.

The sizes run all the way from the little door rug to the great room rug, and there are many narrow and wide hall sizes so that any room or any hall or stairs may be perfectly fitted.

The prices as will be seen below are so far below the cost of Oriental rugs and so much reduced from the regular cost of these rugs that it will pay anyone to make an extra effort to buy while this sale is on.

Game Bill Passes Unanimously.

Senate bill No. 21, making the season for the killing of reed birds extend from September 1 to December 31, likewise prohibiting the killing, injuring or capturing those birds after sundown, got thirty-six affirmative votes in the House at Trenton Tuesday. There was not a dissenting vote.

SPORTS, HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

An excellent picture of "Teddy" Shortman, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Roseville, where he is one of the star players on the Roseville A. C., appeared in yesterday's Newark News.

Charley Speer, George Duquette and Sammy Hoffman will be on the pitching staff of the Newark, Atlantic League team. The combination is believed to be one of the strongest in the league. There is a rumor that Ray Egner, formerly of Trenton, may also wear a Newark uniform. Jack Rothfuss, of Newark, and Justice, of Trenton, are candidates for the initial bag position.

Hal. Chase has joined the Highlanders at Washington, where they play their first game today with the Senators in opening the American League season.

Jimmy Sebring, who has been coaching the Penn State College team, has now taken the Washington and Jefferson nine under his wing until the Tri-State League season opens, when he will report to Williamsport.

"Lou" Wiltse has reported to the Johnstown Tri-State League Club, where he will be on the pitching staff this season.

Clark Griffith, manager of the Highlanders, is quite ill at Lynchburg, Va., threatened with a nervous breakdown.

The National and American Leagues will open their season today. The New York Giants will meet the Quakers at home, while the Highlanders will oppose the Senators at Washington.

"Warry" MacLaughlin will leave next week for Springfield, Mass., to join the Connecticut State League team at that place. "Warry" says that he is in better condition than ever and able to make a good record.

GOLF.

The appointment of J. Whitney Baker as chairman of the golf committee at the Plainfield Country Club meets with the approval of the membership in general.

The clubs in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association have been divided into two sections—A and B as follows: Section A—Montclair, Morris County, North Jersey, Essex County, Baltusrol, Hackensack, Plainfield, Ocean County, Richmond County, Century Country and Dunwoodie County Clubs. Section B—Apawamis, Nassau, Siwanoy, Shinnecock, Wee Burn, Englewood, Ardsley, Brooklawn, Dyker Meadow and Fairfield Clubs. There will be five team matches, the dates to be announced later.

The golf committee of the Park Golf Club is busily engaged in preparing the schedule for the season. It will be ready for distribution in the course of ten days.

When the golfers gather at Garden City on April 18, 19 and 20 for the annual invitation tournament they will have a chance to try out to their satisfaction the remodeled course. Last fall the undulating greens and other improvements were only in a state of semi-completion.

A number of interesting team matches have been arranged by the Princeton Golf Club. On April 17 the collegians will compete at Lawrenceville, and on April 27 they will visit Montclair for their annual contest.

After an absence abroad of several months, George Low, the Baltusrol professional, is back at the old stand. Low played over a number of the well-known Scotch courses while abroad.d

Killed By Hydrophobia.

New York, April 11.—Nursing a wound which had been inflicted by a pet terrier in January, James J. Clark, who was on his way to the Pasteur Institute in this city, went suddenly into convulsions on the steamship Chapin and died yesterday morning while the vessel was steaming down the Sound. Mr. Clark had been superintendent of a cotton mill in Jewett, Conn. The bite of the terrier had caused him but little trouble and he had thought no more about it until a week or so ago, when the wound became slightly inflamed. Dr. Holmes, a physician who had treated the wound, made another examination. He found nothing wrong with the bitten hand but discovered that the patient was in nervous dread of hydrophobia, a dread which he imparted to neighbors. Bits of gossip floated back to him. His mind became more and more disturbed and the place where the tiny wound had been inflicted seemed to him to become more inflamed.

H. C. Bye, of Clinton avenue, has returned from a visit with friends in New York.

New Shoe Store in Town.

F. A. Duttenhofer will open an up-to-date shoe store at 161 East Front street, Woodhull & Martin building, on Saturday. Shoes of all kinds, including the celebrated Dr. A. Reed's cushion shoe for men and women, will be kept in stock. Only the best makes, the kind that are guaranteed, will be carried. Every person visiting the store on Saturday will receive a full size box of Allen's Foot Powder free of charge.

D. A. Hurlburt Among the Poisoned.

D. A. Hurlburt, brother of J. B. Hurlburt, of The Daily Press office, was one of the 900 inmates of the National Soldiers' Home, at Leavenworth, Kansas City, suffering from ptomaine poisoning. He is now at the Hotel Victoria, Kansas City, under treatment. He is out of danger, although a majority of teh old soldiers are still in a critical condition. The veterans were poisoned by eating hash made in a copper kettle.

Dr. Stevens Moves.

Dr. Raymond Stevens, of Fairview avenue, has moved his dental parlors from Elizabeth to the Woodhull & Martin building. The offices are equipped with every modern appliance, including an electrical porcelain furnace for inlay work, and an electric engine, doing away with foot-power.

Boy Killed By Train.

Caught between the tracks, on which he had fallen after stubbing his toe on the end of a tie, Ernest Welch, 15 years old, was killed at 7 o'clock last night at Somerville. The engine and twenty cars passed over his body. The boy was the son of a wealthy farmer, who lives near that place.

Mrs. Humphrey's Last Talk.

Mrs. H. J. Humphrey, of Seattle, Wash., will close her series of meetings in this city tomorrow, when she will speak upon "The Teaching of the Word for the Body," at the meeting of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, at the W. C. T. U. rooms on Madison avenue.

Whist Club Holds a Dance.

Under the auspices of the Bridge Whist Club, and the direction of Mrs. Herbert Buxton and Mrs. Theodore Mantz, a dance was held in the Camera Club rooms, last night. About thirty people were present and the whole evening was devoted to dancing and at midnight supper was served.

No Sunday Baseball.

The Phil. Daas bill permitting Sunday exhibitions of baseball was killed in the State Senate yesterday by an adverse report from committee. This measure was twice defeated in the house before it finally passed. It is dead for this session.

A Difference of $5.

The wage recommended for the regular patrolmen by Mayor C. J. Fisk at the meeting of the Common Council Tuesday night was $83.33 a month, and not $88.33, as stated yesterday. It practically amounts to $1,000 a year.

No Secretary for Mayor.

Regarding the bill in the Legislature permitting a mayor to appoint a secretary at a salary of $1,200 a year, Mayor Fisk said today that he would not take advantage of its provisions should it become a law.

"Egypt and the Nile."

Charles W. McCutchen, of the borough, will give an illustrated lecture on "Egypt and the Nile," in the North Plainfield High School, Friday night, April 19, for the benefit of the school athletic association.

Portrait Purchase Resolution Passes.

Assemblyman James Baker's resolution, providing for the purchase of the portraits of early Governors of New Jersey, passed the House at Trenton last night.

THIS HORSE THIEF WORE REAL DIAMONDS

CAUGHT WHEN HE TRIED TO SELL RIG TO A CONSTABLE.

Richard Sullivan, 17 years old, who says he belongs to a well-to-do family of Scranton, Pa., is in the Somerset County jail at Somerville as the result of his attempt to sell a stolen rig to James A. Woods, a constable, whom he mistook for an easy-going farmer.

Sullivan, who was stylishly dressed and wore diamonds and a gold watch, was driving a mustang hitched to a new rubber-tired buggy when he met Woods near Far Hills Station yesterday morning, and after announcing that he was a horse dealer offered to sell Woods the mustang and buggy for $150. Woods dickered until the price dropped to $75, and then, under the pretext of going after the money, he went to a telephone office and communicated with County Prosecutor Reger, who ordered him to arrest Sullivan on suspicion.

In the county jail last night Sullivan confessed to Sheriff Cooper that he had stolen the horse from Gardner & Van Nest, of Dover. He was found to be well supplied with money, and said that the diamonds on him belong to his mother.

HELPLESS PRISONER BEATEN

at 1201 North avenue, that "Cop" Nick Meyers had been shooting dogs.

When Mrs. Komosko was placed on the stand she declared that while her relatives were outside, she went into the parlor and found a .38 calibre bullet held by a thick curtain, the lead missile having first passed through one corner of the window. The next morning, she said, she was working in a front room upstairs when Meyers' twelve-year-old son, Nicholas, came by on his way to school and she heard him say to one of her boys:

"My old man didn't mean to shoot through your window, last night; he was shooting at a dog."

After that she went to Chief Kiely and made the complaint, giving him the bullet she had found in the curtain. No report of the shooting had been made at headquarters previous to that time.

Meyers pleaded not guilty to the charge and stated in his behalf that he left his home at 1251 North avenue that night shortly before 8 o'clock and that as he went down the front porch he heard a report. It was rather foggy at the time and to him, he said, it seemed to be a torpedo on the New Jersey Central tracks, for that reason paying no particular attention to it. He was hailed on the corner by James Brown who said:

"What's the matter Nick; somebody shooting dogs?"

Meyers declared that he replied, "O, I guess so," and continued on to the Netherwood trolley terminus to catch a car. He said he was to go on duty at 9 o'clock that night and wanted to see part of a play at the theatre before reporting. He asserted that he had not carried a .38 calibre pistol in nearly two years and that the weapon he has had during that time is a .32.

When Meyers had completed his direct testimony he was addressed by Mr. Mellick, who said:

"Officer Meyers, this is a very serious affair and whether or not you fired that shot you have been guilty of neglect of duty. You were not made a policeman simply to patrol a certain beat; an officer is always on duty and I cannot see why you should have kept on your way to go to a theatre when you heard something like a pistol shot. In your reply to Brown you confessed that you thought it was someone shooting and made no mention of torpedoes. It was your place to stop and not leave the vicinity until you had exhausted every effort to learn where that report came from. You should also have reported the fact to your superior officer."

Nicholas Meyers, Jr., was called to testify and denied saying that "the old man didn't mean to shoot through the window." He declared that he was going by the Komosko house when Andrew Komosko called to him and said:

"Come see the hole your father put in our window."

When he went in the yard and up on the porch, he asserted positively that Andrew said:

"August (another Komosko boy) broke the window and he got a beating for it."

When questioned by Councilman Daniel, the defendant's son clung to this story but was unable to explain why Andrew had first said his father had broken the window and immediately afterward that August did it.

John Hensey, who lives at 1211 North avenue and John Conway, of East Second street, and Terrill road, were the only other witnesses called but their testimony was unimportant.

Because of the lateness of the hour when the O'Gorman case was finally disposed of, the committee decided to adjourn until next Wednesday night and in the meantime, the Meyers affair will be given careful consideration.

OUT OF THE PAST

By MILDRED GRAHAM

(Copyright, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

He was handsome as a god in his uniform of black and gold. He stood in lithe grace at his post, with the August sun tanning his fair skin, and smiling daringly at the dark-eyed girl in the front row of the grand-stand. He was a prepossessing young fellow, and spoiled by the attentions of women until he thought himself irresistible. The score-card hinted unkind things about his playing, and the papers ventured that his release was a matter of time; but for all that he was the "ladies' favorite," and many a dainty floral offering, and many a perfumed note found its way to that "Dear Nick."

He was only a "professional," and too fond of drink to rise in the game. Brought close, his handsome face showed telltale lines, and his eyes were—not nice! And yet—he was fascinating.

Valerie was young in those days—a brown-eyed schoolgirl in the early teens. She was an enthusiast, and admired all the "baseball fellows" with a girlish hero-worship. It had been all very well until Nick signed. She had worshiped from afar, and none of the players had cared to notice the girl with the shadowy eyes, who wore a costume in the colors of their uniform when she dared. Most of them grew deadly tired of the notice of women in the course of a season! But Nick was young to the game, and knew he was handsome. And one day one of the fellows pointed out the girl in her yellow blouse, with a laugh for her infatuation. That was the beginning.

Valerie was beautiful even then—her color was warm and rare, her full lips mutinous, her eyes somber—marvelous. He was "out for fun" in his careless way—that was all. It required but little maneuvering—he met her—and to Valerie it was the realization of a dream! He suggested that she say nothing at home of their friendship—players were so maligned, he told her. She saw no danger in the warning, and she was happy, with unreasoning happiness.

But soon—he never meant it—it was weakness in him—and he thought how the other fellows would guy him if they knew—but somehow those somber eyes took a strange hold upon his heart. The day came when the game went ill, and errors thickened, if she was not there to watch his every gesture on the field. The flowers and smiles and languishing glances of the others fell dead. He cared only for the tribute of dusky eyes, lighting with admiration for her hero. A sort of new manliness possessed him—a feeling of protection toward her, and he could not laugh it away.

To Valerie the world was rose-hued. She was scarce 16, and she knew no world beyond the school-room. Home life was uncongenial—or she fancied so, in impatience of restraint—she had only to lock her secret in her heart and dream away the hours they must be parted. She loved him, and the days were sweet and all too short.

It was about this time that he received the fall. He was running bases—some said he was not quite "in condition" that day. He slipped and wrenched his knee. A slight hurt, only. He walked to the bench and smiled at the stand. He was "on the bench" for a few days, and then they knew that it was serious.

It was bitter to him when he found that he could play no more. The day that they released him, he had a hard hour, alone with his pain, and his future. He thought of Valerie, a little shocked to know how much farther he had gone than he had meant to go, and regretted with a pity he could not still.

When he found he must go east for treatment, he sent for her. She was white, and cold, and still, and her eyes frightened him. He told her tenderly, almost forgetting that it had been an idle thing—the amusement of a summer hour. He told her that they must part for a time, until he could play again, until some of the "big" teams recognized his skill, until his salary—"

Perhaps he meant it in the moment, or perhaps he could not bear the light of the dark eyes, suddenly blank and expressionless. And then he fell to moralizing, and told her he had done wrong to win her, and spoke of his life and his habits, with something almost like a touch of real regret. She clung to him and would not listen. She loved him, and the end of the world came with the parting.

Afterward he knew that he had loved her then, for he felt his power that day—and spared her.

He went away and left her to her dreams—but her eyes grew haunting. Months passed before his letters ceased, and in them before that time had come the subtle change, the note of depth, the tenderness, the longing, and—the weariness. But he told her nothing of himself, and when they ceased, she could not understand. Again and again she wrote until her letters came back "unclaimed."

Valerie was absent from school in those days, and lay upon a couch beside the window for silent weeks, in a curious illness that defied science. But when she found she did not die—that not even prayers availed to relieve her of the task of useless life—she rose again, and it was said that she was well. She returned to her classes, and only now and then some one remarked the strangeness of the dusky eyes.

One day—it was wild February weather, and its depression was upon the school room—one day the strangeness of those eyes seemed to hold wildness as well as gloom. She failed in lessons and seemed deaf to questions and reproof. A teacher asked if she were ill again. She looked at the questioner blankly, and answered "No."

That evening the janitor swept from the floor a piece of crumpled newspaper. There was hardly more than a paragraph upon it—a line or two briefly stating that the player who had been so popular early in last season was in a hospital at Chicago, awaiting amputation of his leg, made necessary by injuries received on the diamond.

That night Valerie wrote an impassioned letter imploring him to send for her. She told him she would throw her very life into the balance and leave all for him—all for only a word! It was a foolish letter, full of school-girl heroics, and sentences learned from lurid novels, but there were months of heart-breaking in it! She was still young enough to love like that—and she loved him!

It was a foolish school-girl's letter—but when it came to him as he lay on his cot, facing the ruin of his future, and waiting—when it came, impassioned, tear-blotted, pouring out her wild love for him—he held it beneath his cheek with two thin hands, and forgot she was but a child mislead, and thought what might have been of life and love.

She had not long to look for his answer, though the task was difficult upon his cot, and the time for waiting past. And he told her gently: "No." He repeated his worthlessness, showed her the whole of his misspent life, told her the whole truth about her idol—and that she must forget. He asked her to forgive him, and forbade her to seek him. He could marry no one now—and he loved her! Thus he made his poor attempt at reparation.

In the passing of the years, Valerie ceased to search the papers for tidings, for she grew older, and she knew at length that his day of little fame was long since done. She grew older, and the piteous something in her eyes faded, and they hardened. She was a woman now, a beautiful woman but with a weary curve on the red lips, and a carelessness of friendship in her cold heart.

Then Fred came—and loved her. The pain was old, and yet at first she suffered freshly. But she saw the end. Fred was true and noble, a tender heart, a firm will, a faithful love, and she knew he was honored among men. She did not resist him. She grew fond of Fred, and used to him, and when he asked her she consented—quietly.

She wore his ring and grew fonder of him. His kiss no longer set that icy hand upon her heart. She was used to that, also—after a time.

The day grew near. She was accustomed to the thought. Fred was a dear fellow. She had not been so weary since his coming. The thought of the marriage was restful now—Fred was so kind, so tender.

One day he found her sitting alone in the twilight. An open book was upon her knee, and a last beam of evening light falling on a pictured face. It was only the photograph of a noted actor, but in it was a shadowy trace of an old resemblance—and her eyes were seeing phantoms when he gently lifted her face to his.

"A fine fellow," he said. "A splendid engraving. We will see him when he comes again."

She closed the book swiftly and drew out of his sheltering arms as if to lay it in its place. When she returned she met his eyes once more.

It was only a few days, then, until she was Fred's wife. She was young once more, but the girl had forever vanished. Fred's wife was a woman, tender, grave, and she loved Fred—but it was different.

Only a few weeks Fred's wife—already more content, better, braver, happier. And then, one day, she lifted a paper in an idle moment, and on an obscure page read that Nick was dead.

Only a line—a bare, cold statement. He had never wholly recovered from that old shock—and was dead.

She was alone for an hour, all alone, and it was better so. An hour alone, an hour kneeling with her face in the pillows—a silent hour of memory—memory of the old days and the girl's folly.

She clung to Fred that night, and her eyes were starry with their touch of sadness. She drew his chair upon the hearth, and there she nestled upon her husband's heart. His arms were strong and tender, and he kissed her and spoke loving words.

She loved Fred—and the past was a shadow—faded.

But yet—

They buried him, far away in an eastern city—a pauper cripple, with the ghost of dead beauty in his face, and on his heart a faded ribbon of black and gold.

Danger in White Lead.

At a recent meeting of the senate in Paris Prof. Dieulafoy, commissaire du gouvernement, recommended the prohibition of white lead as an ingredient of paint, and concluded his remarks by saying that to permit the use of white lead for painting the interior of houses was the same thing as knowingly to expose painters to the risk of being poisoned, although the laws of hygiene and the dictates of humanity gave them a right to protection.

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

Whereas, The comptroller did, on the second day of January, nineteen hundred and seven, under the provisions of an act, entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide for the imposition of state taxes upon certain corporations and for the collection thereof,' approved April 18, 1884," which supplementary act was approved June 3, 1905, report to the governor a list of all corporations coming under said act; and

Whereas, The following named corporations so reported have, for the two years preceding such report, failed, neglected or refused to pay the state taxes assessed against them for the year 1904, under the laws of the state of New Jersey, and made payable into the state treasury; and

Whereas, Under the provisions of said act the charters of said corporations are repealed and all powers conferred by law upon such corporations declared inoperative and void, unless the governor gives further time for payment; and

Whereas, The governor has not given further time to the corporations so reported and hereinafter named for the payment of such taxes, and the same are still unpaid;

Therefore, I, Edward C. Stokes, governor of the state of New Jersey, pursuant to the provisions of said act of the Legislature, do hereby issue this proclamation that the charters of the following named corporations so reported and in default, to wit:

SENATE PASSES UNIFORM BILLS.

One Relates to Contracts, the Other to Warehouse Receipts.

Two bills, Senate 105 and 106, introduced by Mr. Minturn and recommended by the delegates to the national conference which met last year in Chicago to unify business laws, were passed in the Senate at Trenton Tuesday afternoon.

Similar legislation has been enacted in other States. Bill 105 provides for the uniformity of contracts in commercial dealings and the laws relating to the sale and purchase of goods. Bill 106 regulates the sale of warehouse receipts and makes the laws relating to them uniform.

American Adventurer Killed.

Mobile, Ala., April 11.—Octavious Gallordo, Collector of Customs and Postmaster at the captured town of Arujillo, Spanish Honduras, arrived here yesterday on the steamer Belize, from Belize, Honduras. The Nicaraguans are now in full control of Honduras from the east to the west coast, he said. Just as the steamer left Belize, three days ago, a letter was handed to Mr. Gallorda, stating that General Lee Christmas, the American in the service of Honduras, had been cut to pieces by Nicaraguan soldiers. The letter was very brief and gave no details of the fight in which Christmas was killed.

Education for Foreign Born.

Senate bill No. 219, permitting boards of education to establish evening schools for foreign born residents for instruction in English and political economy, has passed in the House at Trenton without opposition. The bill limits the State expenditure to $5,000 annually.

House Passes Half-Pay Pension.

Assemblyman Burke's bill, providing for the retirement on half pay, after twenty years' service, of all employes in State penal institutions, was quickly passed by the House at Trenton Tuesday.

Provides Digest of Court Decisions.

Senate bill No. 37, providing for a digest of Chancery Court decisions and reports, passed the House at Trenton Tuesday.

SENTENCE SERMONS.

Helpfulness is love in action.

Selfishness is the essence of sin.

Self-adulation is not self respect.

Morality is more than a matter of negations.

Love never remains when reverence has departed.

Righteousness is more than ability to keep out of jail.

The ear does as much to circulate scandal as the tongue.

Nothing keeps people faithful better than your faith in them.

No body of religious truth is complete without the religion of the body.

The more nulish a man is the more will his express and be developed.

The man who is hunting for a martyr's crown never has head enough to hold one up.

There is a good deal of apparent poverty that needs your time more than your dime.

Your home in Heaven may depend on what you are doing to make your home heavenly.

You are not likely to cheer the hearts of others by looking down in the mouth yourself.

Our records depend not on our great plans but on our relatively insignificant performances.—Chicago Tribune.

MERE OPINION.

The man who expects to be insulted never has to wait long.

Few men can be fooled twice in the same way; but there are so many ways.

Most of the lessons are handed to those people who are afraid to ask for what they want.

The fool killer always gets ready for a hurry call when an idle man inherits a fortune.

The man who can distinguish between flattery and sincere praise has made a good start on the way to success.

When a man is eager to have his son follow in his own footsteps it is safe to conclude that he has an exaggerated ego.

It is a mistake to go around complaining about your hard luck. One of the most serious handicaps a man can have is a reputation for being unlucky.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD

day-schools 1,601. The deacons' fund amounted to $1,155, practically the same as last year. Of this $904 was expended.

The Ladies' Aid Society reported a year of liberal giving. It gave $1,722 to home missions, $1,327 to foreign missions, Boys' Mission Band $108, McAll Mission, in France, $640, and to the Flower Committee $128.

During the year the church gave $27,601 for various causes. With the congregational expense, the church paid out a total of $43,393. The principal items in the record of giving for benevolences are as follows:

Foreign missions, $5,073; home missions, $5,413; chapels, $6,021; Warren chapel building fund, $3,485; mission relief, $480; education, $302; colleges, $770; Synodical Home missions, $506; Plainfield charities, $1,815.

A motion to substitute the week before Easter in place of the first week of the year as the week of prayer was lost by a vote of 30 to 29. Leander N. Lovell opposed it on the ground that it was more in line with the other congregational churches to hold the services in January. W. D. Murray supported it, holding that the week before Easter was favorable to larger attendance, and that the time was one when the hearts of most Christians was filled with the spirit of prayer. Dr. Zelie stated that the Presbytery had suggested Holy Week as the time for the week of prayer. Not all those present voted on the motion.

Gifts to Warren.

Just before the meeting closed, James W. DeGraff made an appeal for another great effort to get the money necessary to start Warren chapel in its new building free of debt. He said a friend had $1,000 toward the $7,800 lacking on condition that the balance be raised by July 1. The offer is made anonymously.

Andrew J. Gavett, John Leal and E. E. Parvin were re-elected elders, and John F. Harman was elected to succeed the late Henry C. Squires. John Doull Miller and H. O. Newman were re-elected deacons.

First Presbyterian.

The congregational and parish meetings of the First Presbyterian church, held last night, showed that the financial and spiritual condition is most satisfactory. The fiscal year is closed practically free from debt and this is gratifying to the members. Elders and deacons were elected, the question of music was left to the music committee, which comprises the Session, the pastor. Rev. C. E. Herring's salary was made the same as last year and reports were presented by the various societies of the church.

The congregational meeting was held first. Rev. C. E. Herring was moderator and J. M. Bettman clerk. Reports were presented by the Christian Endeavor Society, the Women's Foreign and Home Missionary Societies, Sunday-school, Forward Movement, Pastor's Aid, Little Light Bearers and King's Messengers, and each showed progress. In round numbers $1,800 was raised during the year for benevolent purposes.

J. M. Bettman and E. M. Cave were elected elders for a term of three years to succeed themselves, and A. V. Searing was re-elected deacon for three years, while Joseph C. Allen was chosen a deacon for the same period to succeed A. G. Remsen, deceased.

At the parish meeting, which followed, E. M. Case was chosen moderator and Howard A. Pope clerk. The report of the church treasurer, William H. Shotwell, showed the receipts for the year to be $5,215.23, and the expenditures the same. Included in the receipts is a bequest from the estate of Miss Carrie B. Runyon, amounting to over $200 and a special check of $100 from a friend.

In the selection of trustees, D. J. Young was re-elected for two years, and T. J. Currin, Jr., was chosen to succeed I. B. Hill, resigned, for the same period, and Joseph A. Haynes and Clarence E. Bond were re-elected trustees for a term of three years. By a unanimous vote it was decided that the pastor's salary should be the same as last year. The church membership at present is 400, there being two deaths during the past year.

Park Avenue Baptist.

The parish meeting of the Park Avenue Baptist church was held last night. The other meeting was held several weeks ago.

The church treasurer's report showed that the receipts amounted to $4,449 and the disbursements to $4,100. In the church deft fund the receipts amounted to $2,467. There is a balance of $331.

G. W. V. Moy read an encouraging report for the board of trustees. S. A. Krom, J. H. Doane and L. R. Schofield were re-elected to the board, and A. D. Thompson, Jr., was elected in the place of Roland C. Treadwell, deceased.

OBITUARY.

John Otto, who for over twenty years has operated the old mill at New Market, died at his home in that place at 2 o'clock this morning. Death was due to heart failure. During the many years that Mr. Otto was in charge of the business he frequently was engaged in disputes regarding the right of others to divert the water-course and deprive him of the necessary power to run the mill. He generally won his point. Mr. Otto was born in Germany. His wife died several years ago. Recently, Paul Reusch and his brother, John Reusch bought the mill property and they will continue to run it.

THREE ITALIANS HACK FELLOW COUNTRYMAN.

Italians Sever Farmer's Nose and Leave Him For Dead.

Sidney Snible, Jr., a well-to-do farmer living near Millstone, found a man lying in the road near his house on Tuesday, horribly hacked with an axe. The man's nose was severed from his face, deep gashes were cut in his shoulder, his right arm was broken and there were three bullet wounds in his right leg, but he was still alive and gave his name as Giovanni Copo.

He said he had been attacked and robbed by three of his fellow countrymen who left him in the road for dead. Copo is still alive, but his condition is critical. Sheriff Edward Cooper and County Detective Charles Totten, who went to the scene of the attempted murder, Tuesday night, arrested Angelo Ruggierri, in an old shanty near Millstone at an early hour yesterday morning and brought him to the Somerset county jail.

Copo in an ante-mortem statement said that Ruggierri was one of his assailants. He also named two other Italians, who, it is said, have escaped to New York city.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

"Thank you—very courteous of you and of him," said I without hesitation, for I knew what was coming as soon as his name had been brought in, and my course was laid out. "But I can't leave just now. Please ask him if he won't come over—any time within the next four hours." This blandly and without a sign that I was conscious of Dufour's stupefaction—for his vanity made him believe that the god the great Dufour knelt to must be the god of gods.

There is no more important branch of the art of successful dealing with men than the etiquette of who shall call upon whom. Many a man has in his very hour of triumph ruined his cause with a blunder there—by going to see some one whom he should have compelled to come to him, or by compelling some one to come to him when he should have made the concession of going. I had two reasons for thus humiliating Goodrich neither of them the reasons he doubtless attributed to me, the desire to feed my vanity. My first reason was his temperament; I knew his having to come to me would make him bow before me in spirit, as he was a tyrant, and tyrants are always cringers. My second reason was that I thought myself near enough to control of the convention to be able to win control by creating the atmosphere of impending success. There is always a lot of fellows who wait to see who is likely to win, so that they may be on the side of the man in the plum tree; often there are enough of these to gain the victory for him who can lure them over at just the right moment.

As soon as Dufour had taken his huge body away I said to Woodruff: "Go out with your men and gather in the office downstairs as many members of the doubtful delegations as you can. Keep them where they'll be bound to see Goodrich come in and go out."

He rushed away, and I waited—working with the leaders of three far-western states. At the end of two hours I won them by the spectacle of the arriving Goodrich. He came in, serene, smiling, giving me the joyously shining eyes and joyously firm hand-clasp of the politician's greeting; not an outward sign that he would like to see me tortured to death by some slow process then and there. Hypocritical preliminaries were not merely unnecessary but even highly ridiculous; yet, so great was his anger and confusion that he began with the "prospects of an old-time convention, with old-time enthusiasm, and that generous rivalry which is the sign of party health."

"I hope not, senator," said I, pleasantly. "Here we think the fight is over—and won."

He lifted his eyebrows; but I saw his maxillary muscles twitching. "We don't figure it out just that way at headquarters," he replied oilily. "But, there's no doubt about it, your man has developed strength in the west."

"And south," said I, with deliberate intent to inflame, for I knew how he must feel about those delegates we had bought away from him.

There were teeth enough in his smile—but little else. "I think Burbank and Cromwell will be about even on the first ballot," said he. "May the best man win! We're all working for the good of the party and the country. But—I came, rather, to get your ideas about platform."

I opened a drawer in the table at which I was sitting and took out a paper. "We've embodied our ideas in this," said I, holding the paper toward him. "There's a complete platform, but we only insist on the five paragraphs immediately after the preamble."

He seemed to age as he read. "Impossible!" he finally exclaimed. "Preposterous! It would be difficult enough to get any money for Cromwell on such a platform, well as our conservative men know they can trust him. But for Burbank—you couldn't get a

I made no answer.

"May I ask," he presently went on, "has ex-Gov. Burbank seen this—this astonishing document?"

Burbank had written it. I confess when he first showed it to me, it had affected me somewhat as it was now affecting Goodrich. For, a dealer with business men as well as with public sentiment, I appreciated instantly the shock some of the phrases would give the large interests. But Burbank had not talked to me five minutes before I saw he was in the main right and that his phrases only needed a little "toning down" so that they wouldn't rasp too harshly on "conservative" ears. "Yes, Mr. Burbank has seen it," said I. He approves it—though, of course, it does not represent his personal views, or his intentions."

"If Mr. Burbank approves this," exclaimed Goodrich, red and tossing the paper on the table, "then my gravest doubts about him are confirmed. He is an utterly unsafe man. He could not carry a single state in the east where there are any large centerings of capital or enterprise—not even our yellow-dog states."

"He can and will carry them all," said I. "They must go for him, because after the opposition have nominated, and have announced their platform, your people will regard him as, at any rate, much the less of two evils. We have decided on that platform because we wish to make it possible for him to carry the necessary western states. We can't hold our rank and file out here unless we have a popular platform. The people must have their way before election, senator, if the interests are to continue to have their way after election."

"I'll never consent to that platform," said he, rising.

"Very well," said I, with a mild show of regret, rising also as if I had no wish to prolong the interview.

He brought his hand down violently upon the paper. "This," he exclaimed, "is a timely uncovering of a most amazing plot—a plot to turn our party over to demagoguery."

"To rescue it from the combination of demagoguery and plutocracy that is wrecking it," said I without heat, "and make it again an instrument of at least sanity, perhaps of patriotism."

"We control the platform committee" he went on, "and I can tell you, Senator Sayler, that that there platform, nor nothing like it, will never be reported." In his agitation he went back to the grammar of his youthful surroundings.

"I regret that you will force us to fight on the floor of the convention," I returned. "It can't but make a bad impression on the country to see two factions in the party—one for the people, the other against them."

Goodrich sat down.

"But," I went on, "at least such a fight will insure Burbank all the delegates except perhaps 200 or 300 you directly control. You are courageous, Senator, to insist upon a count of noses on the issues we raise there."

He took up the platform again, and began to pick it to pieces phrase by phrase. That was what I wanted. Some phrases I defended, some I conceded might be altered to advantage, others I cheerfully agreed to discard altogether. Presently he had a pencil in his hand and was going over the crucial paragraphs, was making interlineations. And he grew more and more reasonable. At last I suggested that he take the platform away with him, make the changes agreed upon, and such others as he might think wise, and send it back for my criticism and suggestions. He assented, and we parted on excellent terms—"harmony" in the convention was assured.

When the amended platform came back late in the afternoon, I detained Goodrich's messenger the faithful Dufour again. It was still the Burbank platform, with no changes we could not concede. I had a copy made and gave it to Dufour, saying: "Tell the senator I think this admirable, a great improvement. But I'll try to see him to-night and thank him."

I did not try to see him, however. I took no risk of lessening the effect created by his having to come to me. He had entered through groups of delegates from all parts of the country. He had passed out through a crowd, so well did my men employ the time his long stay with me gave them.

On the next day the platform was adopted. On the following day, amid delirious enthusiasm in the packed galleries and not a little agitation among the delegates—who, even to the "knowing ones," were as ignorant of what was really going on as private soldiers are of the general's plan of battle—amid waving of banners and crash of band and shriek of crowd Burbank was nominated on the first ballot. Our press hailed the nomination as a "splendid victory of the honest common sense of the entire party over the ultra conservatism of a faction associated in the popular mind with segregated wealth and undue enjoyment of the favors of laws and law-makers.

When I saw Burbank he took me graciously by the hand. "I thank you, Harvey," he said, "for your aid in this glorious victory of the people."

I did not realize then that his vanity was of the kind which can in an instant spring into a redwood colossus from the shriveled stalk to which the last glare of truth has wilted it. Still his words and manner jarred on me. As our eyes met, something in mine—perhaps something he imagined he saw—made him frown in the majesty of offended pose. Then his timidity took fright, and he said apologetically: "How can I repay you? After all, it is your victory."

I protested.

"Then ours," said he. "Yours, for us."

CHAPTER XVII.

Scarborough.

Now came the problem—to elect.

We hear much of many wonders of combination and concentration of industrial power which railway and telegraph have wrought. But nothing is said about what seems to me the greatest wonder of them all—how these forces have resulted in the concentration of the political power of upwards of 12,000,000 of our 15,000,000 voters, how the few can impose their ideas and their will upon widening circles, out and out, until all are included. The people are scattered; the powers confer, man to man, day by day. The people are divided by partizan and other prejudices; the powers are bound together by the one self interest. The people must accept such political organizations as are provided for them; the powers pay for, and their agents make and direct, these organizations. The people are poor; the powers are rich. The people have not even offices to bestow; the powers have offices to give and lucrative employment of all kinds, and material and social advancement—everything that the vanity or the appetite of man craves. The people punish but feebly—usually the wrong persons—and soon forget; the powers relentlessly and surely pursue those who oppose them, forgive only after the offender has surrendered unconditionally and they never forget where it is to their interest to remember. The powers know both what they want and how to get it; the people know neither.

Back in March, when Goodrich first suspected that I had outgeneraled him, he opened negotiations with the national machine of the opposition party. He decided that, if I should succeed in nominating Burbank, he would save his masters and himself by nominating as the opposition candidate a man under their and his control, and by electing him with an enormous campaign fund.

Beckett, the subtlest and most influential of the managers of the national machine of the opposition party, submitted several names to him. He selected Henry J. Simpson, justice of the supreme court of Ohio—a slow, shy, ultra-conservative man, his brain spun full in every cell with the cobwebs of legal technicality. He was, in his way, almost as satisfactory a candidate for the interests as Cromwell would have been. For, while he was honest, of what value is honesty when combined with credulity and lack of knowledge of affairs? They knew what advisers he would select, men trained in their service and taken from their legal staffs. They knew he would shrink from anything "radical" or "disturbing"—that is, would not molest the two packs of wolves, the business and the political, at their feast upon the public. He came of a line of bigoted adherents of his party; he led a simple, retired life among sheep and cows and books asleep in the skins of sheep and cows. He wore old-fashioned rural whiskers, thickest in the throat, thinning toward the jawbone, scant about the lower lip, absent from the upper. These evidences of unfitness to cope with up-to-date corruptionists seemed to endear him to the masses.

As soon as those big organs of the opposition that were in the control of the powers began to talk of Simpson as an ideal candidate, I suspected what was in the wind. But I had my hands full; the most I could then do was to supply my local "left-bower," Silliman, with funds and set him to work for a candidate for his party more to my taste. It was fortunate for me that I had cured myself of the habit of worrying. For it was plain that, if Goodrich and Beckett succeeded in getting Simpson nominated by the opposition I should have a hard fight to raise the necessary campaign money. The large interests either would finance Simpson, or, should I convince them that Burbank was as good for their purposes as Simpson, would be indifferent which won.

I directed Silliman to work for Rundle of Indiana, a thoroughly honest man, in deadly earnest about half a dozen deadly wrong things, and capable of anything in furthering them—after the manner of fanatics. If he had not been in public life, he would have been a camp-meeting exhorter. Crowds liked to listen to him; the radicals and radically inclined throughout the west swore by him; he had had two terms in congress, had got a hundred-odd votes for the nomination for president at the last national convention of the opposition. A splendid scare-crow for the Wall street crowd but difficult to nominate over Goodrich's man Simpson in a convention of practical politicians.

In May—it was the afternoon of the very day my mutineers got back into the harness—Woodruff asked me if I would see a man he had picked up in a delegate-hunting trip into Indiana. "An old pal of mine, much the better for the 12-years' wear since I last saw him. He has always trained with the opposition. He's a full-fledged graduate of the Indiana school of politics and that's the best. It's all craft there—they hate to give up money, and don't use it except as a last resort."

He brought in his man—Merriweather by name. I liked the first look at him—keen, cynical, indifferent. He had evidently sat in so many games of chance of all kinds that play roused in him only the ice-cold passion of the purely professional.

"There's been nothing doing in our state for the last two or three years—at least nothing in my line," said he. "A rank outsider, Scarborough—"

I nodded. "Yes, I know him. He came into the senate from your state two years ago."

"Well, he's built up a machine of his own and runs things to suit himself."

"I thought he wasn't a politician," said I.

Merriweather's bony face showed a faint grin. "The best ever," said he. "He put the profession out of business, without its costing him a cent. I've got tired of waiting for him to blow over."

Tired—and hungry, I thought. After half an hour of pumping I sent him away detaining Woodruff. "What does he really think of Rundle?" I asked.

"Says he hasn't the ghost of a chance—that Scarborough'll control the Indiana delegation and that Scarborough has no more use for lunatics than for grafters."

This was not encouraging. I called Merriweather back. "Why don't you people nominate Scarborough at St. Louis?" said I.

Behind his surface of attention, I saw his mind traveling at lightning speed in search of my hidden purpose along every avenue that my suggestion opened.

"Scarborough'd be a dangerous man for you" he replied. "He's got a nasty way of reaching across party lines for votes."

I kept my face a blank.

"You've played politics only in your own state or against the eastern crowd these last few years," he went on, as if in answer to my thoughts. "You don't realize what a hold Scarborough's got through the entire west. He has split your party and the machine of his own in our state, and they know all about him and his doings in the states to the west. The people like a fellow that knocks out the regulars."

"A good many call him a demagogue, don't they?" said I.

"Yes—and he is, in a sort of a way," replied Merriweather. "But—well, he's got a knack of telling the truth so that it doesn't scare folks. And he's managed to convince them that he isn't looking out for number one. It can't be denied that he made a good governor. For instance, he got after the monopolists and the cost of living is 20 per cent. lower in Indiana than just across the line in Ohio."

"Then I should say that all the large interests in the country would line up against him," said I.

"Every one," said Merriweather, and an expression of understanding flitted across his face. He went on: "But it ain't much use talking about him. He couldn't get the nomination—at least, it wouldn't be easy to get it for him."

"I suppose not," said I. "That's a job for a first-class man—and they're rare." And I shook hands with him.

About a week later he returned, and tried to make a report to me. But I sent him away, treating him very formally. I appreciated that, being an experienced and capable man, he knew the wisdom of getting intimately in touch with his real employer; but, as I had my incomparable Woodruff, better far than I at the rough work of politics, there was no necessity for my entangling myself. Merriweather went to Woodruff and Woodruff reported to me—Scarborough's friends in Indianapolis all agreed that he did not want the nomination and would not have it.

"We must force it on him," said I. "We must have Scarborough."

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

April 14: "God Revealed in Christ." "The Word became flesh and dwelt among us."

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

Passages for reference—John x, 14; II Tim. i, 12; I John i, 1-3.

A vast deal of thought and much writing have been given to this text and these passages from various points of view. There is wide difference of opinion as to some things that they may mean. But there are other truths which nearly all can agree upon as being properly within the meaning of those who wrote these passages.

As clearly as words can express such a thought John seems to be saying that the Divine One, who was the Creator of all things, had finally taken upon himself human form and had lived among men and in so living among them had shown grace and truth such as could be shown by no one except Him who is so related in nature to God the Father as to be properly called "the only begotten from the Father."

It is a fascinating inquiry which almost always arises here, "How could God become man?" It is the doctrine of the incarnation. The answers to the problem have been many and varied. No one has solved it clearly and completely. How can any one who is only human expect to understand the way in which God lives and to set forth fully the mode of His existence either as God alone or as God-man in union?

But the most important matter for us is not to know how the Divine One could be emptied in any sense or degree of His glory and become subject to human limitations of weakness, hunger, pain and death. That which is of great value for us to know is what He showed of the life which God would have us live. Did he say anything of the Father's will regarding us? What are the possibilities open to us in goodness and in reaching a purer life? Can we come to know God better, and will He reveal to us more clearly our duties and privileges in spiritual things? We are needy. There are many things we crave. We are ignorant. There are many things we desire to know. We are weak. There is much which we wish to do and for which we have not strength. We have thoughts of evil and are not free from evil desires, tempers and actions. We long to be better, to live a life which is high above these things. Did Christ say anything helpful to us in these matters? Did He live a life free from these imperfections and above the sins which hold us fast in their grip? Those are the items of greatest interest to us to have answered. And it is just here that we behold His glory, the glory of the Father. Here are the grace and truth we have been seeking and have never found in any other.

Read closely the story of His days on earth. Read with the heart all alert to find direction for your own heart and life, and the grace will shine through, and the truth will come into your soul, and you will soon find the way to the Father through Jesus Christ. The evidence of His divinity will be made convincing when you find Him giving you the power of a new life, the power to look up to God in love and without dread and feel all through your nature the great soul filling throb of affectionate confidence which finds expression in the cry, "My Father." To them that receive Him gives He power to become the sons of God. This is the sure and abiding proof of His divinity. When you have felt that power working within you and transforming your nature, you have an evidence which no process of reasoning can shake and which no form of words can express. It is truth, not irrational, but which strikes a part of the nature other than the reason. It is in the realm of the emotions and the will where reason and its terms do not reach. Better to love God than to be able to define Him.

Eternal Joy.

There are people who look a little askance at the idea of eternal life, because they fear that after innumerable ages it may become monotonous. But think! Does this life ever become monotonous to those who are all the time working, learning and growing? Does the artist ever grow weary of painting or the musician of composing or the singer of singing, as long as his powers are not only unimpaired, but steadily expanding? Even men of business get to be so enamored of their business as to be restless, lost, without it.

Life never becomes monotonous, uninteresting, to those who are worthily and congenially employed. In the future life, with enlarged, possibly with additional, faculties and with endless opportunity for their exercise and expansion, is it not likely that there will be continual joy, ever satisfied, yet ever renewed, in using and improving them?—George Macdonald.

God's Work.

God is the Father of our spirits. He does not make us good from the outside, as if we were machines to be regulated. He sends His Spirit to dwell in us and help us to become good day by day. One magic moment of conversion is not the gospel way. The daily following of Christ by each disciple, the daily indwelling of the Spirit, are the essential requirements of the new life that is born within our souls, but born in weakness, needing development and growth.

Life.

What is your earthly life?
A transient vapor, rising from the sea.
What is your life in God?
Newborn and lasting as eternity.

This life all may possess;
As a free gift of love it was designed
For "whosoever will"
Of every race and tribe of humankind.
—Rev. Chester C. Thorne in Christian Work and Evangelist.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning April 14.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Lessons from the patriarchs. III. Jacob.—Gen. xlviii, 1-19.

Jacob was the younger of the twin sons of Isaac and Rebekah, the older being Esau. Though the twin sons of the same parents, Jacob and Esau were very different in appearance, in their methods of living, in their characters and their ambitions and aspirations. Jacob was born probably at the well of Lahai-roi about 1837 B. C. He bought the birthright from Esau and afterward received the blessing from his father Isaac which should have been Esau's by practicing a well known deceit upon his father, who was practically blind from old age. God severely punished him for his deceit, for He had promised him the special blessing and its superior advantages and would have fulfilled His promise had Jacob but waited. Because of this treachery he was compelled to flee from Canaan, as the wrath of Esau was great against him. He was now seventy-eight years old and went to his Uncle Laban's, in Padan-Aram, in Mesopotamia. Here he lived for twenty-one years and then returned to Canaan with Leah and Rachel, his wives, eleven sons and a large property. Benjamin, his youngest son, was born between Bethel and Bethlehem. Rachel, his mother, died at his birth and was buried at Bethlehem. Jacob and Esau were reconciled upon Jacob's return to Canaan, but parted and never met again except when they buried Isaac, their father. Joseph was later sold into Egypt. When Jacob was 130 years of age he also went thither and spent the last seventeen years of his life there, dying at the age of 147. His body was embalmed and afterward was brought back to Canaan and buried in the cave of Machpelah, where Abraham, Rebekah and Leah had already been buried. In all his wanderings and misfortunes God had been with him and cared for him, and his life is unusually filled with lessons of the greatest importance.

1. Jacob's life teaches that God can not be deceived with impunity. Jacob means "supplanter," and his early life proved the applicability of his name to his character. He supplanted Esau, deceived his aged father and later deceived his uncle Laban. In his planning and scheming for the birthright he even tried to supplant God's methods of working. God had promised him the birthright, but Jacob could not wait, and, assisted by Rebekah, his mother, he took the matter into his own hands. He received the blessing due to Esau not because of his merit, but in spite of it. And then he paid for his folly. The mutual love of Rebekah and Jacob was great. He was compelled to flee from Esau's wrath, but his mother and he thought it would be but a short separation, yet God kept him twenty-one years in Mesopotamia, and Laban deceived him in giving him Leah instead of Rachel, whom he thought he was marrying. No man can successfully deceive God. No man can successfully force the hand of God. "Be not deceived, God is not mocked." "Wait on the Lord, and He will bring it to pass."

2. Jacob's life teaches the power of God to regenerate and save. Up to a certain time in Jacob's life he was about as great a rascal as a man could be. His heart must have been desperately wicked." But in a night God changed him from Jacob, "supplanter," to Israel, "prince of God." It was on his return to Canaan. He was about to meet Esau. He sent the people across a stream of water and he remained all night alone. His sincerity is here illustrated and his prevailing power in prayer. But that night God gave Jacob a new heart. He was born again, converted. God gave him a new name, Israel, and from forward he lived a clean, godly life, a fit representative of one through whom the Saviour was to come. With God all things are possible. He can still change the heart of Jacob and "save to the uttermost" all who come to Him.

3. Jacob's life [illegible] on God's [illegible] people. When [illegible] cle's Jacob [illegible] God promised [illegible] bring him safely [illegible] word to the letter. He had a [illegible] for this wayward [illegible] great trials of his life God [illegible] He despaired when Joseph was [illegible] into Egypt, but he lived not only [illegible] the face of Joseph, but his sons [illegible] im and Manasseh, and died [illegible] them. His body was returned to the land of promise and buried there [illegible] Joseph, his best beloved son, [illegible] the divine mission of "the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob." God is the same unchangeable God. He still takes special care of His own [illegible] not, but keep up heart. "Commit thy way unto the Lord and trust also in Him, and He will bring it to pass."

PARISH 60 YEARS OLD

St. Mary's, Stony Hill, a Parish for Three Score Years to Celebrate.

ON SUNDAY, MAY 26

Bazaar to Be Held at Scotch Plains to Raise Funds—Rev. Linus Schwarz the Pastor.

The women of St. Mary's R. C. church, of Stony Hill, will hold a fair and bazaar at Excelsior Hall, Scotch Plains, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, April 17, 18 and 19, to raise funds to put the church and grounds in good condition for the celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of the existence of the parish, to be held on May 26.

St. Mary's church is the mother parish of all Catholic parishes this side of New Brunswick, Mocopin and Dover. The pastor, Rev. Linus Schwarz, and the women of the church, expect that the descendants of the old parishoners, who now occupy more comodious houses of worship, will assist trem to make the affair a success in memory of treir departed relatives, some of whom are now resting in the cemetery which is part of the church grounds needing attention.

The women are striving hard to make their affair as attractive and entertaining as possible and decided to hold it at Scotch Plains, which point is easy of access.

WANT VICE CHANCELLOR TO DISMISS INTER-PLEADER.

Sub-Contractor Will Oppose Alonzo Aldrich's Move in Litigation Over Fund.

The question as to who will pay the costs of the action brought against Alonzo Aldrich, by Boice, Runyon & Co., and the J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Co., is an important feature of the interesting case. These sub-contractors, through counsel, appeared before Vice-Chancellor Bergen at Trenton on Tuesday, and had the injunction, restraining the sub-contractors from bringing suit to recover money alleged to be due them, dissolved.

Arthur S. Giles, represented by Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., was the last one of the sub-contractors to file a stop-notice from paying the money due on the contract awarded William H. Brokaw for erecting the house at Fourth street and Grant avenue. A hearing will be granted next month on application to have the bill of inter-pleader filed by Mr. Aldrich, dismissed.

The total amount alleged to be due the sub-contractors is $1,025, and Mr. Giles' bill was $370. Mr. Aldrich turned over $725 to the Court of Chancery claiming that there was a dispute among the sub-contractors and he did not know to whom it should be paid. Mr. Giles claimed that there was no necessity for the filing of the bill of inter-pleader, that there was no dispute. He also claims that Mr. Aldrich paid Mr. Brokaw $75 before this action was brought, and that after deducting amounts due Boice, Runyon & Co., the J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company, there should be a balance of $249 instead of $174 as appears.

—Among the strictly fresh vegetables to be found at Neuman Brothers tomorrow are green asparagus, green peas, green and wax beans, Boston lettuce, celery, radishes, cucumbers and tomatoes.

Wanted Dog Shot.

David M. Denlinger, of 15 Westervelt avenue, asked the police, last night, to shoot a fox terrier belonging to Alfred Luthman, of 306 East Front street. He said the dog bit his son's arm in the afternoon. Captain Frederickson told him the police had no right to shoot the dog without the permission of the owner, and Denlinger said he would see Luthman. The police hadn't heard today whether or not Denlinger induced Luthman to have his dog shot. Luthman thinks a lot of his dog.

Funeral of Matthew Burke.

The funeral of Matthew Burke, who died at the home of his son on Arlington avenue, was held this morning at St. Mary's church. A solemn mass of requiem was said by Father Bogan. Interment was afterward made in St. Mary's cemetery, the pall bearers being John Cafferty, Michael Cafferty, Dennis Sheehan, John Connors, Patrick Higgins and James Saverd.

THRONG AT FLORAL FETE

PRETTY THINGS GALORE

Well Decorated Booths—Fine Programme—Women In Entire Charge of Affair.

There is no doubt whatever as to the success of the "Floral Fete" which opened at the Casino yesterday for the benefit of The Day Nursery, under the auspices of the City Union of The King's Daughters. Judging by the large crowds that thronged the place during the afternoon and evening this worthy charity will receive the desired support and the efforts of the earnest band of women will be most substantially rewarded.

For many weeks the King's Daughters, under the direction of Mrs. F. W. Butler, chairman; Mrs. Charles A. Reed and Mrs. Henry L. Hall have been working zealously to make the fete a success and the liberal patronage accorded yesterday shows that their endeavors were not in vain. Scarcely were the doors opened in the afternoon before the Casino was thronged with people and the crowd was larger in the evening.

Aside from the attractive booths those present found great amusement in the entertainment given in the afternoon. This consisted of a shadow play called "Three Bears." Those taking part were Miss Marion McCutcheon, Miss Elizabeth Curtis, Miss Janet VanVliet, Miss Irene Miller, Tom Ball. Another play, entitled "Mary Jane," was given by Mrs. Edward T. Wilson, Mrs. W. J. Roome, Jr., Mrs. F. O. Ball and Miss Elsie Brokaw. Mrs. Henry C. White gave the readings. Mrs. F. W. French had general direction of the entertainment.

One of the principal attractions last night was the one-act play, "Our Cousin from California," given by members of the Park Comedy Club. It was a clever production and each member of the cast scored a hit. The play abounds in genuine fun and the audience was kept in a continual roar of laughter. Those in the cast were Mrs. Fullerton S. Weaver, Miss Mabel VanDeventer, Miss Helen Phillips, Mrs. H. C. White, Miss Katherine Ball, Miss Suffren and Miss Barlow.

After the play everyone turned to the booths and the other attractions, spending their money lavishly in response to the earnest plea of those in charge. The object of the fete is to raise sufficient funds to clear The Day Nursery of its indebtedness. The property at 444 West Third street was purchased, a portion of the price being paid and the rest allowed to go on a mortgage. The balance will soon be due and it is the fond hope that enough money will be made from the affair to meet it. The charity is an excellent one and aside from the King's Daughters many others have become interested in it. It affords a place for mothers, who are obliged to work out by the day, to put their children upon the payment of five cents each day. This does not cover the current expenses, and it is necessary to adopt other means to meet them, hence the "Floral Fete."

In the arrangement of the various booths it was planned by the committee in charge to have the president of each circle take charge of a booth and she and her members to arrange the decoration of it and the articles to be sold there. This has been done and the presidents assisted by all the members of the circles are in charge.

That Whatsoever Circle of the Park Avenue Baptist church, of which Miss Elmira C. Runyon is the president, has the first booth as one enters the Casino. It is made of bamboo and prettily decorated with wisteria. Grape juice and tea are served. The Daughters of the Cross are in charge of the next booth, under the direction of its president, Mrs. Samuel St. John McCutchen. The decoration is violets and all sorts of fancy articles are offered for sale.

The booth where lemonade is served is unique in its decoration, an entire circle of the citric fruit and 7,000 lemon blossoms being displayed. Mrs. Anna M. Most is the president in charge. Brightside Circle, of which Mrs. J. A. Powlison is the president, has the booth devoted to the sale of stationery and books, there being a fine stock. A profusion of cosmos make an effective decoration.

A booth entirely devoted to the sale of flowers is in charge of the Cheerful Workers' Circle, of which Miss Margaret Leal is the president. The flowers offered for sale furnish an attractive decoration. The Benevolent Band, Mrs. William F. Myers president, has the booth for the sale of fine home-made cakes.

POPULAR RECTOR WEDS

The Rev. George A. Warner Takes Miss Ottalie H. Lohrke as His Bride.

CEREMONY AT ORANGE

Grace Episcopal church, Orange, was the scene of a charming wedding yesterday afternoon, when Miss Ottalie H. Lohrke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto E. Lohrke, of No. 101 Prospect street, East Orange, was married to the Rev. George A. Warner, the popular rector of Holy Cross Church, North Plainfield. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles T. Wakeley, rector of Grace church. The Rev. Mr. Warner was assistant to Dr. Mann when the latter was rector of Grace church, Orange.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attended by her sister, Miss Gertrude Lohrke, as maid of honor. She wore a gown of white satin trimmed with duchess lace, and her tulle veil was caught up with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white lilacs. The maid of honor wore pink chiffon trimmed with white lace, with picture hat to match. She carried sweet peas.

The best man was the Rev. Frank A. Staples, of Baltimore, Md., and the ushers were Morgan Ashley and the Rev. Wallace Gordon, of East Orange; Messrs. Morgan Townsend and Everett Murray, of North Plainfield, and Messrs. Harry Heald and James H. Foster, of New York.

The church was prettily decorated and was crowded with society folk. After the ceremony a reception took place at the residence of the bride's father, which had been decorated with spring flowers. On their return from a wedding trip the Rev. and Mrs. Warner will reside at No. 30 Washington avenue, North Plainfield.

VETERAN MILLER OF NEW MARKET DIES

JOHN OTTO, WIDELY KNOWN AMONG THE PISCATAWAY FARMERS SUCCUMBS

John Otto, who was the miller at New Market for thirty years, died at his home in the village yesterday morning after an illness of ten weeks' duration, with heart trouble and dropsy. He was nearly 70 years old.

Mr. Otto was born in Germany. He was a miller all his life. Soon after he came to this country, forty years ago, he had charge of the old Sebring grist mill, and for several years he conducted the Goth mill. In 1877 he purchased the mill at New Market and ran it continuously until ten weeks ago, when illness compelled him to give up. He was widely known to the farmers of Piscataway and adjoining districts.

Mr. Otto had made his home with his stepdaughter, Mrs. Philip Mitze, since the death of his wife in 1904. His only relatives in this country were stepchildren. He will be buried in Westfield. The service will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m. at Mrs. Mitze's residence.

BASEBALL BULLETINS.

By direct wire The Daily Press will receive every afternoon during the season the results of all games played by both the National and American League teams. These returns will be displayed on The Daily Press bulletin. The Hotel Waldorf, Henry Windham, proprietor, has arranged for The Daily Press baseball service and bulletins will be displayed in his hotel in East Front street every afternoon.

THAW JURY STILL OUT.

New York, April 12, 3 p. m.—The Thaw jury is still out and all reports as to how it stands are mere guesses. It has now been out forty-five hours, establishing a record in this respect.

Thesis on Sewerage System.

Among the 123 candidates for degrees at Lehigh University, South Bethlehem, Pa., next June is Frederick R. Horne, of North Plainfield, who is a candidate for the degree of civil engineer. He will present a thesis on "Design of a Sewerage System for Plainfield, N. J." Union county is also represented by Ira Benjamin Wheeler, Jr., of Elizabeth, whose thesis for the degree of mechanical engineer is on "Test of Engine and Boiler of the Weilbach Silk Mill, Allentown, Pa." Of the 708 students attending Lehigh University this year, fifty-seven are from New Jersey.

SEWERAGE BILLS PASSED

Measures Permit City and Borough to Make Contract for Former to Dispose of Sewage.

UP TO THE GOVERNOR

House Acted Favorably Last Night On House Bills—Drawn by Charles A. Reed.

The bills permitting an agreement to be made between Plainfield and North Plainfield for the city to dispose of the borough's sewage now only need Governor Stokes' signature to become laws, the measures brought over from the Senate having been passed by the House last night.

The measures in question were drawn by Corporation Counsel Chas. A. Reed, of North Plainfield, at the request of the Borough Sewerage Commission. They were introduced in the Senate by State Senator Jos. Frelinghuysen, of Somerset county, who secured favorable action on the part of that body. When the bills reached the House, Assemblyman W. W. Smalley, of Somerset county, took charge of them and last night, after Speaker Lethbridge had consented to have them placed on the calendar business, they were passed by the House.

Charles A. Reed.

Senate bill, No. 287, permits North Plainfield to enter into an agreement with Plainfield for the disposal of its sewage. It also provides for a bond issue to cover the expense, these bonds to run for forty years instead of thirty as is the case at present. The bill also provides for a sinking fund of not less than one per cent., the present law being for not less than three per cent.

The companion measure, Senate bill, No. 232, allows Plainfield to enter into an agreement with North Plainfield to dispose of the latter's sewage. A law now on the statute books permits the city to enter into an agreement with a town, city or township, but no provision is made for such an agreement with a borough.

ARBOR DAY OBSERVED AT LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL.

Alfred Gaskill Speaks to Pupils on Forestry, Illustrating His Remarks.

Arbor Day was observed at the Plainfield High School today when Alfred Gaskill, State Forester for New Jersey, delivered a lecture on Forestry. The gallery was filled with visitors and with pupils from the Whittier School. The lecture was illustrated with colored stereopticon views showing types of forests in various parts of the world, including Europe. Mr. Gaskill showed that the value of Arbor Day is not one of sentiment but has a practical need. It originated in the western plains where trees were set out for protection against wind storms, and also for building material and fuel.

The principal object of forestry, he said, is to establish reserves about the State and equalize the distribution of trees. In New Jersey, said he, 43 per cent. of the land is not worth farming, but there is no use for this to go to waste for with little expense it can be made productive. Mr. Gaskill concluded by emphasizing the fact that the success of forestry depends largely on the people, and it is everybody's duty to promote it so far as possible.

TRIO OF "GOOD" CROOKS

Police Say Capture of Wire Thieft Suspects Landed Clever Criminals.

TWO HAVE BAD RECORDS

Said to be Gang That Has Cut Wires and Stolen Signal Apparatus For Some Time Along the Lehigh.

No bit of police business in months has caused more pleasure to the local authorities and the police of the Lehigh Valley railroad than the capture, yesterday, of the three wire theft suspects at the hobo camp near Samptown. Chief Kiely, of the Plainfield department, and Chief Lee, of the railroad force, are convinced that the prisoners are the ones who have been playing havoc with the Lehigh wires between South Plainfield and New Market and in the district about Bethlehem, Pa., for months. They are believed to be three of the cleverest and most active wire thieves in the country.

The prisoners give their names as Edward Bennett, of Wilkesbarre, Pa.; John Neuman, of Baltimore, Md., and Harry Brown, of Philadelphia. Bennett has been identified as Arthur Gleason, 32 years old, a native of Newark, and twice convicted there of grand larceny. He was convicted of burglary when only eighteen years old. Brown, confronted with his picture and the record of his arrest and conviction in Newark for grand larceny, acknowledged this morning that he was Henry Dorsch, alias "Nigger," an experienced crook wanted in several cities. Neuman, under examination, said his right name was Giovanni Accelius, but denied a criminal record. The police have learned nothing about him, but are hunting for information.

The men were captured through sharp work by Chief Kiely and his right-hand man, Detective-Sergeant Flynn. Two weeks ago, when Policeman Frank Sweeney scared two men into dropping a big bag full of melted zinc at Front street and Clinton avenue, one of the thoroughfares leading to South Plainfield, Chief Kiely suspected that metal and wire thieves were at work along the Lehigh. A few days later County Detective Jacob Johnson, of Aston, telephoned to the chief and asked him to help in hunting down a gang that was crippling the Lehigh with thefts of wire and signal apparatus, and then the Chief knew there was something to work up in the neighborhood of South Plainfield.

A tip came into police headquarters yesterday morning that the three prisoners were in the camp at Samptown, and that they had telegraph wire there. Just as the chief was making plans to raid the camp, Detective Jerry Holly, of the Lehigh force, who had been working on the case, telephoned from South Plainfield to ask if there was anything new in the hunt. The Chief told him to come over to Plainfield and get into the game.

A closed wagon was hired in this city, and Detective Sergeant Flynn and Detective Holly went in it to South Plainfield. Hidden in the vehicle, the detectives made their approach to the camp unsuspected, and a sudden descent, with drawn revolvers, resulted in a speedy capture of the three suspects. They were brought to this city and locked up in the station house.

Chief Lee and Chief Leyden, of the New York Division of the Lehigh road, came here this morning to complete the identification of Bennett and Brown. They brought the pictures and rogues' gallery records of the two with them.

Complaints against the prisoners were sworn out before Justice R. P. vonMinden yesterday afternoon. They will be sent to New Brunswick today.

Detective-Sergeant Flynn found a lot of the wire cut down near South Plainfield Wednesday morning in the Samptown camp yesterday afternoon. It was buried at the edge of the camp.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

CONSTIPATION.

I can tell a person who is constipated on sight. Their complexion is pasty or yellow. Their eyes are dull, and they look and feel sleepy. No wonder they do. The bowels are a sewer. They carry away the poisonous refuse. If they dont act the poisonous matter is absorbed by the body, and headaches, dullness, bad complexion and eventually serious troubles result.

SAMUEL BOOREN.

There is no better rule for good health than that the bowels should move every day at the same hour if possible. Regularity can be acquired by making a habit of this. Foolish people neglect this and when chronic constipation effects them they take pills every few days to force the bowels to perform their natural function. As years go on they require more and more pills. This should be stopped. Cooper's New Discovery will build up the stomach and cause the bowels to act naturally. While taking the medicine get the habit of regularity, then gradually stop taking the medicine.

"For sixteen years I have suffered from stomach and liver trouble, and chronic constipation. I had frequent headaches and always felt tired and worn out. I heard of Cooper's New Discovery and began its use. After I had finished one bottle I was wonderfully improved. Constipation gave way to a pleasing regularity of the bowels and I ate better, slept better and felt better than I had for months. It is the greatest medicine I have ever known." Samuel Booren, 1742 Munsey Ave., Scranton Pa.

Our customers who have used them say the Cooper medicines do the work. We sell them.

Supremacy of Ready-to-Put-On Clothes for Men.

The demand for Ready-toWear Clothing the past year greatly exceeded the year before, and this season the call for it will be still greater. There is good reason for this increasing demand for clothing ready to put on.

Year by year the makers have been improving the models, the designs, the building, the finishing, the materials inside and out, and they have commanded the very choicest fabrics of the best woolen mills in the world. Today, ready-to-wear clothing makers put to rout the most pretentious custom tailors, and, as must be apparent to all, the tailor-to-order shops are rapidly but certainly drifting into the "cheaper" class.

Overcoats and Raincoats.

"EXACTLY RIGHT" STYLES FOR MEN.

Whatever your taste, whatever your desires, expect to find in this great stock just such a Top Coat or Raincoat as you wish for

The season's styles are handsome, indeed—men should be very well dressed this spring and summer.

Short, medium and long coats, some half shaped to the waist; others in full box models.

Newest weaves and colorings in cloths—finished and unfinished worsteds, soft mixtures, cheviots, thibets, vicunas, etc.

Tailoring of the very best—hand work almost every bit of it, and the finish finer than almost any custom tailor will give you. The price range is very wide—

9.98, 12.98, 15.00, 20,00 up to 35.00.

Trousers.

All the newest fashions in waistcoats—both white and fancy effects; many beautiful materials to choose from; all correctly cut; right in style, perfect in fit, $1 to $5.98.

New Model Suits.

The best manufacturing tailors in this country—positively the best contribute to this stock, and the suits we show you are the product of the foremost designers and most skilled tailors, and are made from cloths of character.

The highest grade Broadway stores sell the identical same clothing in their shops.

Choose from finished and unfinished worsteds, cassimeres, cheviots, thibets, serges, etc., in the new brown and gray shades in handsome checks and overplaids, also in plain blue and black.

You will be surprised at the perfection of finish and the excellence of the fit in these clothes even at the lower prices.

Splendid suits at almost any price you wish to pay.

6.98, 9.98, 12.98, 15.00, 18.00 up to 30.00.

Spring Vests.

Many new Spring patterns to choose from—best of materials, perfect tailoring, accurate fit; prices $1 to $9.98.

DIAMOND DUST.

President Pulliam's latest bulletin discloses a somewhat surprising fact, that Mike Grady has been unconditionally released by the St. Louis Nationals. Clark Griffith was anxious to secure this player.

Hoelskoetter, of the St. Louis Nationals now signs his contract Hostetter. He used the former patronym last year, but the change is almost out of the frying pan into the fire so far as the scorers are concerned.

Walter Nelson, of New Market, who played with the Clinton Avenue team last year, is captain of this year's baseball team at Rutgers College, where he is a senior. He will be graduated in June. It was the hope of many friends that he would play in Plainfield this season.

Within another week or so Captain Craig, of the Y. M. C. A., will be prepared to announce his team for the season. Howard is not saying much at present and does not boast that his team will win the pennant, but the chances are that it will make every other club in the league hustle to beat it.

There is an advertised letter in the postoffice for Dave Driscoll. Is it possible that the well-known ball player has been forgotten so soon.

Leal's School team does not appear to be rounding into shape very fast. Captain Bergen will have to hustle if he wants his aggregation to make a showing this season.

Manager Bogert Conklin, of Somerville, is collecting a strong list of players to represent that town on the diamond and by the time it meets the Clinton Avenues it will be a battle for blood.

Nothing has been heard from Joe Wearner lately, but it is quite likely that he will pitch this season for Flemington, where he was such an idol last year.

The Holy Cross church team is out with a challenge to meet any team in its class in the State. The church boys won nearly every game they played last year.

GOLF.

At classic St. Andrews links the bogey is unrecognized and even denied. Yet, to the consternation of the Royal and Ancient members, one of the minor St. Andrews clubs has announced weekly matches against bogey.

Written before Mr. Jermain's proposed American golf rules appeared the comments by Leighton Calkins on the rules, published in Golf, strike at the bullseye. To quote in part: "The rules of golf as approved by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews are out of date. They are too long, not clearly expressed, very badly arranged. They have long proved so inadequate that there has gradually come into force and effect in this country a code of interpretations which work out a substantial modification of the original rules.

"What is most needed is out and out new legislation, an entirely new code of regulations which shall do away with many of the exceptions and complications of the rules and golf and substitute instead a few general rules with greater uniformity as to the penalties to be incurred. What I mean by this, in a general way, is to require, with far fewer exceptions, that the ball shall be played from where it lies—but may be lifted under loss of two strokes, both in match and in medal play. Again, many penalties are unjust, as the loss of a hole for a lost ball and disqualification for teeing outside the limits of the teeing ground. The rules as to casual water on the putting green, casual water in hazards and casual water elsewhere are unnecessarily complicated and in some cases unfair. A modification of the rules is imperative.

"But reform—even secession—must be orderly. It must come through our national organization. It should come only after all other means have been exhausted. We have taken so far the most conservative attitude. We have been patient. This is well; for the United States Golf Association should in future, as it has done in the past, do everything within its power to ward off any secession from ancient authority. The matter must be approached in such a way that if ever we are forced to adopt a separate code of rules in this country the responsibility will rest on our English cousins and not on us."

PROPOSALS FOR SCHOOL SUPPLIES.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., at a meeting held April 1, 1907, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday evening, April 15, 1907, at 7:45, at the Board room in the High School building, corner Ninth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for furnishing school supplies for the ensuing school year, commencing July 1, 1907, a list of which can be obtained at the office of the Board. All proposals to be endorsed, "Proposals for School Supplies" and addressed to the Secretary of the Board and left with him at the office of the Board of Education on or before the hour mentioned for such meeting to be held.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals, the Committee on School Supplies will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board. The committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

For the Board of Education.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The offering for home missions at the Congregational church amounts to $372.32 this year.

William D. Murray will give an illustrated lecture on India at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Wednesday night, April 17.

The Young People's Association will meet at 7:45 o'clock tonight to continue its study of the course on "How We Received the Gospel."

The boys of the Junior Society of the Congregational church held a practice yesterday afternoon for the athletic meet to be held at the Y. M. C. A. tonight.

The Boys' Club of Bethel chapel, which is in charge of Miss Helen Lovell, will hold its annual fair and entertainment at the chapel on Thursday, May 2.

Rev. Edward Love, of this city, who is in charge of the work at the Presbyterian chapel, Garwood, has been appointed to represent the Ministerial Relief Fund in New York and vicinity.

The Boys' Mission Band of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church has elected these officers for the coming year: President, Francis Foster; secretary, William Bullock; treasurer, Lawrence Heely.

The annual meeting of the Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will be held Tuesday night, April 16, for the election of officers and the discussion of plans for more activity in church work.

The Women's Association, of the Congregational church, will serve supper previous to the annual meeting to be held at the church on Wednesday night, April 17. This will be a meeting of the church and society.

The Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will hold its last entertainment of the season on Friday night, April 26, when Charles Battell Loomis will give readings and Mrs. Charles Lewis will sing. An invitation is extended to the church and congregation to attend.

OBITUARY.

Isabella Westervelt.

Isabella Westervelt died this morning at the home of her brother, C. E. Westervelt, of Putnam avenue. She had been ill a short time with pneumonia. The funeral will be held at the house Monday morning at 11 o'clock.

Another $1,000 for Y. W. C. A.

The provisional committee of the Young Women's Christian Association announces that a second thousand toward the $4,000 to be raised for the purchase of the Dr. Jenkins property, has been obtained from various subscribers. The committee is hopeful that the rest will come in before the organization meeting next Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. hall. They are anxious at that time to be able to say that the association has a home of its own in which to carry on its work. Any subscriptions may be sent to Mrs. F. A. Mead, "Sunnyside," East Front street.

Missionary Society's Annual.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of Grace M. E. church held the annual meeting at the parsonage yesterday, and elected the following officers: President, Mrs. C. W. Parsons; first vice president, Mrs. E. P. Stevens; second vice president, Mrs. E. A. Merveule; recording secretary, Miss Smalley; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Giddes; treasurer, Mrs. J. S. Lunger. In the past twelve months the society contributed $100 and a large quantity of supplies to mission work and altogether had a successful year.

—The patrol wagon was sent after a drunken man reported on Leland avenue this morning, but the drunk disappeared before the wagon reached the scene.

Daffodils are used for its decoration.

The Loyal Daughters, Mrs. Clinton R. Peterkin, president, has the Red Cross booth, and here remedies for every ache and pain will be found. It is one of the most attractive spots at the fete. The Cup Bearers' Circle, Mrs. Henry L. Hall, president, has charge of the candy booth, which is made exceptionally attractive through the use of the crimson rambler, and is illuminated with countless incandescent lights. Mrs. Hall and her assistants were highly complimented for their efforts.

The whole space about the fireplace is devoted to the sale of useful articles of every description. Mrs. Alfred T. Slausson is the president of Charity Circle, which is in charge, and the members have arranged an effective decoration in the use of large sunflowers.

Mrs. Dorsey Hyde is in charge of the table where dolls are sold, and the decoration is dog-wood. Another table devoted to the sale of jewelry and decorated with fleur-de-lis is in charge of Mrs. Charles A. Reed and Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney. One of the many centers of attraction is the booth over which Mrs. George A. Beaton presides. All kinds of hat pins, to meet every pocketbook, are offered for sale. The decoration is autumn leaves.

In one corner is a booth where Japanese articles of every description are sold, and a Japanese artist is kept busy painting pictures for anxious buyers. Mrs. H. K. Tetsuka is in charge and the decoration is cherry blossoms. Still another attraction is the table in charge of Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna and Mrs. E. H. Ladd, Jr., where small porch tables and water color paintings are displayed. The decorations consist of holly-hocks and morning glories. All of these booths and tables mentioned are in the large hall, but in one of the parlors Emmanuel Circle, of which Mrs. J. W. Musson is the president, serves ice cream at small tables. The room is decorated with clematis.

Adjoining the ice cream parlors are the supper rooms, where delightful refreshments are served during the evening. One call avail themselves of a complete supper or any one of the numerous chafing dishes on order. Tulips make a most effective decoration. Miss Susan Rafferty is in charge of the supper arrangements and last night she and her many assistants were kept busy waiting on patrons.

In addition to furnishing the entertainment yesterday, which included the shadow pictures in the afternoon and the play, "Our Cousin from California," in the evening, the Silver Cross Circle, of which Miss Helen Phillips is the president, was in charge of what is called "Mice and Cheese," a children's grab-bag. This afternoon and tonight, Irving, the magician, will entertain and Saturday afternoon and night there will be moving pictures.

Mrs. E. F. Feickert, treasurer of the affair, has also found something to keep her busy at a table devoted to puzzles and various articles of interest to children. A daisy chain and bunches of daisies are her decorations.

The attractions for the men include the smoking room, which is in charge of Frederic W. Butler, Charles A. Reed, Henry L. Hall and many others, and the bowling alleys in the basement. In the smoking room you can get a cigar as high priced as you want or as cheap and all kinds of cigarettes are sold. George L. Schoonmaker has charge of the bowling alleys, assisted by a number of young men.

The committee which planned and arranged the fete and has general direction of it consists of Mrs. Frederic W. Butler, chairman; Mrs. Charles A. Reed and Mrs. Henry L. Hall. Mrs. DeWitt C. Brokaw has charge of the tickets. Miss Bertha Whitney is the secretary.

Miss Rafferty is assisted in the supper room by Mrs. W. C. Kinney, Mrs. A. N. Selter, Mrs. Isabelle Milne, Mrs. Lewis Williams, Mrs. Roger F. Murray, Mrs. James E. Martine, Mrs. O. E. Hovey, Mrs. J. L. Watson, Mrs. Edward T. Wilson, Miss Elsie Brokaw, the Misses Curtis, Mrs. F. W. French, Miss May Faber. Those assisting in the preparations and serving of the chafing dishes are Mrs. Charles A. Reed, Mrs. F. W. Butler, Mrs. Henry L. Hall, Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney, Mrs. James E. Martine, Mrs. E. B. Shoemaker, Mrs. Samuel Townsend, Mrs. DeWitt C. Brokaw, Charles Faber and George Dupee.

The fete will be continued this afternoon and evening, and tomorrow afternoon and evening.

For Saturday night a good programme has been arranged. There will be a fancy dance by Miss Helen Stevens; floral dance to "Cavalierra Rustincana;" butterfly dance and a French dance to "La Sorella."

Looking for O'Gorman's Successor.

The police department has not as yet secured anyone to take Thomas O'Gorman's place as driver of the patrol wagon. The job is open and the man who thinks he can take care of it and passes Chief Kiely's examination will get the appointment. Applications should be made direct to the chief.

—Delicious fruits are being received each day by Neuman Brothers. Tomorrow they will have strawberries, fancy Indian River oranges, seedless oranges, grape fruit and pineapples.

EXCELLENCE IN FITTING. . . . .

We pride ourselves on our ability to fit a foot scientifically correct. All our salespeople have the knowledge and experience that enable them to select the model or last which is best adapted for style and comfort to the individual they are serving. The complete line of every size and width which we carry makes it possible for them to give a patron the exact size and width required. Our service excels in this respect just as it does in the pleasing and intelligent attention which every clerk strives to give our customers. If you are not in the habit of trading here let us demonstrate our superiority in merchandise and service this spring.

REPORTER IMAGINED STONES WOULD BURN

L. W. HAMMOND NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ANOTHER PAPER'S FICTION.

Leander W. Hammond, of Somerset street, who recently announced that he had discovered a solution that makes it possible for coal dust to be burned in ordinary stoves and last twice as long as ordinary fuel, today indignantly denied the story in another local paper yesterday that he had succeeded in applying his process to stone. Mr. Hammond declared that he had never made any such claim, or, in fact, had ever thought of the thing, and the assertions in the article were the result of a vivid imagination on the part of an over-zealous but well-meaning young reporter.

In speaking of the solution, Mr. Hammond informed a Daily Press reporter that he had discovered it in an accidental way nearly three years ago and since that time had been making use of it. Although he is the inventor of six different devices, for which he holds patents, Mr. Hammond did not think to make a commercial commodity of his discovery and simply kept it to keep down his own coal bills. When Cobbler Elmore, of Pittsburg, made known the fact that he had discovered a way to use coal dust and ashes, the Plainfielder realized that it was practically what he had been doing for a long time only not with ashes.

Mr. Hammond's method is to use only coal dust or the buckwheat size of anthracite, applying his solution to it. The fuel is practically solidified and becomes possessed of remarkable burning qualities. Twenty pounds of dust and solution under ordinary conditions Mr. Hammond says he has found, will last twenty-four hours, giving out sufficient heat to warm seven rooms. One ton of dust which he purchased from a local dealer, lasted from November last to March 1 and corresponding results have been obtained from the buckwheat coal. Mr. Hammond tried the solution with the dust and ashes but found that it required twice as much dust as when used alone, while the heat was not nearly so good.

Since it became known what valuable properties Mr. Hammond's solution possesses, he has received letters from manufacturers and capitalists in various parts of the country, seeking full information and offering various amounts for the secret if his claims are all true. Mr. Hammond has placed himself in communication with several of them and is arranging a practical demonstration to let them see just what he has been doing for three years.

"I can substantiate every claim I have made for the solution," said Mr. Hammond while talking with the reporter, "but I never said anything about applying it to cracked stone and the statement that I did is unqualifiedly false."

—Every quart bottle of olive oil sold by Neuman Brothers contains eight ounces more of oil than is contained in the ordinary bottle. They import it from France and guarantee it to be strictly high grade.

ISLAND INHABITED BY 60 CRUSOES

LONE COLONY OF ADVENTURERS ON TRISTAN DA CUNHA, IN THE SOUTH ATLANTIC.

ALL MADE DARK BY THE SUN

Do Without Bread for Six Months of the Year and Sustain Life Chiefly on a Diet of Potatoes.

Cape Town, South Africa.—An extraordinary picture of life on that barren isle in the South Atlantic is drawn in a letter received here from a passenger who sailed from Table bay for Montevideo by way of the Island of Tristan da Cunha.

A pathetic appeal was recently received in this country for some one, preferably a Church of England man, to go to Tristan de Cunha to teach. No salary could be offered, the appeal said, as in one whole year only $25 was taken on the island.

The letter from the passenger on the Surrey brings news of a calamity which has bereft the island of a large part of its able-bodied male population and tells of conditions of privation and misery among those who are left.

Among the Surrey's passengers were Rev. Mr. Borrow, his wife and another woman, bound for Tristan da Cunha. Describing the difficulty experienced in landing them the letter says:

"The coast is very dangerous, and there was quite a possibility that the trio would have to be carried on to Montevideo, but fortunately, although we had encountered many rough seas, when we came in sight of Tristan, the weather abated, and contrary to the captain's expectations we were able to anchor within a quarter of a mile of the shore.

"Two canvas boats put off from the shore immediately, bringing letters which the islanders wanted posted. They had live sheep, ducks, etc., and cured albatross and other birds for barter, also milk. The settlers were very peculiar looking. With some few exceptions their skins are exceedingly dark, owing to the sun, but most of them are of European descent.

"The postmaster came on board. He said that the yacht Valhalla had brought them word that Mr. Borrow would arrive on the Surrey, and they had reckoned so well that they had expected us the day before.

"He said they now number only 60 inhabitants on the island, mostly women and children. The two boats alongside us had the sole able-bodied male population. Some time ago 17 men had put out to sea to fish and had been lost.

"The island is overrun with rats, which eat all the crops, wheat especially, and for six months they had not had bread, but had lived chiefly on potatoes. The rule of the islanders is for all to share alike, so that when an animal is killed each gets his portion. This applies to everything that can be divided.

"It took a whole day to land the nine tons of baggage, and, owing to the roughness of the sea, it was an extremely dangerous task. Some of the passengers helped. One was washed out of the boat, but, being a good swimmer, struck out for the shore.

"The farewells were said and the party got into one of the canvas boats which had been swinging on the davits to make it easier for them, but the combined weight was too much, and the boat began to break, so it had to be lowered into the water first, and the trio made the descent one by one, aided by the officers.

"The ship was standing very high out of the water and going down the ship's side with the roaring surf below must have been a terrible ordeal for all, but they were all very brave. We did not continue our voyage until we saw them safely through the surf and on shore, but it was an anxious time even for us on board, as we could not foresee how it would be with them, every other wave seeming to cover their boat.

"The government sends a warship once a year to this island. With this exception it is a chance whether they get in touch with the rest of the world."

You Cannot Do Better Than Wear Watson Made

Ideas may differ, but few men dispute the existence of real value in Watson made clothing. Men who know—and there are thousands who have tried the Watson way—will tell you that for genuine satisfaction it pays to buy clothes with the Watson label.

In neat and exclusive patterns the assortment of suits is most complete. Careful scrutiny reveals the excellence of Watson tailoring in the collar, lapels, shoulders and graceful hang of the trousers.

Watson Made Suits $10 to $25.

Those seeking advance signs of spring have but to come here and see the many nobby effects in 1907 Top Coats. The style changes this season are many, thus tending to increase the popularity of this favorite garment. As usual, the Watson tailors have set forth their best efforts.

ed for public approval. It is so filled with sparkling fun that you hardly finish one laugh before you are plunged into another. There is a fund of humor that holds one in constant merriment from start to finish. If you wish to enjoy an evening of pure wholesome fun without vulgarity, do not fail to attend this entertainment which will be given at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night, as it will be their only appearance here this season.

The ushers at the New Plainfield theatre will have their first annual benefit next Monday night when the funny trio, Bickel, Watson and Wrothe, will appear in their behalf in "Tom, Dick and Harry," the successful musical comedy. Tickets can be had of the ushers or at the box office.

Ben Greet, who with his company of English Shakespearean players, will be seen in "The Merchant of Venice" at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night, states that his purpose in giving the plays of Shakespeare in what for want of a better term, is called the Elizabethan manner, is not to demonstrate how his works were acted during the poet's lifetime and for some years after, but to act them, as far as possible as they were written. Two features of the Elizabethan features that are dispensed with are the acting of men and boys in the female characters and the crowding of the stage and side boxes with noisy spectators.

MEN BATTLE FIERCELY WITH THOUSAND RATS

CORNERED IN GRANARY ROOM, BIG GRAY RODENTS ATTACK WOULD-BE EXECUTIONERS.

Waterbury, Conn.—With their backs against the wall and their clubs flying like flails, Charles Wheeler and William Wesa fought for their lives with a thousand big gray granary rats. The men had planned a slaughter of the rats, but when the animals were cornered they came precious near devouring the men. Wheeler and Wesa killed 200 rats in the brief but deadly combat, which ended only when other men went to the rescue.

A horde of greedy rats infested H. R. Stone & Co.'s grain warehouse at Woodbury and devoured much grain. Wheeler and Wesa, clerks there, determined to exterminate the pests. For days they plugged various rat holes, then by sprinkling grain temptingly they finally lured the rats into a small room where bran is stored. While the big drove ran here and there the men plugged the rat holes in the little room and attacked the rats with clubs.

But the rats, cornered, did not wait to be clubbed. No sooner had Wheeler and Wesa slammed the door behind them than a great lean rat, squealing, jumped at Wheeler's face. Behind it came the rest of the drove. They writhed about the men's feet, swarmed up their legs, bit savagely at their shoes and sprang high in the air in an effort to get at their unprotected hands and faces.

The men wielded their clubs like mad and yelled for help, but the squealing animals only attacked them the more furiously. One worked his way inside Wesa's trouser leg and tore savagely at his ankle. Another sank his teeth into Wheeler's hand. The two might have been eaten alive had not other employes heard their shouts and thrown open the door. The rats scurried out of the building and the two executioners dropped exhausted.

STICKERS FOR PUPILS' LIPS.

Teachers of Lynn, Mass., Accused of Using Court Plaster.

Lynn, Mass.—Dissatisfaction on the part of parents in the eastern section of this city with the methods of teachers in the Eastern Avenue training school manifested itself at a hearing before the school committee the other evening, when W. R. Felter stated that there was "a strong objection to permitting teachers to lick sticking plaster and place it on the lips of whispering pupils."

The meeting was attended by 100 parents, and nearly a score of mothers intimated that they would make charges of a serious character to the members of the school committee in private.

Among the forms of punishment which various persons allege to have been used were forcing a quantity of green soap into the mouth of a boy and tying of stockings about the faces of pupils for whispering.

These reports will be investigated thoroughly by the school committee, and James M. Blaisdell, a member, said he would recommend the dismissal of any teacher convicted of such practices.

Women Plow Like Horses.

Kansas City, Mo.—Julian Fustrade, a Belgian, who conducts a truck farm within the city limits, has been utilizing his wife and 15-year-old daughter as plow horses. Both women made this acknowledgment to a Humane society officer to-day.

"It is no more than we were accustomed to in the old country," they declared.

Fustrade has been warned that women are not permitted to do such work in Kansas City, and that he would be locked up if it is attempted again.

Suicide Names Grave Diggers.

Stroudsburg, Pa.—George S Felker, a resident of Kellersville, committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid. Felker, who lived alone, dressed himself in new clothing, carefully combed his hair and wrote a note giving directions concerning his affairs, even naming his grave diggers. He also wrote a judgment note for $101 to an acquaintance and tied a handkerchief about his neck to prevent the aid from staining his clothes. About ten days ago Felker had some words with his wife and she went to live with a sister.

Marshall & Ball Clothing
The Highest Type of Ready-to-Wear.

SPRING APPAREL

OF INDIVIDUALITY AND DIGNITY.

The merit of Marshall & Ball Clothing lies not in the materials, or the finish, or the style—but in the cleverness manifested in the combination of these essentials—tailoring skill that insures individuality, dignity and shapeliness during the life of the garment and that reflects the earmarks of the exclusive custom shops, minus their high prices.

Many Springs have come and gone since we have shown so many exclusive patterns in Suits. The cool, light gray checks and plaids are particu-larly bright and attractive.

Especially noticeable in our new coats are the graceful fronts; the clinging fit of the collar and shoulders; the lines of the back, slightly suggesting the figure; the treatment of the cuffs; and the absence of vents.

Spring Suits, Overcoats and Raincoats, $12 to $25.

SPRING CLOTHES FOR BOYS.

Thrifty parents realize that the Marshall & Ball Store is several strides ahead of any other manufacturer of Boys' Clothing. Our Apparel for Youngsters is built along the same lines as our men's garments. Style, goodness and appearance receive equal attention.

That's why M. & B. Suits and Top Coats stand more hard tugs than any other we know of and still keep their good looks.

COL. COLLINS HONORED

AN ORIGINAL MENU

Judge Advocate Walker Makes Presentation Speech and the Colonel Feelingly Responds.

A complimentary dinner was tendered to Brigadier General Dennis F. Collins, commander of the Second brigade of the National Guard of New Jersey, Wednesday, by officers of the Second regiment in the Colonial room of the Trenton House at Trenton.

A silent toast was drunk to Coll. Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerville, the regimental commander, who is ill at his home.

Judge Advocate Edwin Robert Walker, on behalf of the officers of the Second regiment, presented to General Collins a handsome cut glass punch bowl, glasses, ladle and plateau.

General Collins responded feelingly in accepting the gift, which was a manifestation of the esteem in which the former colonel is held by the officers of the Second regiment.

The menu was designed after the form of a general order from the head regimental officer and was as follows:

State of Your Appetite,
Trenton, N. J., April 10, 1907.
Special Orders No. 2—8.

Issued in connection with a Luncheon, by the Officers of the Second Regiment, N. G. N. J., in honor of Brigadier General Dennis F. Collins, Commander Second Brigade, N. G. N. J., given at the Trenton House, Colonial Room, Wednesday, April 10, 1907, at 9 p. m.

1. Circular No. 2, from the office of the adjutant, being the modus operandi responsible for the coming together of those present, the following will be observed as early as possible, departure therefrom being permitted only upon application through proper channels.

2. The olive colored liquor, in small glasses is a seductive concoction calculated to sharpen the appetite and warm the blood—but

3. The cold consomme in cups will sufficiently cool the blood to enable one to enjoy the plentiful supply of broiled beefsteak garnished with potatoes in various styles.

4. The steaks will advance to extended order, and, after a short skirmish, will close en masse and be relieved by the asparagus salad, which will act as a support until the arrival of the relief, toasted crackers, cheese and coffee.

5. The lighting of signal torches (Jose Villa cigars) will offer to all participants in the combat an opportunity to rest, during which time a number of "High Ups" will express to the "Low Downs" their views on matters of great import to nation, state and city.

6. The "enlisted men" on the flanks will provide thirst quencher upon request, during the entire engagement.

7. The engagement up to this point having been under command of the regimental quartermaster, and the orders now calling for rapid fire from the "High Ups," command of the combat will be assumed by Col. Nelson Y. Dungan, while the quartermaster consults with the commissary and judge advocate as to their standing and the proper position they should occupy during the mortal combat.

NEW USE FOR DIRECTORY.

A stylishly dressed and altogether good looking woman was turning over the leaves of the directory in a leisurely manner when an irascible old gentleman, known to his acquaintances as a man with a very small stock of patience, entered.

He wished to use the directory, too, possibly to look up the address of a man who owed him money.

He stood about now and then casting heavy looks in the direction of the directory and coughed suggestively. A business man in a hurry followed. He wanted to know where Walter Jones lived. It is a block or two away. He had forgotten the number. He fell in line.

Then the man who sought some city official, but knew nothing of his office, except that it closed in a few minutes, joined the ranks of waiters.

Still the woman placidly turned over leaf after leaf, without any apparent intention to decide whether it was Brown, Jones or Smith she was seeking.

Finally, when matters were beginning to grow very tense, a young man rushed in.

His mission would positively admit of no delay, so he politely offered to assist the young woman, suggesting that his experience might tend to lessen her labor and save time.

When he asked her what name she sought, with a sweet smile full of appreciation, she said:

"Oh, thank you. You are very kind. I am trying to find a real pretty name for my brother's baby. He has asked me to name it. It's a boy and it's so hard to find a real pretty name."

GOLF CLUB SEASON OPENS ON APRIL 20

PLAINFIELD COUNTRY CLUB WILL HOLD RECEPTION ON MAY 25.

The Plainfield Country Club will have its formal opening on Saturday, April 20, when there will be the initial play for the golf committee cup and other competitions. During the past few weeks the different committees have been busy at work making preparations for the opening and everything will be in readiness by a week from tomorrow. It has been decided to hold the opening reception on Saturday, May 25, when the first dance will take place. There will be music for dancing every Saturday night during June and July. The house committee has re-engaged David Shay as clerk.

The golf committee, of which J. Whitney Baker is the new chairman, is at work on the schedule and expect to have it ready for the members early next week. Frank O. Reinhart and W. Lester Glenney have been added to this committee. Lewis G. Timpson is the chairman of the house committee and will have charge of the social events during the season.

Was — Is — Will Be

IT WAS, only about a year ago, just a pretty farm.

IT IS to day the finest building site in Plainfield, with broad avenues macadamized their entire width, concrete curb, sidewalks, trees, gas, electric light, in fact all improvements. Nearly $100,000 expended in new and handsome dwellings, now ready for the market.

WHAT IT WILL BE we hardly dare predict, with contracts out for even more extensive improvements and twelve more handsome residences.

Lots selling rapidly—Prices very low—Great investment or speculative opportunities.

BOWLING

"The Ponies," a team of local bowling cracks which has "cleaned up" almost everything in the city the past winter, is anxious to secure some games before the season closes. Either two-men or five-men teams can be accommodated. Jos Farlee does the managing for the "ponies" and communciations should be addressed to him.

The big bowling tourney at McLaughlin's will positively end tonight, whether the final games are rolled or not. Four matches remain to be decided and in the event of any of the teams not showing up the games will be forfeited. Interest centers in the struggle for third place, which is held by Meyer and Mack but which can be wrested from them by Radin and Ackor. Meyer and Mack have finished their matches with twenty-five wins and seventeen losses. Radin and Ackor have won twenty-four and lost fifteen, so that the winning of one game tonight will tie them. They are matched against Willett and Britton.

It is declared by a bowling authority that when Chief Kiely and Judge Runyon made their big scores last week, they broke the world's record for the total number of pins in three successive tourney games. While the exact figures have not bee obtained, it is declared the record stood at about 1,250 while Kiely and Runyon in their series made over 1,300 pins. An effort is being made to learn whether or not the report is true.

BOWLING TEAMS ROLL ON NEUTRAL ALLEYS.

Westfield and Roseville Aggregations Finish Up Series at McLaughlin's.

Two bowling teams from Woodmen of the World camps at Westfield and Roseville, which have been competing in a series all winter, came to Plainfield last night and rolled a match on McLaughlin's alleys. Three games were played and the Westfielders took two of them, both by good leads. They lost the first by a margin of eighty-two pins. The best score for the night was made by "Charlie" Meyer, of this city, who has bowled with the Westfield camp in all its games. He made a 217. Chauncey Koons was the only other Plainfielder on the team.

Following the match the bowlers adjourned to Timbo's, where supper was served and an informal social session was held.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The boys from the Congregational church, who have entered the Sunday-school Athletic meet to be held at the Y. M. C. A. tonight, have adopted the U. S. flag as their colors for this meet. Later they will decide on other colors.

—The New York Steamfitting Company, of which Henry L. Hall, of this city, is a member, has the entire contract for the heating, ventilating and electrical work in the new Custom House, New York. The contract price is $350,000. The same company had a similar contract for the new buildings at the Naval Academy, Annapolis.

W. J. Lee Arrested.

William J. Lee, who was adjudged insane in New Jersey and sane in New York, and who has escaped three times from the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane at Trenton and once from the Manhattan State Hospital on Ward's Island, was arrested again last night in New York and lodged in police headquarters on a charge of insanity, based on threatening letters.

Babcock Building Fire Scare.

Tenants in the Babcock building had a fire scare at 9 o'clock last night through an employee of the Recorder Press preparing lead for the Mergenthaler machines. Smoke from the melting pot spread through the big structure and it was thought a blaze was smoldering somewhere. A still alarm was 'phoned to headquarters and the chemical engine was sent out but quickly located the trouble.

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

Immediately after Burbank's nomination, Goodrich concentrated upon nominating Judge Simpson. He had three weeks, and he worked hard and well. I think he overdid it in the editorials in our party organs under his influence in New York, Boston and other eastern cities—never a day without lugubrious screeds on the dismal outlook for Burbank if the other party should put up Simpson. But his Simpson editorials in big opposition papers undoubtedly produced effect. I set for De Milt and his bureau of underground publicity the task of showing up, as far as it was prudent to expose intimate politics to the public, Goodrich and his crowd and their conspiracy with Beckett and his crowd to secure the opposition nomination for a man of the same offensive type as Cromwell. And I directed Woodruff to supply Silliman and Merriweather and that department of "bipartizan" machine with all the money they wanted. "They can't spend much to advantage at this late day except for traveling expenses," said I. "Our best plan, however, is good honest missionary work with the honest men of the other party who wish to see its best man nominated."

While Goodrich's agents and Beckett's agents were industriously arranging the eastern machinery of the opposition party for Simpson, Merriweather had Silliman's men toiling in the west and south to Get Rundle delegates or uninstructed delegations. And, after our conversation, he was reinforced by Woodruff and such men of his staff as could be used without suspicion. Woodruff himself could permeate like an odorless gas: you knew he was there only by the results. Nothing could be done for Rundle in his own state: but the farther away from his home our men got, the easier it was to induce—by purchase and otherwise—the politicians of his party to think well of him. This the more because they regarded Simpson as a "stuff" and a "stiff"—and they weren't far wrong.

"It may not be Scarborough, and it probably won't be Rundle," Woodruff said in his final report to me, "but it certainly won't be Simpson. He's the dead one, no matter how well he goes on the first ballot."

But I would not let him give me the details—the story of shrewd and slippery plots, strategems, surprises. "I am worn out, mind and body," said I in apology for my obvious weariness and indifference.

For six months I had been incessantly at work. The tax upon memory alone, to say nothing of the other faculties, had been crushing. Easy as political facts always were for me, I could not lightly bear the strain of keeping in mind not merely the outlines, but also hundreds of the details, of the political organizations of 40-odd states with all their counties. And the tax on memory was probably the least. Then added to all my political work was business care; for while I was absorbed in politics, Ed Ramsay had badly muddled the business. Nor had I, like Burbank and Woodruff, the power to empty my mind as I touched the pillow, and so get eight hours of unbroken rest each night.

Woodruff began asking me for instructions. But my judgment was uncertain, and my imagination barren. "Do as you think best" said I. "I must rest. I've reached my limit"—my limit of endurance of the sights and odors and befoulings of these sewers of politics I must in person adventure in order to reach my goal. I must pause and rise to the surface for a breath of decent air or I should not have the strength to finish these menial and even vile tasks which no man can escape if he is a practical leader in the practical activities of practical life.

CHAPTER XVIII.

A Dangerous Pause.

I took train for my friend Sandys' country place near Cleveland, forbidding Woodruff of Burbank or my secretaries to communicate with me. Sandys had no interest in politics—his fortune was in real estate, and, therefore, did not tempt or force him into relations with political machines.

Early in the morning after my arrival I got away from the others and, with a stag-hound who remembered me with favor from my past visit, struck into woods that had never been despoiled by man. As I tramped on and on, my mind seemed to revive, and I tried to take up the plots and schemes that had been all-important yesterday. But I could not. Instead, as any sane man must when he and nature are alone and face to face, I fell to marveling that I could burn up myself, the best of me, the best years of my one life, in such a fever of folly and fraud as this political career of mine. I seemed to be in a lucid interval between paroxysms of insanity. I reviewed the men and things of my world as one recalls the absurd and repellent visions of a nightmare. I shrank from passing from this mood of wakefulness and reason back into the unreal realities of what had for years been my all-in-all. I wandered hour after hour, sometimes imagining that I was flying from the life I loathed, again that somewhere in those cool, green, golden-lighted mazes I should find—my lost youth, and her. For, how could I think of it without thinking of her also? It had been lighted by her; it had gone with her; it lived in memory, illumined by her.

The beautiful, beautiful world-that-ought-to-be! The hideous, the horrible world that is!

I did not return to the house until almost dinner-time. "I have to go away to-morrow morning," I announced after dinner. For I felt that, if I did not fly at once, I should lose all heart for the fask which must be finished.

"Why," protested Sandys, "you came to stay until we all started with you for St. Louis."

"I must go," I repeated. I did not care to invent an excuse; I could not give the reason. Had I followed my impulse, I should have gone at once, that night.

By noon the next day I had again thrown myself into the vexed political ocean whose incessant buffetings give the swimmers small chance to think of anything beyond the next oncoming wave.

CHAPTER XIX.

David Sent Out Against Goliath.

I was almost master of myself again when, a week later, I got aboard the train in which Carlotta and I were taking our friends to look on at the opposition's convention at St. Louis.

When we arrived, I went at once to confer with Merriweather in a room at the Southern hotel which no one knew he had. "Simpson has under, rather than over, 500 delegates," was his first item of good news. "It takes 650 to nominate. As his sort of boom always musters its greatest strength on the first ballot, I'm putting my money two to one against him."

"And Scarborough?" I asked, wondering at my indifference to this foreshadowing of triumph.

"My men talk him to every incoming delegation. It's well known that he don't want the nomination and has forbidden his friends to vote for him and has pledged them to work against him. Then, too, the bosses and the boys don't like him—to put it mildly. But I think we're making every one feel he's the only man they can put up, with a chance to beat Burbank."

My wife and our friends and I dined at the Southern that night. As we were about to leave, the streets began to fill. And presently through the close-packed masses came at a walk an open carriage—the storm-center of a roar that almost drowned the music of the four or five bands. The electric lights made the scene bright as day.

'Who is he?" asked the woman at my side—Mrs. Sandys.

She was looking at the man in that carriage—there were four, but there was no mistaking him. He was seated, was giving not the slightest heed to the cheering throng. His soft black hat was pulled well down over his brows; his handsome profile was stern, his face pale. If that crowd had been hurling curses at him and preparing to tear him limb from limb he would not have looked different. He was smooth-shaven, which made him seem younger than I knew him to be. And over him was the glamour of the world-that-ought-to-be in which he lived and had the power to compel others to live as long as they were under the spell of his personality.

"That," I replied to Mrs. Sandys, "is Senator Scarborough of Indiana.

"What's he so stern about?"

"I'm sure I don't know—perhaps to hide his joy."

But I did know, and my remark was the impulsive fling of envy. He had found out, several weeks before, what a strong undercurrent was running toward him. He was faced by a dilemma—if he did not go to the convention it would be said that he had stayed away deliberately, and he would be nominated; if he went, to try to prevent his nomination, the enthusiasm of his admirers and followers would give the excuse for forcing the nomination upon him. And as he sat there, with that ominous tumult about him, he was realizing how hard his task was to be.

His companions pushed him a passage through the crowds on the sidewalk and in the lobby, and he shut himself away in the upper part of the hotel. When we left, half an hour later, the people were packed before that face of the hotel which displayed the banner of the Indiana delegation, were cheering Scarborough, were clamoring—in vain—for him to show himself.

"But won't he offend them?" asked my wife.

"A crowd loves like a woman," said I. "Indifference only excites it."

"Oh, I never loved that way," protested Mrs. Sandys.

"Then," said my wife, rather sourly I thought, "you and Mr. Sandys have something to live for."

And so we talked no more politics.

There may be American women who really like to talk politics, but I never happened to know one with no little sense. It's a pity we men do not imitate our women more closely in one respect. In season and out of season, they never talk anything but business—woman's one business. When other things are being discussed, they listen, or rather, pretend to listen; in reality, their minds are still on their business, and how they shall contrive to bring it back into the conversation with advantage to themselves.

Next day the convention adopted a wishy-washy platform much like Burbank's—if anything, weaker. I saw Goodrich's thought upon it. But the victory cost him dear. That night the delegates realized what a blunder they had made—or thought they realized it after Merriweather and his staff had circulated among them. Few of them had been trusted by Beckett with the secret that, with that platform and with Simpson as the nominee their party would have the interests behind it would almost certainly win. They only saw ahead a dull campaign, and no real issue between the parties, and their candidate, if he was Simpson, much the less attractive personality of the two.

The following morning the voting began; and after seven ballots Simpson had 39 votes less than on the first ballot. "It was like a funeral," was the verdict of my disappointed guests that evening. A night of debate and gloom among the politicians and other delegates, and on the opening ballot Merriweather sprung his trap.

The first big doubtful state in the alphabetical list of states is Illinois. When the secretary of the convention called for Illinois' vote, it was cast solidly for Scarborough.

There was straightway pandemonium. It was half an hour before any one could get a hearing. Then Indiana was called, and Pierson, attorney general of that state and chairman of its delegation, cast its vote as in the other ballots, for Hitchens, its governor. From my box I was watching Scarborough and his immediate friends going from delegation to delegation, and I knew what he was about. When Iowa was called and cast its vote solidly for him, I knew he had failed.

"How white he is!" said Mrs. Sandys, who was looking at him through opera glasses.

I borrowed them and saw that his gaze was fixed upon a box on the other side of the huge auditorium, on a woman in that box—I had only to look at her to see why such woman. She was beautiful of that type of charm which the French sum up in the phrase "the woman of 30." I have heard crowds bellow too often to be moved by it—though the 20,000 or 30,000 gathered under that roof were outdoing the cannonade of any thunderstorm. But that woman's look in response to Scarborough's—there was sympathy and understanding in it, and more, infinitely more. He had been crushed for the moment—and I understand enough of his situation to understand what a blow to all his plans this untimely apparent triumph was. She was showing that she, too, felt the blow, but she was also sending a message of courage to him—one of those messages that transcend words, like music, like the perfume of flowers and fields, like that which fills us as we look straight up into a clear night sky. I lowered the glasses and looked away—I could not bear it. For the moment I hated him—hated myself for it.

I heard Carlotta asking a woman in the box next our the name of "the woman with the white plume in the big black hat in the seventh box on the other side."

"Mrs. Scarborough," was the answer.

"Oh, is that she?" exclaimed Mrs. Sandys, almost snatching her glasses from me in her eagerness. "You know who she was—John Dumont's widow—you remember him? She must have been an uncommon person to have attracted two such men."

But Scarborough was nominated now. He waved aside those who tried to take him up and bear him to the platform. He walked down the aisle alone and ascended amid a tense silence; he stood looking calmly out. His face had lost its whiteness of a few minutes before. As he stood there, big and still, a sort of embodiment of fearlessness, I wondered—and I fancy many others were wondering—whether he was about to refuse the nomination. But an instant's thought drove the wild notion from my mind. He could not strike that deadly blow at his party.

"Fellow delegates," said he—a clearer, more musical voice than his I have never heard—"I thank you for this honor. As you know, I opposed the platform you saw fit to adopt. I have nothing to retract. I do not like it. But after all, a candidate must be his own platform. And I bring my public record as proof of my pledge—that—" he paused, and the silence was tremendous. He went on, each word distinct and by itself—"if I am elected—a long pause—"I shall obey the constitution"—another pause—"I shall enforce the laws!"

MAINWARING'S REVENGE

By EBEN E. REXFORD

(Copyright, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

Mainwaring noticed that the eyes of a good many men sitting in his vicinity were turned toward one of the boxes, and he looked that way to see what the attraction was.

"Ah—that Jezabel," he said to himself, as he saw the woman's face that was drawing men's eyes like a lodestone. "I might have known without looking. It's the old story of the candle and the moth. Poor fools. They never learn wisdom until their wings and singed. I've a mind to paint the picture of a vampire and put her face into it. She lives in blood."

As he gave a second look toward the box from which the face of Sybil Leith shone out like a vivid tropical flower, he turned pale. Two men were entering it. One of them was Griffith Deane, the one man of all he knew whose friendship he cared for. A young man, whose knowledge of the life upon which he was entering was next to nothing. He was bringing to it a faith in all mankind, and womankind, as well—a belief in the goodness rather than the badness of others—and the enthusiasm of a boy who is half intoxicated with the prospect before him.

"It's the beginning of the end," he said, under his breath. "I had hoped he might be spared. If she breaks his heart—and she will if it suits her fancy—I believe I could kill her.

He watched the progress of matters in the box with the crimson curtains, and his heart sank with a sick foreboding as he saw the eager look in the poor boy's fascinated eyes.

"I was sorry to see you in the Leith box last night," he said to Deane next day. "Beware of the woman you met there. Her smile means ruin."

"I've heard as much from others," laughed Deane. "But do you know—I don't believe a word of it. You don't know her. I'd stake my life on her womanliness."

"You'd lose it, then," answered Mainwaring, as he turned away with a bitter smile on his face and an ache in his heart. He knew how useless it was to reason with a man who had faith in this creature who had made a plaything of human hearts for a day, or a week—as long as it suited her whim—and then cast them aside like a top.

The end of Griffith Deane's dream came sooner than his friend had looked for. He came in one day with the look of an old man in his face. Mainwaring knew what had happened the moment he saw him. His heart went out in a great wave of pity to the dupe of a heartless woman's wiles.

"It's all over," groaned Deane, dropping his head on the table to hide the misery of his face. "You were right, John, but I couldn't believe you. I can't make it seem possible, now. But it's true, for she laughed at me for having made a fool of myself. God! but that hurt! Say, John"—and the boy's head was lifted, showing the tears in her eyes—"I don't believe she can help it. She's made that way. It don't seem as if any woman would do such a thing if she could help it, does it?"

"It's the devil in her," answered Mainwaring. "If only somebody could make her heart ache, and when she showed it, quivering with its pain, grind it under foot! That would be a revenge worth striving for. I wonder—"

Mainwaring did not complete the sentence. Suddenly he saw before him a new object in life, and in one swift moment he had determined to set about its accomplishment.

Mainwaring had always kept aloof from Sybil Leith. Now a change came. He sought her out. He allowed her to think that at last the spell of her beauty had drawn him within its influence. She knew that he had the reputation of being a woman-hater, and she seemed flattered at his sudden attention.

Mainwaring woke up to the consciousness that it was in him to play the part of a lover well, and he did so. So well, indeed, that Sybil Leith seemed to become a different woman under his influence. More than once she gave him the impression of being wholly surprised at the recognition of his power over her. He watched her face flush beneath his glance with a thrill of exultation. More than once she seemed to make an effort to break away from the spell of his influence, but always something more powerful than her own will seemed to draw her back into it.

And he? His brain whirled when he tried to think it all out. What was this strange feeling which shook him at times like the reed the wind plays with? He had deliberately set about making himself master of this woman's heart, if she had any. He was sure he had succeeded beyond what he had dared hope for, and yet—there was not that triumph in the knowledge that he had expected to find. When he was with her she seemed to be all that was womanly and become like other women who love men because to love was what they were born for. At such times, he shivered when he thought of the revenge he had been working for. But the thought of poor Deane made his heart harden within him, and Sybil Leith would have shuddered at the look which came into his face at such times, if she could have seen it, he felt sure.

One evening he was pacing up and down the beach, thinking. He had strange thoughts for company nowadays. His moods were as contrary as the winds that shifted half a dozen times a day. He was an enigma to himself.

Suddenly he felt the presence of another. Without looking about he knew that Sybil Leith was near him.

"What brought you here?" he cried, presently, wheeling about to face her.

"I came because I couldn't help coming," she answered. "I saw you coming this way, and felt compelled to follow."

Compelled to follow! The thought was one that gratified the man's pride, because it told of the extent of his influence over her. He was her master. And how much the mastery of such a woman meant. The thought sent the blood tingling to his finger-tips.

A swift thought of Griffith Deane, as he had seen him last, trying to stupefy the ache of his heart in a bout of drunken revelry, came to him, and his face hardened under it.

"Answer me one question, and answer it honestly, if you can," he cried, in almost brutal harshness. "You love me—isn't that so?"

She lifted her eyes to his face with a look in them that he had never seen there before. The hand that she pressed against her breast as if to still the tumult of the heart beneath shook like a leaf in the wind. She seemed trying to speak, but no words came. But in her face, and in every gesture he thought he read admission of the truth. She did love him.

"I am glad of it!" he cried, and his voice had a hard, cruel ring in it. "Now you will know what men have felt when you won their love for the sport of it—what poor Griffith Deane felt when you lured him on to destruction, and laughed at him for the pain it gave him to find out the truth."

"Don't you love me?" she cried. "Have you deceived me, lied to me? O, the shame of it! And you a man!" Her voice had a ring of scorn in it. Then the momentary anger died out of her face, and she cowered abjectly before him. "Have pity, have pity!" she cried. "If men will love me can I help it?"

"Have you ever tried to keep them from it?" he asked. "Any woman can make a man understand how far it is safe to go, if she will. Do you know the pleasure it gives me to know that I can make you suffer as your victims have suffered?"

She sank upon the sands, and covered her face with her hands. He turned to go. He dared not trust himself to stay.

"O be merciful!" she cried. "Hate the woman I was, but have a little pity for the woman I am. Kiss me once—just once!—before you go. Leave me the memory of that one kiss to keep for all time to come. I may live to be old—so old!"

He paused a moment, wavering. The thought came to him that the woman he had waged warfare against was dead. This was another woman. And she loved him!

"O come back," she cried. "Come back long enough to tell me that you have a little pity for me. Will not the thought of what I have lost, in losing you, be punishment enough to satisfy you? Come back—come back!"

In that moment there came to Mainwaring a thought of the future. Through all eternity he would hear that cry ringing in his ears if he refused to heed it. He dared not face such a hell as that would be. And—she loved him!

He strode to her side, remembering now only that love was sweet. He bent down to her and cried as he did so:

"I have come back! I thought I was master, but I was wrong. Love is, Sybil; I am ready to forget everything but this—I love you! I would give up heaven for you. My darling, my darling!"

Then she lifted her face from her hands and looked at him. And in her eyes was such a look of wicked triumph as he had never imagined it possible for a woman to show. It was like the smile of a serpent.

"You love me, do you?" she cried. "I thank you for the greatest pleasure of my life in that confession. Know this, John Mainwaring—you have been a dupe in spite of your strong mind and powerful will. I have made your heart my plaything. I have forced you to confess yourself vanquished. O, it has been rare sport!"

And again that heartless laugh rang across the sands. To John Mainwaring it was the knell of death to hope, but love, though wounded unto death, could not die. That was the bitterest thought of all in the hour of his utter defeat.

Gamekeeper Neatly Fooled.

A French provincial paper has story of a gamekeeper who, going his round one night, saw a poacher and pursued him, but lost him in the highway in the darkness. Soon a motor car came up, and the keeper accepted an offer from the occupants to get in for the purpose of following the poacher. But nothing could be seen of the culprit, and when the keeper asked to be let down there was a burst of laughter and an intimation he would find himself in Paris before morning. In the twilight the motor stopped in the Place de la Concorde, the keeper was thrown out, and the party—which, of course, included the poacher—drove away. The unlucky keeper had to pawn his gun in order to pay his train fare back.

Some men will sit on a door-knob and think that it's going to hatch out a fighting chicken.

FIRST BAPTISTS WIN MEET

For Second Time They Carry off Honors of Sunday-School Athletic Contest.

GET SILVER TROPHY

Congregational a Poor Second: Warren Chapel Third, and First M. E. Church Fourth.

As in the first meet, the First Baptist church team walked away with the honors at the second Sunday-school Athletic Association meet, last night, at the Y. M. C. A., defeating the First Methodist Episcopal church, the Park Avenue Baptist church, the Congregational church, Warren chapel and Grace Protestant Episcopal church. Trinity church won the tug-of-ward, a special event, defeating the Congregationalist team in the final heat.

The Baptists scored 86 points. Their nearest opponents, the Congregational church, scored 19 points. Warren chapel scored 14 points and the First Methodist Episcopal church 13 points. The winners will receive a silver trophy and the seniors who got first and second places will receive silver and bronze medals; the boys and intermediate contestants who won firsts will get bronze medals.

The attendance was large, and a good deal of interest was manifested. Every now and then rooters and contestants would gather for a self-encouraging yell. One of the events, the sack race, was protested on the ground of foul by the winner, but the protest petered out.

The events went as follows:

Fifteen-yard dash, Juniors—Won by D. R. Miller, First Baptist; James Lindzey, First M. E.; second, James Manning, First Baptist, third; time, 2½ seconds.

Fifteen-yard dash, boys—Won by Walter Walker, Warren chapel; M. Krewson, First Baptist, second; Herbert Hillman, E. R. Fountain, First Baptist, third; times, 2 3-5 seconds.

Sack race—Won by Carlton Smith, First Baptist; C. B. Vail, First Baptist, second; time, 27½ seconds.

Standing broad jump; intermediate—Won by William Flanders, First Baptist; C. Strayer, First Methodist Episcopal, second; F. C. Denton, First Baptist, third; distance, 8 feet 3 inches.

Three standing broad jumps, juniors—Won by D. R. Miller, First Baptist; James Manning, First Baptist; James Lindzey, First Methodist Episcopal, third; distance, twenty-four feet.

Three-legged race, boys—Won by Butler and Hillman, First Baptist; Fountain and Krewson, First Baptist, second; time, 17½ seconds.

Running high jump, seniors—Won by Steiner, Congregational; Newman, Congregational, second; Lueder, Congregational, third; distance, 5 feet 1 inch.

Potato race, relay, intermediate—Won by First Baptist; Warren chapel second, Congregational church third.

Running hop step and jump, intermediate—Won by Flanders, First Baptist; Denton, First Baptist; Miller, First Baptist; distance, 30 feet 10 inches.

Running broad jump, seniors—Won by Douglass, First Baptist; Banks, First Baptist, second; Bentley, Congreational, third; distance, 16 feet 2½ inches.

Potato race, boys—Won by Love, First Methodist Episcopal; Walker, Warren chapel, second; Hillman, Congregational, third; time 39 seconds.

Pin race—Won by First Baptist; Warren chapel, second.

12-pound shot put, colsed to Y. M. C. A., handicap—Won by Manning; Banks, second; Spear, third; distance, 43 feet 5 inches; actual put, 31 feet 5 inches.

Tug-of-war, special—Congregationalists defeated Baptists; Presbyterians defeated Methodists; Congregationalists defeated Presbyterians; Trinity church defeated Warren chapel, and in the finals defeated the Congregationalists.

12-pound shot put—Won by Banks, First Baptist; Odell, second; Natrous, third; distance, 33 feet ¾ inches.

8-pound shot put—Won by Flanders, First Baptist; Denton, First Baptist; distance, 28 feet.

Evangelistic Meetings.

A large audience last night listened to Evangelist Ironside's graphic description of the San Francisco earthquake and the lessons he believed God would have men learn from it. It was probably the most stirring meeting of the series. Tomorrow night at 7:30 the evangelists will hold forth again and next week the meetings will be continued nightly in the Front street meeting hall at the corner of Bank place.

RATHER THAN LOSE CATS, WIDOW DIES

DRIVEN FROM HOME SHE COULD ONLY TAKE ONE ALONG.

Rather than be separated from her dozen of more cats, Mrs. Catherine Dowd, of Elizabeth, a widow, sixty-five years old, threw herself under a trolley car last night. She was cut to pieces, and when the car was raised on jacks she had been dead for several minutes.

For years Mrs. Dowd lived in a dilapidated house at No. 21 East Scott Place. Recently the owner told her he would have to have more rent than she was paying. She then hired a flat elsewhere, the agent refusing to allow more than one cat in the apartment at any one time. She consented to this, but repented later.

For years she had given shelter to all stray cats and sacrificed herself and her comfort, even to denying herself food for the sake of the cats. Recently she had only sixteen about the place, but usually a score or more were around. She said yesterday afternoon that she could not give up her pets, for without them life was not worth living.

FLORAL FETE DRAWS LARGE CROWDS DAILY

WOMEN REALIZED OVER $1,000 THE FIRST DAY—CLOSES TONIGHT.

The "Floral Fete" continued yesterday afternoon and evening with unbated success, although the weather had some effect on the attendance at night. The King's Daughters were much gratified with the returns for the first day. Including the sale from tickets, the total receipts for Thursday afternoon and evening were $1,017. The women are expecting a large attendance this afternoon and tonight when the fete will be brought to a close.

Yesterday afternoon and evening, Irving, the magician, entertained and he was exceedingly clever. In the afternoon he had a large audience of children to amuse and at night he was just as mystifying to the older people.

The women want to call the attention of the men to the bowling, and the serving of chafing dishes in the basement. These include welsh rarebit, crabs and oysters in different styles. Cigars and cigarettes are also offered for sale. Last night this part of the fete attracted many men.

Excellent pictures of the different booths have been put on postal cards and they are offered for sale at the booth in charge of Brightside Circle. All articles remaining unsold tonight will be auctioned off, the services of City Judge W. N. Runyon and Harry C. Deknatel having been secured as auctioneers.

The entertainment this afternoon and tonight will include moving pictures and fancy dances by Miss Helen Stevens. These dances are exceptionally attractive and no doubt will be a strong drawing card.

Court Plainfield Growing.

Court Plainfield, No. 1144, Independent Order Foresters, accepted four applications and initiated five members last night. Fred D. Wilbee was elected orator and a member of the finance committee in place of J. E. Elliott, resigned. The court now has more than 400 members and in honor of the event a special programme was enjoyed, including speeches and songs. Ice cream and cake were served, followed by a smoker.

Mr. and Mrs. Gallup Entertain.

The Friday Night Whist Club held its last meeting of the season, last night, when the members were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Gallup, of West Front street. There were four tables. Mrs. Hiram Woodruff won the prize for the women and William Townsend received the prize for the men. The affair was one of the most delightful of the season and after the play an elaborate supper was served.

Take Strikers Place.

Thirty Italian laborers engaged by Thomas J. Cusack, representing Peter Morgan, of Poughkeepsie, who has the contract for the southside sanitary sewer, struck yesterday. This morning another gang of thirty-five Italians were brought to town and the work will be resumed on Monday.

Civil Service Defeated.

The Colby "civil service" bill went down to defeat in the House at Trenton last night by a vote of 15 to 40.

There was considerable opposition in an oratorical way.

Mrs. H. S. Potter, of El Paso, Texas, is now en route for Plainfield where she will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Woodruff, of East Second street. She is expected to arrive here on Thursday, April 18.

NOT OPPOSED TO MARTINE

Former U. S. Senator Smith Denies Report that He has a Candidate for Gov'r.

GOOD WORD FOR "JIM"

Says Plainfielder Is a Democrat of Old School and Should Be Named—Martine Would Receive Senator's Support.

Persistent rumors afloat in Democratic circles to the effect that former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., has been secretly at work to accomplish the nomination of Senator Hinchcliffe or some other prominent Democrat excepting "Farmer-orator" James E. Martine, of this city, for the Governorship, have been set at rest by an emphatic denial from the Senator himself. Mr. Smith denies that he is interested in any particular candidate. He adds, that should the convention see fit to nominate the Plainfield veteran of innumerable political battles, the latter will certainly receive his support.

In response to a query from The Daily Press, Senator Smith says: "Answering your inquiry with reference to Hon. James E. Martine, I beg to advise you that I have not expressed myself in the matter of his candidacy for Governor in any way that would indicate I was opposed to him. I have known Mr. Martine for a good many years and have always regarded him as a Democrat of the old school—'always a Democrat.' I have no choice as to whom the Democracy shall nominate in convention; should it be Mr. Martine, he certainly will have my hearty support."

MR. SWACKHAMER'S MANNER OF DIFFUSING KNOWLEDGE.

To First Young Man Who Applies, Lawyer Will Give Some Instructive Books.

In the hope that they might prove of use to some ambitious young man, Counsellor S. S. Swackhamer advertises in The Daily Press today that he will give a set of "Plutarch's Lives" in three volumes to the first claimant who promises that he will read and study them.

The oddity of the advertisement led to a reporter asking Mr. Swackhamer what his reason is in wishing to dispose of the volumes in this manner and he replied:

"Why, simply because I have used them to good advantage and I thought some young man who has ambitions might be aided by them in his pursuit of knowledge. When I was a boy a book was given to me that taught me a great deal and I had it in mind when I finished "Plutarch's Lives." The volumes are in good condition, well bound and printed in large type and the first young man who satisfies me that he wants to study them can become their owner."

His Lumber Deal Didn't Work.

George Baumann, a recent arrival from Germany, started from his home in the East End early last night, to buy lumber with which to make a door in his house. A neighbor told him he was foolish to buy it, because the Central Railroad had a lot of lumber lying around loose at the Richmond street bridge. Baumann thought, too, that he might as well have some of the railroad planks, and went after three of them. Patrolman Nicholas Meyers caught him lugging them away, and placed him under arrest. Judge Runyon fined him $5 in this City Court this morning.

Miss Gillen Out On Bail.

Miss Ellen Gillen, of this city, who was arrested with Postmaster Charles T. Vail and Joseph Hummell upon suspicion of complicity in the fire which destroyed the West Portal store recently, was released from custody at Flemington under $2,000 bonds. Before her departure she was served with a subpoena to appear before the grand jury, which began its session this week.

Police Care for Unfortunate.

An unidentified, a German with a limited knowledge of nglish, fell in a fit in front of a store on Front street at 1 o'clock this afternoon. He was revived and taken to the station house, where he will be cared for and sent on his way. As far as the police have made out, he is a carpenter in hard luck and on a pilgrimage in search of work.

Repeated Church Lecture.

Rev. Dr. Charles Cooder, of Rahway, repeated his lecture on the history of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America in the parish house of Grace Protestant Episcopal church last night. There was a large attendance.

"LITTLE MAC'S" MEN INVITED TO CEREMONY

STOKES REQUEST VETERANS TO ATTEND UNVEILING OF STATUTE.

Governor Stokes has signed Senate bill No. 141. This law provides for the attendance at the ceremonies incident to the unveiling and dedication of the statue to the memory of Major-General George Brinton McClellan, Army of the Potomac, of the officers and men now living in New Jersey who served in organizations from this State under the immediate command of General McClellan between July 27, 1861, and November 9, 1862.

The ceremony will take place at Washington, D. C., Thursday, May 2, next, at 2 p. m. It is impossible for the Governor, acting as commander-in-chief, to send personal invitations to these veterans in the State. Accordingly, through the newspapers, he extends a cordial invitation to all the officers and men who were in this command during the period specified to attend the ceremonies at Washington.

Under the provisions of this act, applications should be made to the adjutant-general of New Jersey, at Trenton, and, if approved, transportation will be furnished by the quartermaster-general. Such application should specify the company and regiment from this State in which the applicant served, with his present address. The Governor urges all who wish to take advantage of this invitation to forward their applications without delay.

FINAL SERVICE OVER BODY OF "UNCLE DAN" S. ROBERTS.

Funeral at His Late Home Attended By Large Gathering of Relatives and Friends.

With a large gathering of relatives and friends in attendance, the funeral of Dan S. Roberts, who died Tuesday morning after an illness of nearly four weeks, was held yesterday afternoon at his late home onn Prospect place.

Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church, who had been a close friend of "Uncle Dan" almost from the time he came to the city, was in charge of the service and conducted it on simple lines. He read appropriate scripture lessons and in addition spoke feelingly of the kind old man whom no one knew but to love and who always had a smile and pleasant word. During the service, City Judge William N. Runyon sang two of "Uncle Dan's" favorite hymns, "Leaning on the Everlasting Arm" and "Crossing the Bar."

There was a large display of handsome floral tributes that included nearly a dozen set pieces. One of them was from Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., of which he had been a member during his local residence. He had been connected with the Masonic order for sixty years.

Following the service the body was placed in the receiving vault at Hillside cemetery and interment will be made later. The casket was borne by Mayor Newton B. Smalley; former Councilman Leonard Spangenberg and Walter L. Hetfield, who were members of the "Big Six;" City Judge Wiliam N. Runyon, William W. Warnock and Morris C. VanArsdale, all of whom were close friends.

PREPARING FOR OPENING OF NETHERWOOD HOME.

David Hand Memorial Auditorium to Be Erected for Use This Summer.

Among the new features at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home this summer will be a building to be erected by David Hand in memory of his two sons. The structure will be used as an auditorium for the holding of Gospel meetings, as well as various forms of entertainments for the children and mothers who spend the summer there.

The fresh air association, which is represented by Rev. Dr. Rodman, rector emeritus of Grace church, is making active preparations for the opening of the home May 30. From now until that time considerable work is to be done in putting the buildings and grounds in condition for the reception of the New York children and their mothers. Miss Sara Curry, manager of the home, will again be in charge of the fresh air work during the season.

Miss Florence Herr, of Flemington, has been visiting relatives in town for a few days.

Miss Lou Randolph, of West Eighth street, has returned from a visit with out of town friends.

—Dr. Ralph M. Crane, osteopathist, of 220 Central Park South, New York city, will visit Plainfield Tuesdays and Saturdays. Those desiring appointments for consultation and osteopathic treatment, address, care of Rev. A. C. Nickerson, 768 Kensington avenue. 3 2 tf.s m ***

ASSEMBLYMEN RIOTOUS

Wild Scenes in the House Shortly After Midnight when One Moves Adjournment.

SPEAKER BEWILDERED

Perkins Begs Colleagues To Be Calm—Adjournment Comes at 7:30 o'Clock This Morning.

The Legislature adjourned at 7:30 this morning after a session which lasted from yesterday morning. At 1:23 o'clock this morning, when a mass of bills was piled on the Assembly desk of Speaker Lethbridge, Assemblyman Brady, of Essex, moved that the lower house adjourn. The Speaker put the motion. There were cries of aye and no. In the growing confusion the motion was declared carried. Then came pandemonium. Opponents of adjournment hooted and yelled.

Mr. Baker, Democrat, rushed to the chair, which had been vacated by Speaker Lethbridge, who had retired to his private room.

Before he reached the chair a voice cried out in a stentorian tone: "I appeal from the decision of the chair." It was then realized that there was no chair from whose decision an appeal could be taken.

Mr. Baker then called the House to order and asked for nominations for speaker. Mr. Perkins, Republican, of Union, was nominated. Mr. Alexander, of Hudson, rushed from his seat in the rear of the speaker's room like a mad man. Mr. Tumulty, Hudson, rushing down the centre aisle, gesticulating with hands above his head cried at the top of his voice that the adjournment was a trick and an outrage and said that the body should be reorganized.

Mr. Perkins then mounted his desk and getting attention immediately made an appeal for cool heads to reign. He said the act of the speaker was the most astounding outrage in the annals of legislation. He said: "If you do elect me speaker what can I do after this most damnable act? I would suggest that a committee of five be appointed to consider the situation."

Mr. Firth, Democrat, Warren, then cried out: "They turned me down for speaker because they could not handle me and you see what you get."

Cheers greeted the above remarks.

Mr. Barber then stood on top of his desk and said: "I am not before you as a Republican, but as a representative of the people in their Legislature. Calmness is needed. We must consider how we can proceed regularly and lawfully. Not a man of us at this time knows how this can be done. In a conference of ten or fifteen minutes we may solve the problem. It may be that the Governor may call a special session of the Legislature."

Mr. Brady, who introduced the resolution to adjourn, said: "I want to state that when I offered my motion I had no intention of a final adjournment. Only intending that a recess should be taken. I now withdraw the motion." Mr. Barber said Mr. Brady was honest and should be believed. Matters continued at a high tension, members crying to one another making suggestions, but the majority of them seemed dumbfounded at their position.

Mr. Klenert, the Democratic majority leader, with his face scarlet with rage, in answer to Mr. Brady declared that as leader of the Democrats the motion to adjourn should have come from him.

At this moment Speaker Lethbridge mounted the speaker's desk, white and trembling and with raised hands secured order. He said: "I realize now that I have made a mistake. During the day I have been much worn with fatigue and I reconsider my decision." He suggested that the floor be cleared and business proceed as usual. Mr. Klenert said that the people had a right to remain and witness the closing session.

The floor was then ordered cleared and the spectators sent to the galleries. Then business was resumed.

All night the floors of both houses were charged with the atmosphere of the New York Stock Exchange, when the bulls and bears were locked in a notable financial struggle. Every trick that is known to politicians was resorted to, every resource of statecraft in an attempt to obtain desired results.

Senators and Assemblyman who have held out for weeks against various measures were willing to make concessions, and numerous "deals" were made whereby both Republicans and Democrats might get their pet schemes through.

When the House assembled last night the early part of the evening was given over to frolic and fun. Two pickaninnies were brought in and hoisted to the top of the clerk's desk. They entertained the members with

LONG SENTENCE FOR WORTHLESS HUSBAND

JUDGE SCORES ROBERT MORLEY AND INFLICTS HEAVY PUNISHMENT.

Robert Morley, a machinist, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning, charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct by his wife. Morley went to his wife's home, where he wasn't wanted, Tuesday afternoon, and cursed her with language that caused the magistrate to blush hen he made out the complaint. He has a police court record, and is said to be thoroughly worthless.

"Morley," said the magistrate, "of all the truck around town, you are the most worthless. You are no good at all to your wife and family, and I think it will be a good thing to put you where they can't see you for some time. One hundred dollars fine and fifty-nine day in jail."

Mrs. Morley, sitting on the witness' bench, wept silently as her husband was led away. His sentence means nearly five months in jail.

COL. DICKINSON MAKES PUBLIC FAGAN LETTER

IN $100,000 LIBEL SUIT SECRETARY OF STATE CALLS CHARGES FALSE.

Colonel Camuel D. Dickinson, Secretary of State, filed in the Supreme Court at Trenton yesterday his declaration in the $100,000 damage suit he has brought against Mayor Mark M. Fagan, of Jersey City, because of charges made by the latter at the time the reappointment of Colonel Dickinson as State Secretary was pending.

Colonel Dickinson enters emphatic denial to all of the allegations of Mayor Fagan, branding them as "false and malicious." He also takes occasion to make public for the first time the famous Fagan letter to Governor Stokes, containing the charges against the public and personal fitness of the Colonel to longer continue in State office. It was these charges that were investigated by the Governor, during which time the term of Colonel Dickinson expired and the State Department was left without a head for almost a day. Following the declaration of the Governor that the Fagan charges were not proven the Colonel was renamed and his nomination was immediately confirmed by the Senate.

DOCTOR LOSES SUIT.

Verdict of No Cause of Action Favors Lawrence Kerwin.

In the suit brought by Dr. A. K. Brennan against Lawrence Kerwin, before Justice Warden and a jury, at Dunellen, yesterday, a verdict of no cause for action was returned by the jury after five minutes' deliberation. Dr. Brennan sought to recover $10 for professional services, his claim being that the defendant was suffering from alcoholic gastritis, that his illness was brought on by himself and that Mr. Kerwin was not entitled to free service by reason of the fact that he was a member of the Ancient Order Hibernians, of which Dr. Brennan is the physician.

The defendant, represented by Justice von Minden, put Dr. Platt on the stand and he testified that Mr. Kerwin had appendicitis, and that Dr. Endicott diagnosed the case as the same. W. G. DeMeza represented Dr. Brennan.

Funeral of Theodore Rutan.

The funeral of Theodore Rutan was held yesterday afternoon at his late residence on Duer street. It was conducted by Rev. George Bowers, of Warrenville, and was largely attended. During the service Miss Jennie DeMott and Miss Florence Conroy sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Saved By Grace." Interment was afterward made in the soldiers' plot at Hillside cemetery, the pall bearers being William N. Pangborn, John Emmons, John Pearson, John Case, James Lewis and Colonel Albert Perry.

Thaw Jury Disagrees.

After having struggled for nearly two days to reach a verdict, the Thaw jury in New York reported a disagreement late yesterday afternoon and was immediately discharged. This final ballot stood seven for conviction for murder in the first degree and five for acquittal on the ground of insanity.

Benevolent Council Growing.

Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., initiated eight candidates at its meeting last night. Several propositions were received and in every way indications point to an unusually large growth in membership.

ANXIOUS TO GET CROOKS

Newark Police Want the Trio of Alleged Wire Thieves.

OTHER OFFICERS DEMUR

They Want the Men Prosecuted in Middlesex County—Chief Kiely Will Decide the Dispute On Monday.

Detective Sergeant Christie and Detective Fausch, of the Newark police force department, came to this city yesterday afternoon, with a capias from the Essex county court for the three alleged wire thieves captured Thursday afternoon at the hobo camp near Samptown. The prisoners, Arthur Glassen, Harry Dorsch and Fred Celius, were indicted at the April term of the Essex county grand jury, with Samuel Meyer, for wire-stealing.

The prisoners were not turned over to the Newark officers. Chief Lee, of the Lehigh Valley police force, objected, and insisted that the prisoners be turned over to the authorities of Middlesex county, in Middlesex county, in which the theft of wire early Wednesday morning was committed, for prosecution at New Brunswick. The disposition of the prisoners will not be settled until Monday, by which time Chief Kiely, in whose hands the trio is now held, under a technical charge of vagrancy, will have decided what course to pursue.

The Newark police are anxious to get hold of the prisoners, because, it is alleged, they escaped from Newark officers two weeks ago, after a running fight in which revolvers figured. The Newark police say they were three of four men chased with a wagonload of stolen wire on the outskirts of Newark. Of the four, Samuel Meyer was captured, and is now held in the Essex county jail. The prisoners at the station house here, the Newark officers say, are the three who escaped.

Chief Lee has made no statement as to his reasons for opposing the transfer of the prisoners to the Newark authorities, but it was said by a police official this morning that it is feared the men have political influence enough in Newark to evade punishment. One of the prisoners said on the day of his capture, with an air of complete assurance, that the police wouldn't have him long.

The prisoners were put on the grill by Chief Kiely and Chief Lee yesterday afternoon, but they would not "give up." Being experienced in the ways of the law, they have learned to hold their tongues until they are convinced that the police have what is known as an open-and-shut-case—a case in which the prosecution can get any verdict it desires.

Chief Kiely learned yesterday that Celius, as well as his two companions, has a criminal record. He served fourteen months in the Reformatory. The chief said this morning that he would be guided entirely by what County Prosecutor N. C. J. English advised in deciding between the claims of the Newark police and the Lehigh Valley-Middlesex county authorities. He will know what to do, he expects, on Monday.

NO COMMISSION MEETING.

Water Investigators' Session Postponed to April 19.

Because several members could not attend the monthly session of the Water Commission scheduled for last night, it was postponed until Friday night, April 19. The engineering committee has been unable to do much work on account of weather conditions, and as this is one of the most important things in connection with the investigation, it will be impossible to prepare a complete report until its work is finished.

The legal committee has been making some progress. It has conferred with Corporation Counsel C. A. Marsh and has learned what rights the city has in the matter of acquiring the water works, either by purchase or condemnation proceedings.

Elmer Hand Celebrates Birthday.

Elmer Hand, son of Mrs. Frank Hand, of Richmond street, is celebrating the seventh anniversary of his birthday today, and this afternoon a party was given in honor of the event. About twenty-five young friends from the neighborhood attended the affair. Games of all kinds were played and refreshments served. Master Hand received a number of useful and pretty gifts.

Will Tell of Temperance Campaign.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Page, president of the W. C. T. U., who has just returned from Knoxville, Tenn., will conduct the meeting in the rooms of the Union tomorrow afternoon, and tell of the great temperance campaign recently conducted at Knoxville, when the women were successful in their fight against the saloons.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

WHITEHOUSE.

John S. Cole, of Pleasant Run, lost a valuable cow this week, presumably from lead poisoning. Shortly after purchasing the animal she showed signs of illness. A veterinarian was called, but the cow died. The case was such a puzzling one the surgeon dissected the beast and found that her stomach and intestines were in bad shape, because of a number of nails, several small pieces of iron, one quite large, and a number of chunks of lead that were found in them.

At a meeting held the other night the Sunday-school connected with the Reformed church at Peapack elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Superintendent, John Johnson; assistant superintendent, Nicholas T. Balentine; organist, Miss Dillian Wyckoff; assistant organist, Miss May Belton; treasurer, William Logan; secretary, John McKinstry; assistant secretary, Vernon Tiger; librarian, Ray Randville; assistant librarian, Oscar Smith.

The honor roll of the public school at Whitehouse Station contains the following names for the past school month: Margaret Pursell, Florence Van Syckle, Ethel Smith, Paul Quick, Etta Eick, Olive Myers, Marilda Lomerson, Eugenia Park, Gladys Pidcock and Clarkson Price.

Mrs. Susan Bedell, seventy-four years old, who was formerly a resident of Whitehouse and New Germantown, died the other day at the home of Freeman Leigh, in Somerville. The body was taken Thursday to her former home at Hempstead, Long Island, for burial.

Bertwood Wortmen and Miss Mattie McMurtry, both formerly of Pottersville, have announced their wedding, which took place in Newark on March 27. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Henry R. Rose.

Mrs. Frank A. Blackwell has returned to Pennington, after spending a week with her daughter, Mrs. William W. Shampanore, at Whitehouse Station.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels is said to be the most conspicuous organization traveling, presenting a long and varied programme, teeming with crisp bon-mots, witty flings and new magnetic features, up-to-date, up to demand, and up to every expectation, giving equally excellent enjoyment to everybody. This company of merry-makers will appear at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and evening, and as Manager Vogel has always given the minstrel-loving public a high class entertainment, the house should be packed.

JOHN W. VOGEL'S BIG CITY MINSTRELS

"Tom, Dick and Harry" is the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Monday evening next. It will be played as a benefit for Assistant Treasurer Leonce Texier, and the ushers at the theatre, and this should be reason enough to guarantee that it will fill the bill. A matinee under house auspices will be given in the afternoon.

Seats are now on sale at the box office for the appearance of The Ben Greet Players in the unique Elizabethan performance of "The Merchant of Venice," at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. This engagement will undoubtedly prove one of the most important events of the year, from the dramatic, educational and social standpoints. The fame of the excellent English company whose work represents the highest ideals, is rapidly growing and great success everywhere is being won by Ben Greet.

It is many moons since so much interest has been taken in a coming theatrical event as is being shown in the appearance of Eugenie Blair at the New Plainfield theatre next Thursday night in Clyde Fitch's greatest play, "The Woman in the Case." It was the reigning dramatic sensation of New York whence it comes here with a record of 250 nights. The play has a third act which has become famous. Of this act the N. Y. Sun says, "it developed a situation the like of which has not been seen on our stage in respect of absorbing, of thrilling interest, since the famous third act of 'The Gay Lord Quex.' Surge after surge of applause followed the curtain, and made it evident that this particular woman will remain in this particular case as long as the present theatrical season holds." This prophecy of the New York Sun was literally carried out.

"It is doubtful if there is any light comedian on the American stage who can get more laughs out of an audience in any given 180 minutes than Max Figman. A limited number of people who have followed Figman's career closely, recognized his unusual talents as far back as his days with 'The Passport,' and when, two seasons ago, he was practically starred in 'The Marriage of Kitty,' a great host of play-goers was added to his following. But in 'The Man on the Box' he arrives plumply and completely. He makes the leading comedy role all his own and carries everything before him. The comedy went merrily from start to finish and Figman had to make a speech at the end of numerous curtain calls." Thus speaks the Seattle Times of the star and play announced for appearance at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night. This is but one of a host of similar criticisms which point to one of the most enjoyable dramatic performances of the year in this city.

To Investigate Express Rate.

Elizabeth, April 13.— Several business men of this city have started a movement for an investigation of express rates charged by the United States and Adams express companies in this city. It is claimed that contracts have been entered into by the companies with the railroads, by which a monopoly of the express business of the city is held by the two companies. Similar rates are charged by both companies, and it is charged that these rates have been raised several times by both. At the meeting of the Board of Trade last night two lawyers were added to a special committee appointed to investigate the matter and ascertain if the arrangements between the railroads and the express companies conflict with the interstate commerce law.

What Our Reporter Saw in New York

A recent visit to one of the largest paint factories in the world, disclosed machinery that was producing 10,000 gallons of Paint, and doing it better and in less time than 100 gallons could be made by hand mixing.

This was the celebrated L. & M. Paint.

The L. & M. Zinc hardens L. & M. White Lead and makes L. & M. Paint wear like iron for 10 to 15 years.

4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil makes 7 gallons of paint at a cost of less than $1.20 per gallon.

If any defect exists in L. & M. Paint will repaint house for nothing.

Donations of L. & M. made to churches.

Bernards Land Sale

Large Country Residence, consisting of about 263 acres of land, situate on Long Hill, Somerset County, New Jersey, within a short distance of the magnificent estates located at Bernardsville, N. J. The premises in question are also within very short distance of two railroad stations, one being Millington, and the other Lyons on the Morris and Essex Division of the D., L. and W. Railroad. There is a never-failing stream of water running through the property, fed by springs. In addition to a large commodious residence, there are two tenement houses for workmen and numerous barns, stables, wagon houses and other outbuildings, all in good state of preservation.

The land is well adapted for farming purposes, raising of grain, hay and fruits, and is also well situated and located for stock farm.

The property is located on the summit of Long Hill and has a northern and southern slope, affording a beautiful view in all directions of all the magnificent scenery of the adjacent hills and valley in the northern part of Somerset County, within plain view of the famous "Bankers' Mountain" residences of Bernardsville. Aside from the tillable land there are about forty acres of fine timber land.

The sale of the above premises will take place on Monday, the 15th day of April, 1907, at two o'clock in the afternoon, at the Court House, in Somerville, N. J. 4 6 3 s w

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.
J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., April 1, 1907.

AN ORDINANCE

To Amend An Ordinance Entitled "An Ordinance Relating to the City Physician," Approved June 4, 1890, Amended March 21, 1892.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That section 5 of said ordinance be and is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Sec. 5. The salary of the City Physician for the performance of the duties specified in the preceding sections of this ordinance shall not exceed Four Hundred Dollars per annum, payable in like manner as in the case of other salaried officers of the City, which said sum shall be full compensation for all such professional services rendered and medicines furnished by him under said preceding sections of this ordinance, and be payable from moneys raised by tax for the support of the City poor.

In addition to the duties prescribed by said preceding sections of said ordinance, the City Physician shall act as police and fire department surgeon and as such shall from time to time make examinations of such applicants for employment in the police department or fire department of the City as may be designated by the Mayor, Common Council, Board of Police, Board of Engineers of the Fire Department or by any Committee of the Common Council, and make report of the results of such examinations to the proper authorities; and shall also give medical or surgical attendance and treatment to members of said departments respectively when requested so to do by the Chief of either of said departments or in his absence when requested so to do by any officer then in charge in his place; and shall also attend to such emergency cases medical or surgical when and as often as requested so to do by any member of said departments respectively or by any other City officer, and as compensation for the services to be rendered as such police and fire department surgeon there shall be paid to the City Physician the additional sum of Two Hundred Dollars per annum, payable from moneys raised by tax for the general purposes of said City.

PROPOSALS FOR COAL.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., at a meeting held April 1, 1907, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday evening, April 15, 1907, at 7:45, at the Board room in the High School Building, corner West Ninth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for furnishing six hundred tons (more or less), of the very best quality coal for steam and hot air heating, in the different sizes, the quantity required of each size can be obtained from the clerk of the Board, office of the Board of Education. Parties bidding will be required to specify the shippers of the coal in their bids. All coal to be thoroughly screened over a screen suitable to free the coal of all dust and small particles of coal, and to be acceptable to the Committee on Fuel, or their representative, and placed in the coal bins within the public school buildings without any extra charge for handling or trimming the coal in the bins, and to be delivered at such time as the Board may direct. Bids to specify whether short or long tons. Payment for all coal contracted for to be made after July 1, 1907. All Proposals to be endorsed "Proposals for Coal" and addressed to the Committee on Fuel and left at the office of the Board of Education, at or before the hour mentioned for such meeting to be held.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals, the Board will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

For the Committee on Fuel.
F. B. CLARK, Clerk of the Board.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF VACUUM CLEANER COMPANY
427 Fifth Avenue
NEW YORK.

The VACUUM CLEANER COMPANY has quadrupled its portable wagon service for 1907, owing to the immense popularity of the Vacuum Cleaner during 1906. The people of New York and vicinity recognize the Vacuum System as the only quick, thorough and sanitary method of removing dust from carpets, tapestries, etc.

With our new automobile portable wagons we will contract for removing dust from carpets, etc., by Vacuum System within 30 miles of New York.

All cities within thirty miles of New York will enjoy the advantage New York has in having carpets, rugs, tapestries, furniture, etc., cleaned without removal.

We will clean your country house before you occupy it in the Spring and your town house before you return in the Fall. Call, write, phone or wire

GOLF.

Now that C. B. Morgan is no longer a member of the Golf committee at the Plainfield Country Club he will have an opportunity this season to take part in several outside tournaments.

A complete test of the Siche gas plant installed at the Plainfield Country Club, last year, will be made this week. Before fall rolls around the clubhouse will be provided with hot-water heat, making it as comfortable during the cool autumn days.

Charles S. Reed will be a familiar figure on the golf links this season. It is the one game that he thoroughly enjoys and his spare moments are spent in this healthful exercise.

The Middlebrook Country Club at Finderne is getting busy preparing for an active season in golf. There will be a number of special events for which handsome prizes will be offered.

It is expected that the Park Golf Club will find it practical to arrange a series of team matches with the New Brunswick Club. It might also prove interesting to witness matches between this borough club and the Plainfield Country Club. Westfield might also be included in the circuit. Such rivalry would help to arouse interest greatly.

It is said that Frank Reinhart intends to devote more time to the game this season and if this be true it is quite possible that some new records may be made. When in condition Reinhart is a difficult player to beat.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, who has been practicing considerable of late, shows his old-time form and he predicts that he will be on the top of his game this season.

DIAMOND DUST.

Manager Frank Burke, of the Port Stars, is out with the announcement that he will have a strong Sunday team. Sanderman and Farmer will be his battery, and Billy Ross will cover the initial bag. Morgan, Pastor, Stallings, Luyster, Rothfuss, Middleton and Goldstein will make up the rest of the team. The season will be opened on Sunday with Hoboken as the opposing team. Deegan or Mahoney will pitch for Manager Daab's aggregation, which will include the old favorites, Henriques and Mike Leonard.

"Lefty" Davis has been ressurected and it is stated that he will pitch for the Newark, Atlantic League team.

The first game of the season between Clinton Avenue and Plainfield High School will be played at Crescent Oval this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The Naval Academy team, with Fred VanAuken pitching, was defeated on Thursday by Dartmouth, the score being 5 to 2. The Middies were charged with nine errors, enough to make any pitcher lose.

In the opening game between the Quakers and the New York Giants, Seymour was the only player on the latter team to get a hit off of Corridon. He had perfect control.

"Hank" Mathewson after spending the training season in California with the Giants, will not be given an opportunity to pitch for the team. He is hardly ripe for big league company. His brother, "Christy," will continue to coach him.

George Wiltse is in his old-time form and McGraw says that he will make a record this season that will surprise the fans. It is also welcome news that "Christy" Mathewson is ready to repeat his performance of 1905.

Within another week announcement will be made of the lineups of the amateur league teams. Local fans are anxiously waiting to see the list. An extra effort will be made to see that only amateurs engage in play throughout the season.

"Big Chief" Charley Roy, the Indian twirler of the Newark Eastern League baseball team, is a visitor in town today as the guest of George E. Firstbrook of the Newark Evening News sporting staff. Roy will return to Newark tomorrow afternoon where he is billed to twirl against the Philadelphia Athletics. He is a full blooded Chippewa and a graduate of Carlisle University, having finished a four year course in that institution last spring. While at college he was a member of the baseball and football teams. Roy came to Newark from the Philadelphia National last fall and in the few games that he pitched showed himself to be one of the crackajack slab artists of the league. Roy's home is in northwestern Minnesota. During the winter season he is engaged in the lumber business.

Miss May Hatchelor, of West Seventh street, who has been spending the Easter vacation at home, has returned to Wellesley College.

THE DAILY PRESS.

Plainfield, N. J., April 13, 1907.

GROVER CLEVELAND THANKS LEGISLATURE.

Former President Sends Message to Lawmakers—Will Not Quit Jersey.

Former President Grover Cleveland yesterday forwarded letters to the clerks of the House and Senate, expressing appreciation of the remembrance by the Legislature of his seventieth birthday as shown by resolutions adopted and engrossed for presentation to him.

Incidentally the former President of the United States, in the course of his communication, said that he intended to spend the rest of his life in New Jersey, the State of his birth. This contradicts the rumor that has been afloat from time to time to the effect that Mr. Cleveland was considering moving to California.

The letter sent to the House was addressed to Michael Higgins, clerk, and read as follows:

"I have received the beautifully engraved copy of the congratulatory resolutions passed by the New Jersey Legislature on the occasion of my seventeith birthday. I am deeply touched by this generous and kind remembrance on the part of those representing the State of my birth, within whose limits I hope to spend the remainder of my days. It has refreshed every sentiment that makes New Jersey dear to me and stimulated my love for her people, and stimulated by pride in her patriotic institutions my children and my children's children shall read this record of the whole-hearted goodness of my State.

"Yours most sincerely,
"GROVER CLEVELAND.'

Princeton, April 11, 1907.

There were cheers and applause as the reading of the letter was concluded, Democrats and Republicans joining in the demonstration for "the Sage of Princeton." The communication to the Senate was in similar strain, and was enthusiastically received.

LOST $1,500.

Passaic, April 13.—Because he could not make himself understood to a ticket agent of the Erie Railroad, when he wanted to purchase tickets to Michigan for himself and family, John Slish is out $1,500, the savings of a lifetime. Slish decided on Tuesday to go to Michigan, and the next day he went to the Erie ticket office here to purchase tickets. The ticket agent could not understand him, and told him to get an interpreter.

That night a fire broke out next door to his home, and in his anxiety to get to the street he forgot his money. His house caught fire and was destroyed, together with his $1,500.

For Peace Pilgrimage.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 13.—At the close of a remarkable address by William T. Stead, editor of the Review of Reviews, London, England, at the rededication ceremonies of the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburg yesterday, in which the speaker announced a plan to raise $100,000 necessary to conduct the pilgrimage from all countries to The Hague conference advocated in a recent New York address, unbounded enthusiasm took possession of the large audience and money was thrown to the floor of the stage. Probably never has a public speaker been given such an ovation in this city. The lightning-like rapidity with which Mr. Stead's plan to finance the pilgrimage began almost took the breath from the distinguish following and among guests attending the exercises. Mr. Stead, after explaining the purpose of the pilgrimage to the next Hague conference, estimated that it would take at least $100,000 to finance the proposition. To raise this sum he proposed that every boy and girl in colleges and universities throughout the United States donate fifty cents toward the fund needed. He said the lesson furnished to Europe by such a movement would be an influential factor in the quest of international peace.

Elevator Kills Scrub Woman.

New York, April 13.—Mary Maguire, fifty years old, of No. 153 Cherry street, a scrub woman, was crushed and instantly killed by an elevator in the Continental building, No. 46 Cedar street, yesterday, and as a result Coroner Dooley held Fred W. Scherratt, superintendent of the building, in $1,000 bail on a technical charge of homicide to await the inquest.

Nelson A. Miller, of Washington avenue, has been called to Chicago on a business trip.

plantation dances and melodies, while the erstwhile dignified solons amused themselves by throwing books at each other and showering confetti about the room. Occasionally some cheerful spirit would burst into song.

A page, wearing a pair of spectacles, borrowed from a sedate Assemblyman, occupied the Speaker's chair and emphasized the rulings of King Fun with loud raps on the gavel.

In the Senate similar scenes were being enacted. Senators Colby and Hillery, wrought up to a high tension over the employers' liability act, indulged in a discussion that enlivened the proceedings of the evening. Both men displayed a great deal of personal feeling and at times the repartee was bitter and vitriolic.

In the closing hours there was a deluge of legislative action. A mass of bills was passed by both the Senate and the House.

—Under the direction of Street Commissioner Gavett the work of widening Arlington avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets, was started yesterday. This improvement has been desired by the Board of Education, as well as the property-owners for some time, as the trolley tracks now occupy the greater part of the roadway.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Eddie Foy appeared in "The Orchid" at Lew Field's Herald Square thearte last Monday evening. Mr. Foy appeared for the first time in this musical comedy at the Lyric theatre, Philadelphia, two weeks ago. "The Orchid" is from the pen of James T. Tanner, author of "The Chinese Honeymoon" and other successes. The score was supplied by Ivan Caryll and Lionel Monckton and the lyrics by Adrain Ross and Percy Greenbank. Artie Choke, the part played by ddie Foy, is an eccentric character who is the heard gardner of the Horticultural College. Beside being an expert in the cultivation of flowers and plants he has a leaning for Shakespeare whom he insists upon quoting continually. In "The Orchid" there are two acts and three scenes, the first two being laid at the Horticultural College of the Countess of Berwick. The first scene of the second act is located in Nice, showing the Promenade des Anglais, and the second the interior of the opera house. Mr. Foy is supported by a large company which includes Trixie Friganza, Amelia Stone, Laura Guerite, Irene Franklin, George C. Boniface, Jr., Alfred Hickman, Jos. Herbert, Melville Ellis, William Rock and a carefully selected singing and dancing chorus.

The success of the Hippoarome under its new managers, Messrs. Shubert & Anderson, has been one of the features of the thatrical season in New York. This most unique playhouse in the world is always the centre of interest for every visitor to New York. The new production, "Neptune's Daughter" and "Pioneer Days," exceeds in every way anything ever shown on the Hippodrome stage. The gorgeous ballet, entitled "Under the ea," is without any exception the most glittering and stirring spectacle of color and movement ever presented. There can be no doubt that "Neptune's Daughter" is the most puzzling and the greatest stage novelty shown an audience in years. Messrs. Shubert & Anderson have at one bound established themselves as the greatest producing managers in this country. Mr. Lee Shubert had long been known as one of the foremost theatrical managers, while Mr. Max Anderson, of Cincinnati, was known as one of the most progressive managers of the Middle West. The union of these two men has evolved a combination capable of producing results of unequalled magnitude and splendor. Everything ever done on any stage has been outdone in these two massive productions, and it is the general opinion in New York that the Hippodrome will be packed twice daily until the first of August.

Ethel Barrymore is captivating crowded houses at the Empire theatre by her exquisite performances in the delightful comedy, "His Excellency the Governor." All the comedy and coquetry of her art and combined in the personation. The delicious humor of the role is finely expressed, and the sentimental phases, which are important, are presented in a superbly natural and convincing manner. In these loce scenes, she has the assistance of Bruce McRae, who plays the part of the Governor, and whose acting is at all times of artistic and setrling quality. It will interest the followers of spring fashions to learn that Miss Barrymore wears a series of beautiful and up-to-date gowns in the course of the performance. Her brother, Jack Barrymore, who has not been seen before in New York this season, has an important role in the comedy, that of Captain Carew, who joins in the merry-makings Cupid provides for the personages in the comedy. Wednesday and Saturday matinees of "His Excellency" at the Empire.

William Collier is holding up his high reputation as a fun-maker by delighting crowded houses at the Garrick theatre, where himself and his new farce, "Caught in the Rain," are in the fourth successful month. The comedian has broken all his New York records with this farce. It is the funniest play in which he has ever appeared in this city, and this fact, having been established on the opening night of the piece, it is no wonder laugh-seekers have thronged to the Garrick, and have remained loyal to Mr. Collier and his play ever since. It is not because the farce itself is constructed on laugh-making lines that it is so tremendously popular; the fact is, Mr. Collier in writing the play, provided himself with a role that gave him the greatest opportunities he ever had for his adroit and quaint method of fun-making, and for the breezy repartee which he knows how to handle in such effective style. All these things combine to make Mr. Collier, and his play popular, and to keep the crowds thronging in thir direction.

State Portraits for Jamestown.

Albert Cook Myers, superintendent of historical exhibits of the Jamestown exposition, was in Trenton yesterday in consultation with Francis B. Lee, who has charge of the historical division of the New Jersey exhibit. They called on Governor Stokes relative to securing a number of the portraits of the original signers of the Decoration of Independence now in the State capitol. Governor Stokes looked with favor on the proposition. A special effort is being made to secure original portraits of old families and also original manuscripts of New Jersey documents.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an Ordinance, entitled "An Ordinance for the permanent improvement of certain streets and portions of streets of the City of Plainfield, with permanent and durable macadam pavement, and to provide the necessary funds in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at eight o'clock p. m., on Monday, the sixth day of May A. D. nineteen hundred and seven, at which time and place prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.
JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., April 1, 1907.

AN ORDINANCE

For the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with Permanent and Durable Macadam Pavement, and to Provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for benefits.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the following streets and parts of streets of the City of Plainfield, shall be permanently improved with durable macadam pavement, to be completely laid and constructed on or before the thirtieth day of September, A. D. 1907, said macadam pavement to be of the depth and width hereinafter specified, and to be in every respect equal to the macadamizing on Carlton Avenue, between Watchung and Putnam Avenues, in said city, and all work to be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder, and only after bids therefor shall have been solicited and received according to law, all bids to specify prices for each of said streets or parts of streets separately:

Sec. 2. That said streets and portions of streets described in Section 1 shall be macadamized for the width and depth hereinafter set forth, and the macadamizing preparation shall be laid down to the grades already established by ordinance for said streets or portions of streets, respectively:

West Second Street, 16 feet wide;
Randolph Road, 16 feet wide;
Arlington Place, 16 feet wide;
Cottage Place, 16 feet wide;
Park Lane, 18 feet wide;
Elmwood Place, 22 feet wide;
College Place, 24 feet wide;
Denmark Road, 22 feet wide;
Sycamore Street, 32 feet wide;
Hillside Avenue, 28 feet wide;
West End Avenue, 32 feet wide;

All to be of a depth running from six inches in the center to four inches at the sides, excepting West Second Street, which shall be three inches in depth on present foundation, and Denmark Road which shall have a ballast foundation six inches in depth and a wearing surface of trap rock, four inches in depth. On Hillside Avenue, Denmark Road and West End Avenue the gutters shall be paved with rough stone or slag for the width of four feet on each side of said streets.

Sec. 3. That for the purpose of obtaining money by the sale of bonds hereinafter specified for the permanent improvement of said streets and parts of streets as aforesaid, in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits, the Common Council of the City do hereby, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, authorize the issuing of nine registered municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield, of One Thousand Dollars each, amounting in all to Nine Thousand Dollars, which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and be payable three years from said date of issue with the option of the City to redeem or pay off the said bonds or any one or more of them at any time after one year from date of issue, and before three years from said date, upon giving personal notice to the said holders of said bonds or thirty days' notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the City, of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds may severally or collectively be sold for an amount not less than par value, and the interest on said bonds shall be raised annually by taxation and the principal be paid by the City at maturity, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefited, shall, when collected, be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have been completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively, by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax, no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements.

AUTHOR OF THE COST, THE DELUGE, Etc.

COPYRIGHTED 1906 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

He was descending the aisle before the silence was broken—a feeble, ripping applause, significant of disappointment at what seemed an anti-climax. He had merely repeated in condensed form the oath of office which a president takes at his inauguration. But somehow—no doubt, it was the magic of his voice and his manner and superb presence—those simple words kept on ringing; and all at once—full half a minute must have elapsed, a long time in such circumstances—all at once the enormous meaning of the two phrases boomed into the brains of those thousands: If this man is elected, there will be a president without fear or favor, and he will really obey the constitution, will really enforce the laws! That little speech, though only a repetition of an oath embodied in our century-old supreme law, was a firebrand to light the torch of revolution, of revolution back toward what the republic used to be before differences of wealth divided its people into upper middle and lower classes before enthroned corporate combinations made equality before the law a mockery, before the development of our vast material resources restored to the intelligent and energetic few their power over the careless and purposeless many.

As the multitude realized his meaning—I doubt if many times in all history such a sight and sound has burst upon mortal ears and eyes. For the moment I was daunted; it was impossible not to think that here was the whole people, not to feel that Scarborough had been chosen president and was about to fulfill his pledge. Daunted yet thrilled, too. For, at bottom, are we not all passionate dreamers of abstract right and justice?

Then I remembered; and I said to myself: "He has defied the interests. David has gone out against Goliath—but the Davids do not win nowadays. I will elect Burbank."

But where was the elation that thought would have set to swelling in the me of less than two weeks before? And then I began clearly to see that, for me at least, the prize, to be prized, must be fairly won from start to goal; and to be enjoyed, must gladden eyes that would in turn gladden me with the approval and sympathy which only a woman can give and without which a man is alone and indeed forlorn.

CHAPTER XX.

Pilgrims and Patriots.

From St. Louis I went direct to Burbank.

His heart had been set upon a grand speech-making tour. He was fond of wandering about, showing himself to cheering crowds; and he had a deep, and by no means unwarranted, confidence in his platform magnetism. At first I had been inclined to give him his way. But the more I considered the matter, the stronger seemed to become the force of the objections—it takes a far bigger man than was Burbank at that stage of his growth not to be cheapened by "steeple-chasing for votes;" also, the coming of the candidate causes jealousy and heart-burning over matters of precedence, reception and entertainment among the local celebrities, and so he often leaves the party lukewarm where he found it enthusiastic. Further, it uses up local campaign money that ought to be spent in hiring workers at the polls, which is the polite phrase for vote-buying as "retaining-fee" is the polite phrase for bribe.

I decided against the tour and for the highly expensive but always admirable and profitable "pilgrimage plan."

Burbank's own home was at Rivington, and I should have had him visited there, had it not been on a single-track branch railway which could not handle without danger and discomfort the scores of thousands we were planning to carry to and from him daily. So, it was given out that he purposed as far as possible to withdraw from the strife of the campaign and to await the results in the dignified calm in which he wished the voters to determine it. He took—after Woodruff had carefully selected it—a "retired" house "in the country."

And it was in the open country. A farm garden adjoined it on the one side, a wheat field on the other, a large orchard to the rear. The broad meadow in front gave plenty of room for delegations visiting the "standard bearer of the party of patriotism" in his "rural seclusion" to hear his simple, spontaneous words of welcome. But for all the remote aspect of the place, it was only five minutes' drive and ten minutes' walk from a station through which four big railroads passed. One of the out-buildings was changed into a telegraph office from which accounts of the enthusiasm of the delegations and of his speeches could be sent to the whole country. On his desk in his little study stood a private-wire telephone that, without danger of leakage, would put him in direct communication either with my study at Fredonia or with Doc Woodruff's privatest private room in the party national headquarters at Chicago. Thus, our statesman, though he seemed to be aloof, was in the very thick of the fray; and the tens of thousands of his fellow citizens, though they seemed to come almost on their own invitation inspired by uncontrollable enthusiasm for the great statesman, were in fact free excursionists—and a very troublesome, critical, expensive lot they were. But—the public was impressed. It sits in its seat in the theater of action and believes that the play is real, and ignores and forgets the fact that there is a behind-the scenes.

The party distributed from various centers tons of "literature." And in addition to meetings arranged by state and local committees, a series of huge demonstrations was held in the cities of every doubtful state. Besides the party's regular speakers, we hired as many "independent" orators as we could. But all these other branches of the public side of the campaign were subsidiary to the work at the "retreat." It might be called the headquarters of the rank and file of the party—those millions of "principle" voters and workers who were for Babcock because he was the standard-bearer of their party. No money no bribes, no patronage have to be given to them; but it costs several millions to raise that mass to the pitch of hot enthusiasm which will make each individual in it certain to go to the polls on election day and take his neighbors, instead of staying at home and hoping the party won't lose.

Burbank's work was, therefore, highly important. But the seat of the real campaign was Woodruff's privatest private room in the Chicago headquarters. For, there were laid and were put in the way of execution the plans for acquiring these elements that, in the doubtful states, have the balance of power between the two opposing and about evenly matched masses of "principle" voters. I just now recall a talk I had with my wife about that time. She took no interest in politics and rarely spoke of political matters—and both of us discouraged political talk before the children. One day she said to me: "This campaign of yours and Mr. Burbank's must be costing an awful lot of money."

Plainfield Citizens Assisting in the Good Work.

Day by day and hour by hour the "Little Conqueror" becomes better known and more respected by the public. Nothing in modern times has reached the high pinnacle of popular favor in so short a time; people talk about it, and they have reason to. They tell their experience for the good of their fellow beings and through gratitude. To publish their expressions is but to show you that the same experience awaits you. Here is the experience of a Plainfield resident:

Albert Naylor, music teacher, of 436 East Fifth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I was afflicted with a dull aching in the small of my back and sharp pains when stooping or lifting. I resorted to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills for same, as I had been told that they were a cure for such pain as I had been having. I took only two boxes before the pains left me, and I was soon feeling first-class in every respect. I have often endorsed and recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to those suffering from backache as I was."

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Timko's restaurant on North avenue is just the place to dine. A light lunch or full meal served any hour of the day or night at popular prices.

Clayton M. Neagle, the West Front street druggist, wants you to know that he sells the best drugs and that his prescription work is par excellent. Drop in and have one of his refreshing sodas.

Putnam & DeGraw, the West Front street dry goods merchants, are better and than ever to handle the increasing tared. The handsome new front with larger accommodations makes the store one of the finest in town.

Spring is the time of the year when residential grounds should receive proper attention. If trees and shrubbery are needed, consult W. H. Forristel, the Belleview avenue nurseryman. He always has a large stock to select from.

Drugs and medicines for every ache and pain; toilet articles of every description; Huyler's confection and the best soda water are some of the attractive features at L. W. Randolph's drug store. You will always find the goods the best and prices right.

At all times of the year, Neuman Brothers, the well known grocery firm, make it an aim to show a large and varied assortment of fresh fruits and vegetables every day and it has helped to get their store the popularity it enjoys. They receive consignments regularly and by careful buying they are enabled to offer their customers goods in season and out at prices that are lower than elsewhere. They will have an extra large display this afternoon and tonight; see it before completing the list for Sunday's dinner.

JERSEY APPROPRIATIONS QUARTER MILLION LESS.

Chief Increase Item is $50,000 for Reduction of State School Tax.

The Joint Legislative Committee on Appropriations had a session Wednesday night which lasted well into the morning, at which the general and supplemental appropriation bills were completed. The appropriations in the aggregate are more than $250,000 less than the appropriations a year ago. There was considerable discussion over the items for salaries for the State Voting Machine Commission and the State Board of Arbitration, and it was decided to leave these appropriations out. The Democrats in the House will resist any attempt to have these items included in the bill.

A total of $4,552,183.57 is carried on the regular appropriation bill, an increase of $32,357 over that of last year, which was $4,519,826.57. The total carried by the supplemental bill is $741,942.65, a decrease of $356,399.38 from last year's appropriation of $1,098,342.03, showing a net decrease of $324,042.38.

The incidental bill introduced yesterday for the expenses of the Legislature carried about $23,000. The principal increase in the regular bill this year is an item of $50,000 for the reduction of State school taxes. No provision is made this year for the State Board of Arbitration, which has for years been costing the State an annual outlay of $6,200. No appropriation was made for the purchase of voting machines.

State Hospital appropriation is the same as last year, excepting that the salary item is raised from $12,500 and a special allowance of $1,500 for the officers is cut out. The State prison appropriation cuts the maintenance item from $112,000 to $110,000 raises the furnishing item from $10,000 to $12,000, and reduces the item for payment to discharged prisoners from $300 to $2,500. The appropriation of the Girls' Home is advanced from $33,000 to $40,000.

Appropriation for the improvement of public roads is increased from $250,000 to $300,000. The appropriation for the reduction of the State school tax is increased from $750,000 to $800,000.

Following yesterday's exposition of the character of the bill for the exemption of bank stock from taxation, the House of Assembly Wednesday recalled the measure from the Senate, and it was recommitted to committee, where, it is said, it will be permitted to remain undisturbed until adjournment.

Athletic Meet at Westfield.

The Seneca Athletic Club, of Westfield, announces the second annual games to be held at Fair Acres track, on May 30. The games are for amateurs under 21 years of age and the meet is open to all athletes under these conditions. The list of events will be as follows: 60, 100, 220, 440 yard dashes, 880, 220 junior, handicap for boys under 16 years; three legged race, shot put, standing broad jump, running broad jump, one mile relay for clubs only and a half mile relay for boys under 16 years. The entrance fee for each event is fifty cents. Entry blanks can be obtained from C. Wesley Collins, 492 Broad street, Westfield. The entries will close May 17, with Mr. Collins. Silver and bronze medals will be given for first and second and a ribbon for third. The club winning the most number of points will receive a silver trophy.

The Bound Brook Cricket Club opens the season on Saturday, May 11, with a practice game and on Saturday, May 18, the team will play the O. N. T. Club at Newark.

Boy Train Victim's Funeral.

Ludlow, April 13.—The funeral of Ernest Welsh, fifteen years old, son of Charles Welsh, of Asbury, who was killed at the railroad station here Tuesday night, will be held today. Welsh carried the mail between this place and Asbury, and Tuesday night he crossed the track to secure an evening paper from the conductor of the milk train. The mail train going west was due, and a loaded coal train was coming east. Welsh tried to recross the track ahead of the coal train, but caught his foot in the signal wires, throwing him directly in front of the locomotive of the coal train. He was killed instantly.

The body of an unknown man was found on the Lehigh Valley tracks west of Elizabeth, yesterday morning, by the crew of the Amboy local. Cuts about the head and face clearly indicated that the man had been struck by a train, but it could not be learned whether he fell from the cars or was caught while walking on the tracks. The body was taken to Perth Amboy and put in charge of Coroner Bishops, where it will be held for a day or two awaiting identification. The man was apparently about twenty-five years old, and is well dressed. In his clothes were found a gold watch, a pipe and a silver match-case.

"CENTRAL PARK"

Was——Is——Will Be

IT WAS, only about a year ago, just a pretty farm.

IT IS to day the finest building site in Plainfield, with broad avenues macadamized their entire width, concrete curb, sidewalks, trees, gas, electric light, in fact all improvements. Nearly $100,000 expended in new and handsome dwellings, now ready for the market.

WHAT IT WILL BE we hardly dare predict, with contracts out for even more extensive improvements and twelve more handsome residences.

Central Park is that beautifully situated tract bounded by Park, Prospect, Hillside and Thornton Avenues.

BOWLING TOURNEY ENDED

Big Contest Concluded Last Night With Two Teams Tied for Third Place

ROLL-OFF NEXT WEEK

Gaddis and Dilkes Formally Declared the Winners—Kiely and Runyon Second.

With two teams tied for third place, the big bowling tourney which has been conducted at McLaughlin's alleys since last December was brought to a successful close in the presence of a big gallery of enthusiasts last night. Percy L. Gaddis and William Dilkes were formally accorded first place and Chief Kiely and Judge William N. Runyon second, while Charles F. Meyer and Dan Mack and Harry Radin and Harry Ackor are in a deadlock for the remaining prize. In order to decide which wins, the two teams will roll a series of three games some night next week.

The result of the tourney so far as first and second place were concerned was known last week, but the schedule called for further games. The wind-up came last night and interest centered in what Radin and Ackor would do as the loss of two games out of three which confronted them, would bring a tie with Meyer and Mack, who stood with twenty-five wins and seventeen losses. The opposing team should have been Edward Britton and Frank Willett, but these bowlers preferred to have them roll against their average in order to avoid any suspicion of "throwing." Radin and Ackor were in fairly good trim but only once did they succeed in passing the figures.

The tourney was one of the most interesting that has ever been conducted in the city and has done more than anything in recent years to promote the sport locally. It started with eighteen teams but for various causes three dropped out shortly after the lead-off on December 11. The other fifteen stuck it out and rolled the scheduled forty-two games, the matches sometimes drawing crowds of two and three hundred enthusiasts. The prizes aggregated $100 and of this amount Kiely and Runyon will get half; $20 for second place and $10 in each instance for high team score, high team average and invidiual average made by Kiely. Gaddis and Dilkes get $40 for first money, and $10 will go to the team winning the roll-off between Meyer and Radin and Ackor.

Gaddis and Dilkes, who landed first place, are a nervy team of bowlers and for a time it looked as though the latter would get individual average, finishing a close second to Chief Kiely. They won some splendid victories and from the beginning of the tourney kept a good lead in the other contentants. In the home stretch, however, a prevalence of splits which came Gaddis' way in the closing games, pulled them down somewhat and almost phenomenal bowling by Kiely and Runyon brought the second team to within one game of the leaders at the end.

Kiely is looked upon as the city's best bowler and if honors were to be divided, Dilkes would come second. He is known to the enthusiasts of the game as "Steady Bill" because of his cool shooting under averse conditions and the regularity with which he piles up scores of 200 and over.

The teams which finished in the tourney and the number of games won and lost are as follows:

	W.	L.

Park Golf Club's Season.

The Park Golf Club season will open on Saturday, April 20, with the initial weekly competition for the President's and club trophies. This event proved a great success last season and no doubt will attract many contestants during the coming year. In addition there will be many special events arranged, including the monthly competitions for prizes, which will be conducted similarly to the Hyde cup, which aroused so much interest in October of last year. The committee is rapidly getting the grounds and clubhouse in condition and when the opening day arrives the game will start off again with every prospect of success.

PERSONAL.

Rev. and Mrs. George Alfred Warner are expected to return from their honeymoon trip during the latter part of next week.

Frank McIntyre, of North avenue, has gone to the Thousand Islands, where he will be employed for the summer as chef in a hotel.

Miss Ruth VanVliet, of Washington avenue, has returned to college at Andover, Mass., after spending the Easter vacation at home.

Mrs. Culver Knox, of Jersey City, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McKeon, of East Second street, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stafford and son, of Boston, and Miss Lizzie Stafford, of Providence, have returned for a visit to relatives here. In May Mr. Stafford will take his family to England, where he will locate as the European agent of a big American concern.

Street of Old Women.

Winsted, Conn., April 13.—Woodbury, a small town in this county, lays claim to having more aged women living on one street than any place of its size in New England if not in the whole country. The ages of the combined twenty-four exceed 2,000 years, or an average of more than eighty years each.

DR. RICHARDS TO PRESIDE

Former Plainfield Pastor to be in Chair when Presbyterian Gen. Assembly Convenes.

UNION OF CHARACTER

Cumberland Merger Will Be the Feature of the Greet Meeting Representing 1,300,000 Members.

When the 119th General Assembly of the Presbyterian church convenes in the Broad Street Church, Columbus, O., Thursday morning, May 16, in the absence of Dr. Corbett, the vice-moderator Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York, formerly pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church of this city, will be in the chair. The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. Ira Landreth, of Nashville, Tenn., the last moderator of the Cumberland Assembly. The roll of the coming assembly will be made up by Rev. Dr. William Henry Roberts, of Philadelphia, stated clerk of the Prebyterian church, with the assistance of Rev. J. M. Hubbert, stated clerk of the Cumberland church.

The first order of business, after the enrollment of the commissioners, will be the election of a moderator. This year a new rule goes into effect limiting the speeches nominating candidates to ten minutes, and allowing only one speech to second the nomination, and that not to exceed five minutes. There have been assemblies when half a day or more was taken up in this election.

The feature of the assembly will be the formal consummation of the union of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America and the Cumberland Presbyterian church, which has been under way for almost five years.

Plan of Reunion.

The plan for reunion of the two great ecclesiastical bodies was approved a year ago, the Presbytedian body being in session at Des Moines, Ia., and the Cumberland at Decatur, Ill. The latter adjourned sine die as a separate assembly at that time. It is thought that the clerical and lay commissioners from the two bodies will number 1,000. The Presbyterian church has 246 distinct presbyteries, while the Cumberland church has 114 presbyteries. The Columbus assembly will be the first to be composed of representatives from the presbyteries of the reunited church, and these are being elected in the different sections of the country on the basis of one minister and one elder for every twenty-four ministers or moiety thereof in each presbytery, as provided for in the form of government of the Presbyterian church in the United States. It is more than passing significance that this epoch-making assembly is held in Ohio, as it was the synod of that State which handed up the overture asking the general assembly of its church to appoint a committee to consider the reunion.

1,300,000 Members.

According to the last annual reports, the united church represents a membership of over 1,300,000, and this does not count the new members received by both bodies since the last May assemblies. Of these, 1,158,662 belong to the Presbyterian church and the rest go to the Cumberland body.

The first church is much larger than the second in every way. The last reports give the number of Sunday-school pupils in the former as 1,077,105, and in the latter 106,386. The Presbyterian church has 7,843 regularly ordained ministers, while the Cumberland has 1,514. The Presbyterian church has thirty-four synods and 246 presbyteries, as against seventeen synods and 114 presbyteries in the Cumberland. The former has 30,880 elders and 11,010 deacons, as against 9,614 elders and 3,917 deacons in the latter. There are 8,118 church buildings belonging to the Presbyterian church, and 2,869 belonging to the Cumberlanders. The total amount of money contributed to the churches last year by the Presbyterian was $19,993,308, and the total contributed by the other body was $1,012,842. Of these amounts, the Presbyterian church gave $1,226,114 for home missions, and $1,063,206 for foreign missions, while the Cumberlanders gave $38,976 for home missions, and $23,780 for foreign missions. The congregational expenses of the one were $13,664,071, and of the latter $698,554.

If the Cumberland churches stay in the union, some of the grand totals on which the reunited church will start, are: Whole number of communicants, 1,304,073; Sunday-school pupils, 1,204,907; total contributions, $21,006,150; total number of churches, 10,987; ministers, 9,362; licentiates, 325; candidates, 1,111; elders, 40,494; deacons, 13,927; presbyteries, 360, and synods, fifty-one.

TALK ON PUBLIC HEALTH

What Plainfield Does to Safe Guard Health of Citizens Explained by Mr. Thurlow.

TO THE P.H.S. PUPILS

Explains Dangers of Bad Milk, Sewer Gas, Stagnant Pools, Garbage and Other Breeders of Illness.

The ways in which Plainfield cares for the health of its people were explained in a chapel talk at the Plainfield High School this morning by Health Officer Leon Thurlow. The most effective method, he said, is the control of the existing contagious diseases which are reported within twelve hours. Of the nuisances he said, stagnant water is the worst, as it breeds mosquitoes, which spread malaria. Although no diseases are contracted from sewer gas, a plumber devotes his whole time inspecting the plumbing of residences, as it has a tendency to run one's system down and render him susceptible to disease.

The source of ice supply is another matter of investigation that Mr. Thurlow called attention to. The water sheds of all the ponds and lakes are examined for any sewerage drainage or impurities of any kind. Ice from Tier's and the South Plainfield ponds have been condemned for domestic use. In speaking of the house to house inspection of 1903, Mr. Thurlow said it was a noticeable fact that a good many people who take considerable pride in the appearance of their front yards neglect their back yards.

The greatest need in the Plainfield system of health protection, declared Mr. Thurlow, is a municipal collection of garbage. It is estimated that $50,000 is expended yearly for the collection of garbage, and this same work could be done by the city for a far less cost.

The point on which the speaker made the greatest emphasis was the investigation of the milk supply. Milk, he said, is the chief food for invalids and infants. The great danger lies in the number of bacteria, an excessive number of which causes all the trouble. Seventy-five per cent. of the children who die under one year of age is caused by a high number of bacteria in milk. The only way to prevent this, he said, is to produce milk under clean conditions, and that is brought about by the diligence of the Board of Health. The dairies are frequently inspected and the sanitary condition improved wherever it is needed. At least once a month an analysis of every milk is made and all the records are on file for the inspection of the public.

FIVE-DOLLAR GAZE.

Chief Kiely's Look Out of the Window Pays the City.

Chief of Police Kiely looked out of the window at the station house this morning while the city court was in session, and saw Louis Levine driving a junk wagon without name or license number on it. An ordinance says junk dealers must have both on their wagons.

The Chief gave an order to Detective-Sergeant Flynn. The detective went out, took Levine off his seat and shoved him in before Judge Runyon.

"Five dollars or 20 days in jail," said the magistrate when he heard the case. It was a second offense.

Chief Kiely chuckled. "That look out of the window," he said, "was worth $5 to the city of Plainfield."

Gold Medals to Appear at Stirling.

The Gold Medal minstrel troupe, of this city, which has been touring the suburbs all winter, will appear at Stirling next Friday night. The performance will be given in Maennechor Hall at that place under the auspices of the Stirling Athletic Assocition. Before the close of the troupe's "season," several other nearby places will be visited.

Co. K's Officers Pass Exams.

Captain H. B. Kitchell, First Lieutenant Charles Peterson and Second Lieutenant A. I. Littell, of Co. K, have passed their examinations before the official examining board at Trenton and expect to receive their commissions soon. Each officer attained a high per centage at the examination.

In the City Court.

John Robinson, colored, charged with disorderly conduct at a colored pool parlor on Madison avenue, was released under suspended sentence, this morning, by City Judge Runyon. No one appeared against him.

Treat's Hearing.

The case against Ernest Treat, colored, charged with stealing a bicycle will be heard in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, at Elizabeth, tomorrow. William G. DeMeza will defend Treat.

N.P.H.S. COMMENCEMENT

ON FRIDAY, JUNE 21

Speaker Not As Yet Selected—Superintendent H. C. Krebs Arranging Award of Prizes.

While all the details concerning the graduation exercises of the North Plainfield High School have not yet been completed, Superintendent Krebs is rapidly perfecting them and will soon be able to make final announcement. Five girls and one boy will be graduated on Friday, June 21. The commencement exercises will be held at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. The committee from the Board of Education is looking for a speaker and his name will be announced within a short time.

The graduates will be: Wilbur Dunning and the Misses Myra Emmons, Florence Smalley, Ethel Most, Edith GaNun and Lavinia Hand. The fact that the four year course has taken the place of the three year course, accounts for the small class. Next year, it is expected that the class will be much larger.

Considerable interest is manifested in the awards of prizes in the various branches of study and Superintendent Krebs is now at work determining the averages of the pupils who are competing for them.

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN WILL BE SUCCESSFUL

Y.M.C.A. BOOM COMMITTEE REPORTS 160 NEW NAMES AT 1 O'CLOCK.

Indications point to the complete success of the Y. M. C. A. one-day membership campaign, today. At 10 o'clock 160 new members had been secured, and Secretary Robbie was convinced that additional work and reports still to come would bring the total up to 200, the figure aimed at.

The special committee, headed by S. A. Bingaman, has been at work preparing for today's great effort for weeks. They laid their final plans, individually, yesterday, and all of them started off with energy this morning. Men were approached on the train, the ferryboat, on the street and in their homes, and practically all the 160 new members reported at 1 o'clock were obtained before noon. Final reports tonight may bring the figure up beyond 200.

Members of the committee who worked about Plainfield had lunch at the association rooms at noon. There were ten of them around the table. After an excellent lunch, served by the Women's Auxiliary, plans for the afternoon campaign were laid.

NEWARK POLICE CHIEF COMMITS SUICIDE.

Worriment Over Anti-vice Crusade Said to Have Led to the Act.

Newark, April 15.—Chief of Police John H. Adams was found dead, with a bullet hole in his head, at the Ballentine gateway of Branch Brook Park, this morning. He shot himself a few minutes before the discovery. He was known to a number of Plainfielders. Chief of Police Kiely, of Plainfield, knew him well.

Sheriff Sommer's anti-vice crusade, which was said to implicate the chief in wrongdoing, is said to have brought on the suicide. The crusade caused Adams much worriment. He was a member of the department for thirty-two years, and a Civil War veteran.

Blood Poisoning From Wound.

Charles F. Drake, of West Third street, is detained at home by a serious attack of blood poisoning. While he was at work in the Commercial Mills one day last week, he sustained a badly crushed finger and the poisoning had its beginning in the wound. It quickly spread through his entire system and at the present time a doctor is in almost constant attendance.

Tickets Can Be Exchanged.

People who have purchased tickets from the firemen for the performance of Nat Wills and company in "A Lucky Dog" can now exchange them for seat coupons at the New Plainfield theatre box office. The show will be presented on Friday night, April 26.

—The olive oil sold by Neuman Brothers is guaranteed to be strictly high grade. They import it directly from France and personally guarantee it to be the best to be had in the city.

TEMPER MAY COST HIM HIS BUSINESS

UNUSUAL WARNING FOR STOREKEEPER FROM THE CITY COURT BENCH.

Appearing in the police court, this morning, for the second time as a result of his temper, Tuffon Euperopolous, a Greek who conducts a confectionery store and ice cream parlor on East Front street, was fined $20 and warned that he would have to curb his rages or lose his right to do business.

Euperopolous was arrested two months ago, and convicted of breaking a customer's hat after a display of temper. On Saturday night, James Ennis, a youth, and two companions of his own age ordered soda at the Greek's store. Ennis hit the counter with a stick he carried, and Euperopolous ordered him to stop. The order was followed by a blow. After some words, the boys started to leave the place. As Ennis passed by him Euperopolous either threw or swung a glass, full of ice cream soda, at Ennis' head. The glass smashed against the boy's skull and gashed it seriously.

With blood running down his neck and the front of his shirt, Ennis went to police headquarters and swore out a complaint. City Judge Runyon happened to be in the station house, and saw the effect of the blow. Policeman John Kelly went to the Greek's store at once and placed him under arrest.

In court this morning, Euperopolous tried to convince the magistrate that he had ordered Ennis to stop his noise a half-a-dozen times, and that the glass was not thrown but fell from his hand as he tried to ward off an attack by the three youths. Another Greek testified against Ennis, but the three boys swore that the witness was not in the place.

"Whatever the provocation may have been," said Judge Runyon, "there is nothing among the probabilities that would justify a man in hitting this boy as the defendant did. This man has a temper that is not a thing we want displayed among our business men. I will fine him $20 or 20 days in jail, and if he ever appears here again under similar circumstances I am going to see what can be done to close his place up.

WIRE THIEVES HERE STILL.

Will Be Arraigned in Dunellen This Afternoon; Newark's Claim Undecided.

Arthur Glassen, Henry Dorsch and Fred Celius, the three alleged wire thieves, will be arraigned before Justice von Minden in Dunellen this afternoon.

It is not likely that the Newark authorities will get possession of the men. Chief Lee and Detective Holly, of the Lehigh police, have kept constant watch on the men, and it was said this morning that they did not intend to surrender their rights to the trio. A local lawyer said Holly never gave up his rights to the prisoners and that the police merely hold them for him.

Before the trio are taken to Dunellen, they will be arraigned before Judge Runyon for formal disposition so far as Plainfield is concerned. Holly expects to take them to New Brunswick before night.

Father Bogan a Deacon of Honor.

Rev. B. M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's church, yesterday was a deacon of honor at the seventy-fifth anniversary mass at St. John's church celebrated in Philadelphia. There was a great gathering of Catholic dignatories. During his absence Father Delehanty took charge of the masses and at the 10:30 o'clock mass the Easter music was repeated by the full choir.

Caught in the Borough Dragnet.

Charles Messler and Angelo Umptararra, both from the city side of the brook, were arrested at different times by the borough police, Saturday night, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. They are consoling each other from adjoining cells today while awaiting a hearing tonight.

Good Seats to Be Had.

The first annual benefit for Assistant Treasurer Texier and the ushers at the New Plainfield theatre will be held tonight with "Tom, Dick and Harry" as the attraction. There are still plenty of choice seats left.

G. O. P. Committee to Meet.

The Union County Republican Committee will meet at Elizabeth tonight chiefly for the purpose of adopting the new by-laws, which have been under consideration for some time.

—Dr. Ralph M. Crane, osteopathist, of 220 Central Park South, New York city, will visit Plainfield Tuesdays and Saturdays. Those desiring appointments for consultation and osteopathic treatment, address, care of Rev. A. C. Nickerson, 768 Kensington avenue. 3 2 tf s m ***

PRAISE FOR ROOSEVELT

Rev. Dr. Chambliss Says President is Attacked Because He Dares to do Right.

PREACHES ON "TRUTH"

Honesty In Words Necessary To Success—It Is Priceless Virtue, Declares First Baptist Pastor.

In an impressive discourse delivered by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss at the First Baptist church, last night, on the subject, "Advice for Buyers," the text of which was "Buy the Truth and Sell It Not," he paid tribute to President Roosevelt, who he said was being attacked by men in high places because he dared to do his duty as he saw it. He praised the President for the simplicity of his rulings and his determination to see that the laws are executed in all fairness. While he did not use the President's name in his remarks, the reference was so plain that it could not be mistaken.

In speaking of his text to "Buy the Truth and Sell It Not," Dr. Chambliss urged that all obtain the priceless treasure, the truth, at any cost. While the Scriptural injunction is that truth shall not be sold, he said, the possessor is expected to share it with others, as thus through an exchange of it the best results are to be obtained.

Dr. Chambliss drew attention to the story of the rich young man who when he asked what he must do to be saved was told that he must sell all that he had and give to the poor. It was a costly thing for him to do, but he said it served to illustrate the point that salvation is not to be had without great sacrifice. The preacher declared that truth is an absolute necessity not only in all kinds of business, but in every walk of life, that without this principle, success cannot be attained.

"FLORAL FETE" NETTED $1,800 FOR NURSERY

THREE DAYS' ATTRACTION PROVED TO BE PROFITABLE.

The "Floral Fete," for the benefit of the Day Nursery, closed at the Casino Saturday night, the most sanguine expectations of the City Union of The King's Daughters, under whose auspices it was held, being surpassed, as over $1,800 was realized. In the afternoon the Casino was crowded mostly with children. Over 800 persons attended in the evening. The entertainment of the afternoon and evening consisted of moving pictures and fancy dances by Miss Helen Stevens, delighting both old and young.

The bowling alleys and the chafing dishes proved attractive to the men. Practically everything was sold at the various booths, and the few things remaining were quickly sold at auction by City Judge William N. Runyon and Harry DeMatel, good prices being secured. The souvenir postal cards were popular and arrangements have been made for the further sale of them.

The total receipts, exclusive of one or two booths not reported, were $2,700, and the net profit at present is $1,800. The "furnace mite box" received $6.63, and it is desired that a sufficient sum may be received for the purpose at an early date. The profits from the fete will enable The King's Daughters to pay the $1,000 due next month and leave a substantial balance to meet current expenses.

Special credit is due Mrs. F. W. Butler, chairman; Mrs. Harry L. Hall, Mrs. Charles A. Reed, Mrs. E. F. Feickert and Miss Bertha Whitney, as well as every member of the City Union of The King's Daughters for their efforts in directing the fete.

Combined Associations to Meet.

The Charity Organized Aid Association of Plainfield and North Plainfield will meet in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow night to ratify the previous action in merging the Organized Aid Association with the Plainfield Relief Association. Trustees will be elected and officers chosen.

Exchanged Pulpits.

Rev. R. B. Tolbert, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, exchanged pulpits with Rev. George B. Shaw, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, Sabbath morning.

Presbytery Meets Tomorrow.

The seventy-seventh stated meeting of the Presbytery of Elizabeth will be held at the Second Presbyterian church, Rahway, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

WOMAN WANTED TO DIE

BRAKEMAN SAVED HER

Said That Quarrel With Husband Was Cause of Her Rash Acts—Taken to Her Home.

Declaring that she had quarreled with her husband and that she had nothing more to live for, a richly dressed and bejewelled woman residing in this city, twice unsuccessfully attempted to commit suicide while riding to Plainfield on the 12:15 train from New York Saturday night. Each time the brakeman prevented her from jumping from the train while it was travelling at a high rate of speed. The brakeman finally took charge of the woman, remaining with her until this city was reached, when she was turned over to the authorities at the North Avenue station and taken to her home.

The woman, unaccompanied, boarded the train at Jersey City. Nothing strange was noted about her. When the train was crossing the Rahway river near Cranford, she quickly arose from her seat, and making a wild dash for the platform was about to jump off when the brakeman caught hold of her arm and brought her back into the coach. Realizing that the woman was in a high state of nervous excitement, the brakeman watched her closely, but a little later she eluded his gaze long enough to make a second attempt to kill herself. This time she reached the platform steps, when the brakeman just caught her in the nick of time. She tried in vain to break away, but the brakeman pulled the bell rope and stopped the train. With the assistance of other members of the crew the woman was again taken back into the coach, where she was guarded until the train reached Plainfield.

Inquiry on the part of the railroad officials brought forth the allegation that the woman had engaged in a quarrel with her husband and did not care to live any longer. The incident caused great excitement among the passengers in the coach in which the woman was riding and some of the other women became almost hysterical, fearing that the Plainfielder would kill herself before she reached home.

"MARTY" O'LOUGHLIN MADE A PROFESSIONAL GOLFER.

Papers Given Player Under Age by the United States Golf Association.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, the professional at the Plainfield Country Club, has received the necessary papers making him a recognized professional golfer, and allowing him to enter any tournament or match sanctioned by the United States Golf Association or its allied association. In the ordinary course of events he would not be able to secure these papers until he attains his majority, but because of his excellent work in previous tournaments and his good record he was able to get them earlier.

"Marty" has already received invitations to play on many of the leading courses in this part of the country and he has decided to accept some of them. His new honors will give him additional privileges and during the coming season he will be put in charge of some of the competitions at the Plainfield Country Club. He has been practicing considerable of late and even now is almost in tournament condition.

Two Competitions.

An all-around gymnastic competition for the championship of the association will be held at the Y. M. C. A., Thursday night, April 25. A handicap athletic competition will be held on the same night. The events will be standing broad jump, three standing broad jumps, standing hop, step and jump and standing high jump.

HEAVY LOSS FROM FIRE

15 Head of Cattle and 3 Horses Perish in Destruction of Mrs. David Steele's Barn.

ON THE RARITAN ROAD

Patrolman Thought Blaze Was In Plainfield and Called Out City Department.

Evidently set on fire by a homeless farm laborer who had been sleeping in the place all winter, the big barn on the premises of Mrs. David Steele, on the Raritan road near Alton, was burned to the ground between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning. The flames had gained such headway before they were discovered that it was impossible to save any of the stock and fourteen cows, an Alderney bull and three horses perished. Neighbors made an attempt to get them out but were driven back, all of the animals being located in a part of the structure near where the flames had their start.

The wind was blowing a gale at the time and for awhile it looked as though the Steele residence and another one across the street occupied by Amzi Hetfield would also be destroyed. A bucket brigade was formed and only by working constantly for half an hour were the men able to save them. The Steele house caught several times and the side nearest the barn was badly damaged.

Mrs. Steele is the widow of David Steele, who lived for many years on the Rahway road a short distance from the Fanwood station and who was killed by falling beneath his wagon. He was a well known dairyman and after his death Mrs. Steele continued the business. She will suffer a heavy loss because of the fire as she carried but a small insurance.

The reflection from the fire was cast well over this city and Patrolman William Messler, who is on duty in the business district, thought it was a conflagration almost in town. He turned in an alarm from box 13 at North and Park avenues and the department responded but learned after going a short distance that the fire was out of their limits. Chief Doane continued half way to the city line before thoroughly satisfying himself that his men could do nothing. He declared today that the reflection was one of the most deceptive he had ever noticed and that when he first left his home he thought the department was in for a hard fight.

AMATEUR THEATRICALS.

To Be Given For Day Nursery's Benefit.

Amateur theatricals for the benefit of The Day Nursery, a charity conducted by the City Union of The King's Daughters, will be held at Trueli Court, Thursday night, the affair being under the direction of Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnston, assisted by several guests of the Court.

There will be a fine programme of music and readings, including solos by Charles Stevens Jones, a soloist from New York. In addition two farces by William Dean Howells will be presented. One will be "The Sleeping Car" and the other "The Mousetrap." This affair has been in course of preparation for several weeks and a programme of exceptional merit is promised.

"Mrs. Roberts," Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnston; "Aunt Mary," Mrs. Charles Holbrook; "The Californian," Laurence Milne; "Mr. Roberts," William E. Cullen; "Willis Campbell," and "The Conductor," William DeLong; "The Porter," F. C. Langhorne.

This will be the cast for "The Mouse-trap:"

"Mrs. Amy Somers," Miss Katharine Hartshorne; "Mrs. Miller," Miss Violet Clark; "Mrs. Lou Bemis," Miss Elizabeth F. Johnson; "Mrs. Corwen," Mrs. John Wilkinson; "Mrs. Roberts," Miss Ethel Clark; "Jane," Mrs. Stirling Birmingham; "Willis Campbell," William H. Webster.

Inspected Garbage Plant.

In company with Health Officer Leon Thurlow, Mayor C. J. Fisk inspected the garbage disposal system at Atlantic City on Friday. The plant in use in that city is owned by a private concern and is said to have cost $100,000. It is of the type known as the reducing system and is said to possess some features superior to the crematory system in use in most places.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

A meeting of the board of trustees of the Baptist church was held Saturday night to consider finances. The board faces a net deficit for the year of nearly $1,000, and they believed the time had come when the matter should be brought to the attention of the congregation. The matter was brought up at a business meeting held at the close of the morning service at the church yesterday. After a discussion the report was again referred back to the board for further discussion. Rev. T. Moore-Smith, in referring to the question of the deficit from his pulpit, said that the present condition of the finances was brought about by many of the members laboring under the mistaken impression that the church property was bringing in enough revenue to keep the church in such a healthy condition that they could afford to cut down on their contributions. This, he said, was not so and he believed that when the trustees put the true condition of affairs before them that they would quickly rally to the support and that some plan would quickly be adopted by which the board of trustees could face the future with an assurance that every dollar of the estimated expense for the year would be forthcoming when the time was due.

Several of the early spring ball fans from here journeyed to Newark yesterday afternoon to see the game between the Philadelphia Athletics and the Newarks.

The Easter morning song service will be repeated next Sunday morning.

Mrs. Ledden is entertaining out of town friends.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Not long since, the Recorder spoke of "The Cash Value of Character," in a community. Economic considerations alone demand that those who represent the Christian religion as preachers do, should be strengthened, fitted for their work and prepared to do the most and best possible. Do not forget the cash value of character and influence when you make up the yearly budget with reference to your pastor's salary. Do not forget that an underfed horse is a costly investment, on a good farm. Remember that fine apples are not produced by trees, the roots of which are struggling with the poverty of an uncongenial soil.—Sabbath Recorder.

"Presbyterianism" was the subject of an address by the British Ambassador, Mr. Bryce, Monday night, when he was the guest of honor at the annual banquet of the Presbyterian Alliance of Washington in the New York Avenue Presbyterian church. The Ambassador, who is a Presbyterian, spoke on the doctrine of presbytery in Scotland and the United States, paying a high tribute to Presbyterianism. Mr. Bryce deprecated the movement in the Presbyterian Church of Scotland to abolish the old-time songs for hymns, saying there is no plausible reason for a change. The Ambassador said he recognized the important place Presbyterian occupies in the hearts of millions of good Americans. This particular faith, he said, had done more to uplift the populace of Scotland than any other religion. "In this country," he added, "Presbyterianism has grown widely and powerfully. It represents the sentiment of many millions of noble men and women, and the beauty of it all is that the faith carries with it reserve, dignity and sincerity.

THE PRESS AND STATE.

Twenty-five years ago there was not a single newspaper in the United States whose news columns were absolutely free from partisanship. To-day there is no reputable newspaper in all the land which does not give reasonably honest reports of events.

To be sure, the effects of personal bias and prejudice are found in the chronicles of the press because, like all other writings, they receive some colorings from prejudices of their authors, but as statements of fact they are, as a rule, reliable.

Coincident with this development of the press toward higher standings has been a gradual growth along lines of independent thought among the masses of the people, from which has undoubtedly sprung the reaction against illegitimate methods in politics and in business, which has stirred the country during the last twelve months.—Houston Post.

Telephone Industry Progress.

Few persons realize the rapid growth which has taken place in the past few years in the use of the telephone as a means of communication. Statistics issued at the close of the year 1906 show that there were in use in the United States alone more than 7,000,000 instruments, and an aggregate of a little over 6,000,000 miles of wire used for telephone service. The telephone industry gives employment to 90,000 persons in the United States, an increase of 171 per cent. in six years, while during the same period the number of stations has increased 239 per cent, and the wire milage 349 per cent. There is little doubt that much of this increase is due to the general adoption of the so-called "message-rate" system, in place of the flat annual charge formerly in vogue.—By Henry Harrison Suplee, in the April-June Forum.

Aged Engineer Dies Suddenly.

Phillipsburg, April 15.—Edward E. Sitgreaves, sixty years old, for many years a locomotive engineer in the employ of the Jersey Central Railroad Company, was found dead in bed by his wife at his home on South Main street, yesterday. The attending physician attributed the cause of death to an acute attack of pneumonia and heart disease. The late Captain Charles Sitgreaves, a brother of the dead man, was also found dead in his bed at the same address, a few years ago. Besides a widow, Mr. Sitgreaves leaves two sons and one daughter. The children are Edward E. Jr., of Port Morris; Earle E. and Miss Marguerite Sitgreaves, of this place. He also leaves his aged mother, Mrs. G. C. Loveridge, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Godley, both of this place. He was a prominent member of the order of the Heptasophs.

Ship Passenger Disappears.

New York, April 15.—Much mystery surrounds the disappearance of George Boehme, a twenty-two year old German, who had taken passage by the Vaderland at Antwerp for this port, and who was missing when the vessel reached her pier yesterday. Well dressed, supplied with plenty of money, and traveling as a cabin passenger, the mystery of his disappearance at sea was still further complicated by the positive assertion of the bandmaster of the ship that he had seen the missing passenger steal ashore disguised as a longshoreman soon after the vessel had reached her pier. To the two other passengers who shared his stateroom in the second cabin Boehme had said he had just received his medical degree in Berlin and was making a short visit to some friends in Brooklyn before engaging in practice. In a belt strapped to his body was a wallet which his chance roommates said contained $3,700.

Another Hughes Bill.

Albany, N. Y., April 15.—With a bill introduced Friday by Sherman Moreland, majority leader of the Assembly, enacted into law, Governor Hughes will have the power out of hand to probe into every State department, bureau and commission and to hire experts to make such investigations. Either he or the experts will have the power to subpoena witnesses and call for the production of records. An item in the supply bill, now before the Legislature, gives the Governor $10,000 for the hiring of the experts. The Moreland measure is so sweeping and gives the Governor such a free hand that the politicians are aghast as they begin to realize its full significance. Many department heads are conferring with their friends in the Legislature and already there is evidence of a movement to choke the measure.

Killed in Presence of His Mother.

Glen Gardner, April 15.—In the presence of his mother, Jacob Ten Eyck, a negro, fourteen years old, of this place, was killed by a train on the Central Railroad here Thursday. The mother was standing in front of her home when the boy jumped from a freight train directly in front of the Harrisburg flier.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Bickel, Watson and Wrothe, in their great success, "Tom, Dick and Harry," will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight. Tonight's performance will be given as the first annual benefit to Assistant Treasurer Leonce Texier and the house staff of ushers.

Ben Greet, whose company will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night in "The Merchant of Venice," argues for Shakespeare as Shakespeare wrote it, the play, the whole play, and nothing but the play. No juggling of scenes to obtain a "big curtain" for the star, no cutting and slashing to fit the requirements of the actor's limitations, no wealth of "production" to divert the spectators' attention from the matter at hand. And Mr. Greet has the courage of his convictions, since for several years his company has been presenting during the winter season the plays of Shakespeare in the Elizabethan manner, and it is an undisputed fact that the great public likes the innovation, if it can be called such, while your true Shakespearean student is simply carried away with it. There are, the Elizabethan say, many advantages in the Elizabethan mode of presentation. The stage is simply set, the stage representing the theatre or hall where the play was originally performed, as this one scene remaining, of course, throughout the entire action of the play. Attention is thus concentrated on the actor with whose movements boldly defined against a simple background, nothing interferes. The stage is built out in the auditorium, which bings the action into more intimate relation with the audience and gives a special kind of realism which the vast distance and manifold artifices of our modern theatres render unattainable. It is the realism of the actual event at which the audience assists not the realism of the scene to which the audience is transported by the painter's skill, and in which the actor plays a somewhat subordinate part.

As "The Woman In the Case" was the most sensational success of a season in New York its performance here by Eugenie Blair and her company on Friday night is pretty certain to be attended by as large an audience as the theatre will hold. Clyde Fitch, the author of the play, has written many successes but this is conceded to be his greatest. As every one is aware "The Woman in the Case" made a popular triumph and has now been seen more than 250 nights in New York city. The plot of the play concerns society life in New York at the present time, an atmosphere in which Clyde Fitch is perhaps more at home than any of his brother dramatists. In this instance he has made his characters very real and involved them in a story that appeals with just as much vital interest to the gallery "god" as it does to the occupant of the orchestra seat. The production will be as complete in every respect as it was seen in New York.

President For Taft.

Washington, April 15.—President Roosevelt sent for four newspaper men yesterday to come to the White House that he might tell them what he thought of the speech of Senator Foraker and also that one of the men in the "$,000,000 conspiracy" had revealed himself. The President said that Senator Foraker's speech at Canton on Wednesday night last was a good one and that it was calculated to win for Senator Foraker many friends. He said he had not believed that Senator Foraker would handle the matter as temperately, as he had and that he had hoped he would use violent language, all of which, he believes, would have helped Secretary Taft, who is now the President's avowed candidate for the Presidency. The President confided to the newspaper men that he was going to send Secretary Taft to Ohio to take the stump and tell the people about his candidacy. He said he was not in favor of the Secretary going to Alaska or the Philippines this year; that the Ohio situation was far more important and that from now on Secretary Taft would have to devote himself to gaining the Presidential nomination.

Our Strongest Navy.

Washington, D. C., April 15.—When the battleship Kansas goes into commission next week at the League Island Navy Yard the United States will outrank all other nations except Great Britain in the number of first class battleships in commission. France, whose sea strength on paper exceeds that of the United States, has four less btaaleships in commission at the present time than the United States. Germany, which is a close competitor of the United States in the relative strength of its navy, has sixteen battleships of 10,000 tons or more now in activ service, but the United States, when the Kansas is in commission, will have seventeen in commission, and therefore exceed the battleship strength of Germany.

Many Robberies in Bayonne.

A gang of thieves entered six houses in Bayonne on Thursday night. In each case they carried off silverware and jewelry, and so well did they do their work that none of the victims realized they had been robbed until they awoke the next morning. The police say there is no clew to the robbers, but they believe a gang of tramps is responsible.

PROPOSALS FOR SCHOOL SUPPLIES.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., at a meeting held April 1, 1907, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday evening, April 15, 1907, at 7:45, at the Board room in the High School building, corner Ninth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for furnishing school supplies for the ensuing school year, commencing July 1, 1907, a list of which can be obtained at the office of the Board. All proposals to be endorsed, "Proposals for School Supplies" and addressed to the Secretary of the Board and left with him at the office of the Board of Education on or before the hour mentioned for such meeting to be held.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals, the Committee on School Supplies will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board. The committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

SENATORS BY DIRECT VOTE.

Gebhardt's Resolution Passes House and Is Effective.

Senate joint resolution No. 3, introduced by Mr. Gebhardt on January 21, proposing to Congress that that body begin the agitation for an amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people, passed the House at Trenton yesterday unanimously. The resolution is as follows:

Whereas, article 5 of the Constitution of the United States provides that "the Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or on the application of the Legislature of two-thirds of the several States shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which in either case shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of this constitution, when ratified by the Legislature of three-fourths thereof," etc., and

Whereas, the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States has on four separate occasions passed by a tho-thirds vote a resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution providing for the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people, and

Whereas, the United States Senate has each time refused to consider or vote upon said resolution, thereby denying to the people of the several States a chance to secure this much desired change in the method of electing Senators; therefore,

Under the authority of article 5 of the Constitution of the United States application is hereby made to Congress to forthwith call a constitutional convention for the purpose of submitting to the States for ratification an amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people.

JAMESTOWN FAIR STAMPS.

Special Series in Three Denominations to Be Issued Nish Week.

The designs of the special series of stamps, in three denominations, which are to commemorate the founding of Jamestown, Va., in 1607, known as the commemorative series of 1907, have been made public by the Postoffice Department. The stamps will be issued some time this week and will be on sale during the period of the Jamestown Exposition, from April 26 to Nov. 30.

The stamps, which are rectangular in shape, are of one-cent, two-cent, and five-cent denominations. They are described as follows:

"The one-cent contains, in a semi-circular frame, the portrait of Capt. John Smith. In the upper corners are medallions in relief in oval frames of Pocahontas and Powhatan, surrounding the portrait and conforming to the semi-circle, is the legend, 'Founding of Jamestown, 1607,' and on the base, 'Capt. John Smith.'"

The two-cent stamp contains a picture depicting the landing of the adventurers at Jamestown in 1607. On one side is a tobacco plant and on the other a stalk of Indian corn. Underneath on a scroll are the words, "Founding of Jamestown, 1607."

The five-cent stamp contains a portrait in an oval frame of Pocahontas. Under the portrait on a scroll, "Pocahontas" and the years of birth and death, 1595-1617.

SENATE WOULD RETAIN BOARD OF ARBITRATION.

Substitutes Wakelee Bill Giving It Power, for Klenert Measure Abolishing It.

By a vote of 13 to 5 the Senate at Trenton Thursday voted to retain the State Board of Arbitration, by substituting for the Klenert bill, which sought to abolish it, the Wakelee bill, which gives it power to summon witnesses. The vote was:

Affirmatitve—Ackerman, Avis, Brown, Colby Frelinghuysen, Gebhardt, Hillery, Hutchinson, Lee, Minch, Plummer, Robbins and Wakelee.

Negative—Cornish, Hinchliffe, Price, Shinn and Silzer.

The debate was long and acrimonious, Senator Silzer making an effort to have it made a strictly partizan measure and chiding the Republicans for waiting twelve years to give power to a board that had done nothing but draw salaries. Senator Wakelee said he had tried for three years to secure the passage of this bill, and if the Democrats wanted to defeat it now it was up to the members of that party.

Senator Gebhardt broke the partizan lines by declaring he was in favor of arbitration for the settlement of all difficulties, and Senator Shinn opposed the bill because the labor organizations wanted the board abolished.

Fifty Years With Two Wives.

Salt Lake, April 15.—Absalom Woolf, of Hyde Park, Utah, has issued invitations to an unique function. It is the celebration, April 19, of his golden wedding anniversary. Two wives will celebrate the occasion with him. The two wives are sisters, and he married both on the same day, April 19, 1857. Woolf and his wives are Mormons.

LEGISLATURE'S WORK.

The Legislature adjourned on Saturday but it will resume its meeting on June 16 to clear up business that may demand attention at that time. During the past session, there were some good things done and some left undone as is always the case with a lawmaking body no matter where found.

Among the measures enacted were the Railroad Commission bill; the insurance reform measures; the repealing of the Promoters' Liability act; the act providing for State ownership of potable water supplies; the Municipal Playgrounds bill; the Uniform Divorce law; the act to permit voters to express their preference for United States Senator; also the joint resolution asking Congress to move for an amendment to the Federal Constitution to enable the election of United States Senators by popular vote; the freight demurrage and other railroad reform bills; the measures for the investigation of the cial, ice and provision trusts and the stone road trusts; and several bills in the interest of labor.

Among the bills lost were the civil service bill, the referendum and initiative bills, the bill to pay the Attorney-General $10,000 a year and bar him from the private practice of law; the local option bill to prohibit the sale of liquor and the Elohm bill to legalize its sale on Sundays; the bill providing for a daily legislative record; and the bill giving judges the right to revise grand juries selected by the sheriffs.

Although he has been in office a trifle over three months, Mayor Fisk has accomplished more than could be expected in that short space of time. It will be recalled that the message he delivered to the Common Council upon assuming the mayorality was fraught with recommendations and promises. That he is making good his promises may be seen from the present status of the chief features embodied in it. Here are a few of them:

Permanent pavements for the business section—ordinance introduced in the Common Council due for final passage next month.

Investigation of the desirability of municipal control of the water supply—A commission of representative men actively at work pursuing the investigation.

Sanitary collection and disposal of garbage and ashes by the municipality—In course of investigation.

New school building for the West End—Agreement reached by the Common Council for an appropriation of $90,000 for the purpose; work to be started this spring.

Investigation of the feasibility of consolidating North Plainfield with Plainfield—Commission of representative citizens of two municipalities now preparing its report.

Better pay for city employees—Salaries of school teachers raised and those of firemen and policemen as recommended likely to be raised next month.

In addition, the Mayor is devoting his attention to a plan for erecting a fire house in the East End and for the erection of a suitable city hall.

More honors are in store for Dr. William R. Richards, who made the Crescent Avenue church the strongest congregation in this section of the State, as he has been chosen to preside at the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church next month. Since becoming a minister of the denomination less than twenty-five years ago, Dr. Richards' rise has been remarkable and today he stands among the great leaders of that faith in this country, where its numerical strength is nearly 1,500,000.

Thanks to the Mayor, the police trials are now open to the public through the medium of the newspapers. The old method of holding trials behind closed doors and the customary refusal to give out any of the proceedings has not only been an injustice to the taxpayers who have a right to know the public business but to the police board itself. Star chamber methods are invariably viewed with suspicion and the Mayor in doing away with them has taken the right course.

Mr. Harvey's rattle-trap talk at the New York Democratic Club's banquet on Saturday night was forty-five years overdue. His was a fair sample of a Democrat's harangue during the dark days of the Rebellion, when the calamity howlers were just as sure as Mr. Harvey is now that the country was going to the bow-wows.

The thinking members of the Common Council did not require any urging on the part of the Board of Trade or any interested citizens to include North avenue in the list of streets to be improved by permanent pave but the action of the Board in making the recommendation showed that that body is "on its job."

For the accommodation of the "fans" The Daily Press will display in front of its office bulletins of the results of both American and National League games every afternoon during the season. Results of all big college games as well will be received by wire and promptly bulletined.

Probably Mr. Tyler would change his views regarding the advisability of putting a permanent pavement on North avenue had he taken a walk through that thoroughfare today. As usual, when a high wind is blowing, pedestrians were compelled to submit to the discomforts of a dust-storm.

Haven't noticed Mr. Harriman's name among the list of speakers at the Peace Conference.

HIGHLAND PARK A FINE RESIDENTIAL SECTION.

Already One-quarter of the Superb Building Lots Have Been Sold.

Highland Park is located in the city of Plainfield, which is a city of 25,000 inhabitants, with the best train service to New York. The distance is twenty-four miles, but the time, including the ferry, is only forty-two minutes. The park is about fifty feet higher than the main portion of Plainfield, and is being rapidly developed. There are 700 lots, on which many houses are being built, and the street improvements are being put in. About one-fourth of the lots have already been sold, and as prices are reasonable they are being disposed of rapidly. The main trolley line runs through the property. The water is drawn from artesian wells and is exceedingly pure.

The Bridge commission appointed by the governors of New York and New Jersey made its report last week recommending one, and possibly two, bridges to be built over the Hudson river. This is thought to be assured, as all that is necessary is to have an act of Congress passed authorizing the two States to build the structure. The Bridge commission states in its report that the five counties in New Jersey nearest New York have increased in population from 4,600,000 in 1900 to over 8,000,000 people at present. The members of the commission believe that nothing will contribute more to the commercial and residential development of New Jersey than the adoption of some of these plans for bridging the Hudson river. All of this territory is within nineteen miles of the city hall, Manhattan, and is really a part of Greater New York.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey furnishes Plainfield with 100 trains daily. It has for years experienced a gradual and healthful growth, but now a boom is looked for in that section this spring, and doubtless Highland Park will be much benefited, as it lies in that portion of the city where the most active development is taking place.—New York Mail.

Kidnapped a Bride.

Toledo, Ohio, April 15.—Grace Duffield, of Portage, and Weaver Rae, of Toledo, were married Thursday night at Portage and a moment after the ceremony the bride was enticed away from the church and kidnapped by practical jokers. They placed her in an automobile and started to drive her about the country for the rest of the night and then keep her prisoner two or three days. The girl had been bound and gagged and it was some time before her husband missed her. He tried to follow, but was unsuccessful. After a brief period the girl grew frantic and finally became hysterical. This frightened the jokers and they rushed the captive to Bowling Green, where she was placed aboard a train with her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Staats, of Brooklyn, spent Sunday in town with relatives.

Miss Carrie Egel, of Somerset street, is greatly improved from a severe illness.

W. A. Coddington, of the firm of Reed & Coddington, is recovering from a severe illness.

Mr. and Mrs. George Maurer, of this city, have returned from a visit with relatives at Somerville.

Mr and Mrs. Edgar Harding, of this city, have returned from a visit with relatives at Bound Brook.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brown, of New York, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Rushmore, of Sycamore avenue.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

ONE DAY ONLY

Parlors of the Kensington Hotel.

PLAINFIELD

THURSDAY, APRIL 18

HOURS 9.00 A. M. UNTIL 5.00 P. M.

Your eyes will be examined by THE DAMMERS SCIENTIFIC METHOD. Positively the only absolutely correct way to fit glasses. CONSULTATION FREE.

(NO DROPS USED.) Those who have been examined for GLASSES by men who claim to examine your eyes by the old, incorrect way, which is done by everyone who supplies glasses but us, will be agreeably surprised by our scientific and wonderful methods of fitting glasses.

We correct your eye defects by looking in the eyes, taking the exact scientific measurements of the focus and shape of the eyes.

NO QUESTIONS ASKED, no trying glasses on your face, until we have determined your exact optical error.

The old tedious, and tiresome way of trying to fit glasses is either putting drops in the eyes, which often causes BLINDNESS, or by trying on a lot of glasses, and asking you "Can you see these letters?" or "Do these glasses make you see better?"

After your Optician does a lot of guessing, and has your eyes all out of shape, you think you have been examined.

Think this over, and you can readily see that you have been doing your own examining, and that is no doubt the reason you have had trouble to get glasses correct.

We have produced astonishing results from brain fag, nervous debility, insomnia, dizziness, nausea, WATERY EYES, blurry vision, and other troubles caused by EYE STRAIN. We have corrected by the use of glasses cross eyes and Astigmatism by our scientific methods.

Our position in Newark, N. J., and Providence, R. I., as the LEADING OPTICAL EXPERTS is proof of the high confidence in our responsibility, and the reliability of our representations.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

A rumor to the effect that but few goods seats are to be obtained for tonight's performance of "Tom, Dick and Harry" has somewhat upset Assistant Treasurer Rexier and the ushers of the New Plainfield theatre, for whose benefit it will be given. There are lots of good locations yet to be had and no one need remain away because of a misapprehension.

When Miss Rose Melville appears at the New Plainfield shortly, she will be seen in the original production and almost the same cast of "Sis Hopkins" as when the comedy was first put on in New York. Miss Melville has made the success of her career as "Sis" and her delineation of the awkward country girl is looked upon as one of the most finished character acts on the stage.

George M. Cohan, the actor, announced at the close of an engagement in Baltimore, Saturday night, that he is going to marry again. He recently was divorced from Ethel Levey, who is to marry Robert Edeson. "The young woman I am to marry," said Mr. Cohen, "is Miss Agnes Nolan, of Brookline, Mass., a charming girl, and we have arranged to be wedded in the next Fourth of July, my birthday."

Clyde Fitch's greatest play, "The Woman in the Case," one of the few real dramatic successes of the New York stage in recent years, will be presented by Eugenie Blair and her brilliant company at the New Plainfield next Friday night. This remarkable play achieved a run of more than 250 nights in New York City. It's plot and characters concern and vividly reflect the society life of the metropolis at the present time and the social unheavels that have provided the newspapers in recent years with their most sensational news stories.

Miss Mildred Beverly, who is remembered from her excellent work as foil for Mrs. Patrick Campbell in her production of "The Sorceress," is seen in a similar role in Chauncey Olcott's Eileen Asthore, which will be seen in Plianfield on April 9. Miss Beverly has won considerable fame as a linguist. She not only speaks fluently half a dozen languages, but has acted in French, Spanish and Italian, in addition to her mother tongue.

Miss Fay Templeton, now playing in Boston, has announced her retirement to private life at the close of her engagement in five weeks' time. She was recently married to William Paterson, a Pennsylvania millionaire. Miss Templeton appeared in Plainfield during the present season as "Mary" in "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway."

We are not afraid of Japan, of course. Still, if it hadn't been for that Russian-Japanese war we wouldn't have bothered our heads about whether Japan liked San Francisco's behavior or not.—Kansas City Journal.

Rev. J. S. Holmes, of Brooklyn, preached at the First Presbyterian church, yesterday, in exchange with the pastor, Rev. C. E. Herring.

The Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church Friday night will be of special interest. George E. Ball will lead.

Under the auspices of the Junior Society of the Congregational church a "Toshi-Koshi" party will be held in the church Thursday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock.

The Bible school entertainment committee of the Park Avenue Baptist church is planning for an elaborate programme on Children's Day, Sunday, June 9.

The Junior Epworth League of the First M. E. church will meet in Vincent chapel Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. Thomas MacDonald will be in charge.

The women of the Christian church will conduct an informal entertainment Thursday night for the benefit of the piano fund. Refreshments will be served at the close.

The members of the First M. E. church will give a reception in Vincent chapel Thursday night to Rev. and Mrs. A. C. McCrea. An informal programme will be presented.

Rev. Mr. Symons, of Annapolis, Md., has been engaged to take charge of the Colored Mission of Grace church, succeeding Rev. E. E. Miller, who went to Petersburg, Va.

The Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will hold its annual meeting for the election of offices in Rev. Dr. Zelie's study tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock.

Miss Edna Nichol, contralto, returned to the First Presbyterian church choir yesterday, after a short absence. She will resign her position May 1, and her successor will be Miss Jessamine Burd, of Somerville.

The Women's Home Mission Circle of the Park Avenue Baptist church will meet at the home of Mrs. John H. Doane, 423 East Seventh street, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The subject will be "The Life of Joanna P. Moore."

A foreign missionary tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Rufus Lincoln, 622 West Eighth street, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. An address will be delivered by Miss Bradshaw, of Japan, and an attractive musical programme will be given. The Lenten Self-Denial envelopes will be received at the same time.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will meet in the church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. A. D. Mallinson will lead the devotional exercises, the subject being "Dorcas, or a Practical Home Mission Worker." Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph will present a paper on "Political Aspect of the Mormon Church."

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will meet in the large parlor tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Reports of the annual Presbyterial meeting held last week at Elizabeth will be given by Miss Tracy and others, and Miss Halloway will tell of the work accomplished by the Study Mission Classes.

Insane Man's Trick.

Louisville, Ky., April 15.—John Metz, an insane man, turned the tables on his brother, who had him in charge at the Tenth street station yesterday, directing a colored porter to hold his brother, Edwin Metz, until he could find a policeman. The porter did as directed, while John Metz escaped temporarily. Edwin Metz then explained that his brother and not himself was insane, and enlisted the assistance of detectives, who recaptured John Metz and took him to the police station.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

COPYRIGHTED 1906 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

"A good deal."

"Several millions?"

"This is a big country, and you can't stir it up politically for nothing. Why do you ask?"

"Who gives the money?" she persisted.

"The rich men—the big corporations—give most of it."

"Why?"

"Patriotism," said I. "To save the nation from our wicked opponent."

"How do Mr. Roebuck and the others get it back?" she pursued, ignoring my pleasantry.

"Get what back?"

I answered with a smile only.

She lapsed into thoughtfulness. When I was assuming that her mind had wandered off to something else she said: "The people must be very stupid—not to suspect."

"Or the rich men and the corporations very stupid to give," I suggested.

"Do you mean they don't get it back?" she demanded.

"Of course," said I, "their patriotism must be rewarded. We cannot expect them to save the country year after year for nothing."

"I should think not!" she said, adding disgustedly: "I think politics is very silly. And men get excited about it! But I never listen."

Arriving at the "retreat" from the Scarborough convention, I found Burbank much perturbed because Scarborough had been nominated. He did not say so—on the contrary, he expressed in sonorous phrases his satisfaction that there was to be "a real test of strength between conservatism and radicalism." He never dropped his pose, even with me—not even with himself.

"I confess I don't share your cheerfulness," said I. "If Scarborough were a wild man you'd have a walk-over. But he isn't, and I fear he'll be more and more attractive to the wavering voters, to many of our own people. Party loyalty has been overworked in the last few presidential campaigns. He'll go vote-hunting in the doubtful states, but it won't seem undignified. He's one of those men whose dignity comes from the inside and can't be lost."

Burbank was unable to conceal his annoyance—he never could bear praise of another man of his own rank in public life. Also he showed surprise. "Why I understood—I had been led to believe—that you—favored his nomination," was his guarded way of telling me he knew I had a hand in bringing it about.

"So I did," replied I. "He was your only chance. He won't be able to get a campaign fund of so much as a quarter of a million, and the best workers of his party will at heart be against him. Simpson would have had—well, Goodrich could and would have got him enough to elect him."

Burbank's eyes twitched. "I think you're prejudiced against Senator Goodrich, Harvey," said he in his gentlest tone. "He is, first of all a loyal party man."

"Loyal fiddlesticks!" replied I. "He is agent of the Wall street crowd—they're his party. He's just the ordinary machine politician with no more party feeling than—than—" I smiled—"than any other man behind the scenes."

Burbank dodged this by taking it as a jest. He always shed my frank speeches as humor. "Prejudice, prejudice Harvey!" he said in mild reproof. "We need Goodrich, and—"

"Parodn me," I interrupted. "We do not need him. On the contrary, we must put him out of the party councils. If we don't, he may try to help Scarborough. The senate's safe, no matter who's elected president, and Goodrich will rely on it to save his crowd. He's a mountain of vanity, and the two defeats we've given him have made every atom of that vanity quiver with hatred of us."

"I wish you could have been here when he called," said Burbank. "I am sure you would have changed your mind."

"When does he resign his chairmanship of the national committee?" I asked. "He agreed to plead bad health and resign within two weeks after the convention."

Burbank gave an embarrassed cough. "Don't you think, Harvey," said he, "that, to soothe his vanity, it might be as well for us—for you—to let him stay on there—nominally, of courses? I know you care nothing for titles."

Instead of being angered by this attempt to cozen me, by this exhibition of treachery, I felt disgust and pity—how nauseating and how hopeless to try to forward one so blind to his own interests, so easily frightened into surrender to his worst enemies! But I spoke very quietly to him. "The reason you want me to be chairman—for it is you that want and need it, not I—the reason I must be chairman is because the machine throughout the country must know that Goodrich is out and that your friends are in. In what other way can this be accomplished?"

He did not dare try to reply.

I went on: "If he stays at the head of the national committee Scarborough will be elected."

"You are prejudiced, Harvey—"

"Please don't say that again, governor," I interrupted, coldly. "I repeat, Goodrich must give place to me, or Scarborough will be elected."

"You don't mean that you would turn against me?" came from him, in a queer voice after a long pause.

"While I was in St. Louis, working to make you president," said I, "you were plotting behind my back, plotting against me and yourself."

"You were at St. Louis aiding in the nomination of the strongest candidate," he retorted, his bitterness distinct though guarded.

"Strongest — yes. But strongest with whom?"

"With the people," he replied.

"Precisely," said I. "But the people are not going to decide this election. The party lines are to be so closely drawn that money will have the deciding vote. The men who organize and direct industry and enterprise—they are going to decide it. And in spite of Goodrich's traitorous efforts, the opposition has put up the man who can't get a penny from them."

In fact, I had just discovered that Scarborough had instructed Pierson, whom he had made chairman of his campaign, not to take any money from any corporation, even if it was offered. But I thought it wiser to keep this from Burbank.

He sat folding a sheet of paper again and again. I let him reason it out. Finally he said: "I see your point, Harvey. But I practically promised Goodrich—practically asked him to remain—"

I waited.

"For the sake of the cause," he went on when he saw he was to get no help from me, "any and all personal sacrifices must be made. If you insist on having Goodrich's head, I will break my promise and—"

"Pardon me again," I interrupted. My mood would not tolerate twaddle about "the cause" and "promises" from Burbank — Burbank, whose "cause," as he had just shown afresh, was himself alone, and who promised everything to everybody and kept only the most advantageous promises after he had made absolutely sure how his advantage lay. "It's all a matter of indifference to me. If you wish to retain Goodrich do so. He must not be dismissed as a personal favor to me. The favor is to you. I do not permit any man to thimblerig his debts to me into my debts to him."

Burbank seemed deeply moved. He came up to me and took my hand. "It is not like my friend Sayler to use the word indifference in connection with me," he said. And then I realized how completely the nomination had turned his head. For his tone was that of the great man addressing his henchman.

I did not keep my amusement out of my eyes. "James," said I, "indifference is precisely the word. I should welcome a chance to withdraw from this campaign. I have been ambitious for power. You want place. If you think the time has come to dissolve partnership, say so—and trade yourself off to Goodrich."

PROPOSALS FOR COAL.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., at a meeting held April 1, 1907, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday evening, April 15, 1907, at 7:45, at the Board room in the High School Building, corner West Ninth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for furnishing six hundred tons, (more or less), of the very best quality coal for steam and hot air heating, in the different sizes, the quantity required of each size can be obtained from the clerk of the Board, office of the Board of Education. Parties bidding will be required to specify the shippers of the coal in their bids. All coal to be thoroughly screened over a selve suitable to free the coal of all dust and small particles of coal, and to be acceptable to the Committee on Fuel, or their representative, and placed in the coal bins within the public school buildings without any extra charge for handling or trimming the coal in the bins, and to be delivered at such time as the Board may direct. Bids to specify whether short or long tons. Payment for all coal contracted for to be made after July 1, 1907. All Proposals to be endorsed "Proposals for Coal" and addressed to the Committee on Fuel and left at the office of the Board of Education, at or before the hour mentioned for such meeting to be held.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals, the Board will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

For the Committee on Fuel.

F. B. CLARK, Clerk of the Board.

U. S. POSTAL STAMPS ACTING AS DETECTIVES

DEPARTURE IN NEW SERIES OF 1907 WHICH WILL WORK WONDERS.

The new series of postage stamps to be issued by the United States this year will be a great departure from the stamps to which letter writers are accustomed. Hitherto, similar stamps have been used all over the country and, there has been no means of determining from what office they have been sold to consumers. All this will be changed under the new system, and every postoffice of the land will receive due credit for the amount of postage stamps which it sells, which furnishes the only basis upon which the business of the office can be estimated.

Under the old system, this method of computing the business of the different offices has not been at all satisfactory. Thousands of letters, as an instance, are handled, cancelled and dispatched from the city of New York, the stamps on which have been purchased in other offices, and for this the New York office receives no credit. It is the same in every large city of the country, but under the new system this difficulty will disappear, and every office will be credited with exactly the amount of stamps which it sells.

This is to be accomplished by issuing distinctive stamps for every city of any importance in the country, which will bear the name of the city impressed on the stamps. The new postage stamps of 1907 will bear on their face the name of the city and State in which they are sold, and it will make no difference in what part of the country they are used, the city of their origin will have the credit for their sale.

Of course the carrying into effect of this plan will involve the issue of thousands of more varieties of stamps than have heretofore been printed, and will add materially to the labor of distributing them among the offices of the country, but it is believed that the additional expense to be incurred will be fully justified by the result of the experiment, as it will keep the department posted at all times in regard to the actual amount of business transacted at every office in the United States.

Every community of any size in the country will hereafter have its own distinctive postage stamp, bearing its name and that of the State in which it is located. In addition to the effect which this system will have upon the keeping of statistical information regarding the business of the offices, it will have another great advantage in aiding very materially to trace robbers who steal postage stamps from postoffices. This is a species of thievery which has increased greatly in recent years, and has caused the government authorities no end of trouble. As fully 6,000 Presidential postoffices will be provided with stamps bearing in each instance the name of the city and State in which the postoffice selling them is situated, it will be seen that Uncle Sam will be provided with a fine tooth comb by which he can ascertain just where the nation's postal business originates. The thief who steals and sells postage stamps issued to one city in another part of the country can be traced by the identification marks, and be run down much more readily than he could be were all the stamps of the country precisely alike.

Postage stamps in the past have proven to be exceptionally negotiable plunder, for the light-fingered gentry. The Chicago postoffice, a little while ago, was robbed of nearly $100,000 worth of stamps of small denominations, and no trace of the perpetrators was ever discovered.

With each gummed piece of paper an inanimate detective, by means of the name of its city of origin, it is scarcely possible that a thief could so completely cover his tracks in disposing of his booty.

There is only one portion of the community which will not hail with enthusiasm the advent of the new "citified" stamps. This is the philatelists, or stamp collectors, who have become very numerous, not only in the United States, but all over the world. Instead of collecting the stamps of all nations, as formerly, most stamp collectors now specialize by collecting postal souvenirs of some one country, and, naturally, the United States is a favorite field with them. It is estimated that the carrying into effect of this new plan will create something like 59,000 new varieties of American stamps, so that the philatelist whose ambition is to possess a specimen of every stamp ever issued by the United States can scarcely be blamed for his discouragement.

"Frank Leslie" Identified.

Dover, April 15.—It has been learned that "Frank Leslie," who got a horse and rig from Gardiner's livery on Monday and drove to Fair Hills before he was apprehended, is Stewart Lee, son of J. S. Lee, of Scranton, Pa. Constable H. C. Newkirk went after Lee to bring him to Dover yesterday. The boy's parents say that he is only sixteen years old, although he looks to be about eighteeen. He disappeared from home on Good Friday. The checks which he forged and cashed at the Mansion House were honored by his father. The father said that the boy had disappeared once before and had been found in Buffalo, N. Y.

GOLF.

Archibald Graham, the New Jersey golf champion, has gone to Cuba on a pleasure trip. He will be absent a month.

The Oakland Golf Club has made Walter J. Travis an honorary member. An active season has been planned by the club, but it is likely that the proposed open tournament will be postponed until next year, as the new nine holes will then be in better shape.

W. Lester Glenney will also be a familiar figure at the Plainfield Country Club this season. Being a member of the golf committee this will double his interest in the various events.

Although he is not enthusiastic about the game at present, it is expected that Rev. J. O. McKelvey will take up the game this season. Last year he was one of the strongest players at the Park Golf Club.

Reuben Knox is another member of the Park Golf Club who finds the exercise a great help. He is a regular attendant at the club last year and is now preparing to resume play.

With the infusion of new blood at the Park Golf Club, the coming season promises to be interesting. Several members of the Plainfield Country Club have identified themselves with the borough club and will plan to play there frequently throughout the season.

Aside from the play on the course, the house committee of the Plainfield Country Club is planning an active season in social events. The Saturday night dinner-dances throughout June and July will be a popular diversion and will attract many to the well-appointed clubhouse. There will be special social events on holidays, to be announced later.

The Plainfield Country Club, the Park Golf Club and the Westfield Golf Club will open the active season on Saturday. This has been the custom during recent years.

BOWLING

The challenge of the "Pony" five-man team, issued last week, has been accepted by the "Arm Rights" and a battle r oyal on McLaughlin's alleys will be the result. A match of three games will be rolled tomorrow night and as the "Arm Rights" are in a condition that their name implies, some frightfully high scores are looked for. Joe Farlee will be captain and anchor for the "Pony" team and John Conklin will act in the same capacity for the opposing aggregation.

Manager McLaughlin has given notice that the tie existing between Meyer and Mack and Radin and Ackor for third place in the tourney just ended, will be rolled off tomorrow night. As soon as the result is learned all the prize money will be distributed to the winners. The roll-off match has been awaited with much expectancy by the devotees of the game and the three games will undoubtedly be witnessed by a large crowd.

The Newark News bowling team will come to Plainfield Thursday night for the purpose of matching skill with the Plainfield newspapermen's team in the last games of the series played during the past winter. The Newarkers are ahead at the present time and a determined effort will be made by the local scribes to turn the tables.

In a friendly game played at McLaughlin's academy one afternoon last week, the local and possibly State, record for a three-man game was broken. Chief Kiely made 266, Dr. Thiers 256 and W. C. Causebrook 235, making a total of 757. All three made clean strikes in every instance and it was one of the best matches ever witnessed on the alleys.

—Watch The Daily Press bulletin every afternoon for the results of the National and American League Games.

"In the backing up of his fellow infielders Norman Elberfield, of the Highlanders, has not an equal," says the Washington Post.

Goat Anderson, a youngster with the Pittsburgs, came from the Central League. Sounds if he came from Harlem.

The only objection to Bresnahan's shin pads is that it is not fitting that anything remindful of such a dull game as cricket should be introduced in a live sport like baseball.

Catcher Rickey will report to the New York Americans on May 1. Pitchers Barger and Castleton will go to Montreal and Atlanta respectively.

The Harvard Bulletin says "The impression that Harvard has a baseball nine of great promise is already widespread among the undergraduates." It would be well to wait until the team meets Yale and Princeton before passing an opinion.

It has been so long since they came near a pennant in Cincinnati that the record of '69 has been dug up for public edification.

George Huff, of the University of Illinois, has been engaged to manage the Boston Americans for the next three years. He will enter upon his new duties at once.

"Jimmy" Montross is to be given a trial by the Newark Atlantic League Club.

There is a rumor that several of the best players secured for the Dunellen Amateur League team have signed to play elsewhere and that Manager Jesse Ayers is hustling for new material.

In case Westfield has a strong team, as a member of the Lackawanna League, it will no doubt attract some of the local fans. On paper all the teams in this league are evenly matched.

The Brooklyn Atlantic League Club, of which Dave Driscoll is a member, has been incorporated. It is expected that "Billy" Gilbert will play second base on the team.

The Y. M. C. A. candidates will turn out for practise at Crescent Oval Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock and Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

PERSONAL.

Miss Bertha Mitchell, of Grant avenue, has returned to Astoria, L. I., where she teaches school, after a short vacation at home.

Mrs. Eugene Moore, of California, is stopping at the home of Mr. Moore's mother, Mrs. David W. Moore, of Watchung avenue.

Miss Mabel Van Deventer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Van Deventer, of Washington avenue, is visiting friends in Gloucester, Mass.

Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow has returned from Atlantic City, where he went with Mayor C. J. Fisk to inspect the garbage disposal system in use there.

Miss Love, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Edward Love, of East Ninth street, has returned to her studies at Mt. Holyoke College, after spending the Easter vacation at home.

OBITUARY.

George F. Keading.

Following an illness of several weeks with a complication of troubles, George F. Keading, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Keading, of Wilson avenue, died this morning at 3 o'clock at his home on West Third street. He was thirty-one years old and had lived either in the city or the borough all his life. He was a barber by trade and had kept shops in various locations but just previous to the time his illness began was employed by William Claassen, of Park avenue. Surviving him are a wife and three children; also two sisters, Mrs. William Eakins, of Monroe avenue, and Mrs. Edward Schultze, of Paterson; and two brothers, Augustus Keading, of John street, and Fred Keading, who resides with the parents. He was a member of the barbers' Union and Wetumpkah Tribe of Red Men. No arrangements as yet have been made for the funeral.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., will initiate eight candidates on Friday night.

Plainfield Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tonight and receive several applications for membership.

A delegation of members from Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will pay a fraternal visit to the Somerville lodge tonight.

The members of Franklin, Somerset, Benevolent and Plainfield Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., have decided not to accept the proposition offered by W. E. Miller to hold an outdoor carnival in Plainfield this summer. They agreed that two carnivals in one season would not be a success.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Buy your olive oil of Neuman Brothers and you get the very best. Full quarts 65 cents; pints 35 cents.

—The Plainfield Operatic Association is making excellent progress in its rehearsals of "Pinafore," which will be given at the Casino early in May. The principals as well as the enlarged chorus are especially good and a strong attraction will be the professional woman dancer, who will dance the "Sailor's Hornpipe." Another rehearsal will be held tomorrow night at the Casino.

Peace Congress Opens.

New York, April 15.—Draped in white and gold and festooned with the flags of every nation, Carnegie Hall last night rang with the songs and sermons of universal peace. It was the choral service introductory to the first National Arbitration and Peace Congress ever held in this country, and which is to continue until next Wednesday night. Every seat in the hall was occupied and many who hold tickets of admission were turned away early in the evening. As an indication of the general interest in the peace movement, it was said yesterday that applications for seats for every session have far outnumbered the seating capacity of the building. Requests have been received from almost every city and town in the country.

125,000 at Coney.

New York, April 15.—Weather conditions at Coney Island yesterday resembled early fall rather than early spring. Although it was necessary to wear overcoats and wraps because of the suggestion of the breath of winter in the air, a crowd estimated at 125,000 was at the shore. Surf avenue and the boardwalk were thronged all the afternoon.

DOMESTIC SERVANTS' CLUB.

In the belief that domestic servants need social pleasude as much as any class of people, Lady Hope, an Englishwoman of wealth, has established two clubs in London in the vicinity of her own fine West End house, says an exchange.

One is for men servants, the other for women servants. Both clubs are residential, the rooms renting from $1 to $1.90 a week, while the annual membership fee is $2.50 and $1.90 for the men and the women, respectively.

The clubs are comfortably equipped with billiard, reading, writing and work rooms, and attractive drawing rooms and assembly halls for concerts, lectures, etc. These two clubs, with a third and even larger one for working girls, of which Lady Hope is also the sponsor, number among them over 1,000 members.

Visitors of these clubhouses find them thronged. Some of the members will be found playing billiards, others lounging in easy chairs before the open grates, still others talking politics, or doing fancy work, or writing letters or reading. Lady Hope makes those who are out of employment her special interest, using every means to find them congenial work.

This indefatigable founder of clubs—she has recently added a free club for young men in business to her other three—is a literary woman, as well as a philanthropist. Besides being the author of several novels she contributes to the periodical press and conducts a magazine in the interests of mistress and maid. Aside issues she has painting, music, photography and automobiling. She takes a keen interest in the beautiful gardens of her mother, Lady Cotton, near Dorking, and is an earnest worker among the poor of that district. Although, of course, an amateur with the camera, she has carried her photography to a high state of excellence, her large collection of photographs including many taken by her in South Africa, Egypt and on the continent, for Lady Hope has the modern craze for travel.

Rewards For a Railroad.

New York, April 15.—Doubtful of the accuracy of a statement by officers of the Coney Island and Brooklyn Railroad Company that many cars on Smith street have been in service only two years, Frederick Bruckbauer, of No. 550 Fifth avenue, a member of the South Brooklyn Board of Trade, has had this notice posted: "In view of the declaration of Mr. Heins, president of the Coney Island and Brooklyn Railroad, assuring the State Railroad Commission that on the Smith street line there are 'a great many cars that have had less than two years' use,' I hereby offer a reward of $25 for each car that the company can prove to be less than four years old and which has been making regular runs on Smith street within the last year."

Dies After Eating Gum.

New York, April 15.—County Physician McKenzie performed an autopsy yesterday afternoon, in Newark, on the body of Frank Barmusky, two and a half years old, who died Saturday in agony from some unknown cause. The autopsy did not clear the mystery and a chemical analysis will be made. The youngster, with his little sister, Leno, became violently ill after eating some chewing gum which they obtained from a slot machine near their home. The girl is in a serious condition in the City Hospital.

J. H. Eckels Dead.

Chicago, Ill., April 15.—James H. Eckels, president of the Commercial National Bank and former Controller of the Currency, was found dead in bed this morning at twenty minutes to ten at his home, No. 18 Ritchie place. Physicians declared that Mr. Eckels had died of heart failure, death raving probably taken place about half-past one o'clock in the morning, while he was asleep. He had been a sufferer from heart trouble for more than nine years. He was a little more than forty-eight years old.

Razor Fight in Train.

New York, April 15.—Passengers in a northbound subway train last night were terrified bya razor fight between two negroes. They became angered and fought each other with uplifted razors. Nether of the negroes were injured, but Fritz Norman, of No. 160 Butler street, Brooklyn, a watchman employed by Ludwig Baumann & Co., who interfered to separate the negroes, got in the way of one razor and received a slash reaching from his left ear to his mouth, which severed the muscles in his cheek.

Grabs Baby Hurled in Air.

New York, April 15.—Mrs. Margaret Murray, of No. 2440 Eighth avenue, was run down by a motor cycle at 125th street and Eighth avenue, yesterday afternoon. When the collision came the child flew at least five feet in the air. Detective Sergeant Cronin darted forward and caught the infant before it struck the pavement. The machine passed over Mrs. Murray's left leg. On her complaint, Joseph S. Fisher, of 335 East 130th street, who was riding the machine was arrested.

Rasores Club Meeting.

The Rasores Club will meet tomorrow morning with Miss Kimball at Truell Court. Mrs. McCutchen's paper on "Gen. Gordon" will be read.

7TH-DAY BAPTISTS TO OBSERVE 75TH ANNIVERSARY

DATE SET, FEB. 12, 1908

Started by Members of the Piscataway Church in 1836—Has Handsome Edifice and Large Membership.

When the sixty-ninth annual meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist Church of Christ was held on Sunday, April 7, a committee consisting of the pastor, Rev. George B. Shaw and J. D. Spicer were appointed a committee to prepare a programme for the seventieth anniversary of the organization of the church, which will occur on February 12, 1908. This being one of the oldest churches in the city and a branch of the mother church at New Market, which celebrated its 200th anniversary in 1905, the coming event will be of more than usual interest not only here but among all the members of the denomination in New Jersey and New York.

The Piscataway Seventh-Day Baptist church, at New Market, is now the oldest living church of its order in America. It was constituted in the year 1705. In 1836, a number of its membership having located in Plainfield, the question of organizing a church here began to be seriously considered. This movement finally crystalized into a church organization, which, with the assistance of the mother church, was constituted on February 12, 1838, with a membership of fifty-six persons. The early meetings were held in private houses until the first house of worship was built at Central avenue and West Third street, afterward made into a double house and leased. The cause of this was that the railroad company wanted to lay its tracks adjoining the church property and it was too close for convenience of worship. Afterward the building was turned about to face on Third street and the railroad eventually elevated its tracks through the city and was able to get the straight line at that point it desired.

In the meantime the denomination made arrangements to meet in the Second Baptist church, now Reform hall, which it continued to do until its new house of worship was erected at Central avenue and West Fifth street, which was dedicated in 1866. The congregation continued to worship there until 1891, when the present handsome edifice was built on that site, and the old church was moved to Madison avenue and West Fifth street, which is now known as the Whittier School.

In the sixty-nine years of its existence the church has had ten pastors, including the present pastor, Rev. George B. Shaw. These have all been men who have taken high rank among the clergymen of the town, and its membership has been prominent in the development of Plainfield in all its material, social and religious interests.

The present edifice, which from an architectural point of view, is perhaps one of the most attractive in the State, was largely made possible through the beneficience of the late George H. Babcock, as well as other members of wealth an dinfluence, a number of whom have passed away.

The first minister called in February, 1838, was Rev. William B. Maxson, but owing to engagement in mission work in New York, was not able to accept, and supplies were obtained from neighboring churches until the following June. Rev. Lucius Crandall supplied the church from June, 1838, to March, 1840, when he was elected pastor and served as such until September, 1841. From that time until June, 1843, the pulpit was supplied by Rev. Lucius Crandall, Rev. Giles M. Langworthy, Rev. David Clawson and Rev. Walter B. Gillett. Rev. Samuel Davison was pastor from September, 1844, to March, 1846; Rev. Lucius Crandall from March, 1846, to April, 1851; Rev. James H. Cochran from May, 1852, until February 1, 1853, when he was removed by death. Then Rev. James Bailey was pastor from September, 1853, to October, 1864. Rev. A. R. Cornwall acted as supply in the winter of 1865-66, and as pastor from April, 1866, to April, 1867, and was succeeded by Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Williams from April,

3 STORY STRUCTURE TO ADJOIN "STIRLING"

BOICE, RUNYON & CO. TO ERECT OFFICE BUILDING ON PARK AVE.

Plans are now being made by A. L. C. Marsh, the architect, for Boice, Runyon & Co., for a handsome three-story building to be erected on Park avenue, directly opposite North avenue, and as soon as the plans are accepted and the contracts awarded the work for the improvement will be started. The new building, which will conform somewhat to the style of architecture of the Stirling building, will have a frontage of forty feet and extend back as far as the Stirling building. It will have a white facing of attractive design.

On the first floor will be an office for Boice, Runyon & Co., and a store for rent. The two upper floors will be devoted to offices. Space for a driveway will be allowed between the new building and the structure that is to be erected this summer by L. L. Hersch & Co., the wholesale grocers, next to the railroad. As soon as the Boice, Runyon & Co. building is completed, the firm will move its present office off the property to allow the Hersch Company to begin operations.

When these two new buildings are erected there will still remain a vacant lot adjoining the Stirling, with a frontage of about forty feet. Just what disposition will be made of this land has not been decided upon yet. It is controlled by John G. MacLaughlin and The Plainfield Trust Company. No doubt an up-to-date building will eventually be put there.

SONGS AND STORIES OF THE RED MAN

GIVEN BY MRS. COURSEN AT MONDAY AFTERNOON CLUB MEETING.

A large audience at the Casino yesterday afternoon listened to the recital given by Mrs. Alfred Chester Coursen on "Indian Song and Story," before the Monday Afternoon Club, finishing the club's study on "Primitive Man in America." The voices of nature expressed in Indian song and rude hieroglyphics were illustrated by charts shown by Mrs. Coursen and charmingly described by Longfellow in his song of Hiawatha. Mrs. Coursen, with a good voice, gave some Indian lullabys, love songs, incantations of the medicine men and women, the song of the corn grinders, the plea for rain, the call to the sunrise, a funeral dirge and songs accompanying the dance in the religious ceremonials. Their music often expressed motion without words, Mrs. Coursen said, giving as an Indian critecism of American music, "You talk a great deal when you sing."

The Indian stories, the lecturer said, were a combination of Greek mythology, Arabian Nights tales and Bibical history. Some of the stories she gave of Iagoo, the boaster were similar to those told by Longfellow in his song of Hiawatha, as was the love of Shawandasee, the South Wind of the prairie dandelion.

Of the Indian music, Mrs. Coursen said in conclusion, it was generally considered without intonation or harmony, but some musician had discovered a harmony in a perfect tone sustained through a whole musical performance. The lecture closed with a chorus of warriors, which Mrs. Coursen executed on the piano to show the harmony.

Throughout the recital the unwritten thought suggested by the lecturer was, Oh, for the child of nature of whom she speaks!

STATE MUTUAL WABBLES

Its Assets Shrink From $2,500,000 to $1,200.00 and Plainfielders Suffer.

DEMAND A RECEIVER

Thirty-five Stockholders Here Had Approximate Investment of $21,000 In Building and Loan.

Considerable surprise, as well as apprehension, was manifested in this city yesterday, when it became known that Theodore Backes, lawyer, representing State Banking Commissioner David O. Watkins, had applied to Vice Chancellor Leaning for a rule to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed for the State Mutual Building and Loan Association of New Jersey. There are approximately thirty-five stockholders in Plainfield and twenty in Scotch Plains and Fanwood. There are also a few in Dunellen.

William V. Nash, Jr., representing some fifteen stockholders, was on hand in court at Camden yesterday to apply for a receiver. Mr. Nash says that he represents $9,000 worth of stock. A Newark lawyer was also present on the same mission, but the court granted the application of the State Commissioner of Banking for a rule to show cause why the company should not go into the hands of a receiver and its affairs be wound up. The ground taken by the court was that Mr. Backes' client was a disinterested party.

A meeting will be held on Thursday, April 25, to consider a plan to dissolve.

Credence was given this current gossip when Patrick Fitzgerald, two weeks ago, applied at Trenton for a rule to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed. This matter was finally settled out of court, and officials of the organization declared there was absolutely nothing in the report that it was in financial straits.

Yesterday Backes, in answer to questions of Vice Chancellor Leaning, at Camden, said that the applications for withdrawals from the association was about $400 in excess per day of the receipts. It was on the strength of the assertion of counsel for Commissioner Watkins that Vice Chancellor Leaming allowed the rule, and made it returnable for argument on April 30.

"This association began business in 1892. It was very successful and grew to great size, so that it had at one time gross assets of nearly $2,500,000 and had more than 77,000 shares in force. It has repaid to its shareholders, in withdrawals and maturity of shares, more than $3,8000,000. Its present assets are about $1,200,000, and the shares in force 27,000. All the money the association has, with which to do business, is what is paiid to it by its shareholders. The withdrawals, owing to money conditions, have been very heavy of late and there are quite a number on file. On April 4, a stockholder who had given notice of withdrawal, filed a suit a few days before he would have been paid in regular course (and he was in fact paid), which was widely published as an application for a receiver. Notwithstanding, in our opinion, this action was not warranted, it has had a very disturbing effect, both in increasing the volume of withdrawals and decreasing receipts. Your directors feel it may be unwise, in view of these circumstances, in a purely mutual organization such as this, to continue the business and possibly by so doing impair the present value of the assets when other action might preserve their great value. They feel therefore, that the whole question should be submitted to the judgment and action of the stockholders. This can only be done by the adoption by your board of a resolution such as accompanies this, submitting it to the stockholders."

This resolution among other things provides "that at this time it is deemed advisable and for the interest of the shareholders of the State Mutual Building and Loan Association of New Jersey, in the judgment of the board of directors, that the same be dissolved and its business liquidated." If the shareholders decide to dissolve and liquidate the finances under the law they can select three or more members to act as trustees, who can proceed to wind up the affairs of the association. This is why Vice Chancellor Leaming made his rule returnable April 30, so that the shareholders can decide for themselves what they think best for them.

SOMERSET COURT OPENS

Warren Township Voters are Summoned by Grand Jury to Tell of Election Squabble.

JUDGE LLOYD TO SIT

Number of Causes In Which North Plainfielders Are Interested—Judge Garretson Presides.

The spring term of the Somerset county court began at Somerville this morning, the session being held in the Sunday-school room of the First Reformed church, as has been the custom since work was started on the new court house. Judge Garretson and Judge Schenck were on the bench but the Supreme and Circuit Court issues will be heard by Judge Frank T. Lloyd. Judge Garretson opened the term and in his address declared there are no cases of especial importance to come before the Grand Jury. No cases were heard for the day and the calendar will be taken up tomorrow.

The Grand Jury began its session in a building adjoining the Sunday-school room and the first case taken up was the Warren township election squabble. It is asserted by the State that the election of Joel Codington as freeholder was not brought about in a legal manner and that it should be declared void. Over 100 witnesses have been summoned and the case will occupy the attention of the jurors all of today. The jury is being instructed by Prosecutor Reger.

The cases of interest to Plainfielders on the calendar are as follows Circuit court, Electric Vehicle Company against Harry L. McGee, Carlos C. Gallup for plaintiffs, Reed & Coddington defendant; Horace Codington against George H. Fairchild, on contract, Clarence Garretson for plaintiff, Francis J. Blatz for defendant. Common Pleas, Arthur M. Griffen against Edward J. Conroy, Louis B. Clement plaintiff, W. S. Angleman defendant; justices' appeals, Frank T. Rice ads. Joel Codington, Reed & Coddington plaintiff, Horace Codington defendant; Sarah E. Mundy vs. Howard Woolston, Codington & Swackhamer plaintiff, Francis J. Blatz defendant.

At the opening of court, Judge Garretson granted licenses for inns and taverns to Myers Compton, who succeeded Charles Jensen, of North Plainfield; Hugo Maul and Henry Pedeflous, of Watchung, and to Adolph Bohren for a wholesale liquor privilege.

The Grand Jurors are: Frank W. Remsen, East Millstone, foreman; Morris C. Van Arsdale, A. L. Force and William McCauley, of North Plainfield; Thomas H. Taylor, of North Plainfield Township; Daniel Suydam, Benjamin McDowell, John H. Belton, Russell F. Randolph, Laird H. Bowers, John S. Ammerman, Philip Latourette, Charles C. Kenyon, J. B. Osbourn, Jacob Nevius, Jules J. Bach, William H. Dunham, Alexander W. Mack, William Staats, Cyrus S. Peterson, Charles Opie, Peter S. Polhemus, Augustus Schumacher and Edward E. Page, the last two named from Warren Township.

BIKE THIEF SENTENCED.

Farnest Treat, Colored, Given Two Months In Jail.

Ernest Treat, the Plainfield negro who was charged with the theft of a bicycle from the porch of a Madison avenue house, was placed on trial before Judge Atwater at Elizabeth this morning. Through his counsel, William G. DeMeza, he entered a plea of not guilty, claiming that he had purchased the wheel from a man who met him on Plainfield avenue. He was unable to produce witnesses and because of the doubt that he had stolen the machine he was let off with a two months' sentence.

Treat is the man who was caught by Patrolman Payne as he was leaving the Kaufman house on West Seventh street after robbing the ice box of Sunday dinner provisions. He got away from the officer as the latter was ringing for the patrol wagon but Payne did some gum shoe work on his own account and nabbed the thief in a pool room a few days later. The bicycle charge developed about the same time and the ice box robbery was not pressed against him.

Birthday Club's Outing.

The Birthday Club of Elizabeth enjoyed its monthly outing last night, taking a trip on the P. S. C. private car "New Jersey" from Elizabeth to Bound Brook, where a dinner was served at Dufours hotel. Elizabeth, Newark, New York and Elizabeth are represented in the membership.

Under the supervision of Superintendent Henry M. Maxson, the instructors in the city schools, yesterday completed ready for shipment, Plainfield's educational exhibit for the Jamestown exposition which opens the latter part of the month. In every way it is superior to any that has been prepared locally and teachers and pupils alike are confident that it will earn at least one gold medal. Dr. Maxson declared this morning that the exhibit is much more complete than the one which secured two first prizes at St. Louis and it will bring Plainfield into more prominence for its splendid schools than ever before.

Because of having the benefit of previous experiences in connection with the Chicago, Buffalo and St. Louis expositions, the teachers have simplified the method of preparing the specimens of class work and they have been arranged in a neat and attractive manner. The exhibit will be shown in two ways, one known as the cabinet form, wherein single pages are displayed on large card sheets, and the other the booklet form. In the latter one subject or study from the various classes or High School course, are grouped together and bound in an attractive manner.

In the latter, exceptional originality has been displayed in preparing the cover designs, all of which have been executed by the pupils. Some of them display ability that betokens embryonic artists and designers and in themselves are a splendid example of what has been done in this study in the Plainfield schools. Pages of literary effort have also been embellished with free hand drawings in ink and water colors.

In connection with the High School's contribution to the exhibit, Principal Travell has made a feature of specimen pages from the commercial department. They show the progress of the pupils in typewriting and stenography from beginning to end and are much more attractive than the idea at first conveys. Some of the typewriting work is a model of perfection and figures have been evolved by spacing that reveal the machine's possibilities.

Every pupil and every grade in the city has been represented in the combined exhibit and it comes distinctively as class work and not something special done outside of the regular hours. Most of the specimen pages are those handed in at various times and placed in the booklets without any corrections by the teachers. Despite this fact, mistakes of any kind are few and far between.

Dr. Maxson said today that it would be impossible to allow the public to see the exhibit at this time as there are no facilities for displaying the cards and no time must be lost in getting them to Jamestown. It may be possible, however, to show them when they are sent back at the close of the exposition.

The exhibit as a whole is made up as follows:

From the grades: 6 booklets arithmetic, 7 booklets language; 4 booklets geography, 2 booklets algebra, 1 booklet geometry, 1 booklet history, 3 booklets drawing, 1 booklet kindergarten work, 2 booklets primary work; from the High School: 3 booklets French, 1 booklet botany, 3 booklets history, 1 booklet economics, 1 booklet chemistry, 1 booklet physics, 1 booklet plane geometry, 4 booklets German, 1 booklet English, 1 booklet typewriting, 1 booklet stenography, 1 booklet bookkeeping, 1 booklet drawing, 1 booklet "The Oracle;" 11 display cards of drawing, 7 display cards of arithmetic, 2 display cards of history, 4 display cards of geography, 7 display cards of language, 1 display card of science.

In the Borough Court.

Charles Messler, who was arrested by the borough police, Saturday night, was fined $3 by Recorder Dolliver, last night. Angelo Umprarrie, was was charged by his wife with trying to break up housekeeping, was let off with a $5 fine on his promise to remain out of the borough. He has been before the court several times for the same offense.

Accused of Stealing a Wheel.

Ernest Treat, colored, charged with the stealing of a bicycle from Mrs. Foster, of this city, is being tried before Judge Atwater at Elizabeth, today. The bicycle, or parts of it, were found in Treat's cellar and this led to his arrest and indictment.

ESSEX COUNTY GETS THE THREE PRISONERS

JUDGE RUNYON DECIDES QUESTION AS CUSTODY OF WIRE THIEVES.

Arthur Glassen, Henry Dorsch and Fred Celius, the suspected wire thieves captured at Samptown, were turned over to the Essex county authorities yesterday afternoon. City Judge Runyon, who was asked by Prosecutor English to act for him in advising Chief Kiely between the rival claims of the Essex officers and the Lehigh Valley police, decided that the best interests of the public would be served by turning the men over to the Newark police.

The magistrate argued that there was a stronger case against the men in Essex county than in Middlesex, and it was best to send the men where they were likely to get the heaviest dose. The idea that the trio had political influence was scouted.

Chief Lee, of the Lehigh Valley force, interposed no objection. He made certain that the trio would have to face the Middlesex charges if things went wrong in Newark by placing his complaints in the hands of Detective-Sergeant Chrystie, of the Newark force. The complaints will act as a stay should anyone come forward to bail the prisoners out.

The men were arraigned before the magistrate on a technical charge of vagrancy. The rights of the city of Plainfield were waived, and the men were placed in the hands of Chrystie, Detective Fausch and an officer from the Essex county attorney's office. They were taken to Newark in a big auto.

Y.M.C.A. MEMBERSHIP INCREASED BY 250

GREAT SUCCESS MARKS THE ONE-DAY CAMPAIGN BY SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The Y. M. C. A. one-day campaign for new members was better by 50 applications than the committee hoped it would be. The workers strove for an increase of 200 members; they secured 250. It was the best day's work ever accomplished by the local Y. M. C. A. in strengthening itself.

The last reports were handed in by the special committee members a few minutes before 10 o'clock last night. Yesterday's Daily Press told how the committeemen started their energetic compaign in the morning, and carried it on to noon, gain 160 new members by 1 o'clock. With unabated energy, they returned to the campaign in the afternoon and worked on after supper time.

There was delight among the Y. M. C. A. men when the splendid result was made known at 10 o'clock. Telling work was done by President J. W. Gavett and General Secretary Kenneth Robbie. Each of them got 70 new members. M. C. VanArsdale got 21; Dr. N. H. Probasco 18 and J. A. Powlison 10. Those five men brought in a total of 189 new members.

The special committee was headed by Samuel A. Bingerman. His force of workers numbered twenty.

When the final result of the canvass had been made known, one of the committeeman added to the pleasure by announcing the gift of a pool table to the association. It was presented by E. T. Perine, of Westfield.

The membership of the Y. M. C. A. is now 800.

NEGRO SUSPECT CAUGHT.

William King, Wanted For Robbery Here, Nabbed In Brooklyn.

William King, colored, wanted by the police of this city for alleged complicity in the robbery of August Kleinecke's house on Watchung avenue last summer, was arrested in Brooklyn yesterday. He will be brought to Elizabeth under requisition to face trial with Harry Wilson, colored, the man captured after the robbery.

Wilson was nabbed by Patrolman McCarthy—at the time a plain-clothes man—on East Fifth street, a few minutes after a general alarm, following a report by servant girls at the Kleinecke house, was sent out. The girls had heard the negroes at work.

Wilson acknowledged his participation in the job, and the police learned that King was his pal. The latter kept under cover for some time after the robbery.

President R. H. Depew Explains What Has Been Accomplished for the Community.

OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN

All Re-Elected, Excepting Vice President McCutchen, Who Declines, and is Placed on the Executive Committee.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Protective Association, held at the Casino last night, was marked by two things. One was an interesting report by President R. Henry Depew. The other was a discussion on a suggestion to lower the dues from $5 to $1 a year.

Henry L. Hall brought the reduction before the meeting in a resolution recommending it to the executive committee, with which all action in amending the constitution must begin. Strong opposition to it developed immediately. It was the majority opinion that the association needed a large fund to attain proper results, and that it could not do its work with less money. Its great strength in the past year, it was argued, spring solely from the amount of money at hand for the prosecution of its work.

Mr. Hall in explaining his ideas as to the reduction, said it was not merely a lowering of the dues he had in mind, but an increase in membership. He argued for greater numbers. He wanted quality as well as quantity, but he felt certain there were many good men, not now in the association, who would come in if the dues were lowered; men who really could not afford $5.

Mr. Depew said he believed the large fund in hand had been the association's strongest card, and that the body should keep itself powerful financially for that reason; that it should be in position at any time to present the front of an organization strong enough to battle for reform and the correction of abuses. He suggested that the dues be kept the same this year, and that, at the same time, an effort be made to increase the membership.

The executive committee will consider the question, and a plan for increasing the membership. A paid solicitor may be employed.

In connection with talk of plans for the increase of membership, the members advocated a broadening of the association's field. Mr. Depew said it was always the aim of the association to broaden, and that the efforts had been concentrated only temporarily on what seemed the most pressing problems.

W. M. Stillman suggested that permanent pavement was one of the things the association might investigate. He intimated that brick pavement might be sidetracked in favor of "tar" coating over the asphalt with advantage to the city.

Mr. Stillman also wanted the association to make an independent investigation of the cost of a municipal water plant. His breath failed him when Mr. Hall informed him that such an investigation would cost $2,500.

"Oh, in that case—" said Mr. Stillman faintly.

F. E. Kinsman wanted information as to what powers were won by the telephone company after it had succeeded in getting its poles on private property. He was afraid the company could do pretty much as it pleased in the way of coming in, tearing down or working on the line in backyards and lawns. Secretary C. White announced for the benefit of Mr. Kinsman and the other members with like puzzlements that the law committee would answer all reasonable queries.

All the old officers and members of the executive committee were re-elected, with the exception of Vice-President C. W. McCutchen, who felt he could not serve again. He was put on the executive committee, and George T. Rogers was named as vice-president. The full board of officers and the executive committee are as follows:

President, R. Henry Depew; vice-president, G. T. Rogers; secretary, Henry C. White; treasurer, J. Herbert Case. Executive committee, A. H. Atterbury, C. J. Fisk, H. L. Hall, F. E. Kinsman, C. W. McCutchen, D. E. Tilsworth, M. W. Tyler, Floyd T. Woodhull.

The association has 157 members and over $1,200 in its treasury. The receipts for this year were $1,600.

NORTH BRANCH.

About 200 members of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows gathered in Van Arsdale's Hall at Peapack Friday night when Ravine Lodge, No. 274, was instituted. The work was done by the degree team from Seney Lodge, of Bernardsville, in charge of Fred Pfeout, assisted by the team from Summit. Among the lodges represented were Lucerne, of Newark; Somerset, of Somerville; Whitehouse, of Whitehouse Station; Seney, of Bernardsville; Valley, of Stirling; Crystal, of Summit, and Chester, of Chester. Grand Lodge Secretary Harry S. Pine, of Trenton, and two other grand lodge officers were in attendance. District Deputy Grand Master William Prout, of Bernardsville, opened the meeting. The new lodge at Peapack is composed of some of the most influential residents of that vicinity. There are nine charter members and forty-nine persons were initiated Friday night. Meetings will be held every Friday evening in Van Arsdale's Hall. The officers of Ravine Lodge are: Noble grand, George Simon; vice grand, John Gulick; secretary, Joseph Schefelk; financial secretary, W. C. Horton; treasurer, Edward McKinstry; inside guardian, H. S. Miller; outside guadian, Isaac Seals; chaplain, Rev. Harry W. Ewig; conductor, Jacob Thompson.

Stewart Brown and Andrew Compton were installed Sunday as elders in the Presbyterian church at Pluckemin and next Sunday Isaac Goodhart will be installed as deacon. At the annual congregational meeting, held Saturday, the reports of the treasurer and various committees of the church were satisfactory. Nearly $1,000 has been spent during the year in renovating and improving the church property. All debts have been paid and there is still a substantial cash balance.

Raritan Valley Grange, No. 153, Patrons of Husbandry, of South Branch, has completed plans for the erection of a hall in that place the coming summer. The new structure will cost about $2,000. The grange there is in a most prosperous condition. It has sixty-five active members.

The residence of Michael Bell, near this place, was visited by a burglar a few days ago. A watch and chain and a quantity of clothing were taken. A young man, whom Mr. Bell had befriended and given some money earlier in the day, is suspected of having been the thief.

Rev. J. H. Fraser, the new pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Mt. Horeb, occupied the pulpit there Sunday. Rev. William Stout has been assigned to the church at Flanders.

Former Town Committeeman John H. Bartle, of Martinsville, has exchanged his farm there for property in Plainfield and has moved to that city.

Miss Anna DuMont, of North Branch Depot, has been a guest for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. James Gaston in Somerville.

Rev. Bergen B. Staats occupied the pulpit of the Reformed church in this place Sunday.

WHITEHOUSE.

Word has been received at Lamington that the postoffice there will be discontinued May 1 next. A majority of the residents of that section now get their mail from the rural free delivery routes at Whitehouse Station and Somerville. Residents on a road not traversed by these carriers object to the doing away with the postoffice, because they will have to go to Bedminster, a distance of three miles, for their mail.

At the recent communion services in the Reformed church at Peapack six new members were received: Oscar Smith, Frederick Snyder, William Roycroft, Mrs. William Roycroft, Miss Hattie Forsythe and Miss Ella Pierson.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Young, of Newark, have been spending a few days with their daughter, Mrs. Andrew J. Shampanore, at Whitehouse Station, before going to Boomsbury, where they expect to make their home.

Clarence Ballentine, of Peapack, who underwent an operation in St. Barnabas' Hospital in Newark six weeks ago for appendicitis, will return to his home today.

The Christian Endeavor meeting in the Reformed chapel at Bedminster Sunday night was led by Mark Osborne. The subject was "Lessons from Patriarchs."

A Feast of Fiction

In This Great One Week's

BOOK SALE.

NEWARK'S biggest and best of Book Stores will be the mecca of book users this week, for we have planned to sell them books of many sorts---especially works of fiction---at prices far below usual cost. . . . . .
A glance at the lists below will reveal some of the good things in store, for there are many others here that we cannot begin to tell of. . . . . .
Mingle with the books. The stock is immense and prices very low indeed. . . . . .

1.08 Books for 39c.

These are the most successful of modern novels—works by the foremost authors—books that have been sold by the hundreds of thousands at $1.08. We now reproduce them, in many cases using the same sheets, with complete illustrations that were used in the $1.08 books, and bind them a little differently, often improving on the original designs.

These splendid books are offered this week at Thirty-nine Cents.

The titles embrace probably three hundred works of fiction, a portion of which we name:

In the Bishop's Carriage, Richard Carvel, People of the Abyss, Prisoners of Hope, To Have and to Hold, Ashes of Empire, A Man's Woman, A Great Love, The Secret Orchard, A Tory Lover, Caleb West, The Luck of Roaring Camp, Fables in Slang, The Choir Invisible, A Chicago Princess, The Little Minister (Fine Illustrated Edition), Senator North, The Conqueror, Checkers, Eben Holden, Soldiers of Fortune, The Lion and the Unicorn, The Heart of Rome, Via Crucis, The Master Christian, In the Palace of the King, The Celebrity, The Crisis, The Pride of Jennico, Young April, The Making of a Marchioness, The Christian, The Eternal City, The Prisoner of Zenda, The Hound of the Baskervilles, Janice Meredith, The Honorable Peter Stirling, If I Were King, Mr. Dooley in Peace and War, The Cardinal's Snuff Box, Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall, Brewster's Millions, Castle Craneycrow, Graustark, Barlasch of the Guard, The Mississippi Bubble, The Price of Freedom, Rupert of Hentzau.

DIAMOND DUST.

Walter Nelson, of New Market, catching for Rutgers College team against Wesleyan at Middletown, Conn., on Saturday, is credited with doing fine work. Rutgers lost by a score of 1 to 0.

Hal. Chase has reported to the Highlanders and there is great rejoicing. He played baseball all winter in California and is in fine condition.

The daily bulletin showing the final results of the big league baseball games, which are posted in front of The Daily Press office, is popular with the local fans, who are able to learn the scores in advance of the sporting extras.

From now until the opening of the amateur league on May 11, the Y. M. C. A. and Clinton Avenues will be busy putting Crescent Oval in shape for the opening game. The league officials will meet soon to perfect plans for the opening and announcement of players.

Little too cool yet to sit on the bleachers and watch a game of baseball. The amateur league officials made no mistake in postponing the opening until May.

There is a persistent rumor that "Red" Waller will pitch for Westfield this season and that "Paddy" Cotter will catch.

A Westfield team without George Mallen would be a disappointment to the fans in that town. It would be like lemonade with the lemon left out.

George Allen will undoubtedly catch for the Washington, Pa., team, of the P. O. M., League, this season.

Manager Hawk, of the Bound Brook team, is reported to have signed a couple of fast players for infield positions.

East Millstone will again be represented on the diamond this year with a fast team. Manager Remsen is now looking for a good battery.

GOLF.

The curtain will rise this week on the first act of an almost continuous performance of open golf tournaments in the metropolitan district. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Garden City Golf Club will hold its spring meeting, which is somewhat earlier this year than usual.

The Women's Golf Association of Boston has arranged for a series of team matches on Wednesdays. Tomorrow the first of those contests will take place over the links of the Wollaston Golf Club. A good attendance is practically assured at these matches, for points are scored for being present and for being on the winning side, as well as for winning matches.

Apropos of the woman, it is evident that, over Boston way, a certain twinge of regret is felt at the action of the executive committee of the Women's Eastern Golf Association in awarding the next tournament to Atlantic City.

The spring schedule of the Essex County Country Club has been announced, calling for a series of competitions from May 4 to June 30. On the first named date there will be an eighteen hole medal play handicap, best four net scores to qualify for cup presented by William Runkle. One of the attractions on May 11 will be a team match with Baltusrol over the West Orange course.

Although the date for the amateur championship tournament of the United States Golf Association is several months away, a number of New Yorkers are planning to make the trip in automobiles. Garry B. Adams, who is a member of both the Baltusrol and Fox Hills clubs, is going to take several in his machine. Among those mentioned are "Sport" Lowery and J. A. Jaslin.

The end of the present week will find Princeton golfers in full swing. A start will be made in a competitive way tomorrow, when the university team will play a match with the Lawrenceville school over the latter's links. On April 24 Princeton will play another match at the Lakewood Country Club, while on May 8 the collegians will play at home with the representatives of the Philadelphia Country Club.

Plainfield, N. J., April 16, 1907.

PLAINFIELD'S POPULATION.

If the figures of the United States Bureau of Statistics are to be relied upon, Plainfield's population is now nearing the 20,000 mark. A bulletin issued by that department places the population in 1906 at 19,088, which was 620 more than in 1905, according to the official census compiled in that year. Two years ago, the number of inhabitants was 18,468 and if the proportionate increase is the same in 1907 as it was in 1906, and there is every reason to suppose that it will be, when 1908 is ushered in there will be at least 19,608 inhabitants in the city proper.

The growth of North Plainfield has been relatively slower, however, and it is not likely that the borough will be able to show an increase of more than 200 in the two years. In 1905, it had 5,616 poulation, and when the new year arrives it is probable that the total will be about 5,800. But even at this, the total population of the two Plainfields will be approximately 26,500.

The population in other cities, as given out officially, are:

Atlantic City, 39,544; Bayonne, 44,170; Bloomfield, 12,068; Bridgeton, 13,862; Camden, 84,849; East Orange, 25,909; Elizabeth, 62,185; Hackensack, 11,429; Harrison, 13,268; Hoboken, 66,689; Jersey City, 237,952; Kearny, 14,142; Long Branch, 12,525; Millville, 12,144; Montclair, 16,851; Morristown, 12,322; New Brunswick, 23,758; Newark, 289,634; Orange, 26,493; Passaic, 39,799; Paterson, 112,801; Perth Amboy, 27,534; Phillipsburg, 13,712; Trenton, 86,355; Union, 17,369; West Hoboken, 30,280.

COLORED COMMANDERY IN ANNUAL CONCLAVE.

The annual conclave of St. Calvary Grand Commandery, K. T., colored, State of New Jersey, was held in the rooms of Cypress Commandery on West Front street, last night. Grand Commander Eugene Phillips and staff, of New York State, together with representatives from all parts of New Jersey, were present.

These officers were elected: Rt. Eminent Grand Commander, William Jones, Plainfield; deputy grand commander, William Horn, Trenton; generalissimo, Arthur Venable, Plainfield; captain general, William Wright, Newark; recorder, James Connett, Plainfield; treasurer, Past Grand Commander William Douglass, Plainfield.

After the election an adjournment was taken to Mrs. Scott's restaurant on Madison avenue, where a banquet was served by Cypress Commandery, of this city.

District Court.

The landlord and tenant case of John Alston against John Lansiter, both colored, was the only one contested in the District Court this morning. The case hinged on the construction of the lease to a house on East Third street, near Richmond street. Judge Newcorn decided the lease, which was drawn by Alston himself, gave Lansiter a year more of tenancy. Harry C. Runyon appeared for Lansiter. The tangle in the case of Samuel Ballsum, who sued under the name of Louis Ballsum and called in supplementary proceedings, refused to appear on the ground that he was not the defendant named, was straightened out. Under order of the court new proceedings, with the right name, were carried through.

WILSON GETS CONTRACT.

Underbids Watchung Co. for Furnishing Crushed Stone.

At a special meeting in the Council chamber, last night, the borough Councilmen received new bids for the furnishing of crushed stone for street work and awarded the contract to J. Y. Wilson. The only other firm which entered a bid was the Watchung Stone Company, which protested against the awarding of any contract two weeks ago, because of alleged irregularities in the method of receiving the first bids. In some instances, Wilson's bid was fifteen and twenty cents a ton below that of the Watchung company.

The Watchung company is the recently organized concern which has planned to conduct a quarry on the mountain above Grove street. It presented bids for furnishing stone when the borough first called for them three weeks ago but at the time set for awarding the contract, asserted that the procedure was being conducted illegally. The Councilmen agreed that their method of awarding contracts was not in strict accordance with the law and accordingly rejected all bids and called for new ones.

May Choose Outsider for Chairman.

The Union County Republican Committee at its regular meeting in Elizabeth, last night, adopted the new by-laws, the most important feature of which is that a person who is not a member of the committee may be elected chairman. This caused considerable discussion and at first there was much opposition to it until it was explained by the advocates of the change. The other business was of a routine nature.

Endorse Action of Peace Congress.

The Plainfield branch of the Baraca Union of America has sent a Peace Congress, now in session in New York, expressing its appreciation letter to Andrew Carnegie, president of the National Arbitration and Peace Congress in the interest of world's peace. The communication is signed by the president, Gilbert VanNest.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Phillips, of West Front street, have returned from a visit with relatives in Brooklyn.

W. M. Whitelaw, of New York city, has become associated with Elston M. French in the real estate business and has taken up his residence at 122 East Fifth street. Mr. Whitelaw will be connected with both the Plainfield and New York offices. He has had an extensive and varied experience in real estate business.

PLAINFIELD

THURSDAY, APRIL 18

HOURS 9.00 A. M. UNTIL 5.00 P. M.

Your eyes will be examined by THE DAMMERS SCIENTIFIC METHOD, Positively the only absolutely correct way to fit glasses. CONSULTATION FREE.

(NO DROPS USED.) Those who have been examined for GLASSES by men who claim to examine your eyes by the old, incorrect way, which is done by everyone who supplies glasses but us, will be agreeably surprised by our scientific and wonderful methods of fitting glasses.

We correct your eye defects by looking in the eyes, taking the exact scientific measurements of the focus and shape of the eyes.

NO QUESTIONS ASKED, no trying glasses on your face, until we have determined your exact optical error.

The old tedious, and tiresome way of trying to fit glasses is either putting drops in the eyes, which often causes BLINDNESS, or by trying on a lot of glasses, and asking you "Can you see these letters?" or "Do these glasses make you see better?"

After your Optician does a lot of guessing, and has your eyes all out of shape, you think you have been examined.

Think this over, and you can readily see that you have been doing your own examining, and that is no doubt the reason you have had trouble to get glasses correct.

We have produced astonishing results from brain fag, nervous debility, insomnia, dizziness, nausea, WATERY EYES, blurry vision, and other troubles caused by EYE STRAIN. We have corrected by the use of glasses cross eyes and Astigmatism by our scientific methods.

Our position in Newark, N. J., and Providence, R. I., as the LEADING OPTICAL EXPERTS is proof of the high confidence in our responsibility, and the reliability of our representations.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The many friends of St. Mary's church, Stony Hill, will no doubt turn out in force at the three days' fair which opens tomorrow night in Excelsior Hall. The little church celebrates its sixtieth anniversary next month and in order to make the event what it should be the members decided to hold the fair in order to raise the necessary funds. The hall is easy of access for out of town people and there is no doubt but what many of the former parishioners as well as friends will take advantage of this and attend the opening or at least one of the three nights the fair is run.

The local ball team is only waiting and watching for a nice day Saturday. The grounds are ready and weather permitting, the familiar cry of "play ball" will be heard at 3 o'clock, the visiting team being the Potters.

Principal Daniel T. Hendrickson, who h as been detained at his home at Port Monmouth for two weeks with an attack of the grip, has recovered and is once more able to be at his desk again.

The Steele fire at Alton early yesterday morning was plainly seen from here. The whistle at the fur mill sounded an alarm but neither of the local companies turned out.

Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company held its monthly meeting last night in the company rooms. Only the regular routine fire business was transacted.

George Romberg and family have removed from the Hetfield house on Front street to the Frazer cottage on Bartle avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harper, of Front street, have been entertaining relatives from out of town.

Miss Cora Miller has returned from a visit of several days with out of town friends.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will initiate a number of candidates at its meeting on Thursday night. This council is now nearing the 350 mark in membership.

Charles Messersmith Weds.

Miss Nettie B. Haffner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haffner, formerly of this city, and Charles Messersmith, also a former resident, but now of New Brunswick, were married last night by Rev. Charles E. Herring at his home on Watchung avenue. The couple was attended by Miss Ida Branch Jeter, William Messersmith and A. S. Martin. An informal reception followed. Mr. and Mrs. Messersmith will reside in New Brunswick, where the groom is employed.

He Wanted a Gun.

Word came to police headquarters last night, shortly before 8 o'clock, that one George Wood, under the influence of liquor, was trying to buy a revolver on North avenue. Patrolman Saffron nabbed Wood and took him to the station house. Wood said he wanted a gun to get square with a man who had insulted him in the Hotel Kensington. It cost him $5 to get away from the city court this morning.

TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

1867, to April, 1871; Rev. Dr. Darwin E. Maxson from October, 1871, to August, 1879. Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, now editor of The Sabbath Recorder, became pastor in April, 1880, and continued as such until October, 1896, when he accepted his present position and was succeeded by Rev. Dr. A. E. Main, who served as pastor from October, 1896, to October, 1901, when he accepted the position of dean at Alfred University. Rev. George B. Shaw, the present pastor, was then called from the Seventh-Day Baptist church, New York, and he has served as pastor from April, 1902, to the present time.

While the church has not had a phenomenal growth, it has been steady and today the membership is over 400. The present edifice is hardly large enough for the congregation, it frequently being difficult to seat all those desiring to attend the services. All the departments of the church, including the Sabbath-school and various societies have had a substantial growth and as reported at the annual meeting is in a most satisfactory condition spiritually and financially.

Thieves In South Plainfield.

Report of a robbery in South Plainfield was made to Chief Kiely this morning by Mrs. Brick, of that village. She said thieves broke into her house shortly after midnight last night and took $71 from her husband's trunk. Mr. Brick is sick abed The chief believes the theft to have been committed by peddlers who saw her take money from the trunk.

Received Coal Bids.

Bids for coal and supplies were received by the Board of Education, last night. The coal bidders were C. T. Rogers & Co., V. W. Nash, McDonough Bros., Consumers' Coal Company and Keely Coal Company. The average bid for the larger sizes were $5.47, $5.60 and $5.65. All bids were referred to the Committee on Fuel and Supplies.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Although this is only Ben Greet's fifth year in America, his company has already proven itself a veritable recruiting ground for American managers. Mr. Greet is a wonderful trainer of dramatic talent—just as was the ate Augustin Daly. Every leading theatre in London has from one to a dozen former members of Ben Greet's Shakespearean company in its cast, and this season in America there are four ex-members of the Agnes Scott, One of Ben Greet's Players, at New Plainfield Theatre Tonight.

Greet organization in Annie Russell's company, three in Richard Mansfield's company, three in Madame Modjeska's company, two in Viola Allen's company, one in David Warfield's company, one each with William Hawtrey, Roselle Knotte, Mrs. Leslie Carter, while four are stars at the head of their own companies—Harry B. Irving, Dorothea Baird, Robert Loraine and Katie Barry. The Ben Greet players will present "The Merchant of Venice" at the New Plainfield theatre tonight.

Eugenie Blair is to be seen in "The Woman in the Case," the most talked of play that has been produced in many years, at the New Plainfield theatre Thursday night, surrounded by a great cast and a production such as is always assured with the Wagenhals and Kemper enterprises. The play is considered the greatest work of the famous dramatist, Clyde Fitch, who wrote "The Climbers," "Nathan Hale," "Beau Brummel," "Her Own Way," and numerous other popular successes. The plot of "The Woman in the Case" concerns society life in New York at the present time with a thrillingly dramatic story as a background to throw into relief. Mr. Fitch has made all his characters very real and involved them in vital situations which appeal with equal force to the gallery patrons as they do to those of the orchestra seats. Although it has many sensational features, "The Woman in the Case" appeals to the heart, and awakens the noblest and most wholesome of human emotions. Its record of six engagements in New York is an evidence of the hold it has on the popular taste.

The secret of the tremendous success of "The Man on the Box," in which Max Figman and his company will appear at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night, is its great heart interest. It is a comedy true, but also reveals a little romance that reaches deep into the hearts of the audience and arouses a lasting bond of sympathy. The laughter is frequent, genuine and spontaneous but there is always something back of it and when the auditor leaves the theatre he's always "glad it ended that way" because "he was a fine fellow, don't you know," and "I never would have been contented if that Russian had married the girl"—"But didn't he have his nerve," though, "I never could have done it." Such are the expressions night after night and all because the hero reached the heart. Whether it be in comedy or tragedy, romance or drama, the heart interest must be there to achieve enduring success. Mr. Figman brings with him a splendid supporting company and a complete production, even down to the draperies and furniture.

Brookside Sanitarium, Somerset street, is the place for Plainfielders desirous of getting a Turkish bath.

Promptness, care and intelligence always mark the execution of every commission entrusted to A. E. Hoagland, expressman, of Park avenue.

Artists will find a desirable line of art materials and pictures at the Plainfield Art Store in the Y. M. C. A. building, J. W. Brady, proprietor.

H. K. Lister, of North avenue, carries a large stock of Edison's phonographs and Victor talking-machines; also the latest records for each machine.

William Hand & Sons, of East Second street, conduct a general trucking business and all orders left in their charge will be promptly attended to and at reasonable prices.

At A. M. Griffen's hardware store you will find a complete line of garden and farming implements, of the best make, lowest prices; also a general line of hardware and housefurnishings.

Mary A. Brown's dyeing and cleaning establishment, West Second street, has a well-won reputation for expert and satisfying service. Work left there is always done as the customer would have.

There is no better place for shopping than S. C. Peck's store, West Front street. The stock is ever-delightful, and ever-attractive. Also, it is always cheaper, values considered, than any other place in the city.

Better butter, milk or cream than are sold by Marchant Brothers, Watchung avenue, cannot be bought anywhere. Better, as a matter of fact, cannot be made. And all the milk is pasteurized and comes to you free of germs.

Has the young man of today any opportunity to make himself independent? Yes, if he will save. Start an account in the Plainfield Trust Company, let it grow, let the interest accumulate and make yourself ready for the opportunity when it comes.

The Woodhull & Martin Company is offering exceptional bargains these days in spring and summer goods of every variety. The housefurnishing department is very attractive and housekeepers will find many things there needful in refurnishing. The women will also be interested in the handsome line of dress goods suitable for all kinds of occasions, and the men will find just what they want in the department reserved for men's furnishings.

CRANFORD THOROUGHFARE BLOCKED BY BIG SIGNS.

Fashionable Section of the Town Stirred Up By the Placing of the Obstructions.

Cranford, April 16.—The residents of the fashionable Roosevelt manor section of this town were surprised Saturday when, on returning to their homes, they were confronted with two large board signs in the middle of Clermont place. The signs bore this notice:

"This street private, no thoroughfare."

The residents of Clermont place, from Union avenue to Prospect, were obliged to leave their carriages at Union avenue and Clermont place and walk to their homes, as the signs blocked the street. Protests were made to the Township Committee. The members of the Committee investigated the matter and were informed by James W. Ferguson, a real estate agent, that he had placed the signs in the street by order of his client, J. Walter Thompson, who formerly owned the abutting property on the street.

The Committee, in response to the complaints, issued an order to Superintendent of Street Charles Nick, to remove the signs, and notified the police to arrest any one placing any obstructions in the street. It is said the street has been dedicated, but never accepted by the Township, and the trouble is the outcome of various attempts to lay a sidewalk along the property of Mr. Ferguson.

Mr. Ferguson has been unable to secure satisfactory terms for the necessary land. The Township Committee proposes to settle the controversy, if negotiations fail, by applying to the courts to appoint a commission to condemn the land necessary for street and sidewalk purposes. Clermont place has been in use since 1892.

J. J. H. Pollfon, of Putnam avenue, has moved to New York, where he will make his home in the future.

He was angry through and through, not so much at my bluntness as at my having seen into his plot to help himself at my expense—for, not even when I showed it to him, could he see that it was to his interest to destroy Goodrich. Moral coward that he was, the course of conciliation always appealed to him, whether it was wise or not, and the course of courage always frightened him. He bit his lip and dissembled his anger. Presently he began to pace up and down the room, his head bent, his hands clasped behind him. After perhaps five minutes he paused to say: "You insist on taking the place yourself, Harvey?"

I stood before him and looked down at him. "Your suspicion that I have also a personal reason is well-founded, James," said I. "I wouldn't put myself in a position where I should have to ask as a favor what I now get as a right. If I help you to the presidency, I must be master of the national machine of the party, able to use it with all its power and against any one—" here I looked him straight in the eye—"who shall try to build himself up at my expense. Personally, we are friends, and it has been a pleasure to me to help elevate a man I liked. But there is no friendship in affairs, except where friendship and interest point the same way. It is strange that a man of your experience should expect friendship from me at a time when you are showing that you haven't for me even the friendship of enlightened self-interest."

"Your practice is better than your theory, Harvey," said he putting on an injured, forgiving look and using his chest tones. "A better friend never lived than you, and I know no other man who gets the absolute loyalty you get." He looked at me earnestly. "What has changed you?" he asked. "Why are you so bitter and so—so unlike your even-tempered self?"

I waved his question aside—I had no mind to show him my uncovered coffin with its tenant who only slept, or to expose to him the feelings which the erect and fearless figure of Scarborough had set to stirring in me. "I'm careful to choose my friends from among those who can serve me and whom I can therefore serve," I said. "And that is the sentimentalism of the wise. I wish us to remain friends—therefore, I must be able to be as useful to you as you can be useful to me."

"Goodrich shall go," was the upshot of his thinking. "I'll telephone him this afternoon. Is my old friend satisfied?"

"You have done what was best for yourself," said I, with wholly good-humored raillery. And we shook hands, and I went.

I was glad to be alone where I could give way to my weariness and disgust; for I had lost all the joy of the combat. The arena of ambition had now become to me a ring where men are devoured by the beast in man after hideous battles. I turned from it, heart-sick. "If only I had less intelligence less insight," I thought "so that I could cheat myself as Burbank cheats himself. Or, if I had the relentlessness or the supreme egotism, or whatever it is, that enables great men to trample without a qualm, to destroy without pity, to enjoy without remorse."

CHAPTER XXI.

An Interlude.

My nerves began to feel as if some one were gently sliding his finger along their bared length—not a pain, but as fear-inspiring as the sound of the stealthy creep of the assassin moving up behind to strike a sudden and mortal blow. I dismissed business and politics and went cruising on the lakes with restful, non-political Fred Sandys.

After we had been knocking about perhaps a week, we landed one noon at the private pier of the Liscombes to lunch with them. As Sandys and I strolled toward the front of the house, several people, also guests for lunch, were just descending from a long buckboard. At sight of one of them I stopped short inside. Though I mechanically continued to walk toward her. I recognized her instantly—the curve of her shoulders, the poise of her head, and her waving jet-black hair to confirm. And without the slightest warning there came tumbling and roaring up to me a torrent of longings, regrets; and I suddenly had a clear understanding of my absorption in this wretched game I had been playing year in and year out, with hardly a glance from the table. That wretched game with its counterfeit stakes; and the more a man wins, the poorer he is.

She seemed calm enough as she faced me. Indeed, I was not sure when she had first caught sight of me, or whether she had recognized me, until Mrs. Liscombe began to introduce us. "Oh, yes," she then interrupted, "I remember Senator Sayler very well. We used to live in the same town. We went to the same school." And with a friendly smile she gave me her hand.

What did I say? I do not know. But I am sure I gave no sign of the clamor within. I had not cultivated surface-calm all those years in vain. I talked, and she talked—but I saw only her face, splendid fulfillment of the promise of girlhood; I hardly heard her words, so greatly was her voice moving me. It was an unusually deep voice for a woman, sweet and with a curious carrying quality that made it seem stronger than it was. In figure she was delicate, and radiant of life and health—aglow, not ablaze. She was neither tall nor short, and was dressed simply, but in the fashion—I heard the other women discussing her clothes after she left. And she still had the mannerism that was most fascinating to me—she kept her eyes down while she was talking or listening, and raised them now and then with a full, slow look at you.

When Mrs. Liscombe asked her to come to dinner the next evening with the people she was visiting, she said: "Unfortunately, I must start for Washington in the morning. I am overhauling my school and building an addition."

It had not occurred to me to think where she had come from or how she happened to be there, or of anything in the years since I was last with her. The reminder that she had a school came as a shock—she was so utterly unlike my notion of the head of a school. I think she saw or felt what was in my mind, for she went on, to me: "I've had it six years now—the next will be the seventh."

"Do you like it?" I asked.

"Don't I look like a happy woman?"

"You do," said I, after our eyes had met. "You are."

"There were 60 girls last year—63," she went on. "Next year there will be more—about a hundred. It's like a garden, and I'm the gardener, busy from morning till night, with no time to think of anything but my plants and flowers."

The Men's Association, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will meet at the church Thursday night.

The annual offering for the Old Folks' Home at Roseville will be received in the First Baptist church on Sunday.

"The Teacher Behind the Lesson" will be the subject of the prayer-meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow night.

The Holy Name Society of St. Mary's church will elect officers on Sunday, May 12. The meeting was postponed from last Sunday.

William D. Murray will give an illustrated lecture at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow night on the subject of "India."

The Boys' Mission Band of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will meet in the chapel Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The subject will be "Siam."

Commencing May 1 the First M. E. church will abolish the pew-rent system and depend entirely on the free-will offerings for the support of the church, which is now free from debt.

The Sunshine Mission Band of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will meet in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The members will pack a box for the Indian children.

Under the auspices of the women of St. Stephen's church an entertainment will be held in the parish house Wednesday night, May 8. Supper and dancing will be enjoyed after the entertainment.

The Sunday-school of the First M. E. church has elected these officers for the coming year: Superintendent, James R. Joy; secretary, Arthur Humble; treasurer, Arthur E. Crone; librarian, Alden Miller. The missionary society of the school has elected E. E. Main, superintendent; Samuel Bingaman, vice-president; Arthur E. Crone, secretary and treasurer. The annual excursion of the school to Asbury Park will be held on July 5, and the schools of the Monroe Avenue and Grace M. E. churches of this city, and M. E. church, Dunellen, will join in the outing. Samuel Bingaman is the chairman of the local committee.

GLORIFIER BEAT ROSEBEN IN CARTER HANDICAP.

First to the Post and Won $10,000 Stake at Aqueduct Track.

While some fifteen thousand racegoers stood on their feet and gave vent to their pent up feelings of five months with a mighty roar, Jimmy McCormicks Glorifier beat the mighty Roseben, Don Diego and thirteen other horses in the Carter Handicap at Aqueduct yesterday. Glorifier, the five-year-old son of Hastings, took up 119 pounds and won by a full length, while Roseben, coming with a belated rush, beat August Belmont's Don Diego a head for the place.

OBITUARY.

Ephriam B. Hedden.

Following an illness of several weeks with diabetes and complications, Ephriam B. Hedden died at his home on East Front street at 4 o'clock this morning. He was fifty-nine years old and had lived in Plainfield the greater part of his life, conducting a heating and tinsmithing business. He is survived by a wife and two daughters by a former marriage, Mrs. William B. Duhham, of Dunellen, and Miss Hedden, who lives with her. There are also three brothers, Albert, William and Joel Hedden, the first two residents of the city and the latter in the borough. The funeral will be private.

Presbytery Opens Meeting.

The Elizabeth Presbytery opened its meeting in Rahway this morning. Plainfield churches are represented by Rev. Dr. John Sheridan Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church; Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, and lay delegates. The morning session was devoted to organization and routine matters. A busy afternoon session faces the session.

Ushers Benefit a Success.

The ushers benefit at the New Plainfield theatre last night, was a decided success financially and as a result the staff, together with Assistant Treasurer Texier will receive a satisfactory amount for their effort. The theatre was filled to its capacity and the performance of "Tom, Dick and Harry" was greatly enjoyed.

Theatre Meeting.

Rev. Dr. S. Parks Cadman, of Brooklyn, will speak at a theatre meeting under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon.

Miss Catherine Lynch, of West Fifth street, has returned from a visit with her aunt in Jersey City.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Eells, formerly of this city, but now of Westerly, R. I., are parents of a daughter, born to them recently. Mrs. Eells was Miss Anna Morrison and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morrison, of South avenue.

about $400 being spent on the activities of the twelve month.

In his annual report, President Depew said in part:

"In regard to the soft coal smoke nuisance, a communication regarding same was sent to the Mayor and Common Council on July 21, 1906, and was referred by them to the Public Affairs Committee. We believe that nothing has been done but we have been assured that the subject will receive attention in the near future.

"With respect to the telephone service, investigations covering a period of several months were carried on for the purpose of obtaining data regarding conditions and prices in various cities throughout the United States—such data being necessary as a basis of discussion with representatives of the telephone company. The information obtained demonstrated a charge to subscribers in this city considerably in excess of that made to subscribers in other cities larger than this, despite the fact that the telephone company's claim that an increased number of subscribers necessitates higher charges. The same data showed superior service in other cities. As a result of these, a conference with the company was proper and your sub-committee on Public Service met the officials of the telephone company and the principal points noted were discussed at length, certain substantial reforms being promised. Several minor but important improvements suggested by your committee must necessarily await the completion of the new building but in the meantime great care is being exercised to make the service as satisfactory as possible, a material change having been already observed. Aside from these, the principal subjects of discussion are the reduction of rates generally and the substitution of private for party wires without increase of present charges. Further conferences are shortly to be held at which it is expected a satisfactory conclusion will be reached.

"The unusual advance in the price of ice and the universal feeling that this was caused not by actual necessity led your executive committee to determine that this was a proper subject for the consideration of the association. The Plainfield ice dealers were invited to a conference which was attended by members of the Natural Ice Co. and at which it was made clear to the ice dealers first that the high and increasing prices of ice were not regarded by the community as reasonably justified by the situation and second that the association desired to reach a fair conclusion upon this matter so that neither the consumer should be wronged. It was expressly stated and understood that the association claimed no right to interfere with the private business of the ice companies but desired to act for the good of its subscribers and the community alike.

"With this understanding and it being suggested that the contracts of the Natural Ice Company with the other dealers were believed by consumers to be the immediate cause of the high prices noted, the representatives of the Natural Ice Company denied any such responsibility and at once agreed to exhibit such contracts to the sub-committee having this matter in charge. Despite frequent attempts upon the part of the committee to obtain such inspection and renewed assurance that the same would be granted the said contracts have ever since remained carefully concealed, and a final refusal being based upon unwillingness to reveal the contents of such contracts without the consent of an important New York corporation attorney whose name was, however, refused so that conference with him was rendered impossible. While your committee understood that such conferences were the means of preventing a further rise in prices it was not satisfied with either the attitude taken by the Natural Ice Company, as evidenced in its conferences and correspondence, or with the situation created by that company's monopoly in Plainfield.

"It accordingly began an investigation into the cost of equipping an artificial ice plant and the possibility of operating same on a satisfactory basis, which investigation has not yet been completed owing to the desire of the committee to have a discussion of the subject by the whole association and awaiting information as to what attitude the Natural Ice Company would assume, in view of the very large crop of ice which has been secured this winter. This attitude is best exhibited by the following reply to a letter of inquiry from your secretary to the company:

"The principal subject which has received the attention of your executive committee and of the association has been the service of gas and electricity. This is a problem which has troubled every community for years past and the solution of which necessarily presents many difficulties.

"Soon after the association was formed the propriety of a meeting between the officials of the Public Service Corporation and your executive committee and such meeting was held with President McCarter and other representatives on May 7th. The meeting was a protracted one and the whole subject was carefully discussed and as a result of this discussion a uniform rate of 12 cents per K. W. for electric lighting was made (which rate will be further reduced to 10 cents on January 1 next) as against a rate of 18 cents, 10 per cent. which was being charged, except in the case of those having special contracts. The price of gas was reduced by agreement made then to $1.15 on January 1st last, and will be reduced to $1.00 on January 1, 1909.

"In addition, great improvements were promised in the service and in the matter of complaints which, previously, had been generally disregarded, and the meeting adjourned with the understanding that there should be friendly co-operation between us.

"After giving the company ample time to correct at least a considerable portion of the bad conditions we had an investigation made by an expert and a copy of the report showing the bad conditions as to house lighting and the deplorable conditions as to street lighting, was sent to each member. Immediately after the report was issued the company began an extensive overhauling of their street lights and fixtures with the result that a great improvement has been eected and a further result was an invitation from the Mayor to your committee asking them to meet the Common Council and representative of the P. S. C. for consideration of terms of a new contract with the city. On Friday last your secretary and myself called upon President McCarter, at Newark, by appointment, for a further discussion of conditions and the following is a summary of the result of the conference:

"Improvements have been made or are underway which will cost the company, they state, from $100,000 to $125,000. New switch boards are being installed which, when completed, probably inside of two months, will eliminate the variations of light which have been so annoying and a uniform voltage of 106 will be maintained all over Plainfield and lamps requiring that voltage will be furnished hereafter.

"A suggestion that posters be attached to bills occasionally, calling attention to the necessity of exchanging lamps, will probably be adopted.

"Turning off of current without notice will be investigated and stopped.

"A consumer can have his meter tested by an out-side expert at any time and if found to be registering over 2 per cent. of the way the company will pay the expenses of such test and install new meter.

"Attention was called to the ruthless cutting of trees, as was done in Prospect avenue and same was condemned by Mr. McCarter and proper attention will be given to this in future.

"The discontinuance of special contracts with merchants and other than household consumers was discussed and the statement was made that a uniform rate of 12 cents was not being charged but that these cases were taken up and decided upon their merits.

"In regard to gas it was stated that the gas is now being enriched when necessary to bring it up to a proper standard and that much of the trouble is caused by the pipes and burners being clogged with deposited matter. That the company will be glad to have the pipes cleaned out when requested by the consumer and will furnish, free, Bray burners, which are considered the best in use today."

AID ASSOCIATIONS MERGE

Charity Organization of Plainfield and North Plainfield is Formed.

TRUSTEES ARE NAMED

Body of Fifteen to Conduct Affairs of New Society—Its Objects Outlined.

Following considerable detail work a merger of the Organized Aid Association and the Plainfield Relief Association was effected at a joint meeting of the associations held in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, last night. It was a largely attended meeting and great interest was manifested in the consolidation. The action last night was in reality a ratification of that previously taken by the executive committees of the two associations, when resolutions authorizing the consolidation were adopted.

Dr. Henry M. Maxson, as president of the Organized Aid Association, presided and a meeting of that body was held first. The secretary, William S. Tyler, read the resolution, which was adopted by the executive committee on April 9, and by a majority vote it was adopted by the members. Out of a membership of 154 there were eighty votes cast in favor and none against.

Considerable amusement was occasioned when C. W. McCutchen, whose name was not called by the secretary, remarked that it was not often that he had the opportunity to vote in Union county and he would like to avail himself of it. This led to the discovery that several other names were omitted and after an explanation they were called and the votes recorded. It was stated by Mr. Tyler that in effecting a merger many technical points had arisen and it was the aim of the officers to simplify them as much as possible.

The meeting of the Plainfield Relief Association then followed and at the request of its president, Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, Dr. Maxson continued as the presiding officer. Miss Mabel Pierson was the secretary. The association took exactly the same action as the other organization, and thus by the unanimous adoption of the resolution the consolidation became a fact. The relief association showed a membership of 120. Of course, some names appeared on the membership list of both associations, and this will be straightened out in perfecting details.

The combined officers will now file a certificate of incorporation in the office of the county clerk under the new name, "Charity Organization Society of Plainfield and North Plainfield," after which the fifteen chosen trustees will meet and organize by electing officers. The trustees chosen for the first year are the following:

Henry L. DeForest, Hugh F. Fox, Mrs. Samuel Huntington, Henry M. Maxson, Samuel St. John McCutchen, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, John Doull Miller, Dr. William H. Murray, Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, Miss Mabel Pierson, Mrs. Charles E. Ryder, Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany, William S. Tyer and William G. Wright.

The objects of the association are set forth in the resolution adopted by the executive committee of the two previous associations, which was published in The Daily Press recently. They are identical with those heretofore adopted, the only difference being that it will prevent a lapping of aid given to deserving persons and make possible a stronger organization.

The Plainfield Relief Association was the oldest organization of the two, it now being in its twenty-ninth year. During its existence it has filled a peculiar and efficient place in its efforts to care for the poor of the city and borough. There was such harmony between it and the Organized Aid Association, which was formed about twelve years ago, that one proved a help to the other. Yet notwithstanding the great care exercised there was occasionally an over-lapping of charity and it was this that brought about the merger. Under the new order of things this will be impossible and the newly-formed association will be in a far better position to attend to the needs of those who deserve help.

Selects Provisional Brigade.

Brigadier-General D. F. Collins yesterday received notice that he had been selected by General P. Farmer Wanser to command the provisional brigade which will represent New Jersey at the unveiling of the General George B. McClellan monument at Washington, D. C. The brigade will be made up of the Third Regiment, Second Troop, and Battery B of the National Guard of New Jersey.

The Sesame Club will meet tomorrow morning at the home of Mrs. A. C. Nickerson, No. 768 Kensington avenue.

MR. DE ROSSET WEDS AT SISTER'S HOME

Miss Genevieve Smith and Graham de Rosset, both of New York, were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Andrew McClean Parker, of West Seventh street, by the Rev. Franklin S. Moore, rector of St. Mary's church, Alexandria avenue, New York. The affair was a quiet one, being attended only by the immediate relatives of the couple.

Mrs. Daves, of New York, a cousin of the bride, was matron-of-honor, and Armand de Rosset, brother of the groom, was best man. Miss Adelaide Parker, niece of the groom, was flower girl. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, James Schofield, of East Orange. An informal reception followed the ceremony and later Mr. and Mrs. de Rosset left for North Carolina, where they will visit relatives of the groom prior to making their home in New York. Among the guests were Captain and Mrs. James Parker, of Perth Amboy.

POLITICAL ASPECT OF MORMON CHURCH

MRS. RANDOLPH READS PAPER AT THE WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SESSION.

Letters from the home mission fields, appointment of committees and a paper by Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph on the "Political Aspect of the Mormon Church," were features of the meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society, of the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Reuben Knox, the president, was in the chair.

Mrs. Alexander D. Mallison conducted the devotional exercises, after which interesting letters were read from Miss McLean, of the Hopi Indians in Arizona, and from Mrs. MacMurray, who is in charge of the mission station in Oneida county, Kentucky, in the mountain white district.

Six new life members were added to the society's roll—Mrs. Morris A. Cook, Mrs. Hannah Y. Flanders, Mrs. J. A. Powlison, Miss Jennie Whitney, Mrs. Harold Serrell and Miss Laura J. Runyon. Mrs. Knox announced these committees for the year: Work—Mrs. Harold Serrell, Mrs. J. B. Probasco, Mrs. F. E. Kinsman. Music—Mrs. J. Hervey Buchanan, Mrs. George White, Miss Anna Boice. Programme—Mrs. J. A. Chambliss, Mrs. Hannah Y. Flanders, Miss Jennie Whitney. Barrel and box—Miss Ida Yerkes, Mrs. Alexander Thorn, Mrs. J. A. Powlison. Appraising value of barrels and boxes—Mrs. Walter M. McGee, Mrs. George A. Chapman, Mrs. B. J. Shreve.

The rest of the afternoon was devoted to the reading of a paper by Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, which was full of interesting facts concerning the Mormon church and the political aspect of it. She visited Utah in 1880 and while there gained much knowledge about the Mormons and their religion. She stated that one method to be adopted by the Mormons in furthering the interest of their religion is that of sending two missionaries into every county of every State in the United States.

It was the opinion of Mrs. Randolph that while the Mormons are naturally quiet in their manner of adding converts to the church and spreading the principles of their religion, they are growing stronger and their influence is spreading to all parts of the country. Mrs. Randolph exhibited a Mormon Bible, which she obtained in Utah and this was the object of much interest among the members of the society.

Will Give Two Performances.

The Plainfield Operatic Association has decided to give the comic opera, "Pinafore," two nights, May 2 and 3, at the Casino. The rehearsals are progressing satisfactorily and it has been decided to engage Antone Goeckner, of Elizabeth, to direct the performance. William Holmes will take the leading part, "Sir Joseph Porter." The principals are exceptionally good, and the chorus one of the best yet organized.

Missionary Meeting.

A report on the recent Presbyterial meeting was read by Miss Emily Tracy at the monthly session of the Crescent Avenue church Foreign Missionary Society yesterday afternoon. Miss Harriet Halloway led in the topic, which was on India. Much of interest in connection with the missionary study classes was brought out.

Y.W.C.A. NEEDS $1,000 MORE TO BUY HOME

ASSOCIATION WILL START WITH THREE-HUNDRED MEMBERS.

Final plans for the organization meeting of the proposed Young Women's Christian Association, to be held at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night, are being made today by the provisional committee. The reports from all sub-committees show that much has been accomplished through the earnest efforts of those who have taken the initiative in the movement. The association will start tomorrow night under most favorable auspices.

The membership committee has found in the city over 300 girls and women who have signified a desire to become charter members of the organization and who want to enjoy the privileges of the association classes and Christian influences. Nearly $3,000 of the $4,000 necessary for the purchase of the Dr. Jenkins' property on East Front street, has been raised and the finance committee is anxious to report at the organization meeting that the entire $4,000 has been secured. Subscriptions may be sent to Mrs. Frederick G. Mead.

The organization meeting will be full of interest. Mrs. James Cushman, of New York, vice-president of the National Y. W. C. A., and Miss Eleanor Brownell, general secretary for New York and New Jersey, will greet the Plainfield association as a part of the State work and of the world-wide association. Announcement will be made of the different classes to be formed and good times soon to be enjoyed. The meeting will be open to all.

HIS PLAN TO FOOL THE COURT FAILED

FORGER HEAVILY SENTENCED WHEN JUDGE LEARNS OF HIS SCHEME.

Henry F. Freeman, who pleaded guilty to two charges for forging the name of LeRoy Gibby, of Summit, and who has a record of having served fourteen years in all in different prisons and reformatories throughout the country, was arraigned before Judge Atwater in the Union County Court, this morning.

A few days ago he informed one of the court officers that he was going to get a light sentence and that when he appeared before the Judge he intended to give an exhibition of crying for the purpose of working on the sympathies of the court. This information reached Judge Atwater and when Freeman was called he was given three years in State Prison on each of the two counts, the sentence to run concurrently.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION OVER CALL TO PULPIT.

Rev. C. B. Condit Says He Is Coming to Trinity Reformed Church—Consistory Hasn't Acted.

North Branch, April 17.—Rev. Charles B. Condit, who has been pastor of the Presbyterian church at Liberty Corner, Monmouth county, for the last nine years, has tendered his resignation, which has been accepted by the board of trustees. He will become pastor of Trinity Reformed church, in Newark, to which he has received a unanimous call.

Joseph H. Broemel, a member of the consistory of Trinity Reformed church, of Newark, said yesterday morning that no call had been extended to any clergyman, but that at a congregational meeting in the church last night several names were to be voted upon. He said that no direct call had been extended to Mr. Condit, but that the latter's name, with three or four others, had been presented to the congregation at a recent meeting.

Leslie Thompson was appointed to confer with the candidates and make a report last night. Mr. Broemel said that the names of the candidates will be put before the congregation for approval, and the one receiving the majority of votes will be tendered the call.

Will Give a Matinee.

According to many requests, the management has arranged for a matinee performance of Nat Will's "A Lucky Dog," at the New Plainfield theatre Friday night, April 26. The attraction appears here as a benefit performance for the local firemen.

Bank President Goes Abroad.

Louis Kepler Hyde, president of the City National Bank, accompanied by Mrs. Hyde and their children, Miss Helen Hyde and Louis K. Hyde, Jr., will sail tomorrow on the Augusta Victoria for Europe. They will be abroad an indefinite time.

GETS CONSCIENCE MONEY

Joel Randolph Receives a $100 Bill From a Remorseful Unknown.

ASKS FOR FORGIVENESS

Joel Randolph, a wealthy retired citizen residing on East Front street, was puzzled to receive a $100 bill in his mail this morning. With it came the following letter:

"Enclosed you will find $100. This is principal and interest on about twenty-five or thirty dollars which was a good many years ago. I think that is about the amount. Hope you will forgive me should it be any more. Will you please acknowledge that you got this through the Plainfield paper so I will know you got it. Will not tell you who I am as I am ashamed to. We are both getting old. Say you will forgive me."

The letter was unsigned. It was dated and postmarked Plainfield.

Mr. Randolph says he cannot think of anyone who defrauded him of $25 or $30. Figuring on the basis of the interest, the money must have been secured more than twenty years ago. Mr. Randolph can remember no incident in which he was victimized and is completely at sea to account for the conscience-money.

"I have no idea whatever where this money came from, but as you see it's a genuine yellow back," said Mr. Randolph. "I'm sorry that the man feels so badly over the matter and I want you to say for me that I freely forgive—make that plain."

RED STAR TAVERN BURNED TO GROUND

FIREMEN HELPLESS BECAUSE OF LACK OF WATER.

The Red Star Tavern, on Jerusalem road was burned to the ground, early last night. A passerby saw smoke pouring out of the back window and turned in an alarm, but when the engines arrived the firemen could do nothing but look on.

The tavern is opposite the Westfield Golf Club, and there is no water hydrant in that section. After watching the fire burn for a half hour the firemen returned to their quarters.

The tavern was occupied and run by S. M. Joseph, and the property is owned by Charles Gamgrall. The building was worth $2,000, and the fixtures were valued at $500. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The hotel is located about half way between Scotch Plains and Westfield, and the fire companies of those two places responded to the alarm. The Westfield chemical engine also responded but could do but little more than protect the outbuildings as the hotel itself was a mass of ruins.

WANT TO RAISE $1,000 TOWARDS MEMORIAL FUND.

Elizabeth District of Newark Conference Women's Society to Honor Mrs. Knowles.

The Elizabeth District of the Newark Conference Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, of which Mrs. A. C. McCrea, of this city, is district president, has joined in the movement to build a Bible training school at Kiu Kiang, China, in commemoration of the life and work of Mrs. J. H. Knowles, Newark Conference secretary.

Mrs. Knowles has been secretary in the Conference for twenty-eight years and the members feel that something should be done to show their appreciation of her long and faithful services. It is proposed to erect the school for the training of native Bible women, costing not less than $3,000. Of this sum, the Elizabeth district wishes to raise $1,000. The money must be in the hands of the treasurer by Sept. 20, 1907.

SOMERSET COURT.

Suit Against Ballentine & VanFleet—Grand Jury Still Probing.

The case of Lamereoux against Ballentine & VanFleet, a tort action, was taken up by the Somerset county court this morning. It is on this afternoon.

The grand jury continued its investigation of the alleged irregularities in the vote for Assemblyman in Warren Township. It was said in certain quarters that no indictment would be found. The authority for such statement is unknokn.

WORTHAM'S DEFENCE WAS WORTHLESS

HIS WITNESSES COULDN'T REMEMBER CONVERSATION—JUNKMAN JACKED UP.

Henry Wortham, colored, accused of stealing a bicycle by Charles Hadeway, also colored, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon, sitting as a state magistrate, this morning. He was held for the grand jury in the sum of $200.

Wortham said the wheel Hadeway accused him of stealing was given to him by Cecil Pittis, for whose brother, Dr. A. H. Pittis, he worked. He detailed an alleged conversation with Mr. Pittis to Judge Runyon, and stuck to his story of it after Mr. Pittis, and William Coles, a young colored man whom he said had stood by and heard the talk, denied any recollection of it.

In connection with the case, Louis Levine, a junk dealer, to whom the wheel was sold, was arraigned for not keeping a book in which all his purchases were registered, as required by ordinance. Detective-Sergeant Flynn, tracing the wheel to Levine, discovered his breach of the law and placed him under arrest.

Levine pleaded ignorance of reading or writing as his excuse. He said he had to trust his memory, which he thought was good enough. None of the junk dealers kept books, he declared. Judge Runyon told him the ordinance was specific on that point, and ordered him to start a book. He was reminded that his license was granted with that understanding, and that he was bonded to observe the law. Levine promised to hire a boy who could write, and have a book kept.

WIFE'S TALE BRINGS HIM HEAVY PENALTY

JUDGE SENTENCES DESERTING HUSBAND TWO YERRS IN PRISON.

George Winfield, of Elizabeth, who pleaded guilty last week to a charge of breaking and entering a saloon, was arraigned in the county court this morning for sentence. He would probably have gotten off with a light sentence, if his wife had not interfered.

Mr. Winfield wrote to the court, stating that she understood her husband was in jail, and if true she hoped that he would get the full penalty of the law. He had deserted her and her children over a year ago, she wrote, and had been arrested later for stealing a pair of shoes in New York. Subsequently he called at her mother's home and asked for lodging. She took pity on him and the next morning she discovered that he had walked off with the gas meter.

The letter had its effect for Judge Atwater gave Winfield two years in State Prison.

George Keading's Funeral.

The funeral of George Keading, who died at his home on West Third street, Monday, was held in St. Mary's church this morning, a large gathering of relatives and friends being present. The mass was said by Rev. Father Delehanty. There were a large number of floral tributes, one of them being a set piece from the local Barber's Union. Interment was afterward made in St. Mary's cemetery. Those who carried the casket were Samuel Stranahan, John Nargard, Lewis Himble, Fred Willard, John Powers and William Gaub.

Miss Stewart Weds Today.

Miss Elizabeth Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Stewart, of West Seventh street, and William F. Taliaferro, formerly of Virginia, but now of Plainfield, will be married this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. A reception will follow. After a month's wedding journey the couple will reside at 502 West Seventh street, which property has been purchased by the groom.

Popular Pastor's Reception.

The Ladies' Aid Society and other auxiliaries of the First M. E. church will tender a reception to Rev. and Mrs. A. C. McCrea tomorrow night to mark his being continued by the bishop as their pastor for the coming year. Not only members of the faith but townspeople generally are invited to attend. The reception will be held in Vincent chapel.

Gift for a Library.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Scotch Plains public library, last night, Philip Jahn, head of the Excelsior Fire Company, announced that the company would pay all expenses attendant on the repainting, decorating and carpeting the library rooms, and would pay for new shelving.

COYNE'S HOUSE IS TO BE HIS PRISON

HE MUST STAY IN IT TWO MONTHS OR FACE A STERN JUDGE.

Michael Coyne, an old offender, was arrested last night for helpless drunkenness by Patrolman Charles Flynn. He was upset in court this morning when City Judge Runyon told him his family wanted him put away as a sufferer from alcoholic dementia.

"If you will give me a chance," he pleaded, "I will stay away from town, for a while anyway."

"Can you stay in the house for two months?" asked the magistrate.

"Yes, sir," said Coyne eagerly. He said he could send out for his work. He is a tailor.

"Well," said the judge, "I will postpone this case for two months. If you are seen downtown within that time I will have you brought before me again, and I will dispose of the case as seems best at that time. Remember, Coyne, that this is your chance to win a stay of the disposition favored by your family. If you stay in the house and behave yourself for two months, they may give up the idea that you ought to be put in Morris Plains."

CHOSEN MODERATOR OF LOCAL PRESBYTERY

REV. C. E. HERRING PRESIDED AT ELIZABETH PRESBYTERY' SESSION.

At the session of the Elizabeth Presbytery, held in the Second Presbyterian church at Rahway, yesterday, Rev. Charles E. Herring, of this city, acted as moderator. Fully 100 delegates were in attendance, but the business transacted was purely of a routine nature.

The meeting opened yesterday morning by singing the doxology. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Mason and Rev. Dr. Sym and scripture was read by Rev. Dr. Blouvelt. After a hymn, Rev. W. T. Stuchell, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, moderator, made prayer. This was followed by roll call and the election of Mr. Herring as moderator. Rev. Dr. T. C. Mayham, pastor of the Trinity M. E. church at Rahway, was invited to a seat with the ministers of the Presbytery.

Luncheon was served at noon by the women of the church and the afternoon was devoted to purely routine matters. At the night session, Rev. Charles Stelzle, of the Presbyterian Board, gave an address on "The Relation of the Church in the Labor Movement." Dr. Stelzle has made an exhaustive study of the subject and delivered the address in this city early in the winter.

GOVERNOR STOKES SIGNS SOME INSURANCE BILLS.

Also Approves Two Measures Directed Against Monopolies and Trusts.

Trenton, N. J., April 17.—Radical changes were made in the insurance laws of the State as a result of the report to the recent Legislature by the special commission which last summer investigated conditions under which insurance companies do business in New Jersey.

A series of bills introduced at the instance of this commission went through both the Senate and the House without opposition and yesterday Governor Stokes signed them.

The Governor also signed yesterday two "trust-busting" measures. Senate joint resolution No. 1, introduced by Senator Minturn, of Hudson, provides for the appointment of three Senators and three Assemblymen to investigate the increasing cost of ice, coal and other necessities of life, popularly believed to have been brought about by the monopolies created under the corporation laws of this State.

Senate joint resolution No. 2, by Mr. Robbins, of Burlington, provides for the appointment by the Governor of five commissioners to inquire into the increase in the cost of stone road building in this State, also to report to the next Legislature on the advisability of State ownership of quarries for the production of road stone.

Heffernan Will Case Adjourned.

The Heffernan will case, which was set down for today at Elizabeth, was adjourned for one week to allow the counsel for the contestant, Edward Nugent, to further prepare his defense. Thomas Heffernan, a brother of the late Michael Heffernan, is contesting the latter's will. He was left $1, but it is argued that after all expenses are paid and a tombstone, which was provided for in the will, is erected, there will be practically nothing left. Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., represents the executor, Joseph Harrigan.

HIS DISASSOCIATED EGO

Psychopathic Defense of Geo. H. Parker, in the City Court.

AGAIN CHARGES Mc CUE

Gets No Satisfaction Out of That, and Fails In His Medico-Legal Plea For Leniency—Fined Ten Dollars.

George H. Parker, the man whom the former patrol-wagon driver, Thomas O'Gorman, assaulted in his cell, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning to answer for his disorderly conduct the day of his arrest. He was fined $10 or twenty days in jail.

Policeman Charles Flynn, who arrested Parker, testified that he was disorderly on the street, cursing violently and in a tone that reached passersby. William Townsend, secretary of the Union County Tax Board, testified to seeing Parker pick up a stone or some other object from the gutter and hurl it through the door of Lafferty's saloon. Before that, Mr. Townsend testified, Parker went up to the door and tried to smash the glass with his fist and his elbow.

Parker pleaded for leniency on the grounds that he was not himself when he committed the disorder and that he had suffered much, mentally, physically and financially for his "indiscretion." He said the row in the saloon started because he objected to slighting reference to women, and reached an acute stage because there was an old grudge between him and John Sullivan, the barkeeper. He said he didn't intend to break the window, but acknowledged that he wanted to hit Sullivan with the missile.

Doorman Thomas McCue testified that Parker was the most disorderly prisoner he had ever seen brought into the station house.

"Didn't you, Officer McCue," come into the cell and hit me with a club?" asked Parker.

"I did not," said the aged policeman.

"You are under oath now, and you understand the nature of an oath?" challenged the prisoner. "Did you, in the presence of Almighty God, swear you did not hit me? I know you said so once before."

"And I say so now," said the old man sturdily.

"I'll leave you to God," said the prisoner piously.

"I hope to be with Him," retorted McCue.

Parker pleaded earnestly for leniency, with a wealth of psycopathic allusion. He held that it was not himself, but an abnormal creature created by drink that heaved the stone and put up high jinks. He, the real Parker, detested profanity and had often protested against its use by others. He was well aware that "In vino veritas," but observation and mature reflection had convinced him that true lapses of memory, of such a nature as to constitute a complete disassociation of the ego from mental control, would occur.

Judge Runyon said he would take the prisoner's sufferings into consideration, but his very appeal proved that he was a man who should have known better than to fall as he did. A man with fewer advantages might be pardoned for going on a rampage, but it was expected of other citizens that their conduct be nearer society's standard of moral ethics. The court cut into another plea from Parker to impose the fine.

SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY.

Friends Join in Celebrating Mr. Force's Sixty-first Birthday.

Desiring to wish him many happy returns of the day, friends, including some life-long ones, surprised A. L. Force, editor and proprietor of The Daily Press, at his residence in Duer street, last night. Mr. Force had spent the day by serving his county as a grand juror, and when night came he was completely surprised by the sudden appearance of friends who joined in celebrating his entrance upon his sixty-second year.

The evening was enjoyably spent in playing "flinch," refreshments being served at the conclusion of the games. A large birthday cake, surmounted by seven lighted candles, was cut and served to his guests by the veteran newspaper man. Mr. Force received a number of handsome presents as well as an unique one.

Mr. Colby's Plans.

Senator and Mrs. Everett Colby, of Orange, who anticipated a trip abroad this summer, have decided not to go, but instead will spend sometime at Hot Springs. Mrs. Colby, who has been seriously ill, is much improved.

GAS TALK No. 8

And eight reasons why no home is complete without gas.
It lights the house.
It cooks the meals.
It heats the water.
It makes ironing easy.
It makes the house cheerful.
It does away with coal dirt and ashes.
It makes housework easy.
And brings comfort to every member of the family. Send for the Gas Man.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. O'Donnell, formerly of this city, but now of Newark, are spending a few days in town with relatives. Mr. O'Donnell is now pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, Newark.

Bingham Bill a Law.

New York, April 17.—Governor Hughes signed the Bingham Police bill at six o'clock last night. The measure which became a law upon the attachment of his signature abolishes the present Detective Bureau and at the same time terminates the official lives of the nineteen inspectors now in the department. Police Commissioner Bingham has prepared a list of nineteen captains whom he is designating to act as inspectors and one hundred men to form the basis of the new Central Office.

Mothers' Association Annual Meeting

A meeting of the Plainfield Mothers' Association will be held at the High School on Friday, April 19, at 3:30. This will be the annual meeting. Following the business session an informal reception will be held at 4:30, at which all mothers and those interested in children will be welcome. The teachers of Plainfield have been specially asked to be present.

—There will be a rehearsal of "The Peasant Prince," by William E. MacClymont, at the New Plainfield theatre, tonight. The cast will comprise local talent and will be given under Mr. MacClymont's direction.

—Amateur theatricals for the benefit of The Day Nursery will be held at Truell Court, tomorrow night, when two plays will be presented, "The Sleeping Car," and "The Mousetrap," by William Dean Howells. There will also be a musical and literary programme.

The annual meeting of the Congregational church will be held in the church tonight at 8 o'clock. Prior to the meeting the women of the church will serve supper to the members of the church and congregation.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

When such a well informed golfer as Leighton Calkins, who is a member of the executive committee of the United States Golf Association, places himself on record with the statement, "No one doubts that the rules of golf are found wanting," it becomes evident that the present agitation is having its effect. Mr. Calkins does not, however, advocate an immediate rearrangement of the old code. On the other hand, he remarks in another part of an article which appears under his signature in "The Golfers' Magazine," as follows:

"Do we want an American set of rules or an American code at all? It seems to me this question must be answered in the negative. We do not want it. We may have it some day, but certainly we do not want it. Only as a last resort should a code of rules be adopted in this country, or in any other country, in opposition to the existing rules. There is danger that the game will fall into a chaotic state of disorder if different countries, associations or localities start in to acquire the habit of making rules for themselves.

"Yet this first serious attempt to recast the rules of golf is distinctly a service of value. The time may come when our national organization will feel that this matter must receive official attention, and preliminary missionary work of this kind will prove of great value later on if we are ever forced to legislate for ourselves. Every one must welcome suggestions made in the spirit in which Mr. Jermain presents his views. I wish we might have a dozen such codes drawn with equal care and intelligence. They would furnish splendid material for future use.

"But more important than any immediate amending of the rules is the need of approaching the whole subject in such a way as to place the responsibility for separate American legislation, if ever we come to that, squarely where it belongs. We shall make no mistake in the long run if we err now on the side of conservatism and patience. American golf has already attained a prominence which is hardly exceeded by its ancestor, and which unquestionably is entitled to be heard. But the orderly way to proceed, it seems to me, is in the direction of securing recognition, and if it is denied us with finality the responsibility will not be ours if we are forced to legislate for ourselves. We have never believed in government without representation."

A number of remarkably low scores were made by professionals during the last few months in the South. Fred McLeod is credited with a 36—30—66 over the links of the San Antonio Golf and Country Club, while Willie Anderson made new nine, eighteen and thirty-six hole records at St. Augustine. He had a 32—a new nine hole mark—and this was followed by a 35, giving him a record of 67 for the eighteen holes. He had 67—71—138, which broke all thirty-six hole marks. Chris Crosby made a 68 on the Piedmont Driving Club links, and Tom McNamara returned a 33 at Houston. Both of these last named "pros" are homebreds.

DIAMOND DUST.

It is estimated that the yearly cost of conducting professional baseball is $5,364,000.

Murphy, the Chicago magnate, has signed Sheckard, Lundgren and Brown to three years contracts, and Evers to a two-year contract.

Manager Burnham, of the Newark Club, has purchased Louis Litschi, who played short for the Philadelphia Americans against Newark on Sunday.

Experts who have seen the Boston National infield say it is as fast as any in the league. Each player on this team is equipped with four uniforms.

The Naval Academy team is quite anxious to defeat West Point this season, having beaten the Army at football and fencing. It is possible that Fred VanAuken will have the opportunity of pitching against the West Point team.

Hal. Chase played with the New York Americans on Monday and in his customary brilliant style. He cracked out two safe hits among other things. The young Californian, besides being a great performer, is the most attractive ball player in the country today. He is the best first baseman in the land, with Jiggs Donahue a close second.

The Chatham team will start the ball rolling Saturday, meeting Madison at the latter place. Chatham now has grounds at home and will not be a travelling club, only when it plays other teams in the Lackawanna League.

The Atlantic (outlaw) League has made such inroads on the Lackawanna League that some of the teams in the latter organization scarcely know where they are at.

It is said that the Brooklyn Atlantic League is trying to land Linderman and Farmer as a battery, but Manager Burke, of Elizabeth, claims that he has these players signed to play with him on Sunday at the 'Port.

The officials of the Lackawanna League will meet in Newark tonight and complete details preparatory to the opening of the season. It is expected that the schedule will be announced tomorrow.

—John I. Grower, formerly with Elston M. French in the real estate business, is now associated with A. D. Thompson and is in charge of the latter's New York office.

Water Commission to Meet.

The water investigation commission will hold a regular meeting Friday night to receive reports on the progress thus far made. It is expected that both the legal and engineering committees will be prepared to make interesting reports.

Notasulga Romps In.

New York, April 17.—Many of Aqueduct's regulars yesterday expressed great disappointment at the fact that there were three added starters to the Rose Stake, one of which proved to be a crack two-year-old of the New Orleans season, Notasulga, and that the names and weights of the three additions could not be fully ascertained until the bell rang a few minutes before post time. The public had little or no opportunity to make up their minds as to which of the racers to back, and except for the last few moments preceding the race speculation was almost dead. Notasulga rightfully earned the praises of horsemen at her easy victory, which her stalwart, almost masculine proportions presaged. Her campaign at New Orleans had hardened her flesh, and that she was in fine fettle her appearance indicated. She had the worst of the post position, the outside on the Aqueduct straightaway, compelling the racer drawn there to cover much more ground than one on the rail. But Notasulga was well able to race over and take issue with Ella O'Neil, whom she easily disposed of. The second filly, Tea Leaf, ran an excellent race. She is a daughter of St. Maxim, and had worked well.

Man Hard to Kill.

Auburn, N. Y., April 17.—Edward Sexton, who was convicted at Canandaigua on April 29, 1904, of murder in the first degree for killing Thomas Maloney, was electrocuted at Auburn prison yesterday morning. Sexton was small of stature and slight, but it required five distinct contacts before he was declared dead. The contacts ranged from 1,540 volts at three amperes to 1,740 volts at eight amperes. State Electrician Davis, who officiated at the electrocution, said that Sexton was one of the hardest subjects that had been in the chair in the last ten years. Five other men in the condemned row bade Sexton farewell last night. Included in the number was Chester Gillette, the murderer of Grace Brown.

Burglar's Long Term.

New York, April 17.—Only twenty-two years old, James C. Pierce was sent to state prison for thirty-four years and four months by Judge Rosalsky, in General Sessions Court, yesterday for burglary and assault. His lawyer begged for clemency, saying Pierce had been with the hospital corps of the Seventy-first regiment, and that his father, as a result of his waywardness, had become insane and had killed himself. Pierce's last crime was robbing the home of John Oestreicher, of No. 2,577 Eighth avenue. Discovered by Mrs. Oestreicher, he beat her with a screwdriver until she was unconscious, and then assaulted her husband.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Young, of Netherwood avenue, are parents of a son, born to them a few days ago.

Mrs. John A. Clapp, of Mercer avenue, is planning to spend the summer abroad and will sail in the early part of May.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Thompson, of Belvidere avenue, and Miss Adelia Thompson have returned from a pleasant trip to California.

Mrs. Martin J. Cooley, who has spent the winter in New York, is stopping in town before returning to her home on Rockview Terrace.

Mrs. Van Vliet and her daughter, Miss Van Vliet, of New York, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Van Vliet's son, D. M. VanVleit, of Washington avenue.

William T. Kirk, of Grant avenue, has returned from a trip to Old Point Comfort and Savannah. The trip home by boat was one of the roughest ever experienced.

Mrs. Demazier and her daughter, Miss Demazier, are making plans to remove from their present home on Mercer avenue and will go to Truell Court for a time.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smalley, Jr., have moved into their new home on West End Heights yesterday.

William F. Oliver, of East Fifth street, was summoned to Pennsylvania on Saturday by the death of his father.

—Dr. P. J. Zeglio, of Somerset street, on Monday purchased his uncle's farm at Long Hill, Somerset county, comprising 264 acres. The property was sold at special master's sale and brought $10,500.

—R. O. Cumback, of West Front street, who has been one of the superintendents at the Quincy-Manchester Machine Works, has resigned his position and is succeeded by Fred Phillips, who has been connected with the works for some time.

HOUSE BILL 291 LOST.

Trenton, April 17.—There was a report about the State House yesterday that House bill No. 291, by Mr. Brady, which, it was stated, had passed both houses, and which provides for an expression by voters for the election of United States Senators, is missing.

Senator Hillery's bill, Senate No. 1, which is practically the same so far as results are concerned, was passed, and it is thought that the two measures in some way became mixed up, House 291 probably being entered as a substitute for Senate No. 1. Inquiries at the State House last night failed to locate the bill. A search for it will be made today.

According to the provisions of bill No. 291, the party candidates are to be selected at the primaries, and the name of the candidate who gets the most votes at the election is to be presented to the Legislature by the Secretary of State, and this candidate is to be the choice of the Legislature in joint session. The method is according to the Oregon plan.

$10,000 Lost in the Mails.

Raleigh, N. C., April 17.—Ten thousand dollars, sent last Saturday by the Atlantic National Bank, at Wilmington, to the Chemical National Bank, New York, in a registered package through the postoffice is missing. Three postoffice inspectors are at Wilmington working on the case and others are at work all along the line to New York. The postal route agent at Wilmington says he is unable to throw any light on the subject. The loss falls on the Atlantic National Bank, as the United States only allows $25 for packages lost.

REFUSES EXONERATION.

Roselle Council Declines to Obey Court's Order in the Trimmer Case.

Roselle, April 17.—There was a lively meeting of the Borough Council Monday night. It was called by Mayor Howe, as directed by Justice Swayze, when he withheld the writ of certiorari applied for by Charles B. Trimmer, the tax collector, whom the Council attempted to oust from office. Judge Swayze directed the Council to accept a bond, which Mr. Trimmer had given January 29, and which the Council at that time refused to accept. He informed the Borough Council that it had injured Mr. Trimmer, and also the borough, by its action, and advised that it make matters right in two weeks.

There were two sets of resolutions presented to the Council Monday night. One was offered by Mr. Patterson and one by Mr. Bouchot. The latter set was prepared by former Justice Gilbert Collins, of Jersey City, counsel for Mr. Trimmer. It fully exonerated Mr. Trimmer and accepted the bond as directed by Justice Swayze. Mr. Patterson's resolutions were brieg, simply accepting the bond. They did not rescind the resolutions adopted in March reflecting upon Trimmer in his official capacity.

There was a heated discussion over the resolution, and a tie vote for the adoption of the resolution offered by Mr. Patterson. The tie was settled by the vote of Mayor Howe in favor of the resolution.

Mr. Bouchot, who had presented the resolution drawn by Trimmer's counsel, said the writ of certiorari would be applied for today.

STOKES AWAITS RAILROAD BILL

Lethbridge Will Name Inquiry Committee at His Home.

Trenton, April 17.—Before leaving Trenton yesterday, Speaker Lethbridge said that he would not be able to make the appointments of the committee for the investigation of State expenditures until some time next week. "When I have decided to make these appointments," he said, "I will, in all probability, make them public from my home in Orange."

The railroad commission bill had not, up to 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, reached the Governor, and for this reason he still refuses to say anything in connection with what disposition he may make of the bill.

The Governor has written a letter to Assemblyman Barber, of Mercer county, stating that he will not sign the bill, which provided for a raise in the salary of the Mayor of this city. He has informed Mr. Barber that the bill should be amended.

Michael Higgins, clerk of the House, together with the Speaker and his secretary, D. A. Duggan, were busy all day preparing the record and putting the same in such shape as to make it possible for the Speaker to sign bills which were passed at the closing hours of the session. Mr. Higgins announced yesterday that he would return to this city today and endeavor to clear up all the business he was unable to do, because of the rush of bills at the close of the session.

TWICE DESERTS WIFE; DIES.

Swedesboro Man Comes Back After 19 Years; Kills Himself.

Swedesboro, N. J., April 17.—William Vincent, formerly of this city, who died recently at Beardstown, Ill., was buried here yesterday. Nineteen years ago Vincent deserted his family, leaving his wife and little children penniless.

For years the wife did not hear from her husband. Then came a letter, followed at long intervals by others. Lately the letters had been more frequent.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Vincent received a letter, together with papers, asking her to sign away her rights in a farm at Beardstown, Ill., which her husband wished to sell. After consulting a lawyer, Mrs. Vincent signed and sent back the papers.

In the meantime the husband became impatient and came on to Swedesboro, arriving here on Wednesday, April 3, only to find that the papers had passed him on the way. Vincent remained with his family over night and on the next morning started out to make some calls, telling his wife that he would be home to dinner. Instead of returning, he took the noon train for the West, leaving as abruptly as before.

A few days laters Mrs. Vincent received word that her husband had committed suicide by stabbing himself in the temple with a penknife.

Steel President's Wedding.

New York, April 17.—William Ellis Corey, president of the United States Steel Corporation, and Mabelle Gilman will be married in this city May 7 if their present plans are not changed. They will leave for Europe soon after the ceremony and will pass the honeymoon abroad, returning to New York about August 1. The announcement was made yesterday by Major James O. Harley, a cousin of Miss Gilman, who said that he spoke with full authority. Mr. Corey could not be found to confirm or deny the story, but his closest personal friends admitted that they had every reason to believe that the statement was correct. They added, however, that Mr. Corey had hoped that no publicity would be given to his plans for the marriage until after it had taken place.

TROUBLE FOR POSTOFFICES.

Burglars Visit Two In Neighboring Villages.

Ridgefield Park, April 17.—Mrs. James W. Lowe, wife of the local postmaster, prevented a robbery in the postoffice yesterday afternoon, when she interrupted a strange man who was helping himself to money and stamps. The thief's confederate had represented himself as a sign painter who had been sent to measure a "postoffice" sign. He had induced Postmaster Lowe to step outside to look over the building. Seeing her husband outside from the parlor window, Mrs. Lowe could not explain the noises in the postoffice, so she opened the door and asked the thief what he was doing. He dropped the booty and ran.

For the sixth time in four years another attempt was made during the midnight hours to rob the Lodi postoffice. Chief of Police Davis heard the burglar at his work, and as he approached the office, he yelled: "Throw up your hands!" "Go to hell!" answered the burglar, as he turned and ran. The chief fired several shots at the burglar and is sure one bullet struck him, for there was a sharp cry of pain after the second shot.

NAMES BABY PARADE BOARD.

Asbury Park, April 17.—Mayor Charles A. Atkins Monday night appointed the baby parade and carnival commission for the season of 1907 as follows:

Arthur H. Hope, Jesse Minot, J. Albert Hood, J. Warren Coleman, A. W. Cornelius, J. Edward Wortman, Harold E. Denegar, Matthew Strattin, Frank Conover, Dr. F. B. Beveridge, Councilman Hiram Walton, Joseph D. Brown, Arthur Cottrell, Mrs. Bruce S. Keator and Miss Lydia

Crusade Against Weapon-Bearers.

New York, April 17.—Indignation against the practice of carrying concealed weapons reached a climax yesterday, and demands were heard on every side for making the bearing of every variety of such arms a felony. More than one hundred Italians were held in the police courts for Special and General Sessions on the charge of carrying weapons. Thirty of them, unable to furnish bail, are now in the Tombs. Every police court in the city yesterday, as a result of a raid made by Central Office detectives on the Italian quarters, was teeming with prisoners accused of carrying concealed weapons. Detective Sergeant Petrosini and his aides had rounded up a band of armed men in various saloons.

Mexico Still Quakes.

City of Mexico, April 17.—Heavy earthquake shocks continued on the west coast of Mexico until four o'clock yesterday morning. Late news from the area of greatest destruction in the recent earthquake shows that the devastation was greater than at first supposed. Besides the destruction of Chilpancingo and Chilapa, it is now reported that Tixtla, between these two cities, containing about the same population as Chilpancingo, was levelled. Messengers from the coast who have reached Chilpancingo say that the towns of Ayutla and Ometepec also have been destroyed.

PATERSON'S HAMILTON STATUE.

On the Way from Italy; Will Be Unveiled on May 18.

Paterson, April 17.—The sttue of Aleander Hamilton, now on the way to this country from Italy, will grace the plateau in front of the City Hall, and will make a companion decoration of the City Hall plaza with the statue of Vice-President Hobart.

The site of the Hamilton statue has been hanging fire for some time, but the question was finally disposed of at the first meeting of the new Board of Works this morning. The statue will be unveiled May 18 next.

THURSDAY, APRIL 18

HOURS 9.00 A. M. UNTIL 5.00 P. M.

Your eyes will be examined by THE DAMMERS SCIENTIFIC METHOD, Positively the only absolutely correct way to fit glasses. CONSULTATION FREE.

(NO DROPS USED.) Those who have been examined for GLASSES by men who claim to examine your eyes by the old incorrect way, which is done by every one who supplies glasses but us, will be agreeably surprised by our scientific and wonderful methods of fitting glasses.

We correct your eye defects by looking in the eyes, taking the exact scientific measurements of the focus and shape of the eyes.

NO QUESTIONS ASKED, no trying glasses on your face, until we have determined your exact optical error.

The old tedious, and tiresome way of trying to fit glasses is either putting drops in the eyes, which often causes BLINDNESS, or by trying on a lot of glasses and asking you "Can you see these letters?" or "Do these glasses make you see better?"

After your Optician does a lot of guessing, and has your eyes all out of shape you think you have been examined.

Think this over, and you can readily see that you have been doing your own examining, and that is no doubt the reason you have had trouble to get glasses correct.

We have produced astonishing results from brain fag, nervous debility, insomnia, dizziness, nausea, WATERY EYES, blurry vision, and other troubles caused by EYE STRAIN. We have corrected by the use of glasses cross eyes and Astigmatism by our scientific methods.

Our position in Newark, N. J., and Providence, R. I., as the LEADING OPTICAL EXPERTS is proof of the high confidence in our responsibility, and the reliability of our representations.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The three days' fair of St. Mary's church, Stony Hill, opens in Excelsior Hall tonight and will continue tomorrow and Friday nights. The committee in charge has worked hard to make the fair one of the largest and most successful that has yet been held, and with pleasant weather their hopes should be realized.

The old chapel at Glenside Park has been converted into two dwellings. The building was one of the old landmarks of the former "Homestead Village" and was for years one of its attractions.

Miss Anna Bruchmann, of Newark, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bruchmann, of Mountain avenue.

Miss Mamie Gallagher, of Metuchen, is spending several days with Mrs. William H. Lee, of Front street.

George Archibold, of Westfield, has been visiting his father, John Archibold, of Washington Valley.

Mrs. George Hocke and family have removed from the Frazer house on Bartle avenue to Newark.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

It is rumored that South Plainfield will afford a baseball team this summer if enough players can be secured. Charles Randolph will in all probability manage the team.

A rehearsal of the play to be given in Washington hall in the forepart of May by the Good Government Club will be held tonight at the home of T. A. Linaberry.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church held its regular monthly business meeting at the home of Mrs. Lewis Randolph this afternoon.

HONORS FOR DEAD CHIEF.

Escort of 125 Policemen for Adams Funeral—Flags at Half Mast.

With the highest honors ever paid to a police official in Newark, Chief Adams, who shot himself in Branch Brook Park on Monday morning, was buried today. Twenty-five policemen from each of the five precincts, under command of Captain William P. Daly, a lifelong friend of the dead chief, acted as escort for the body.

Services were held in Christ Reformed church, and the Rev. Henry Merle Mellen, the pastor, officiated. The burial was in Fairmont cemetery. In compliance with the wishes of Chief Adams' family, display was eliminated, and there was no music, as was first proposed.

The Police Commissioners met yesterday afternoon to take up the question of suspending the police officials who had been indicted by the September grand jury with the dead chief, but simply adopted resolutions of sympathy.

There was general mourning in Newark yesterday over the tragedy, and the flags at the city hall, as well as on all the other municipal buildings, floated at half mast, while all the police stations, as well as police headquarters, where Adams had his office, were draped in mourning, and will remain so for thirty days.

The contents of the note left by the chief for Sheriff Sommer were made public yesterday. It consisted of an appeal of the chief to have the sheriff protect his name in the investigations which are to follow. "Do not let them unload their dirt and filth on me," is the way he wrote it. It became known yesterday that Chief Adams borrowed the revolver with which he killed himself from Superintendent Edward K. Schwartz, of the Bertillon department of the police department, whose office was next to that of the chief.

YOUNG GILMAN IN NAVY.

Perth Amboy, April 17.—William A. Gilman, formerly of this city, who disappeared recently from his home, 49 Chadwick avenue, Newark, has entered the employ of the United States navy as a stenographer. He is at the Norfolk navy yard and expects to sail for San Francisco shortly.

Owing to young Gilman's disappearance the wedding of his sister, Miss Bessie Gilman, which was to have been an elaborate affair, was quietly solemnized a few days ago.

WOULD HAVE STATE PAY CAMPAIGN EXPENSES.

Alden Freeman, of East Orange, Proposes Plan to End Contributions by Candidates.

Addressing the Men's Club of the First Unitarian church in Orange, recently, Alden Freeman, of East Orange, proposed to end the evil of political contributions by candidates, that the State pay the expenses of political meetings, campaign literature, etc.

"If we look at it the right way," said Mr. Freeman, "there will be no real change. Some of our officials receive $10,000 a year salary, out of which they have to give $2,000 to the Campaign Committee. That $2,000 comes out of the county funds through their salaries, and under the new system it will still come out of the salaries, but we will know what it is spent for and be able to regulate it. In addition to that the people will get $10,000 worth of services where they now get but $8,000.

"Under present conditions," he said, "it is impossible for a man to run for office unless he has a private fortune or some one else puts up the money for him. Everett Colby could never have run if he had not possessed the financial resources he does which enable him to pay for the advertising and clerical work in his campaign. This is not right; we must work to overcome that serious objection, and my solution of the problem is that the State pay the expenses of bringing the issues represented by the candidates before the people in a truthful and intelligible manner, so that the points involved may be comprehended by the man or woman of the most modest intellect."

HACKENSACK CHURCH BURNS LIKE TINDER.

Many Residences Threatened By Fire That Does Damage of $100,000.

Hackensack, April 17.—Many residences in this city were threatened early Monday by a fire that burned the Second Reformed church and chapel and five barns to the ground before it was got under control. The damage is estimated at $100,000.

The flames started in Aaron Ackerman's barn in State street, and before it was discovered had spread to the adjoining barn of Dr. G. H. McFadden. Fire Chief Duffy, who responded on the first alarm, turned in a second, third and fourth in rapid succession, bringing the whole of Hackensack's fire department to the scene. Fanned by a strong westerly wind the fire soon spread to the barns of W. H. Giffen, Dr. George W. Brown and John D. Baldwin.

It was feared that the fire would spread to residence in Main street and a volunteer bucket brigade was organized to mount the roofs and extinguish sparks.

Efforts were made to keep the flames from spreading to the Second Reformed church and chapel in State street, just above Camden avenue, but with no avail. The church soon took fire and burned like tinder. Several firemen were overcome by smoke, but after having been revived by ambulance surgeons returned to the fire-fighting.

Earthquake In Mexico.

Mexico City, Mexico, April 17.—Chilpancingo has been completely destroyed by one of the most serious earthquakes that has ever visited that section. The known dead up to last evening number eleven and the badly injured twenty-seven. Among the dead are the wife of Leopoldo Lopez Guerra, postal inspector, and the child of Jose Lopez Martinez, manager of the federal telegraph office, was struck on the head by a block of stone and badly injured. Panic prevails everywhere, and residents are fleeing to the open country. The earth continues to rock at half hour intervals, and many minor shocks are completing the work of destruction of the first earthquake. Word has reached here that the town of Chilapa, forty-two kilometres northeast of Chilpancingo, has also been destroyed. As yet no details have been received as to the number of dead and wounded, but it is feared that it will be large.

Heir To Good Brains.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 17.—Good brains, highly valued in ordinary life as an intellectual asset, are in great demand at the Wistar Institute, in this city. Although the supply so far is much behind the demand, the institute has already the best collection on this side of the Atlantic Ocean, and many valuable results have been worked out by the investigators of the institute. One of the most valued possessions of the institute is a certain collection of codicils to wills, carefully kept secret between the men who drew them up and the institute authorities. These documents bequeath to the institute he brains of the testaors, to be examined immediately after death. The testators are in most cases men of prominence, known for their intellectual abilities.

Suicide Dies Smoking.

East St. Louis, Ill., April 17.—Despondent because his wife had left him, Charles Lousha Sunday cut his throat with a razor and then smoked cigars for two hours, until he finally fell over dead from loss of blood. Lousha was employed in a rolling mill. Although he had almost decapitated himself, he kept up his incessant habit and smoked until he was dead.

Hot Baseball In Cuba.

Havana, Cuba, April 17.—There was a sensational scene on the ball field Sunday when Umpire Borrato, in the presence of twenty thousand excited "fans," gave a close decision against the last man out on first, which gave the game and the Cuban championship to the Almendares club by a score of 4 to 3. Things had been hot, and Borrato, who is not five feet high, gave his last decision with revolver in hand, and then darted behind the line of police. The mob charged, but the police and rural guards closed around and saved him. The victorious team divided $5,000. A similar crowd in New York, in proportion to population, would, it is estimated, have numbered two hundred thousand.

Seven New Cardinals.

Rome, April 17.—Pope Pius X held a secret consistory Sunday morning in the Vatican and created seven new Cardinals, as follows:—Mgr. Cavallari, Patriarch to Venice; Mgr. Rinaldini, Papal Nuncio to Spain; Mgr. Lorenzelli, ex-Papal Nuncio at Paris; Mgr. Lualdi, Archbishop of Palermo; Mgr. Meroier, Archbishop of Malines; Mgr. Maffi, Archbishop of Pisa, and Mgr. Aguirre y Garcia, Bishop of Burgos, Spain. This event was awaited with great interest, as it was the first function of the kind in which the present Pontiff had created a considerable number of Cardinals. The ceremony took place in the hall which takes its name from the consistory.

Assemblyman Tillman Recovering.

Assemblyman Peter Tillman's condition was slightly improved today. The family now hope he may recover. He is, however, still a very sick man, and it will be some days before his attending physicians will be able to say that the danger period has passed.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

NERVOUSNESS.

Nervousness makes people miserable, blue, and unhappy. They think something terrible is going to happen. At night they toss and worry and are not rested. They tire easily and havn't much energy. They think many things are the matter with them—Consumption, Kidney trouble, or twenty other diseases. It's just stomach trouble, nothing else in the world. Two bottles of Cooper's New Discovery will put the stomach in shape in three weeks. I know this because I've seen it tried a thousand times. Then all nervousness will disappear. I know this too, because I've seen it happen a thousand times. Here's a letter I got the other day:

MRS. W. J. SCHAURER.

"My system was badly run down and my stomach and nerves in an awful shape. I could not digest my food, was always tired and would often feel faint and dizzy."

"I had heard so much of your New Discovery medicine that I began taking it. Relief and strength and happiness were found in the very first bottle and the benefit I have received from it has been truly wonderful. I am no longer nervous, my appetite and digestion are good and I eat everything and sleep well." Mrs. W. J. Schaurer, 220 Guthrie St., Louisville, Ky.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

She had conjured a picture that made my heart ache. I suddenly felt old and sad and lonely—a forlorn failure. "I, too, am a gardener," said I. "But it's a sorry lot of weeds and thistles that keeps me occupied. And in the midst of the garden is a plum tree that bears Dead Sea fruit."

She was silent.

"You don't care for politics?" said I.

"No," she replied, and lifted and lowered her eyes in a slow glance that made me wish I had not asked. "It is, I think, gardening with weeds and thistles, as you say." Then, after a pause: "Do you like it?"

"Don't ask me," I said with a bitterness that made us both silent thereafter.

That evening I got Fred to land me at the nearest town. The train she must have been on had just gone. In the morning I took the express for the east. Arrived at Washington, I drove straight to her school.

A high iron fence, not obstructing the view from the country road; a long drive under arching maples and beeches; a rambling, fascinating old house upon the crest of a hill; many windows, a pillared porch, a low, very wide doorway. It seemed like her in its dark, cool, odorous beauty.

She herself was in the front hall, directing some workmen. "Why, Senator Sayler, this is a surprise," she said, advancing to greet me. But there was no suggestion of surprise in her tone or her look, only a friendly welcome to an acquaintance.

She led the way into the drawing-room to the left. The furniture and pictures were in ghostly draperies; everything was in confusion. We went on to a side veranda, seated outselves. She looked inquiringly at me.

"I do not know why," was my answer. "I only know—I had to come."

She studied me calmly. I remember her look, everything about her—the embroidery on the sleeves and bosom of her blouse, the buckles on her white shoes. I remember also that there was a breeze, and how good it felt to my hot face, to my eyes burning from lack of sleep. At last she said: "Well—what do you think of my little kingdom?"

"It is yours—entirely?"

"House, gardens—everything. I paid the last of my debts in June."

"I'm contrasting it with my own," I said.

"But that isn't fair," she protested with a smile. "You must remember, I'm a woman."

"With my own," I went on, as if she had not interrupted. "Yours is—yours, honestly got. It makes you proud, happy. Mine—" I did not finish.

She must have seen or felt how profoundly I was moved, for I presently saw her looking at me with an expression I might have resented for its pity from any other than her. "Why do you tell me this?" she asked.

"There is always for every one," was my answer, "some person to whom he shows himself as he is. You are that person for me because—I'm surrounded by people who care for me for what I can give. Even my children care to a great extent for that reason. It's the penalty for having the power to give the material things all human beings crave. Only two persons ever cared—cared much for me just because I was myself. They were my mother—and you."

She laughed in quiet raillery. "Two have cared for you, but you have cared for only one. And what devotion you have given him!"

"I have cared for my mother—for my children—"

"Yes — your children. I forgot them."

"And—for you."

She made what I thought a movement of impatience.

"For you," I repeated. Then: "Elizabeth, you were right when you wrote that I was a coward."

She rose and stood—near enough to me for me to catch her faint, elusive perfume—and gazed out into the distance.

"In St. Louis the other day," I went on, "I saw a man who has risen to power greater than I can ever hope to have. And he got it by marching erect in the open."

"Yet you have everything you used to want," she said dreamily.

"Yes—everything. Only to learn how worthless what I wanted was. And for this trash, this dirt, I have given—all I had that was of value."

"All?"

"All," I replied. "Your love and my self-respect."

"Why do you think you've not been brave?" she asked after awhile.

"Because I've won by playing on the weaknesses and fears of men which my own weaknesses and fears enabled me to understand."

"You have done wrong—deliberately?"

"Deliberately."

"But that good might come?"

"So I told myself."

"And good has come? I've heard things do grow on thistles."

"Good has come. But I think, in spite of me, not through me."

"But now that you see," she said, turning her eyes to mine with appeal in them, and something more, I thought, "you will—you will go on?"

"I don't know. Is there such a things as remorse without regret?" And then my self-control went and I let her see what I had commanded myself to keep hid: "I only know clearly one thing, Elizabeth—only one thing matters. You are the whole world to me. You and I could—what could we not do together!"

Her color slowly rose, slowly vanished. "Was that what you came to tell me?" she asked.

"Yes," I answered, not flinching.

"That is the climax of your moralizings?"

"Yes," I answered. "And of my cowardice."

A little icy smile just changed the curve of her lips. "When I was a girl, you won my love—or took it when I gave it to you, if you prefer. And then—you threw it away. For an ambition you weren't brave enough to pursue honorably, you broke my heart."

"Yes," I answered. "But—I loved you."

"And now," she went on "after your years of self-indulgence, of getting what you wanted, no matter about the cost, you see me again. You find I have mended my heart, have coaxed a few flowers of happiness to bloom. You find there was a something you did not destroy, something you think it will make you happier to destroy."

"Yes," I answered, "I came to try to make you as unhappy as I am. For I love you."

She drew a long breath. "Well," she said evenly, "for the first time in your life you are defeated. I learned the lesson you so thoroughly taught me. And I built the wall round my garden high and strong. You—" she smiled, a little raillery, a little scorn—"you can't break in, Harvey—nor slip in."

"No need," I said. "For I am in—I've always been in."

Her bosom rose and fell quickly, and her eyes shifted. But that was for an instant only. "If you were as brave as you are bold!" she scoffed.

"If I were as brave without you as I should be with you!" I replied, even as I began to thrill with a hope so high that it was giddy with fear, she was once more straight and strong and calm.

THE BRINK IS NEAR.

Few People Know How Near It Is.

Every time you neglect backache,

Allow the kidneys to become clogged,

Fail to cure urinary disorders,

You get nearer the brink of Bright's disease.

Proof of it in Plainfield testimony.

James Harding, employed at the gas works, and living at 119 West Fourth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Hard backaches, pains in the head, and, at times, dizzy spells, bothered me for several months. The aches became so sharp and painful that I was in no condition to work. Reading of the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills I went to Randolph's pharmacy and got a box and began using them. I am very glad to state that they relieved me from all symptoms of kidney complaint and I am of the belief that it was the treatment with Doan's Kidney Pills alone that cured me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Everyone interested in theatrical affairs is anticipating one of the greatest treats of the season tomorrow night, when Eugenie Blair is to appear at the New Plainfield theatre in Clyde Fitch's biggest triumph, "The Woman in the Case." It will be a novelty in itself to see the radiantly beautiful Eugenie Blair in the character of a loving, devoted wife, because her name has become almost synonymous during the past few years with "Zaza," "Iris" and "Sapho." Considering her marvelous success in these plays it is worth noting that she has far surpassed her previous fame in presenting "The Woman in the Case." In this play Clyde Fitch has demonstrated the fact that a play can be made true to life and yet be intensely interesting and delightfully entertaining. A splendid supporting company is promised and managers Wagenhals & Kemper have agreed to bring the complete production to the smallest detail just as it was seen in New York for 150 nights.

The average play made from a successful novel or book is a failure because the dramatist cannot consistently crowd into the drama the host of interesting detail and incident that go to make up the value of the story. The exception to this rule is the charming comedy, "The Man on the Box," which Grace Livingston Furniss has evolved from Harold McGrath's immensely popular book of the same name and which scored a tremendous success for over three hundred performances in Chicago and New York last season. The dramatist has retained all the salient points of the novel and woven them into a comedy that reveals a very pretty love story and is crowded with laugh producing dialogue and situation. This comedy will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night, with Max Figman as the star, supported by a company of more than ordinary quality and with a most handsome scenic investiture. Mr. Figman's achievements with the very best plays and players of the past decade on the American stage entitle him to serious consideration as a star, and "The Man on the Box" is a vehicle that brings out his finest qualities. "The Man on the Box" will be a money maker for several years to come and there is no actor on the stage today better qualified to interpret the leading character than Mr. Figman.

What is said to be the largest and most sensational novelty yet given to the public is the thrilling automobile race in "The Vanderbilt Cup," which will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night, and in which two enormous racing cars are driven at top speed to the accompaniment of dust, sparks, shouting, flames, explosions, that fairly shake the theatre, while the scenery whirls by at a gait that makes the head swim. The effect of the race upon the audience is said to be indescribable. From behind the stage comes the reports and explosions which herald the approach of the big spectacle. Gradually they grow faster and the sounds grow nearer. The curtain rises and at one side shows the two cars side by side. The grey light of dawn is over the scene and the foreground rolls by rapidly. Behind is the spinning countryside and gradually the nearest car draws away from the other as they cross the stage, both drivers enveloped in whirling clouds of dust. From the audience comes a murmur and then a roar of excitement and men and women half rise from their seats to cheer the racers. Down comes the curtain and up again in an instant with the snorting, puffing machine standing before the grand stand at Mineola, while cheers shake the theatre. It is all over and then the buzz of excited conversation breaks forth and up the aisles float breathless waves of praise for the most wonderful thing in stage mechanism.

Dog Hero Dies.

New York, April 17.—Tossed to one side out of the path of a galloping team by her pet dog, Carrie, an Irish setter, Emilie Schlicting, five years old, of No. 38 Cranberry street, Brooklyn, escaped injury last night. Barking its defiance at the horses, the dog tried to follow its owner, but was struck by the horses' hoofs, and an instant later had its life crushed out by the wheels of the heavy truck. Persons saw the little girl roll over in the street and the accident which ended the animal's life, but before they could act the driver of the team whipped up his horses and started from the neighborhood at top speed. Several pedestrians followed the truck, but they were soon outdistanced and obtained only a vague description of the driver and rig to give to the police.

Uses Bottle to Cut Throat.

New York, April 17.—Having lost his job and being unable to find another, Duncan Blue, thirty-seven years old, of No. 521 West Twenty-third street, last night tried to end his life, the police say, by cutting his throat with a broken bottle. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital a prisoner and may die. Blue was a boiler maker and, according to other persons in the house, spent almost every day recently in a tramp from shop to shop looking for work. The glass was plunged so deeply into the neck that it almost reached the jugular vein.

PRESBYTERY WAGES RUM WAR.

West Jersey Calls Attention of Churches to the Crimes Act.

Atlantic City, April 17.—A resolution calling the attention of Presbyterian churches to the New Jersey crimes act, making guilty of misdemeanor any Mayor or city official guilty of failure to suppress crime when brought to his notice, was adopted by the West Jersey Presbytery here yesterday as a ready weapon in the fight being waged against intemperance, especially through illegal sales of liquor. The resolution was offered by the Rev. H. R. Rundall, of Atlantic City.

PRIZE MONEY PRESENTED TO ALL WINNERS AFTER THE GAMES.

By taking two games out of three in the roll-off series arranged, Dan Mack and "Charlie" Meyer landed third place in the McLaughlin bowling tourney, last night. They had tied for the honor with Harry Radin and Harry Ackor and the post series was decided upon as the best way out of the deadlock. Both sides rolled good scores in the three games but Dan Mack was in exceptionally good condition and it was due to crackerjack shooting on his part that resulted in the defeat of Radin and Ackor. His average was 201.1 while his partners was 174.2.

Following the roll-off games the prize money was distributed among the various winners in the tourney. It was all in gold pieces and they were presented to the contestants by Thomas M. Muir. Chief Kiely headed the list with a total of $30 won as follows: Half of second prize, $10; half of team average, $5; half of high team score, $5; high individual average, $10. Gaddis and Dilkes each received $20 as their share of first prize, and Judge Runyon also received $20, half of second prize, half of team average and half of high team score. Mack and Meyer were each presented with $5 gold pieces as the division of third prize.

The presentations were witnessed by a big crowd and as each winner received his gold he was given a big cheer. When Chief Kiely's name was called he was greeted with applause that was little short of an ovation. Afterward bowlers and spectators united in three rousing cheers for Manager McLaughlin.

Mack	200	213	191
vs.
Radin	169	195	191
Ackor	179	257	150
	348	452	341

"PONIES" MAKE GOOD.

Follow Up Challenge By Defeating "Arm Rights" Three Straight.

The "Pony" team of bowlers made good the assertion that it can defend the city championship title, last night, by defeating the "Arm Rights" three straight games at McLaughlin's. Despite the fact that the "Arm Rights" had Chief Kiely, Ed Britton and other crack bowlers, some arms were not right and it cost the team the series. The second game of the three was a "corker" and had a big gallery yelling itself hoarse at every good shot. Phenomenal scores were the rule and until the last two frames the results did not vary more than sixteen pins. The "Ponies" took the contest by just that number.

The scores:

PONIES.
Nash	172	213	170
Skinner	158	187	201
Ackor	158	186	199
Farlee	187	214	199
Skelly	179	181	183
ARM RIGHTS.
Kiely	169	222	211
Gaddis	171	202	190
Britton	149	161	146
Conklin	124	221	157
Meyer	179	159	212
	792	965	916

DIAMOND DUST.

Phil Smith to Report.

Phil Smith will report to the Elizabeth Club, of the Atlantic League, on May 1 and will be in fine trim for the opening game. It will take all his cleverness and speed to baffle the heavy hitters of the various clubs, but with his change of speed, which he will use more this year than formerly and his excellent control of ziz zag shoots, he believes he will be there with the goods, and with the strong team behind him bring to the club he represents a creditable standing.

SUES HER FATHER-IN-LAW FOR $100,000 DAMAGES.

Young Wife Alleges He Alienated from Her the Affections of Her Husband.

Mrs. Howard Trimpi, of Bradley Beach, N. J., has brought suit for $100,000 damages against her father-in-law, William M. Trimpi, for the alleged alienation of the affections of her husband. The defendant is a well known manufacturer of Newark.

The couple were married at Bradley Beach about four years ago after a summer romance which began when Mr. Trimpi fell in love with the girl at first sight. At the time of the marriage both the bride and the bridegroom were in their teens.

Mrs. Trimpi alleges that not long after their marriage the husband became cool and seemed to lose affection for her. Then his father brought a suit to have the marriage annulled, but when it came to trial Vice Chancellor Emery dismissed it.

VETERANS RETORT ON STAHL.

Now They Are Charging That Vineland Home Is Mismanaged.

Vineland, N. J., April 17.—Colonel E. C. Stahl's charge of drunkenness at the State Soldiers' Home here is seemingly acting as a boomerang. The veterans not only resent the accusations, but from all accounts are getting even with charges of mismanagement by the board of managers, one of whom is Colonel Stahl, the energetic Trenton German-American.

At a recent meeting of the board complaint was made of the commissary appointed by the board. A detail of five Grand Army men from different parts of the State was welcomed as a committee of investigation. Their report will not be made public until the annual campfire next June.

Some of the inmates thought they should have a nurse on whom they could call quickly when needed, and requested the managers to put a nurse on each floor to be ready in case of emergency. From what can be learned, part at least, of the complaints come from those who have been disciplined for smuggling whiskey into the institution. It is said the cold weather of the spring has occasioned more colds than usual and the regular nurse could not attend to the many patients.

Former Freeholder John Tier, of Bank place, who has been ill for a long time, is at present in a critical condition.

ORIENTAL RUG LECTURES AT THE CASINO.

It is needless for us to introduce Mr. H. K. Samuelian to the public as he has been with us at various times in giving his lectures to our prominent people. He will give two lectures Thursday, April 18, at the Casino. His subject will be: "Art and Craft in Oriental Rugs." The morning lecture will be at 10:30; the evening lecture, which will be illustrated by eighty colored stereopticon slides, begins at 8 o'clock. Doors will be open half an hour before the lecture. Admission charged.

Among the unusual and instructive features in connection with the lectures will be a large 12-foot map showing the various regions from which the rugs come, a collection of Oriental herbs and plants from which the dyes for rugs are extracted, a native loom with distaff, comb, spindle, etc., and many of the trinkets used for designs in rugs or for keeping off the evil eye during the making. The evening lecture will show the cities where the rugs are made as well as the various native weavers, some carrying on the work in their homes, and the nomads with their looms set outside the tent door.

The lectures besides presenting an array of interesting facts regarding the making, the selection and the care of rugs are interspersed with history, tradition and description, among which is telling how rugs are collected in the Orient, how to select rugs, tests for color and quality, how to discover doctored rugs, and how to care for and clean them.—Adv.

EX-FREEHOLDER TIER DIES

After Long a Illness, Well-Known Citizen Succumbs to Complication of Diseases.

AGED SEVENTY SIX

Had Served Six Terms As Member of County Board and Had Been a Member of the Common Council.

Former Freeholder John H. Tier, one of Plainfield's best known citizens and one who was closely identified with its early business life, died at his home on Bank place at 11:45 this morning, after an illness that extended over two years. He was affected originally by pleuro-pneumonia and though his life was despaired of then, he eventually rallied and was able to walk about. Last October he was again taken with a heavy cold and heart trouble and dropsy developed, these troubles causing his death. The end had been expected for the past week but he was conscious almost to the last minute.

John H. Tier was born in New York city seventy-six years ago and as a boy learned the butcher's trade in Washington market. He remained there until a young man, first coming to Plainfield for a rest after a long season of hard work. He intended to stay for but thirty days but he was so well pleased with the town that he decided to remain. He first worked for Alvah Gardner on East Front street and within a short time was taken into partnership by him. They were together thirteen years in a small building recently removed from the site now occupied by the Woodhull & Martin structure.

Mr. Tier afterward took full possession of the business and moved to Park avenue and Front street, thence to Park avenue, where the Jeffery building is now. He sold out twenty years ago to I. and G. Lewis and went to Elizabeth, but only remained a short time. Since then he had been living quietly at his home.

When he first began the butcher business on his own account, Mr. Tier saw the possibilities there were in the sale of ice and he was the first man to peddle the commodity in Plainfield. He used a good deal at his market and noting that a good trade could be built up he secured the property on Bank place and the rights to the pond which bears his name and harvested the crop each winter. It was only a comparatively few years ago that he was the leading ice dealer in the city.

While the meat and ice business would have been enough to occupy the full attention of the ordinary man, Mr. Tier was always for reaching out and the manufacture of ice cream attracted him. He enjoyed the distinction of being the first man to make and sell it in the town and Tier's cream became famous throughout the county. The business is still conducted by his sons.

Though kept very busy by his various enterprises, Mr. Tier found time to take municipal office and served three terms as Councilman during the seventies. In 1893 he was elected to the Union county Board of Freeholders and remained for six terms, being succeeded by William A. Westphal. He was also a member of the Gazelle Engine Company in the volunteer fire department days and once served as foreman.

Mr. Tier was married on February 6, 1856, to Miss Gertrude Voorhees, of Plainfield, who survives him, together with two sons, John H. Tier, Jr., and William N. Tier, both of Plainfield. There are also three brothers, Jeremiah Tier, of Rochester, N. Y.; J. E. Tier and Daniel Tier, of Rahway, and one sister, Mrs. L. V. Martin, of Chautaqua, N. Y. Another brother, Washington I. Tier, of Rahway, died two years ago. There are seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Can Appoint Inspector.

Assembly bill No. 91, introduced by Assemblyman Philip Daab, of Hudson county, which authorizes governing bodies in second-class cities to appoint inspectors of coal, ice and other wares and merchandise sold in cities of this class, was signed by the Governor yesterday and is now a law. Plainfield can take advantage of this law through its Common Council, and the salary of the person appointed as inspector is fixed by that body. Mayor Charles J. Fisk, who has acquainted himself with the measure, favors it, and it is possible that such an inspector may be chosen by the Common Council.

Arrest a Drunk.

A drunken man, known to the police as "Nibs" McEntree, was arrested this morning in the West End. He will be arraigned tomorrow morning.

MAYOR FISK IN AUTO THAT WAS OVERSPEEDING

DETECTIVE-SERGEANT SUMMONS EXECUTIVE'S CHAUFFEUR TO COURT.

Detective-Sergeant John Flynn saw an automobile speeding over the limit at noon today, and gave chase. Just as the sleuth, who was riding a bicycle, drew up on it, the machine came to a stop.

Flynn ordered the chauffeur to appear before City Judge Runyon tomorrow morning. As he turned away the sleuth received a shock. A familiar face appeared at the window of the closed tonneau, and Flynn wondered swiftly if there was anything in the ordinances covering municipal lese majeste. The face was that of Mayor Charles J. Fisk.

The mayor, with Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow, was on his way to the old garbage plant to show it to E. L. Bader, of Atlantic City, a representative of a garbage disposal concern that is trying to arrange a contract with the city. It was a hired machine.

The incident upset the police more than it did the mayor. All the officers assumed airs of profound ignorance when asked about it.

MAY MAKE CONTRACT FOR GARBAGE DISPOSAL

UTILIZATION CONCERN INSPECTS LOCAL PLANT IN COMPANY WITH MAYOR.

As a result of the visit of Mayor Charles J. Fisk and Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow to Atlantic City, where they inspected the garbage disposal system, E. L. Bader, representing the Arnold Utilization Company, of that place, inspected local conditions today with a view to making a proposition to the city to dispose of garbage here. Just what terms Mr. Bader will offer is not known, but he seemed favorably impressed with the practicability of installing his system in Plainfield.

The garbage disposal plant on De Kalb avenue, which is owned by the city, was thoroughly inspected and it was decided that this building could be used for the Arnold system. Mr. Bader promised to let Mayor Fisk hear from him in a few days.

The Arnold system utilizes garbage by wat is called a reduction process, saving the bi-products. A feature is that by this system the company is anxious to get all the garbage possible, while by the incineration method there is always objection to burning a great quantity of garbage owing to the expense there being no profit. Until a more definite statement is made by teh company Mayor Fisk says he is not willing to say whether he will recommend its adoption or not.

COL. BELL MAY BE NEW NEWARK CHIEF.

He Was Chief of the Secret Service in Cleveland's First Term.

It was unofficially announced yesterday that an offer of appointment as Chief of Police of Newark has been made to Col. John S. Bell, who was Chief of the Secret Service of the United States Government during the first Cleveland administration.

Mayor Haussling made the offer to Colonel Bell in behalf of the Police Board. Mr. Bell has it under advisement.

In 1884, prior to his appointment as Chief of the Secret Service, he filled the office which is again offered him.

The funeral of the late Chief John H. Adams, who killed himself last Monday, will take place today. Another of the letters he wrote to his wife just before he shot himself was made public yesterday. In this Adams wrote in one place as follows:

"I have been hounded and persecuted by a band of cut-throats, who will stop at nothing short of murder."

Boy Hurt by Fall.

Fred Murphy, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Murphy, of West Fifth street, while playing about the attic of a new house, near his home, yesterday afternoon, made a misstep on a beam and fell the entire distance to the cellar. He struck on his head, causing concussion of the brain. Murphy was one of a crowd of children playing about the house and when the accident happened the others became frightened and ran away. A workman summoned Dr. P. B. Cregar and the boy was removed to his home, where he is reported as doing well.

Rev. Charles Dunn, of Tioga, Pa., has returned home after a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Dunn, of Park avenue.

NEW CLASSIS PRESIDENT

Rev. C. H. Schnegas New Head of Newark Classis of the Reformed Church.

AN IMPORTANT SESSION

To Install Rev. A. Peter Tulp On May 8—Editor Asks to Become a Minister.

At the afternoon session of the Newark Classis of the Reformed church yesterday, in the Hyde Park Reformed church, East Orange, delegates to the Particular Synod, to be held in May, and to the General Synod, to be held in June, were elected. Robert Clark, Jr., and F. E. Smith were present as delegates from Trinity Reformed church. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Schenck, is recuperating at Atlantic City, was therefore unable to attend. Rev. C. H. Schneegas, pastor of the German Reformed church, represented that congregation.

Arrangements were made for the installation of the Rev. A. Peter Tulp, pastor-elect of the New York Avenue Reformed church, and the Rev. Ernest Soure, pastor-elect of the Reformed church of Linden.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the installation of Mr. Tulp at the New York Avenue church on Wednesday night, May 8. The Rev. Dr. Daniel H. Martin, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Reformed church, has been engaged to preach the sermon, and the Rev. Henry Merle Mellen, pastor of Christ Reformed church, will conduct the devotional services. The Rev. C. H. Schneegas, pastor of the German Reformed church, the new president of Classis, will preside.

The installation of Mr. Soure at Linden will be another elaborate affair. It will take place Monday night, May 6. The Rev. Dr. James I. Vance, pastor of the North Reformed church, will preach the sermon. The Rev. Henry Merle Mellen, pastor of Christ Reformed church, will deliver the charge to the pastor, and the Rev. W. W. Conner the charge to the people. President Schneegas will also preside at this service.

At the morning session the Rev. C. H. Schneegas, pastor of the German Reformed church, was chosen president, succeeding the Rev. E. M. Sherwood, of Linden. The Rev. Albert von Schlider, of Montclair Heights, was elected temporary clerk.

A call extended to the Rev. Charles B. Condit, of Liberty Corners, was approved. A special meeting of the classis will be held on May 8 to receive Mr. Condit into membership.

George H. Donovan, religious editor of the Advertiser, appeared before the classis and asked to be taken under its care. Mr. Donovan will enter the Theological Seminary at New Brunswick in September.

In the report of Rev. Charles H. Schneegas for the German Reformed church, there was a gratifying surprise, when he stated that during the past year $600 had been raised toward the mortgage indebtedness. Trinity Reformed church presented an excellent report, showing that it stands as before third on the list for benevolent gifts. There were many kind expression regarding Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck.

ELOPE AGAIN? NEVER!

Washington Girl's Romance Comes to an End in Jersey City.

Jersey City, April 18.—Nineteen-year-old Minnie Sachs, of Washington, who eloped with 23-year-old Rollie Good, of the same city, Sunday, and was left to starve in a hotel by the latter, is now back home.

Her uncle sent money for her ticket to Chief of Police Monahan, and this afternoon she was placed aboard a train for the Capital City. She declares she will never elope again.

Creditors Smile Again.

Elizabeth, April 18.—City employees were happy last night, as were also business creditors of the city, after having had their bills held up for two weeks, because of the inability of the City Council to approve of them. At Monday night's meeting, however, there was a sufficient number of Councilmen present, and the bills were ordered paid. Mayor Ryan worked almost an entire day signing the warrants, and completed the task today.

Matinee Race, May 18.

At a meeting of the Fairacre Riding and Driving Club, held last night, it was decided to hold the first tryout for horses on the old Fairbairn track, May 18, and to hold the first matinee races on Decoration Day. R. E. Teal, of New York, was chosen an honorary member.

FOURTEEN YEARS PASTOR

Rev. William H. Miller Honored by Children of Mary of St. Joseph's Parish.

GETS A PURSE OF GOLD

Also a Bouquet For the Priest, Presentation Speech Made By Miss Jacot—The Programme.

In honor of the completion of fourteen years as pastor of St. Joseph's church, the Children of Mary of that parish gave an entertainment and reception to Rev. William H. Miller, last night. The affair was held in the Sunday-school room and was largely attended. A feature of the affair was the presentation of a gold purse and a handsome bouquet of flowers to the pastor by Miss Louise Jacot, on behalf of the Children of Mary.

Miss Jacot spoke as follows:

"Rev. and Dear Pastor: Regarding the fourteen years which you have spent among us from a retrospective point we cannot help realizing that the mysterious hand which moves the universe seems to hold in reserve for every crisis of society those who in particular are best suited for works which the Almighty has destined to be accomplished and it is in this light that we view you.

"We have been silent observers of your energetic labors among us. Your influence over your rapidly increasing flock is unbounded and we cannot help noticing how eminently qualified you have proved yourself to gratify the pride of a people who count you among the successful champions in the race for Catholicity and its interests in the Trenton Diocese. And I who have the honor of addressing you on this occasion rejoice with all who are present in offering our heartiest congratulations as an evidence of our good will and future loyalty and as a mark of our appreciation of your untiring efforts in the cause of religion. We wish you happiness and many long and well spent years among your devoted people."

The presentation followed the opening song, "Our Greeting," by the Children of Mary. Miss Justina Smith sang two solos, "Sometime" and "Love Me and the World Is Mine." Miss Katherine Egan gave several recitations, and the Children of Mary sang its anniversary song. Other features of the programme were piano solos by Father Miller, and phonograph selections. A social time followed the entertainment, during which congratulations were extended to Father Miller.

CHURCH SUPPER WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

WOMEN OF CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH HOLD A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR.

Success attended the annual supper of the Women's Association of the Congregational church last night. The menu, with chicken pit as the piece de resistance, pleased the 125 guests. The proceeds will swell the funds of the association to a gratifying extent.

The tables, set in the church parlors, were handsomely decorated. The supper preceded the annual meetings of the church and society.

The committee in charge of the supper was made up of Mrs. T. F. Hylan, Mrs. C. A. Rice, Mrs. J. V. Beekman, Mrs. Eugene Laing, Mrs. Frank Weeks, Mrs. Gilbert Rhoades and Miss Jessie McIntosh.

The waitresses were Louise Jenkins, Miss Ella Whitall, Miss Alice Morgan, Miss Lulu Fuller, Miss Clara Shepard, Miss Bessie Millar, Miss Eleanor Bold, Miss Edith Bentley, Miss Margaret Weseman and Miss Ethel McIntosh. Warren Weseman, Roland Rice and Philip Suffern assisted.

CARPENTERS STRIKE.

Demand $3.25 Per Day from New Jersey Dry Dock Company.

Sixty-five carpenters, employees of the New Jersey Dry Dock and Transportation Company, went on strike yesterday at Elizabeth after serving notice of a demand for a minimum wage scale of $3.25 per day. The wages have varied from $2.75 to $3.50, depending upon the quality of work done.

The company officials promptly refused the demand. It has maintained an "open shop," and intends to continue to do so. Though the firm will betemporarily embarrassed, its officials expect to have no difficulty in filling the strikers' places.

FIXING FEES FOR ADVICE

President Reed Appoints Committee of Bar Association to Arrange Minimum Charge.

OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN

Constitution and By-laws Adopted—Members Assessed—Some Lawyers Not in Organization.

The Plainfield Bar Association met in the offices of Reed and Coddington, last night, for the purpose of perfecting the details of organization and to listen to the report of the committee on certificate of incorporation and by-laws. Eleven years ago the association was partially formed, but was not incorporated. Last summer a meeting for re-organization was held and arrangements made to incorporate. At that time these officers were elected: President, Chas. A. Reed; vice-president, John H. Van Winkle, Sr.; secretary, William M. Stillman; treasurer, William R. Codington; trustees, Craig A. Marsh, John H. VanWinkle, Sr., and Nelson Runyon.

At last night's meeting these officers were endorsed to serve for the coming year and a motion adopted that the certificate of incorporation be properly executed, filed and recorded. The committee which had charge of the details comprised Isaac P. Runyon, Clarence L. Murphy and W. A. Coddington. It was voted that the annual meeting of the association be held on the third Wednesday in April.

An important action taken last night was that authorizing the appointment of a committee of three to investigate and report at the next meeting of the association, on the question of fixing minimum charges for work and services performed by the members for their clients. This has been agitated more or less in the past, no fixed rule being in force as to what a lawyer might charge a client. The committee as appointed by President Reed consists of District Court Judge William Newcorn, J. H. VanWinkle, Sr., and Carlos C. Gallup.

These lawyers have not yet identified themselves with the association: William N. Runyon, Winfield S. Angleman, F. J. Huff, V. W. Nash, Jr., Charles McNabb, Louis Clement, Geo. Ball, William G. DeMeza, John P. Owens, Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., and H. C. Suydam.

The association is organized for the purpose of maintaining the honor and dignity of the profession of the law; to cultivate social relations among its members; to suggest and urge reforms in the law and to aid in the administration of justice. Any attorney at law of the State practicing in Plainfield is qualified for membership and may be admitted in accordance with the by-laws.

South Plainfield Catholics to Build.

Plans are out for the new Catholic church to be built at South Plainfield, and as soon as the estimates are received the contract for the work will be awarded. It is expected that the structure will be completed during the summer months. The Catholics at South Plainfield have been without a convenient and commodious house of worship for a long time and for some time efforts have been made to secure one. A considerable sum has been subscribed to the building fund and it is believed that when the edifice is completed there will be a sufficient amount to pay for the work.

After Committeemen's Scalps.

There is a movement on foot to demand the resignation of all the members of the State Democratic Committee, according to a dispatch from Jersey City. Those who are behind it are State Senator Geo. S. Silzer, of Middlesex; Assemblyman Wright, of Essex, and Assemblymen Charles E. Hendrickson, Jr., Joseph P. Tumulty, Mark A. Sullivan and Archibald S. Alexander, all of Hudson.

Borough School Exhibit.

The borough school exhibit of manual training, woodwork, sewing and mechanical drawing, was sent to Jamestown yesterday. Photographs of the manual training classes at work were taken Tuesday. These were included in the exhibit.

ARREST THE RABBI FOR SELLING LIQUOR

BITTER FEUD EXISTS EXISTS IN HEBREW CONGREGATION.

As a result of a bitter faction fight between the Hebrew congregation of Somerville, Rabbi J. Levenstein has been arrested charged with the illegal sale of liquor to a number of his flock, and Hyman Kleine, a well-known contractor, and his son-in-law, Joseph Rubienovitz, have been taken into custody, charged with committing an atrocious assault on Louis Feldman, secretary of the church. Feldman is now at his home in Bound Brook in a critical condition from blood poisoning resulting from a bite on his hand, which he charges Rubienovitz with inflicting while in a fit of rage.

The arrests are the outcome of a row that followed the efforts of a manufacturer to unite the warring factions by inviting them to his home for a peace conference. Rubienovitz and Kleine, who are the leaders of the faction supporting Rabbi Levenstein, attempted to capture the book of records of the church from Secretary Feldman, who belongs to the opposing factio. Feldman retained his hold on the book until one of his fingers were nearly bitten off. It has since required the efforts of three physicians to save his life.

The prisoners were taken before Justice Sutphen, who held them under bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. Kleine and Rubienovitz have made counter charges of assault against Secretary Feldman and his arrest will follow if he recovers.

GOOD YEAR FOR THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

BIGGER CONGREGATION AND MORE MONEY RAISED.

The annual meetingh of the Congregational church and society were held last night. They were well attended.

Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, the pastor, presided over the church meeting, with Roland Rice secretary. The attendance was large.

The pastor, in his report, said the year had been very encouraging in all departments of activity. The congregations were larger, and twenty-five new members were added to the roll during the twelvemonth. The losses were thirteen by letter and six by death. The total membership is 301. The Sunday-school is growing, with an average attendance of 137. Fourteen Sunday-school members joined the church during the year.

The church gave a total of $2,900 to benevolences, more than in any previous year. Of the sixty churches in the association, which includes Baltimore and Washington, the Plainfield church is one of twelve that gave to all seven of the Congregational causes. It is fifth in the amounts of its giving and fifth in the size of average individual contributions. It gave $10.45 per member. Plainfield is first in the proportion of its benelovences to the sum of home expenditures.

Roland Rice was re-elected clerk. J. A. Powlison and L. B. Morgan were elected deacons. Henry Nomer, Curtis Bates and A. W. Neilson were elected to the Official Board.

On motion by J. M. Whiton, a tankard and two goblets presented for communion service by his mother, were set aside for presentation to some missionary church. Another tankard and four goblets will be given to another mission church as a gift from this church. The church recently changed to the individual communion service.

At the society meeting, J. M. Whiton presided, with Roland Rice as clerk. The report of Treasurer M. C. Van Arsdale showed receipts of $4,000, the largest amount received in any year of church history. There is a small balance over all indebtedness.

The salary of the pastor was increased $400 a year. Frank A. Weeks, Charles E. Steiner and Everett L. Morgan were elected to the Board of Trustees, to serve two years. James McClymont, Jr., was elected auditor and Roland Rice clerk.

The trustees met after the meeting and organized as follows: President, J. E. Morse; secretary, E. L. Morgan; treasurer, M. C. VanArsdale; chief usher, Clarence La Rue.

Oddfellow Anniversary.

Noah Dove Encampment, I. O. O. F., will celebrate the eighty-eighth anniversary of Oddfellowship tonight, by holding a reception for members and friends in Oddfellows Hall. The anniversary date falls on April 26 and the local Oddfellow lodges will observe it next week.

DEFINES PICKETS' RIGHTS

After Hearing Machinists' Union Delegates, Mayor Explains the Law to Them.

POLICE BOARD SESSION

Hearing of the Case Against Patrolman Nicholas Myers Is Again Adjourned.

While the police committee of the Common Council was in session for the discussion of the Patrolman Meyers shooting case, last night, a delegation from the local Machinists' Association asked permission to appear before the body and have some police matters defined, relative to "picketing" the Krom shop. The union machinists have been fighting Krom for a long time and ever since he has been bringing in non-union men from out of town, they have had pickets about the shop on North avenue.

On several occasions, clashes have occurred between the men and of late the police have refused to allow the pickets to remain about the premises. The delegation called last night to ask just what the association's representative would be allowed to do. They received a cordial welcome from Mayor Fisk, who expressed pleasure at being able to discuss the matter with them and he outlined the city's stand in detail.

The mayor declared that the police did not propose to interfere with their rights as citizens, but they would not allow them to overstep the bounds of the law. He informed the delegation that the pickets could walk along North avenue and Berckman street if they wanted to, but they would be stopped from gathering in groups and holding up the employes who came out. The mayor assured the delegation that the city did not want to appear arbitrary and if the union machinists kept within the law they would not be bothered in any way.

Several of the delegation members took occasion to acquaint the committee with the phases of the trouble and the discussion was profitable to both sides. Mayor Fisk seemed much impressed and asserted that the machinists would receive every consideration and that their rights would be given the same protection as is accorded the other side.

The committee received a communication from the S. P. C. A. asking for an officer to assist them in their work. Detective-Sergeant John Flynn was assigned to investigate all cases coming from this source and the organization will be informed just what is required of them in the making of complaints and securing the assistance of the police department. Complaints may be sent by telephone or communication, but when an S. P. C. A. officer asks for the arrest of an offender, he must accompany the policeman to headquarters or secure a warrant.

The Patrolman Meyers shooting case, which was heard last week and laid over for further investigation, was again discussed but no action was taken. There are several points that the committee has not fully satisfied itself upon and the body prefers to have them cleared up before making final disposition of the charge. It will probably be settled at the next regular meeting of the committee to be held on May 3.

P. S. C. Numbering Its Poles.

When Mayor Charles J. Fisk and other city officials held a conference with the Public Service Corporation representatives, a few weeks ago, in reference to renewing the lighting contract for the coming year, Councilman W. S. Tyler suggested that the company adopt some system of numbering its electric poles throughout the city. The suggestion was favorably received and employees of the company are now engaged in the work of numbering each pole.

Rev. L. L. Croom Now Pastor.

The members of the Ebenezer Baptist church met Monday night and elected these trustees: J. H. Saunders, William Boyd, Edward Parson, James Ford and Pine Yetman. It was voted that the present place of worship be continued and that Rev. L. L. Croom be chosen as the successor to Rev. P. T. Morris, who has left that field. Mr. Croom is now in charge of the church and the work.

Will Celebrate Golden Wedding.

Captain and Mrs. James Parker, parents of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McClean Parker, of West Seventh street, are planning to celebrate the golden anniversary of their marriage at their home in Perth Amboy in June. Captain Parker is a well known personage throughout the State and the event will be of unusual interest. He and his wife are now visiting here.

Mrs. M. H. Ewart, of Fairview avenue, gave a party yesterday afternoon in honor of her son, Roswell, who celebrated his ninth birthday anniversary.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

STIRLING.

An entertainment will be given tomorrow night in Maennerchor Hall by the Gold Medal Minstrels of Plainfield, under the auspices of the athletic association of this place. A dance will follow the entertainment, and special music will be rendered by John Ananson.

The cottage prayer meeting of the Presbyterian church of this town will be held tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Ananson, of Chestnut street.

Mrs. E. Doshchian, of New York, is the guest of her brother, Esia Stombolian, of Union street.

SUMMIT.

The Board of Excise Commissioners of this city will hold a special meeting Saturday to consider the application of Bailey Curtis for a license for the Beechwood Hotel. At the time of the regular meeting of the Board last month the Beechwood Hotel had not been leased for the coming season, and, consequently, no one applied for the license. The Beechwood has always been granted a license, and there is little doubt that the board will grant it this season.

Lester Long, captain; Allan Kissock, manager; Herbert Buckley, Henry Kirkpatrick, Wesley Oaks, Alfred Alesbury and George Barr are the members of the High School basketball team who have received fobs for their good work during the past season.

BOUND BROOK.

Mr. and Mrs. Job Moore, of Phillipsburg, and daughter, Miss Clara Moore, of Orange, were recently entertained at the home of Mrs. Moore's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Giles, in Washington street, South Bound Brook.

Mrs. Anna M. Lake, of York, Pa., who had been spending some time in the Southern States, is being entertained at the home of her cousin and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Byer, in Elizabeth street, South Bound Brook.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Kline, of Fisher's Island, are being entertained at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brokaw, at Cedar and High streets, South Bound Brook.

Mrs. George C. Somers and daughter, Miss Ethel Somers, who had been visiting relatives in New York, have returned to their home in Elizabeth street, South Bound Brook.

Chauncey V. Cook, of West High street, Bound Brook, has gone to Indianapolis, Ind., where he will spend several months.

ROSELLE—ROSELLE PARK.

Mrs. Horace R. Benedict, of Fifth avenue, and Mrs. James L. Benedict, of Fourth avenue, who had been spending several days at Atlantic City, returned home Tuesday.

J. W. Goodliffe and son have bought the Roepke residence, on Second avenue, and will occupy it.

ELIZABETH.

Detectives Manning and Sullivan, of the Jersey Central, arrested on suspicion, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, three young men at the Elizabethport station. The prisoners gave their names as John McAleer, Charles Anderson and John Dougherty, and said they belonged to Pottsville, Pa., and Philadelphia. When searched at the police station a loaded revolver was found on McAleer and a black jack on Andrews. The men will be held for a further examination.

A big truck belonging to Dunham & Son, of Rahway, was struck by a trolley car Tuesday night on Morris avenue. The truck, which had a new coach on it, was badly damaged and the car fender was broken. The driver of the truck escaped unhurt.

NORTH BRANCH.

Rev. Charles E. Corwin, of New Brunswick, who will be the new pastor of the Reformed church in this place, has been elected a member of the Raritan Ministerial Association, and his father, Rev. Dr. E. T. Corwin, who will make his home with his son, has been restored to membership. He was formerly a charter member of the association.

Misses Mary and Margaret Van Derbeek, of this place, have returned from a visit at Annandale. While there they attended the wedding of their cousin, Miss Mabel Krymer, to John Alpaugh, of Allentown.

Rev. John Hart, pastor of the Reformed church at Neshanic, will lecture next Sunday afternoon in the schoolhouse at Frankfort.

John A. Powelson, of Pluckemin, who has been confined to his home by illness for two months, is able to be about again.

Miss Mary E. Powelson, of Pluckemin, has gone to Camden to spend a few weeks with her brother.

MORRISTOWN.

At a joint meeting of committees of the Civic Association and the Merchants' Association Tuesday evening it was decided to hold a public meeting April 24, when addresses will be made showing the necessities for the construction of sewers. Those who attend will be urged to efforts furthering the scheme. The date of the election on the question has been fixed for April 30. A few days previous to the election notices will be mailed to voters calling their attention to the date of the election and asking them to be certain not to neglect to cast a ballot favoring this public improvement.

The annual meeting of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church will take place this evening. A musical programme has been arranged, and there will be a pro-educational debate upon the question, "Resolved, That the horse is superior to the automobile."

WHITEHOUSE.

The Reformed Church Sunday-school at Peapack has awarded souvenirs to the scholars present at every session during the past three months, and also to those who brought in new members.

Mrs. Ethelbert O. Blazure, of Peapack, has been entertaining Mrs. William Acken and Mrs. Charles Acken, of Millington, for a few days.

The classis of Raritan has expressed its choice for Rev. James F. Zwemer for the chair of theology in the Western Theological Seminary.

Former Sheriff and Mrs. John T. Cox, of Readington, are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. George Hall, of Three Bridges, for a few days.

Frank A. Blackwell has returned to Pennington, after a visit to his daughter, Mrs. William W. Shampanore, at Whitehouse Station.

K. L. Ryman and family have moved from Newark to their country residence, near Whitehouse, for the spring and summer.

Miss Ida Lindsley, who had been spending the winter in Brooklyn, has returned to her home in Whitehouse Station.

Ernest S. and Miss Harriet Higgins have returned to Plainfield, after a visit to their grandfather at Centreville.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The lineup of the local ball team for the opening game Saturday afternoon with the Scotters has not been announced as yet by Manager Johnston. There will be a number of candidates out who will try for a place on the regular team and it is likely that they will all be given a try out during the game so as to enable Manager Johnston to see just what he has got and where they belong.

The borough fire department just missed a call yesterday morning. Some tinners making repairs to the O'Reilly house on Park avenue neglected a charcoal fire, the high winds soon scattered the glowing coals about the roof and before the danger was discovered a merry little blaze was in progress.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pope, who have been making their home with Mrs. Pope's mother, Mrs. John Marsh, for several years, have started housekeeping on Grant avenue, Plainfield.

It is reported that H. S. Joseph, proprietor of the old Red Star Hotel, which was burned to the ground Tuesday night, will not rebuild.

Richard Hart has resigned his position with Archibald & Scudder, of Westfield.

Miss Cora Miller has been entertaining out of town friends.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Reports say that the borough nine is not ready for practise, and some scurrying will be necessary to get the team in shape for the league season.

Proposals For Furnishing Crushed Stone and Material for Culverts and Crosswalks.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, at the regular adjourned meeting held April 9th, 1907, notice is hereby given that the Committee on Streets and Sewers will meet at the office of the Committee, No. 151 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, on Thursday, May 2d, at 8 o'clock, p. m., at which time and place said Committee on Streets and Sewers will receive sealed proposals for furnishing crushed stone, and for furnishing materials for culverts and crosswalks as follows:

For crushed stone for the remainder of the year 1907, the bids to state the price per ton of 2,000 pounds, for furnishing the following sizes, viz.:

Fine screenings, ½ inch stone, 1½ inch stone and 2½ inch stone, in such quantities, and delivered at such places in the city as the Street Commissioner may direct.

The above must be of the very best quality trap rock, free from weathered stone, dirt, clay or other foreign matter, equal in every respect to samples in Street Commissioner's office, and in every way acceptable to the said Street Commissioner.

The stone must be weighed on such scales as the Street Commissioner may direct, and a voucher or weigh bill must be delivered with every load to the said Street Commissioner or his authorized representative.

Also for furnishing the following materials for culverts and crosswalks:

Cover stone for culverts not larger than 4 feet by 3 feet by not less than 3½ inches in thickness, per square foot.

Curbing 16 inches by 4 inches, 3 to 6 feet long, per lineal foot.

Curbing 20 inches by 4 inches, 3 to 6 feet long, per lineal foot.

Crosswalk stone 24 inches by not less than 4 inches, 3 to 4½ feet long, Belgian edge, per lineal foot.

Crosswalk stone 30 inches by not less than 4 inches, 3 to 4½ feet long, Belgian edge, per lineal foot.

All to be of the best quality hard blue stone from the Hudson River quarries, equal in quality to sample in Street Commissioner's office.

No Erie, Pennsylvania or similar stone will be accepted.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Committee on Streets and Sewers will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or their agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of the prices and terms.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved.

By order of the Common Council and the Committee on Streets and Sewers.

J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., April 9, 1907.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an Ordinance, entitled "An Ordinance for the permanent improvement of streets and portions of streets of the City of Plainfield, with permanent and durable brick pavement, and to provide the necessary funds in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at eight o'clock p. m., on Monday, the sixth day of May, A. D. nineteen hundred and seven, at which time and place prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

For the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, With Permanent and Durable Brick Pavement, and to Provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments For Benefits.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the following streets and parts of streets of the City of Plainfield, shall be permanently improved with durable vitrified brick pavement on concrete foundation to be completely laid and constructed on or before the thirtieth day of November, A. D. 1907, said brick pavement to be of the depth and width hereinafter specified and to be in every respect equal to the brick pavement on Watchung Avenue in said city, and all work to be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder, and only after bids therefor shall have been solicited and received according to law, all bids to specify prices for each of said streets or parts of streets separately.

Somerset Street, from the northerly side line of Front Street to the bridge over Green Brook;

Watchung Avenue, from the southerly side line of East Front Street to the southerly side line of East Fourth Street, exclusive of the portion of said Watchung Avenue already provided with brick pavement;

Arlington Avenue, from the northerly side line of West Seventh Street to the southerly side line thereof; also from the northerly side line of West Eighth Street to the southerly side line thereof;

Sec. 2. That said streets and portions of streets described in Section 1 shall be paved for the entire width between curbs of said streets respectively for a depth of 10 inches, that is to say, 5 inches concrete, 1¼ inches sand and 3¾ inches brick, said pavement to be extended to the side lines of said streets at each intersecting street, and shall be laid down to the grades already established by ordinance for said streets or portions of streets respectively.

Sec. 3. That for the purpose of obtaining money for the sale of bonds hereinafter specified for the permanent improvement of said streets and parts of streets as aforesaid, in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits, the Common Council of the City do hereby, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, authorize the issuing of forty-five registered municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield, of One Thousand Dollars each, amounting in all to Forty-five Thousand Dollars, which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of four and one-half per centum per annum, payable semi-annually and be payable nineteen years from said date of issue with the option of the city to redeem or pay off the said bonds, or any one or more of them at any time after one year from date of issue, and before nineteen years from said date of issue, on giving personal notice to the said holders of said bonds, or thirty days notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the city, of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds may severally or collectively be sold for an amount not less than par value, and the interest on said bonds shall be raised annually by taxation and the principal be paid by the city at maturity, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefited, shall, when collected, be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have been completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively; by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements, therefore no assessment for benefits to pay the cost thereof, but the whole cost thereof is required to be paid by the City, and the said statute further provides that to defray the costs and expenses thereof, the registered or coupon bonds of the City may be issued; and

Whereas the Common Council desires to issue the coupon bonds of the City to the amount of said sum of Nine Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($9,500) to provide for the said difference between the cost and expenses of said improvement including all incidental expenses and the amount of the assessment for benefits as aforesaid, the said bonds to be used (1) to discharge the notes or temporary obligations of the City issued under said acts of the Legislature so far as the same exceed in amount the assessments for benefits, and (2) to satisfy and discharge whatever may remain due on the cost and expenses of the work; and to issue the coupon bonds of the city to the amount of Fifty-eight Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($58,500) to defray the costs and expenses of the improvement concerning which there was no assessment for benefits as aforesaid, the whole amount of the coupon bonds which it desires to issue as aforesaid, being the sum of Sixty-eight Thousand Dollars, all as provided in said Acts of the Legislature; and

Whereas the Common Council by resolution adopted April 9th, 1907, did authorize the issue of bonds and coupons in the premises in the form annexed to said resolution, which said resolution together with the forms therein referred to are on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Plainfield and are hereby referred to for greater certainty:

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

Section 1. That pursuant to the statutes in such case made and provided, and in accordance with said resolution of the Common Council adopted April 9th, 1907, there be issued in the form annexed to said resolution on file in the City Clerk's Office coupon bonds of the city to the said amount of Sixty-eight Thousand Dollars ($68,000), the said bonds to be used for the purposes aforesaid, and the said bonds to be in denominations of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) each, to bear date the first day of May, nineteen hundred and seven, and to be payable as follows: May first, nineteen hundred and eight, two bonds of one thousand dollars each, and on the first days of May in each and every year thereafter, down to and including May first, nineteen hundred and forty-one, two bonds of one thousand dollars each, said bonds to bear interest at the rate of four and one-half per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and the semi-annual coupons to be annexed to said bonds to be for the sum of Twenty-two Dollars and Fifty Cents ($22.50) each, and said bonds and coupons respectively to be in the form annexed to said resolution, the said bonds all to be impressed with the corporate seal of the City, and to be signed by the Mayor and attested by the City Clerk, and the coupons to bear the engraved or lithographed fac-simile of the signature of the City Clerk.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., April 9, 1907.

AN ORDINANCE

For the Assessment of Taxes For the Year 1907.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That pursuant to the statutes and ordinances and resolutions in such cases made and provided, there shall be assessed and raised by tax for the year nineteen hundred and seven, for the general purposes of said City, exclusive of School, Library, Poor, Fire and State and County Taxes, the sum of Sixty-one Thousand and Ninety Dollars ($61,090), (this sum includes the sum of Thirty-five Thousand Dollars ($35,000) to be raised by general tax for street improvements); for the expense for said year for lighting the public streets and places in said city, as ascertained and determined by resolution of the Common Council and certified to the Assessors of said City, the sum of Fourteen Thousand Dollars ($14,000); for the principal of such sewer bonds (except obligations payable out of assessments and temporary obligations) as may mature during the ensuing fiscal year, under and by virtue of the Act of the Legislature, entitled "An act to provide for drainage and sewerage in cities of this state," approved April 7, 1890, and the several amendments thereof and supplements thereto, and proceedings had and taken thereunder in said City, the sum of Four Thousand Dollars ($4,000); for interest on the obligations of the City issued under said last mentioned Acts, the sum of Nine Thousand Dollars ($9,000); for the support of the City Poor, the sum of Six Thousand Seven Hundred Dollars ($6,700), (included in the last named sum is the sum of One Thousand Dollars for the purpose of supporting and maintaining such indigent patients as may be sent to Muhlenberg Hospital by order of the City Physician, Overseer of the Poor, or other proper authority of the City, pursuant to Chapter LXXVI, P. L. 1886, payable December 31, 1907, pursuant to contract between the Muhlenberg Hospital and the City); for the maintenance of the Public Library and Reading Room, the sum of Seven Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($7,500); for the maintenance of a Fire Department, to be under the control and government of said City, the sum of Twenty-nine Thousand Dollars ($29,000); for interest of School Bonds authorized under City Ordinance to fall due during the said year, the sum of Five Thousand Four Hundred and Forty Dollars ($5,440); for principal falling due May 2d, 1907, of bond issued for purchase of land for garbage disposal purposes under Chapter XL of the laws of 1895 and supplement thereto, Seven Hundred Dollars ($700); and in addition to the foregoing, a license fee of Two Dollars ($2.00) to be paid by the owner of every dog within the City of Plainfield.

THE SHIP ARRIVED TOO LATE.

Dress Goods Sensation.

1.00 to 1.50 Suitings 69c and 79c.

In all the long history of this establishment we have never captured a better bargain than this for you in the way of dress stuffs.

These are this season's goods secured from an importer who had more than a hundred pieces left on hand—an impatient dealer couldn't wait for his ship to come in and wired "cancel order." They are just such fabrics as are most popular this season for Springtime and Summer wear and are strictly perfect in every particular. We are mighty glad to get them.

Think of it! All Wool and Silk and Wool Imported Suitings, in exquisite light colorings with dainty hairline checks and pretty plaid effects, in richest blues, tans, browns, etc., and some in darker colors with over checks and plaids of silk; still others in silk warp weaves in tan, gray, green, etc.; goods measuring 40 to 44 inches wide.

IMPORTED TO SELL AT $1, $1.10 AND $1.50 A YARD.

On Bargain Table No. 10, near the New Street elevator, we will offer them

Tomorrow and Saturday 69c and 79c.

See the Broad Street window display revealing the goods in all their pristine glory.

BOYS' CLOTHING.

"EXACTLY RIGHT" GARMENTS.

The tailoring on the clothing we sell for boys is just as carefully done and the same close attention to details is paid in their construction as is given to the splendid clothing we sell for men. The cloth, linings, even the buttons are of a quality not to be questioned. It is clothing built for boys—not only to look boyish but to stand the hard wear which vigorous youngsters always give it.

Prices here are exceptionally low.

These Suits $4.98.

We sell you a suit at $4.98 that is not matched by any other store in town. We say this in all confidence and we ask you to prove it to your own satisfaction.

These suits are made in Double Breasted, Single Breasted and Norfolk styles for the bigger boys and have knickerbocker or regular trousers, and with some suits two pairs of knickerbockers; and for the little chaps they are made in snappy Sailor and Russian Blouse styles, cut from blue serges, fancy worsteds and cheviots; strongly stitched; nicely lined, and tailored to perfection. Surely unequaled at $4.98

Reefers, too, at $4.98.

If you desire something a little cheaper here are suits at $1.98, or a little better, here are suits up to $12.98.

Suits for young men of 14 to 20; gray, brown, blue and black; some plain; some of fancy mixtures, at prices running to $20.

Boys' Trousers—Knickerbocker or straight styles; all made with patent waistbands and taped seams, 50c, 75c, $1.50 and $2.

New Spring Blouses, with or without collars attached, 24c, 48c, 75c.

DIAMOND DUST.

Fred Parent has signed a contract to play with the Boston Americans the coming season, thus putting a stop to the many rumors about him. He is now covering an outfield position.

"Billy" Gilbert will cover second base for the Trenton Tri-State League Club, at a salary, he says, as large as he received last year.

Corridon, the former Providence pitcher, now with the Philadelphia Nationals, gives promise of making a fine record this year. Thus far he has been very effective.

Twice since the American League season opened Bender, the Indian pitcher, has saved the game twice for his team by going in the box in the ninth inning to relieve the regular boxman.

Charley Wagner, of last year's Newark Eastern League Club, has not made a hit since he joined the Boston Americans this year. His fielding has been brilliant.

It is generally admitted that scorers of college baseball games, as a rule, are too severe on hitters. They are prone to charge up an error, unless a fielder gets the ball right in his hands. The method has been discouraging to players.

Corcoran, who is covering the middle sack for the Giants, is making good with the fans. His fielding and hitting are an improvement on that of "Billy" Gilbert.

The Elizabethport Stars will endeavor to open the season next Sunday, if the weather-man is good to them. Hoboken will be the opposing team.

"Willie" Deegan, now of the Jersey City Eastern League Club, has not had much of an opportunity to show himself yet. He claims to be in fine condition.

Watch The Daily Press bulletin every afternoon for the final results of the big league games.

GOLF.

All interest is now centered in the opening of the golf season on Saturday at the Plainfield Country Club, the Park Golf Club and the Westfield Golf Club. There will be regular events with special competitions to attract the members, and there will be social features at the different club-houses.

The season schedule of events at the Plainfield Country Club will be sent to the members before Saturday, with all the detailed information about the competitions, together with a list of officers and committees. The prizes will equal in number and value those of last year. The tennis schedule will be issued at the same time.

Mrs. Hildebrand Fitzgerald will probably not take part in golf competitions until late in the season. She has been recovering at her summer home in Montrose, Pa., from a serious runaway accident last June.

The Golf committee of the Park Golf Club will have its schedule for the season ready for distribution within a short time. It will be fully as strong as last year, with additional competitions for prizes.

Several improvements are being made in the course at the Plainfield Country Club preparatory to opening the season. Some of these will be of benefit to the women contestants.

The Westfield Golf Club schedule, which made its appearance a week ago, is considered one of the best ever issued by the club. The competitions for men and women are very attractive and handsome prizes are offered the winners. Sunday golf promises to be exceedingly popular at the club this season.

F. C. Jennings, who will sail for Europe on Saturday, will be missed from the local golf courses for some time to come. He was a familiar player at the Plainfield Country Club and the Park Golf Club.

ICE AND COAL INSPECTOR.

Governor Stokes' signature having been attached to Philip Daab's bill providing for an inspector is now enabled to take action for the protection of the local public. Under the provisions of the law, an inspector appointed by that body would be empowered to inspect the weight of coal, ice and any wares and merchandise offered for sale wherever they may be found. In case he finds the weight less than represented, it is his duty to prosecute the fraudulent individual, firm or corporation. The salary of such inspector may be fixed at the pleasure of the Common Council but it must not exceed $1,000 a year.

It is suggested that the city fathers might delegate such duties to the overseer of the poor. If this were done $5,000 a year would be an ample salary and would be money well spent in the interests of the householder.

THE PEACE CONGRESS.

The Peace Congress, which came to a close yesterday, not only reawakened sentiment against wars but blazed the way for the Hague Conference. In the first place it recommended that the Hague Court be made a permanent institution and that it be open to all nations of the world. All international disputes, which cannot be adjusted by diplomacy, it suggested, be referred to that body for settlement. It also advised that the Conference extend to private property at sea immunity from capture in war. That the United States urge upon the Hague Court action looking to the limitation of armament was another resolution framed by the delegation representing all the civilized nations of the earth.

MORRISTOWN MAN LEAVES $2,000,000

WILL OF AURELIUS HULL ADMITTED TO PROBATE AT MORRISTOWN.

By the will of Aurelius Hull, admitted to probate yesterday in the Morris County Surrogate's office, Charles A. Hull, of Brooklyn, and Hattie T. Hull, of Morristown, are heirs to $2,000,000, and are appointed executors and trustees of the estate. Miss Irene Mills, Miss Maria A. Mills, and Miss Mary Mills are to receive $2,500 each. Mrs. Caroline H. Maxwell is left $1,500, and James K. Folk, the colored coachman, $500.

A fund of $150,000 is left in trust to the executors, one-third of the income from which goes for the support of his daughter-in-law, Elizabeth Van Rens Hull, widow of George L. Hull, as long as she remains a widow. The remaining two-thirds will go to the support of her son, George L. Hull, Jr.

Another fund of $15,000 is left to the executors in trust, the income to be paid to Miss Mary E. Starr during her lifetime, and at her death the principal to revert to the estate. The sum of $12,000 is left in like manner for Miss Josephine D. Hull, and $8,500 for Mrs. Caroline H. Maxwell.

Lone Bandit a Brakeman.

New Haven, Conn., April 18.—Booted and spurred and carrying two loaded revolvers in holsters slung from a leather cartridge belt full of "thirty-eights," Leroy Robert Taylor was arrested last night, accused of being the line highwayman mounted on a mustang who held up three men near Montowese. Taylor is a brakeman on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. He is six feet tall, well built and twenty-four years old.

MISS STEWART A BRIDE

A SOCIETY EVENT

Rev. Dr. Zelie Officiates—Mrs. Percy H. Stewart Matron-of-Honor—Handsome Gowns Add Brilliancy to the Occasion.

Miss Elizabeth Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Stewart, of West Seventh street, and William Fleet Taliaferro, also of this city, were married yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of two hundred society folk from this city and distant points. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, officiated.

The bride, gowned in white satin, trimmed with old point applique lace, an heirloom, carried a bouquet of bride roses and her ornaments were a diamond crescent and a diamond and ruby ring, gifts of the groom. She was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, as matron-of-honor. She wore a white embroidered satin gown, trimmed with lace, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Eva Stewart, a niece of the bride, and Master Ned Lewis, dressed in white, acted as flower bearers. The best man was Robert Taliaferro, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Percy H. Stewart and Edward Geer.

It was a white wedding and this scheme was effectively carried out through the various rooms. In the parlor, the reception and dining rooms palms and white roses and carnations were used extensively. In the hall behind a large bank of palms, an orchestra was seated and after the wedding march an attractive programme was rendered during the reception, which last until after 6 o'clock.

Early in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Taliaferro left for a wedding trip. They will be away a month and upon their return will reside at 502 West Seventh street.

Mrs. Taliaferro received a wealth of gifts, including rare imported china, cut-glass and silverware and many other things both useful and ornamental. The display was considered one of the most attractive ever seen in Plainfield.

The groom is a member of one of the oldest families in Virginia, and he formerly resided in Gloucester county. He is now engaged in business in New York as a cotton broker, being a member of the firm of Taliaferro & Sherwood.

STOKES SIGNS THE REFERENDUM BILL

ALSO APPROVES $500,000 YEARLY APPROPRIATION FOR STATE ROADS.

Governor Edward C. Stokes yesterday signed several bills which will have a direct bearing upon Newark and other first class cities in this State. The most important of these is Assemblyman Tumulty's bill establishing initiative and referendum in this and every city, town, borough and village in the State.

The new law provides that upon the presentation of a petition signed by 10 per cent. of the voters of any municipality or county in the State, to the legislative body, such as the Common Council, township committee, or Board of Freeholders, such body shall consider any ordinance, resolution, or other statement of public policy which the petitioning voters may ask.

Measures so proposed must be given consideration by the body or board to which they are presented and will take precedence over all other measures except such as are immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health or safety.

Unless such measures shall be passed by the municipal body without change or amendment and shall be approved by the Mayor or other chief executive within ninety days after the petition is presented, it shall be the duty of the chief executive officer to issue a proclamation submitting the proposed measures to the people at the next succeeding or regular election or at a special election.

This law will make it possible to put up to the Common Council of Newark any measure that is favored by 6,000 voters. It is probable that many of the reformers who have been favoring an initiative and referendum law will begin the circulation of petitions calling for new taxation, excise and local legislation.

Two Victims of Gas.

Joseph Kavanaugh and Patrick Smith were found dead in their beds at a boarding house on Rahway avenue, Elizabeth, this morning. A gas jet turned on full showed how they died. It is believed to be a case of accident. The victims were workingmen.

Dr. T. H. Dundon, of the borough, attended the annual banquet of the faculty of the Post Graduate Hospital, New York, at Delmonico's, last night.

DECISION IS RESERVED IN SUMMIT WILL CASE

JUDGE ATWATER GIVES HEARING IN DISPUTE OVER $35,000 ESTATE.

An interesting case to the residents of Summit, in which decision was reserved, was argued yesterday in the Union County Orphans Court before Judge Atwater. It was a demand made by the residents of Summit on William Cranstoun, of that city, for an accounting of the estate left by Dr. Nicholas Cheeseborough, of Summit, which is valued at about $35,000. It includes, beside other valuable property in Summit, the Beechwood hotel there.

By the provisions of his will Dr. Cheeseborough, left his estate in trust to be disposed of and the proceeds used to erect and endow a large orphan asylum for the city of Summit. Three trustees were originally named in the will and this number was afterward, it is said, increased seven.

Some time later the trustees resigned, leaving Mr. Cranstoun the sole executor for the estate. Dr. Cheeseborough died April 6, 1898. No accounting of the estate was made by the executor until two months ago, when Surrogate Parrot, at the request of the people of Summit, who appealed to him, demanded that Executor Cranstoun make an accounting. This statement, it is claimed by the Summit people, is not satisfactory, so they called the attention of Attorney-General Robert H. McCarter to the matter, and he filed in the Orphans' Court exceptions to the correctness of the accounting.

The attorney-general was unable to appear in court yesterday, but was represented by Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, of Plainfield, who made the argument for the Summit residents. Executor Cranstoun was represented by former Judge Abel J. Smith, of Hoboken, who defended the accounting as being accurate. Judge Atwater reserved his decision.

Bequeath $200,000 to Yale.

New York, April 18.—Announcement was made yesterday of two bequests of $100,000 each recently made to Yale University. By the death of Edward West Currier, of New York city, Yale comes into possession of $100,000. The fund is to be known as the Nathaniel Currier Fund, its income to benefit deserving students needing assistance. By the will of William C. Egleston, who died on March 25, in New York city, Yale gets another $100,000.

DIVORCE JUST WON, NEW BRIDE CHOSEN.

First Wife Left Him Day After Their Marriage, Having Changed Her Mind.

Within a few days after his divorce from his first wife, Meyer Bookman, a painter, of No. 216 York street, Jersey City, has issued invitations to his second wedding. Last Friday he was granted a decree on the ground of desertion. His first wife left him within an hour after the wedding had been performed in the office of Justice McKenna in Grand street.

This wedding occurred during the Christmas holidays of 1903, when Bookman's bride, a Philadelphia woman and a distant relative, paid a visit to the home of the Bookmans. He fell in love with her and he wooed so ardently that he won her consent to marriage before the Christmas festivities ended.

The bride was overwhelmed with congratulations but she received them coldly, much to the surprise of the bridegroom and the surprise of the guests at the marriage feast. Mrs. Bookman discovered she did not love her husband and said she did not propose to live with him. She was allowed her way and packed her dressing case and took the next train for Philadelphia.

Bookman went to Philadelphia next day, but his efforts to win back his bride were unavailing. All she would say was that she had changed her mind. Last year Bookman entered suit for divorce and obtained a decree.

Weapon Carriers Punished.

New York, April 18.—Severe punishment meted out yesterday by the judges and magistrates of this city struck terror to the hearts of the lawless element which carries concealed weapons. Justice gave the most drastic remedy yesterday to John Keen, a negro, sentenced by Judge Rosalsky, in the General Sessions Court, to three years' imprisonment in Sing Sing for having in his possession a pair of brass knuckles. He pleaded guilty, but this did not lighten his sentence.

NEW JERSEY FAVORS MRS. DONALD M'LEAN.

This State's Representatives at D. A. R. Congress Want President-General Re-elected.

Washington, April 18.—New Jersey's thirty-two chapters are all liberally represented at the sixtieth congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, now in session at their new memorial hall in this city.

The list of New Jersey women present, which is a long one, is headed by Mrs. William D. Kerfoot, vice-president-general for her State; Miss Ellen Mecum, State regent; Mrs. E. Y. Putnam, vice-State regent; and nearly thirty other well-known women of New Jersey, both married and single.

At the State meeting of the New Jersey delegation much business was transacted, the most important of which was the hearty indorsement of Mrs. Donald H. McLean, of New York, for re-election as president-general of the society; the adoption of the report that the New Jersey delegation has in its treasury about $500 which is to be contributed to the national society toward the completion of the memorial hall, which is only partially completed, the arrangement for a fine exhibit from New Jersey to be on exhibition in the New Jersey building of the Jamestown Exposition and the confirmation of the election of Miss Mecum as State regent and Mrs. Putnam as vice-regent, which elections were held at their annual meeting last March.

As the term of office of Mrs. Kerfoot does not expire until 1908, she is relieved of all anxiety as to her "political future," and is able to help in securing the re-election of Mrs. McLean, in whose praise she speaks with much enthusiasm.

The chief interest in yesterday's session of the congress centred in the dedication of the memorial portico at the Memorial Continental hall. The regents of the thirteen original States stood on the portico, which is south of the building, looking toward the Potomac. President Charles W. Needham, of the George Washington University, delivered a short address, and the chaplain-general, Mrs. T. S. Hamlin, offered prayer.

Mrs. Donald McLean, the president-general, as chairman, submitted the report of the Continental hall committee to the congress this afternoon, and the delegates will be given an opportunity to contribute to the building fund of this structure, which is to be the permanent home of the society. A reception will be given the delegates at the library of Congress tonight.

Way to Fight Smoke.

New York, April 18.—Enemies of the smoke nuisance have the law with them. If you live near a factory whose chimneys belch noxious clouds into your windows, all you need do is to sue, and the highest tribunal in the State will stand by you. This was established yesterday, when the Court of Appeals affirmed the judgment of the Supreme Court, in awarding to Mrs. Sarah A. Ely a verdict of $4,000 against the Edison Company. Mrs. Ely had sought an injunction to stop the operation of the company's power house in West Twenty-sixth street and also to recover damages for injury already done by such operation to her residence nearby. She declared that great volumes of smoke and steam poured into her home, ruined the furniture and made life not worth living there, and she did not think she should be obliged to move. Judge Truax, in the Supreme Court, granted an injunction preventing the working of the engines in the power house and afterward Mrs. Ely recovered the verdict of cash compensation. The Edison Company appealed, but the finding of the lower court has been sustained.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Wise ways to read wise books.—Prov. iv, 1-9.

We live in a reading age. The mass of reading matter that comes from the press, from the daily newspapers, to the most profound treatises upon religion, science and philosophy has never been surpassed. In the past the chief difficulty was the absence of books. Today the great difficulty is the abundance of literature. There is scarcely a home without its dailies, magazines and in many cases libraries ranging from a few books to an immense number of volumes. In Christian homes books of all character are to be found. Christian libraries are no longer limited to Baxter's "Saint's Rest," Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" and Doddridge's "Holy Living and Holy Dying," with an occasional work of fiction hidden away by the young people of the home lest the eyes of parents should look upon it. Public libraries exist by the hundreds and in almost every village and town as well as in the large cities. The fact is that the best as well as the worst books of the world are accessible to almost every one who desires to read them.

The abundance of reading matter and its easy access today form one of the greatest problems, so far as reading is concerned. The difficulty of selection is a most serious one. It is folly to suppose that any one can read all the books that are even worth reading. The wise reader who reads to get wisdom will make no attempt to surpass in the quantity of reading. Quality is always desirable to quantity. A few books well mastered are more valuable as a means of wisdom than libraries fitted with beautifully bound volumes, the covers of which are seldom if ever opened. Books are written to be read and not for ornamental purposes. It will require no small amount of wisdom to select the wise books that are to be wisely read, and most young people especially will need to be directed in their reading by some one who has had wide experience in the selection of the best books to be read.

It is safe to say, however, that some books of all forms of literature should be read. He is certainly an unwise reader who reads nothing but poetry or history or fiction. Poetry, history, essays, science, philosophy, religion and even fiction should all have some place in our reading. The greatest danger lies in fiction. There is too much of a tendency today to read too much fiction, to read it so lightly as to enervate the mind and especially to read fiction of doubtful moral character. When it comes to fiction the popular taste of today clamors too much for the sensational, the unreal and even the immoral. Let it be known that a modern novel is a little shady in character, and it is in great demand, as the librarians at any public library can testify. This is one of the incidentals in life that prove the perversity of the human heart. What we would not listen to from the lips of another we are willing to read in private. But there is no more dangerous reading than this. The soul of a young man or a young woman may be soiled forever by the reading of one such book in a lifetime, and by the constant indulgence in such literature the inward life may be made wholly foul and unclean. Young people, as you value a clean, pure heart, cut out such reading. It leads to impure thoughts and imaginations and even to impure deeds and should have no place in the literature of one who desires by reading to be made better and wiser. Moreover, there is an abundance of good fiction not only in the writings of the masters of the past, but in the modern books of fiction. This is one of the places where we are to "avoid the very appearance of evil."

What we should read should be determined largely by the purpose of our reading. It is no longer considered a sin to read good fiction to while away an hour or simply for present entertainment, but we must guard against spending too much time upon this kind of reading. Nor is it necessarily unwise to follow to some extent our personal tastes in reading. No law requires us to pore over Shakespeare and Browning if we do not care for what they have written, nor does it betray a lack of literary taste to candidly confess that they do not appeal to us. If we prefer poetry and other poets, let us follow our preference, but no one should read nothing but poetry. History is one of the most profitable forms of reading. But the cultivated man or woman will want some knowledge of all the great authors and their works, and it is amazing what can be accomplished by a little systematic reading along these lines every day and even at odd times and moments. The only rule is to keep faithfully at it. To Christian Endeavorers it is hardly necessary to say that the Bible should have the supreme place in our reading. There is no kind of literature that it does not contain—history, poetry, law, science, philosophy, letters and even romance—and, above all, rightly read and followed, it "maketh wise unto salvation."

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. xix, 8-10; xciv, 12; Prov. i, 1-7; ii, 1-7; iii, 13-23; viii, 10, 11; John v, 39; Acts xvii, 11; I Tim. iv, 13; II Tim. iii, 14-16.

Common Sense Elasticity.

That bright Irish Endeavorer, Rev. J. D. Lamont, says that "C. E." stands for common sense elasticity, and he goes on to urge societies to use the utmost freedom in adapting to their needs the methods sent out by Christian Endeavor leaders or in rejecting them altogether. "For example," he says, "a society in the country is not obliged to meet once a week. It may meet once a fortnight or once a month if nothing better is possible."

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

April 21: "God Yearning For the World." God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son.—John iii, 16.

By REV. WALTER J. GATES, D. D.

Passages for reference: Matt. xxiii, 37-39; Mark x, 21; Luke xv, 11-32; xxiii, 34.

"How does God feel toward us?" This is perhaps the most important question we ever ask. How shall we find the true answer?

If we look around us at the great world from which we get food, shelter, clothing and the countless natural things needed for bodily life and well being, we may learn something of His power and rulership and possibly may get a glimpse of wisdom and provident care in making things work together so admirably. But we cannot search far before we are struck with the apparent disregard in the workings of nature, for all which we term moral and righteous. The good man gets no more consideration than the wicked one here. No emphasis and no reward is placed on doing the morally right. Fire, flood, lightning, disease and the host of disastrous things overtake the man striving for righteousness just as they do the vicious, until many who have searched for God only in physical nature or who have expected to find there a satisfactory direction for their deeper and purer life are grievously perplexed. The great world of nature gives them no adequate response to their search after moral right and truth and places no premium on goodness. The soul craving for authority and a master spirit to give sanction and satisfaction to the soul's search for right and duty find nothing to meet their need. Here is a grave peril to all who are earnest of soul.

But why should any one expect to find in material nature the satisfaction of the soul's needs? Heart needs heart. The person needs to have companionship with persons. We may at times get tired of men and the incessant whirl of life and crave to get back to hills, woods and clouds and streams and pillow the head on Mother Earth. All this is both of the physical and satisfies only the bodily life. It never enters the inner spirit sanctuary where we live in things of principle, truth, right, obligation and love. If our God be only a God of nature He can never lead us to the deeper treasure we crave in our moral and religious makeup.

This is just where our hope in Christ begins. He showed in His talk and acts that He had found what no other man of the race had ever discovered. He knew God as Father, who loved men and had made this world in such a way that the physical life could be sustained even if some men were bad. His inner nature could only be known by those who were loving and obedient to His directions. He was from the beginning of all things filled with a purpose to make Himself known to those who would receive Him in the tenderest and most glorious manner. His glory and joy are to be shared by His loved ones. All the treasures of the Divine holiness are to be lavished on His children who seek to know Him in righteousness and love.

The inner secret of the Divine nature is the eternal and infinite craving to give and to bless. Outflowing love, ceaseless and limitless, is the fullest expression of His being. Only Jesus has known this in its depths because He is the eternal, only begotten Son. Only He has been able to tell it to men, to live it before them to the very fullness and limit of death and then through death to bring it to light the eternal life and immortality which are for those who find the Father through Him.

Have you found rest for the soul in this personal fellowship with God through Christ? If not, yet, why not seek until you find? God needs you. You need God. He is seeking you. Let Him find you. That is the worth of life here.

Go on In the Lord's Way.

Do not examine so closely whether you are doing much or little, ill or well, so long as what you do is not sinful and that you are heartily seeking to do everything for God. Try as far as you can to do everything well, but when it is done do not think about it; try rather to think of what is to be done next. Go on simply in the Lord's way and do not torment yourself. We ought to hate our faults, but with a quiet, calm hatred, not pettishly and anxiously. We must learn to look patiently at them and win through them the grace of self abnegation and humility. Be constant and courageous and rejoice that He has given you the will to be wholly His.—St. Francis de Sales.

Thought's Effect on Action.

Change your thinking and you will change your acts, and since most of the diseases result from wrong acting produced by wrong thinking you must change your thinking before you can change your acts.—John Ramley Askin.

Lasting Happiness.

The very first condition of lasting happiness is that a life should be full of purpose, aiming at something outside of self.—Black.

Sentence Sermons.

No grip is so hard to shake off as that of early religious convictions.—Maurice Thompson.

Courage does not consist of the absence of fear, but in the subjugation of fear.—Cardinal Manning.

Either God will shield you from suffering or He will give you unlimited strength to bear it.—St. Francis de Sales.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

"You have come. You have tried. You have failed," she went on after a long pause. And in spite of her efforts that deep voice of hers was gentle and wonderfully sweet. "Now—you will return to your life. I to mine." And she moved toward the entrance to the drawing-room, I following her. We stood in silence at the front doorway waiting for my carriage to come up. I watched her—maddeningly mistress of herself.

"How can you be so cold!" I cried. "Don't you see, don't you feel, how I, who love you, suffer?"

Without a word she stretched out her beautiful white hands, long and narrow and capable. In each of the uplifted palms were four deep and bloody prints where her nails had been crushing into them.

Before I could lift my eyes to her then: "But you love as a woman loves—herself first, the man afterward."

"Harvey Sayler denouncing selfishness!"

"Do not sneer," I said. "For—I love you as a man loves. A poor pale shadow of ideal love, no doubt, but a man's best, Elizabeth."

I saw that she was shaken; but face she was turning to rejoin her workmen. As I stood uncertain, dazed, she glanced at me with a bright smile. "Good-by again," she called. "A pleasant journey!"

"Thank you," I replied. "Good-by."

Driving toward the road gates I looked at the house many times, from window to window, everywhere. Not a glimpse of her until I was almost at the road again. Then I saw her back—the graceful white dress, the knot of blue-black hair, the big white hat, and she directing her workmen with her closed white parasol.

CHAPTER XXII.

Mostly About Money.

I went up to New York, to find confusion and gloom at our headquarters there.

Senator Goodrich had subtly given the impression, not only to the workers but also to the newspaper men, who had given it to the public, that with his resignation the Burbank campaign had fallen to pieces. "And I fear you'll have some difficulty in getting any money at all downtown," said Revell, the senior senator from New York state, who envied and hated Goodrich and was therefore, if not for personal reasons, amiably disposed toward me. "They don't like our candidate."

"Naturally," said I. "That's why he's running and that's why he may win."

"Of course, he'll carry everything here in the east. The only doubt was in this state, but I had no difficulty in making a deal with the opposition machine as soon as they had sounded Scarborough and had found that if he should win, there'd be nothing in it for them—nothing but trouble. I judged he must have thrown them down hard, from their being so sore. How do things look out west?"

"Bad," said I. "Our farmers and working men have had lots of idle time these last few years. They've done too much of what they call thinking."

"Then you need money?" asked Revell, lengthened his sly, smug old face.

"We must have four millions, at least. And we must get it from those people down town."

He shook his head.

"I think not," was my careless reply. "When they wake up to the danger in Scarborough's election, the danger to business, especially to their sort of business, they'll give me twice four millions if I ask it."

"What do you wish me to do?"

"Nothing, except look after these eastern states. We'll take care of the west, and also of raising money here for our campaign during October out there."

"Can I be of an service to you in introducing you down town?" he asked.

"No, thank you," said I. I have a few acquaintances there. I'm not going to fry any fat this trip. My fire isn't hot enough yet."

And I did not. I merely called on two of the big bankers and four heads of industrial combinations and one controller of an ocean-to-ocean railway system. I stayed a very few minutes with each, just long enough to set him thinking and inquiring what the election of Scarborough would mean to him and to his class generally. "If you'll read his speeches," said I to each, "you'll see he intends to destroy your kind of business, that he regards it as a brigandage. He's honest, afraid of nothing, and an able lawyer, and he can't be fooled or fooled with. If he's elected he'll carry out his programme, senate or no senate—and no matter what scares you people cook up in the stock market." To this they made no answer beyond delicately polite insinuations about being tired of paying for that which was theirs of right. I did not argue; it is never necessary to puncture the pretenses of men of affairs with a view to saving them from falling into the error of forgetting that whatever "right" may mean on Sunday, on week days it means that which a man can compel.

I returned to Fredonia and sent Woodruff east to direct a campaign of calamity-howling in the eastern press, for the benefit of New York, Boston and Philadelphia "captains of industry." At the end of ten days I recalled him, and sent Roebuck to Wall street to confirm the fears and alarms Woodruff's campaign had aroused. And in the west I was laying out the money I had been able to collect from the leading men of Minnesota, Illinois, Ohio and western Pennsylvania—except a quarter of a million from Howard of New York, to whom we gave the vice presidential nomination for that sum, and about half a million more given by several eastern men, to whom we promised cabinet offices and posts abroad. I put all this money, not far from two millions, into our "campaign of education" and into those inpouring delegations upon Burbank at his "rural retreat."

"Don't You See, Don't You Feel, How I, Who Love You, Suffer?"

To attempt to combat Scarborough's popularity with the rank and file of his own party, was hopeless. I contented myself with restoring order and arousing enthusiasm in the main body of our partizans in the doubtful and uneasy states. So ruinous had been Goodrich's management that even at that comparatively simple task we should not have succeeded but for the fortunate fact that the great mass of partizans refuses to hear anything from the other side; they regard reasoning as disloyal—which, curiously enough, it so often is. Then, too, few newspapers in the doubtful states printed the truth about what Scarborough and his supporters were saying and doing. The cost of this perversion of publicity to us—direct money cost, I mean—was almost nothing. The big papers and news associations were big properties, and their rich proprietors were interested in enterprises to which Scarborough's election meant disaster; a multitude of the smaller papers, normally of the opposition, were dependent upon those same interprises for the advertising that kept them alive.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Eugenie Blair in "The Woman in the Case" is the very attractive announcement of the New Plainfield theatre management for this evening. Critics in the principal cities where Miss Blair has been seen, have been unanimous in the verdict that the character of Margaret Rolfe in "The Woman in the Case" is the crowning achievement of Miss Blair's career. This is remarkable considering her wonderful successes as "Zaza," "Sapho" and "Iris" of the past few years.

One of the most commending features of Max Figman's production of "The Man in the Box," is its utter freedom of suggestive dialogue or action. It is sweet and refreshing as a balmy summer breeze, and no man need fear to take his wife, sister or daughter to see it. Harold MacGrath has demonstrated that a thoroughly amusing tale can be told without risque language and doubtful situation. And as a matter of fact, there never was a French farce or suggestive story that contained as many absolutely hearty laughs and interesting moments as this American story, "The Man on the Box." Mr. Figman has achieved a most remarkable success in the leading role, and has been playing to crowded houses everywhere. He will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night.

The theatre-going public is like Oliver Twist in that it demands "more," but unlike that unfortunate urchin in that it does not want more of the same sort. It cries for novelty, and the management of the New Plainfield theatre are sure that they have an absolutely novel production in "The Vanderbilt Cup," the automobile musical comedy which comes here Monday night and in which Barney Oldfield's big 90-horse power racing cars come on the stage in a real contest.

The Two Orphans, by D'Ennery, which will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday afternoon and night, depicts events just prior to the French Revolution. The scene is laid in Paris and deals faithfully with the low order of morals of the aristocracy as well as those of the inhabitants of the slums of the French capital. The Two Orphans, Henriette and Louise, the blind girl, are invigled from their quiet provincial home by a rogue of the aristocracy. Entering Paris they are told that a guardian will meet them; instead, however, they are taken to the docks of the city and there Henriette is stolen and carried to the Marquis' chateau, where she is to become the nobleman's mistress. She escapes through the valor of the Chevalier de Vaudrey, who afterwards marries her. Louise falls into the hands of the Frochard, and is made to beg in the streets. The cruel Frochard, the poor cripple Pierre, the handsome Jacques, the reformed Magdalene, are all types of Parisian life.

SUICIDE FOLLOWS LONG BROODING.

Man Whose Young Wife Died in January Drinks Carbolic Acid In Saloon.

Orange, April 18.—Crazed with grief at the death of his bride last January, John Nerney drank carbolic acid in the saloon of William H. O'Mealy, in Freeman street, shortly before 1 o'clock Tuesday morning, and died soon after in the Orange Memorial Hospital, just as the ambulance, which had borne him there and had returned full speed to his mother's home, at No. 220 Valley street, was entering the gates with his mother and sister inside.

Nerney was devotedly attached to his young wife, and when she died suddenly in January he was prostrated. Lately he had considered the advisability of going to Minnesota to start life anew, and he went about town Monday seeing his friends in an endeavor to get some one to go with him. He could find no one.

COUNCILMEN WANT PAY.

Elizabeth Body Votes Down Resolution to Serve Gratis.

Elizabeth, April 18.—Local Councilmen are interested in a bill, said to have been passed by the recent Legislature providing for the payment of salaries of $500 to members of Council in cities of the second class. Councilman Nugent sent to Trenton to learn what disposition had been made of the bill, but failed to receive a definite reply.

Under the impression, however, that the bill was in the Governor's hands, Mr. Nugent introduced in the Council a resolution declaring it was the sense of the Elizabeth Councilmen that they were willing to serve without pay and requesting the Governor to veto the measure. Mr. Nugent argued that to put its provision in practise would cost the city of Elizabeth $72,000, as there are twenty-four Councilmen here.

A good-natured debate followed, but the resolution was lost by a vote of three in favor and eighteen against.

Bowling and General Sports

BOWLING

The Newark News and Plainfield Newspapermen will again meet on McLaughlin's alleys tonight in the last game of the bowling series they have been playing during the past winter. The local team will be captained by "Colonel" Archie Hacquer, who will also act as anchor, since he qualified with a 174 average in six games. Harry Hughes and George E. Firstbrook will be at the head of the Newark aggregation.

Chief Kiely's average of 196 for the forty-two games in the recent tourney shows more than anything else what he is capable of doing when it comes to bowling. It would have been well over 200 but for the fact that he met with a couple of mishaps in one series and made two bad scores, 117 and 123. They played havoc with the average and it was only by steady work afterward that he put the figures near where they should have been. His best score was 298, which stands as the city's record.

Sam Cunningham is using a new style cross alley ball these days and he had wonderful results with it yesterday afternoon. In six games he made an average of 210, a record that made the regulars turn green with envy. He asserts that the straight ball is a thing of the past now as far as he is concerned.

One of the old time devotees of the game who has returned to the alleys is Tax Collector John W. Murray, Jr. In the days of the Crescent League none of the cracks could walk away from "Johnny" and since coming back he has had the youngsters on the run. In the past two weeks his average has jumped from 150 to 185 and it promises to go still higher in a short time.

S. St. John McCutchen holds the record of 51 rolled in the cocked-hat tournament at the Park Club, a few nights ago. The tournament has been in progress during the winter and will be concluded next week.

DIAMOND DUST.

A dozen candidates for the Y. M. C. A. baseball team turned out for first practice last night on Crescent Oval. The full list of candidates will be made public Saturday.

Jack Payne, the Ajax of the police force, is trying for first base on the Y. M. C. A. nine. He played the bag on the cops' nine last year.

There is apt to be a mix on Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon. The high school has a game on there, and the Y. M. C. A. nine has issued a call for practise. It is the Y. M. C. A.'s field, but the association team may waive its rights and gambol about the garden patch. Still, there is no telling.

Mrs. Harry Shaffus, of Fairview avenue, gave a party at her home last night in honor of the Misses Herbrock, of New York, who have been her guests.

Is Indicted at Flemington for the Killing of Manning Riley.

The Hunterdon County Grand Jury yesterday returned a bill of indictment against John Schuyler for the murder of Manning Riley at Califon on January 20. Schuyler was arrested a few hours after the murder, and the coroner's jury held him on a murder charge for the Grand Jury. Riley was murdered in Main street, Califon, the crime being committed with a paling wrenched from a fence not far from the scene of the murder.

It was evident that the murderer struck Riley from behind, killing him almost instantly. Schuyler was suspected, and the alleged motive for the crime was that of revenge for a whipping that Riley is said to have administered Schuyler many years ago. Schuyler was seen near where Riley was murdered, and is said to have directed the attention of a man to something lying in the road, which proved to be Riley's lifeless body. Blood stains, it is said, were discovered on Schuyler's sweater and hat.

Schuyler maintains his innocence, and has secured the services of former Prosecutor H. B. Herr and Harry L. Stout to defend him. He will be arraigned in court Monday to plead to the indictment.

The trial is likely to be set down for May.

CAT WASHES CHICK EVERY DAY

Hen Repudiates and Puss Adopts Feathered Orphan.

South Orange, April 18.—"Rosey," a cat that has long been a pet of Louis Becker, a strawberry and pansy grower, of Burnet avenue, Hilton, has decided to place herself on the side of the great American hen.

One lonely chick was all that came from the unlucky number of thirteen eggs that were placed under a hen a few weeks ago. To make matters worse the old hen did not take to the chick, so it was left to shift for itself. This touched "Rosey's" tender heart. The sad little chick appealed to the cat mother, and instead of making a meal of it, which, after all, would have only made a half meal for her, "Rosey" took the feathered scrap under her paw and adopted it.

Now "Rosey" puts in a part of each morning washing the chick with her tongue and bestowing other marks of affection upon it. The two will sometimes sleep side by side for hours at a time.

Waiters Strike In Paris.

Paris, April 18.—The strike fever, which has been in the incipient stages in Paris for the last few days, broke out in earnest Wednesdal evening, when the waiters at several importaint cafes and restaurants quit work at the dinner hour, leaving the hungry clients sitting before empty plates. The crisis came even a little earlier at the Cafe American, where the thirsy customers on the terrace failed to get their usual aperitifs. Waiters in that establishment filed out in a body and the news ran along the Boulevard like a train of powder. Ten minutes later the waiters at Pousset's place and the Cafe Riche followed the example of their colleagues and many astonished customers were left with nobody to serve them.

Court Orders Boy Spanked.

New York, April 18.—Magistrate Crane, in the Morrisania Court yesterday, received the promise of the mother of Edward Barkman, sixteen years old, of No. 1,516 Webster avenue, whom Policeman Flynn had caught shooting craps, to spank him, put him to bed and give him a bottle of milk after he let the boy go. When he appeared in court Barkman frankly declared he believed the night he spent in a station house was sufficient punishment, but Magistrate Crane, disagreeing, called Mrs. Barkman and told her how she should punish her son. The Magistrate made sure to learn whether the prisoner smokes cigarettes before ordering his release.

Pauper Heir to Fortune.

Des Moines, April 18.—If John Ansley, an inmate of the Polk county poor farm, can prove his identity to the satisfaction of the New York courts he will soon come into possession of property valued at $200,000. This sum, the residue of the estate of Barten Ansley, who died in New York in 1877, is awaiting for Ansley. Assistant County Attorney Robert Brennan has received a letter from a New York attorney asking him to obtain needed information from Ansley.

SCORES HIS OWN PARTY.

Rahway Republican Leader Claims Every Benefit He Obtained Came from Democrats.

Rahway, April 18.—Edward Woodruff, a prominent lawyer and property owner, addressed the City Council Tuesday night and announced that he will sever all connection with Rahway owing to its method of assessment and what he calls an unjust system of taxation. The Water Board also came in for a share of his condemnation.

Mr. Woodruff has been a prominent Republican leader here for many years and has been talked of favorably as Mayor. He said Tuesday night that every benefit that had come to him in Rahway had been promulgated by the Democratic party.

KILLED WHILE AT WORK.

Rahway Man Crushed Between Freight Car and a Derrick.

James Toomey, forty-six years old, was instantly killed yesterday by being caught between a freight car and a huge iron derrick that he was running at the Continental Steel Works plant at Rahway, where he had been employed about a year. He leaves a widow and two children.

Mrs. Toomey was visiting in Philadelphia at the time of the accident. Mr. Toomey was for many years a British soldier.

Carnegie Decorated.

New York, April 18.—With two banquets, one in the Waldorf and the other in the Hotel Astor, the National Arbitration and Peace Congress, which began in Carnegie Hall last Sunday, came to an end at midnight. Speeches reviewing the work and prophesying rapid advancement in the future were made at both dinners. Besides the delegates, many distinguished persons were present. One of the notable events of the evening was the decoration of Andrew Carnegie with the Cross of the Legion of Honor, conferred by Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, one of the foremost of the world's workers for universal peace. The announcement was made at both banquets and in so doing the Baron said it was a recognition on the part of his government of the great work Mr. Carnegie had done not only as a good citizen of his own country but as a good citizen of the world.

Society on Skates.

New York, April 18.—Society has taken up roller skating. The lure of the little wheels has crept into the innermost circles of the Fifth avenue set, and dinners, dances and theatre parties are second in popularity to the newest fad. Since the end of Lent the fad has become so widespread that Lenox Lyceum, Madison avenue and Fifty-ninth street, has been hired, and there is what is known as the Friday Night Club meets as often as its name indicates. There is a membership of from seventy-five to one hundred, and on these occasions outsiders are strictly barred, although many have pleaded to be admitted only as spectators. The best of music is provided, games such as "snap the whip" are played and many of the most dignified young women and chaperons enjoy the sport.

Favors Two Fleets.

Washington, D. C., April 18.—"I think we should have battleships and fleet tactics in the Pacific, but I believe it would be a fatal mistake to withdraw battleships from the Atlantic for that purpose. When the navy is built up to its proper proportions I believe we should have sixteen battleships on the Atlantic and sixteen on the Pacific. These would form a great school for our officers and men and an impressive object lesson for any one thinking of trouble with us." In these words Rear Admiral Evans, commander in chief of the Aaltnic fleet, gave his opinion of the advisability of shifting the manoeuvring ground of representative American naval strength from the Atlantic to the Pacific because of the vital interests of the United States in that part of the world.

Rev. Dr. Mitchell Here.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Mitchell, formerly of this city, but now of Cleveland, where Dr. Mitchell is pastor of the First M. E. church, spent yesterday afternoon and last night as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Jackson, of Crescent avenue. They left for New York today and on Saturday will sail on the Steamer Republic for a six weeks' pleasure trip to Spain. Dr. Mitchell was formerly pastor of the First M. E. church, of this city, and since going to Cleveland was successful in building a handsome church there for his congregation. He recently received two flattering calls, one to Kansas City and the other to Minneapolis, where the Methodists are about to erect new church buildings. He has, however, decided to remain in Cleveland.

A Popular Salad.

Fruit salads are especially grateful just at this time of year, and a delicious pineapple salad is made as follows: Stir together carefully one part of pineapple cut into small cubes with four parts of sweet salad dressing. Serve in lettuce cups. To make the sweet dressing, thicken one cup of boiling water with one tablespoon of cornstarch, add the juice of half a large lemon, and sugar to make quite sweet. Serve very cold. Half strawberries and a half pineapple will also hake a delicious salad.

LOCAL DELEGATES' THOUGHTS ON PEACE CONFERENCE

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall and Rev. A. C. Nickerson Review Its Work

THE OUTLOOK HOPEFUL

Former Represented Suffrage League and the Later the Unitarian Church at the Sessions.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, the scholarly daughter of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe and the author of many volumes of good literature as well as a lecturer on women's topics, has returned from New York, after attending the sessions of the Peace Congress as the representative of the Plainfield-North Plainfield Equal Suffrage League. During the Congress, Mrs. Hall read a message from her mother, who was listed to speak but was unable to be present, owing to her advanced years.

"While I was much interested in the addresses of the various speakers," said Mrs. Hall to a representative of The Daily Press, "the size and temper of the audience were the most remarkable feature of the occasion. To see the vast auditorium of Carnegie Hall and its three great galleries filled with an immense throng of people, gathered to hear no sensational or exciting drama, but simply the praises of Peace, was a wonderful sight. The applause which followed the speeches showed that these thousands of listeners were in full sympathy with the object of the meeting. When we remember how unpopular many reform moovements are it is surprising, it is most encouraging to see the progress this one has already made.

"Most interesting was it to hear what had already been accomplished by the conference of the nations. The fact that fourteen countries of Europe had agreed to abolish night work for women made us regret the recent decision in New York State, which declared a similar law to be unconstitutional. Other instances of humane international agreement for the protection of the citizens of the different countries reminded us that the peace movement is practical rather than visionary in its aims. For there can be no true or lasting peace without its necessary accompaniment—'good will toward men.' Hence, it is most gratifying to learn that these international conferences have already helped to protect the weak, promote justice and fair play.

"I think there can be no doubt that women favor peace, and dread war and its results far more than men. When Miss Jane Addams, of Chicago, one of the noblest women of our day, said at the Women's Sessions of the Peace Congress, that we were neglecting our opportunity of holding up our ideal of peace and making it effective, she said a word which should arouse American women to new efforts in this direction. As Miss Addams wisely observed, peace must be invested with greater attractions, it must be made to appeal more to the imagination, before it can offset the glamour which has been cast about war by the pomp and parade of military and naval display.

"As I listened to the rendering of Mendelssohn's beautiful choral, 'How Lovely Are the Feet of Those Who Bring Us the Gospel of Peace,' by the fine choir of women's voices, I said to myself, 'This is the great preacher for peace, this beautiful hymn, which seems to bring us to the very gates of Heaven.' The blare of the trumpet, the music of the military band, have great power to stir the blood. Even greater power has the message of the Christian gospel when borne on the divine wings of music, for it expresses the highest inspiration of the human soul."

A. C. Nickerson's View.

"The Congress seemed a great success, as focusing the peace sentiment of the entire country, and in the number and quality of its representatives," said Rev. Alfred C. Nickerson, pastor of All Souls' Unitarian church. "The attendance was so great that several 'overflow' meetings were held, and the number of men in the audience, especially Tuesday evening, university night, was decidedly marked. The average utterance was not a bit cranky or nitra but simply accentuated the fact that mankind is now gradually turning its face away from 'the thousand years of war' toward 'the thousand years of peace.' Even the proposal of the United States, England and France that national disarmament should be discussed at The Hague, which nettles so many nations and individuals,

AMATEUR THEATRICALS PLEASED AUDIENCE

200 ATTEND ENTERTAINMENT FOR DAY NURSERY BENEFIT.

The entertainment, consisting of amateur theatricals, recitations and vocal selections, which was given at Truell Court, last night, for the benefit of The Day Nursery, was a great success. More than two hundred people were present and over $50 will be realized as profit for the nursery. The affair was given under the supervision of Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnston, Mrs. John Wilkinson and Mrs. Stirling Birmingham.

The features of the programme were the presentation of two farce comedies, "The Sleeping Car" and "The Mouse-Trap," both written by William Dean Howells, and too much praise cannot be given those who interpreted the different parts. Unusual cleverness was displayed by everyone and it would be difficult to give special mention for excellence to any particular member. It was the unanimous sentiment that all were exceedingly good.

The cast for "The Sleeping Car" was as follows:

"Mrs. Roberts," Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnston; "Aunt Mary," Mrs. Chas. Holbrook; "Mr. Roberts," William J. Cullen; "Mr. Campbell," and "The Conductor," William A. DeLong; "Mr. Sawyer," the Californian, Laurence Milne; "The Porter," Frank Langhorne.

"The Mouse-Trap" was presented by the following cast:

"Mrs. Somers," the widow, Miss Katherine B. Hartshorne; "Mrs. Roberts," Miss Ethel Clark; "Mrs. Benis," Miss Johnson; "Mrs. Miller," Miss Violet Clark; "Mrs. Curwen," Mrs. John Wilkinson; "Jane," Mrs. Samuel Birmingham; "Mr. Willis Campbell," William H. Webster.

In addition to the two plays there was a duet, "Fanfare," Carl Bohm, by Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnston and Mrs. Charles Holbrook; recitations, "Aux Italiens," and "Thanksgiving Day in the Tropics," by Mrs. Samuel Birmingham; vocal selections by Charles Stevens Jones, of New York; soprano solos, "Love Me and the World Is Mine," and "My Irish Maid," by Miss Maida Birmingham; vocal selections, "Fairly Caught" and "Cradle Song," by Mrs. John Wilkinson, accompanied by Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnston. Each of these numbers were well received with hearty applause.

SCHOOL SUPTS. VISIT.

Dr. Maxson and Prof. Krebs at Somerville.

Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of the Plainfield Public Schools, accompanied by Prof. H. C. Krebs, of the Borough Public Schools, visited the public schools at Somerville and the new public school at Bernardsville, yesterday. Dr. Maxson wished to cal on several teachers at Somerville with a view to engaging them to teach next year in the Plainfield schools, and it was arranged to go to Bernardsville afterward.

The school at Bernardsville was erected by Mr. Olcott and presented to the town. The plans were drawn by Mr. Olcott's own architect and the total cost was $130,000. It is finely furnished and equipped with a gymnasium. The building contains eight rooms and is considered one of the show-places at Bernardsville.

Concert Netted $60.

The Men's Association, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, met last night and closed up the account for the concert given by the Weslyan Glee Club. It was reported that the association will net about $60. Plans are being made for a public meeting to be held on Thursday night, April 25, when a well-known man will address the meeting.

Bishop Spellmeyer In Japan.

Rev. A. C. McCrea, of the First M. E. church, has received an interesting letter from Bishop Spellmeyer, who is travelling in Japan. The Bishop says that while he has seen many things abroad which are not to be found here, America is good enough for him. The Bishop has just completed an 1,800 mile trip through Japan.

Mr. McCutchen to Lecture.

Charles W. McCutchen, of the borough, will give a lecture on "Egypt and the Nile" in the North Plainfield High School tonight. It will be for the benefit of the school athletic association.

Y.W.C.A. IS ORGANIZED

Starts With Membership of Over 500 And Healthy Treasury.

MRS. MEAD PRESIDENT

Directors and Officers Elected—$4,100 Pledged Toward the Purchase of the Jenkins Property.

The organization of the Young Women's Christian Association was effected at a meeting in Y. M. C. A. Hall last night. The organization starts with a charter membership of of 513, and a fund of $2,500. Pledges to the amount of $4,100 have been received toward the purchase of the Jenkins property.

The meeting was largely attended. It was opened by Miss Blanche Snider, educational secretary for New York and New Jersey, who has been assisting the provisional committee in getting the Y. W. C. A. started. She called on Mrs. F. G. Mead, who headed the provisional committee, and the latter reported a membership list of 436. This figure was increased to 513 later in the meeting, after a general invitation to all those who had not joined.

These directors were elected: Mrs. F. G. Mead, Mrs. James Joy, Mrs. Percy Stewart, Mrs. Frederick H. Andrews, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. Dan Ginna, Mrs. W. D. Murray, Mrs. W. D. Murray, Mrs. J. W. Gavett, Mrs. John Gray Foster, Miss Susan Hubbell, Miss Lockert, Miss Harriet Squires, Miss Margaret McCutchen, Miss Marion McCutchens, Mrs. Robert Lowrie, Miss Edith, Smalley, Mrs. Runyon, Miss Elsie Goddard, Mrs. David Titsworth, Mrs. Frank French, Mrs. Elliot H. Barrows, Mrs. Conner, Mrs. Walter McGee, Mrs. Duncan Taylor.

Mrs. Cushman, vice president of the national organization, Miss Brown, secretary for New York and New Jersey, and Miss Tapping, who has been visiting the provisional committee for two weeks, spoke. The latter told of the different classes to be conducted.

The following six members of the membership committee acted as ushers at the meeting: The Misses Elsie Goddard, Eleanor Waring, Sarah Head, Minna Bach, Wakefield and Sykes. The Board of Directors organized at the home of Mrs. Mead, this morning, as follows:

President, Mrs. F. G. Mead; first vice president, Mrs. Percy Stewart; second vice president, Mrs. Robert Lowry; secretary, Mrs. Frank French; treasurer, Mrs. James Joy; chairman of finance committee, Mrs. Percy Stewart; chairman of the house committee, Mrs. John Gray Foster; chairman of social committee, Mrs. E. T. Barrows; chairman of the eudcational committee, Mrs. James Lowery; chairman of the religious work committee, Miss Susan Haskell; chairman of the membership committee, Miss Elsie Goddard.

CENTRAL HALL WILL BE RECONSTRUCTED.

Dr. Taylor Plans to Make It a More Up-to-date Structure.

Elaborate plans are being prepared for Rev. Dr. J. P. Taylor, of Park avenue, for remodelling his building at Park and North avenue, "Central Hall," following in the line of improvements which are being made in the business section of the city. The doctor proposes to tear out the whole inside of the brick structure from the ground floor up and then reconstruct it.

The entire second and third floors, the latter now used as a dance hall, will be converted into handsome offices with every convenience. The first floor will also be completely changed and an addition feature will probably be two handsome new stores on the Park avenue side of the building. F. W. Dunn, the grocer, will remain, but extensive improvements will be made in his store in keeping with the other changes planned. As soon as the plans are completed and bids received the contracts will be awarded and the work started at once.

Playing the Tank Towns.

Muir's Gold Medal minstrel troupe, of this city, is billed to appear at Stirling tonight. The company will make its way over the mountains in stages and to be certain that the storm will not cut down the attendance, will carry part of the audience with it. The show will be given in Mennechor hall and is to be followed by a dance.

Must Qualify Before May 1.

According to the new law all newly-appointed commissioners of deeds in the county must appear before County Clerk James C. Calvert on or before May 1, and qualify. The fees are increased from $2 to $6 for obtaining a commission.

CHAUFFER WHO DROVE MAYOR'S AUTO IS FINED

AND ANOTHER VIOLATOR OF SPEED ORDINANCE PAYS $10 ALSO.

James Gray, the chauffeur who was arrested at Seventh and Richmond streets yesterday, for overseepding while driving Mayor Charles J. Fisk, Leon Thurlow and a guest of theirs, was fined $10 by Judge Runyon in the City Court this morning.

Gray denied breaking the law, but Detective-Sergeant Flynn, who made the arrest, swore positively that he shot around the corner at a speed of twelve miles an hour, and told the court that Mayor Fisk had said, after the arrest, that he warned Gray to slow up when the machine turned into Seventh street. Patrolman Kelly testified that he was compelled to warn Gray about his speed not long after the arrest. The auto company which employs Gray paid the fine.

There was another arrest for auto speeding yesterday. Harry Roski, a chauffeur, was caught on Park avenue by Patrolman Dobson in the afternoon, and arraigned before Judge Ruuyon. He was fined the $10 that the magistrate seems to have fixed as the minimum penalty.

MRS. MARGARET RANSOM NOW MRS. ALBERT SMITH.

Newark Man Weds Plainfielder at the Home of Latter's Mother.

Mrs. Margaret Ransom, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Manning, of Dunellen avenue, and Albert Smith, of Newark, were quietly married at 8 o'clock, last night, at the home of the bride's mother. Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which the bride is a member, performed the ceremony.

The bride was gowned in white albatross, trimmed with lace, and she carried a large bouquet of white sweet peas. Both the bride and groom were unattended. Following the ceremony and congratulations, supper was served. The table decorations were attractive, there being a pleasing arrangement of daffodils and smilax.

Later in the evening the bride and groom left the city for a short wedding journey. Upon their return they will reside on Mt. Prospect avenue, Newark. Mr. Smith is connected with the Prudential Insurance Company, at the home office in Newark.

Among the guests were Mrs. Hannah Hoffman, of Newark, mother of the groom; Mrs. Catherine Manning, mother of the wife; Miss Catherine Manning, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Manning, Jere. L. Manning, Leland Manning, James C. Manning, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rocap, Miss Catherine Rocap, Miss Marion Rocap, Mrs. Sarah Manning, Miss Lizzie Manning, Howard Manning, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Chambliss.

FIELD SECRETARY.

Miss Julia A. Shinn, Missionary Teacher, Promoted.

Miss Julia A. Shinn, of Lakewood, for seven years a successful teacher in the Kemendine Girl's School, Burma, was elected acting field secretary of the home department of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society at the nnual meeting held this week at New Haven, Conn. Miss Julia D. Wright, of Boston, will share this office with Miss Shinn, the two secretaries taking the place made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. N. M. Waterbury a year ago and since filled by Miss Mina A. Reade, of Boston.

The headquarters of the society is at Boston. Miss Shinn is in this country on a furlough, and this position has been tendered her until Dr. Wallace St. John, her fiance, has a furlough, enabling him to come to Amecira. Dr. St. John is a professor in the Baptist College at Rangoon, Burma.

No Theatre Meeting.

There will be no therat meeting under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon, as announced. Secretary Robbie received a letter from Rev. Dr. S. Parks Cadman, of Brooklyn, this morning, in which the clerbyman wrote that he would be unable to be here. A meeting will at held at Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Abused Wife; Jailed.

Henry Lawson, colored, of 520 West Third street, was fined $100 and sentenced to jail for sixty days by Judge Runyon in the city court this morning. He was arrested last night after he had driven his wife out of the house in her night-clothes.

Gymnastic Competition.

There will be three moves in the Y. M. C. A. gymnastic championship competition next Thusday night, bar, parallels and horse.

PASTORS MADE WELCOME

Receptions Given in Honor of Return of Rev. Dr. Parsons and Rev. Mr. McCrea.

ALL WELL ATTENDED

Congregations of the First M. E. Church and Monroe Avenue M. E. Church Meet Their Ministers.

Both having been returned by the Newark Conference for another year, Rev. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, and Rev. Dr. C. W. Parsons, pastor of Grace M. E. church, were given receptions by their congregations last night.

The annual reception to Rev. and Mrs. A. C. McCrea in Vincent chapel, last night, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, and the Epworth League of the First M. E. church was largely attended by member of the church and congregation. The plan to make the affair purely an informal one was carried out and the whole evening was devoted to sociability. A feature was a musical programme by the Sagamore Mandolin and Banjo Club.

Pastor McCrea and Mrs. McCrea were given a hearty welcome in honor of their return to the church for another year and in turn the members found warm greetings awaiting them from the pastor and his wife. The cordial relations existing give promise of another successful year in the work at this church.

The Epworth League took charge of the decorations, and the chapel was attractive in the arrangement of flowers, palms and potted plants. The members of the Ladies' Aid Society acted as a reception committee and directed the serving of refreshments later in the evening.

The congregation of Grace M. E. church tendered the customary reception to Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Parsons, last night. The attendance was unusually large and it proved one of the most enjoyable occasions the members have had during the past winter. W. J. Conroy, superintendent of the Sunday-school was in charge of the proceedings and opened the programme with a congratulatory address to Dr. Parsons and his wife. The pastor responded in a fitting way.

During the evening several solos were rendered by Miss Grace Carroll. The greater part of the time was passed in an informal way, the pastor and his wife mingling with the congregations and exchanging greetings. Refreshments were served in conclusion by the Ladies' Aid Society, which arranged and had charge of the reception.

The main room of the church was attractively decorated with palms, Easter lilies and azaleas.

The annual reception to Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Roberson will be given at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church Tuesday night under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

PIANO FUND BENEFIT.

Entertainment Given by Christian Church Women.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church an excellent entertainment was given last night for the benefit of a piano fund. In addition to the proceeds several contributions were received.

A feature of the programme was a march and song figure entieled "The Coming of the Dandelions," by eight little girls. This number was given in clever fashion and was well received. Other numbers on the programme were as follows: Recitation, "Mud Pies," Miss Anna Reynolds; comic songs, Firstbrook and Wilson; piano solo, Miss Seader; recitation, "When Mamma Was a Little Girl," Miss Maud Edell; violin solo, John Mitchell; recitations, "A Bad Case," miss Helen Thompson; "The Anxious Mother," Miss Elsie Townley; cornet solo, E. E. Townley; reading, Mrs. Grannatt; mandolin solo, William F. Richards; recitations, "The Land of Story Books," Miss Isabel Gloak; "A Cricket Party," Miss Eva Edmunds.

The committee in charge comprised Mrs. E. E. Townley, chairman; Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Edell, Mrs. Manchester, Miss Nellie Bittle and Mrs. Edmunds. After the entertainment refreshments were served.

Firemen Are Hustling.

The local firemen are still working hard to make their benefit performance at the New Plainfield theatre a big success and the tickets are going fast. The firemen are to receive a percentage only from the tickets that they sell and it has spurred them on in great efforts. The attraction is to be Nat Wills in his new play, "A Lucky Dog."

Gets Ton of Coal.

Miss Margaret Whalen is the winner of the contest for a ton of coal conducted by the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Joseph's church, Division No. 1. The contest closed last night.

I. O. O. F. ENCAMPMENT ENJOYS "LADIES NIGHT"

MARKS THE EIGHTY-EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY OF ODD FELLOWSHIP.

Under the auspices of Noah Dove Encampment, No. 28, I. O. O. F., an enjoyable "ladies' night" entertainment was given in the rooms in the Babcock building, last night. In addition to numbers by local talent, professionals helped to make the occasion a pleasing one. Stephen Schleif was chairman of the committee and had charge of the programme. The affair was a celebration of the eighty-eighth anniversary of Odd Fellowship, which occurs on April 28.

Emil Closs, a clever impersonator, opened the programme with an amusing sketch, during which he told funny stories. Beach and Bechler, a musical pair, kept the audience in good humor by the introduction of funny skits. They played popular selections on all sorts of instruments, and their selections on glass bottles and tin whistles won much applause.

The numbers by local talent included bass solos by John Calder, mandolin solos by Miss Adelaide Stiglitz, accompanied by Miss Gertrude Schleif, and violin solos by Miss Elizabeth Smalley, accompanied by Miss Margaret Robley. Both Miss Stiglitz and Miss Smalley were given encores. Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan assisted throughout the evening as accompanist, and added to the pleasure of the entertainment.

Supreme Representative Pearce and Grand Patriarch Faulk each made short addresses in which they explained the benefits of Odd Fellowship and the advantages of joining the Encampment. After the entertainment adjournment was taken to the banquet room, where refreshments were served.

The committee which arranged and had charge of the affair consisted of S. H. Schleif, John Becker, Andrew Stiglitz, A. E. Martin, John A. Kriney and George Ludgate.

WEALTHY WOMAN INJURED IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Her Horse Became Frightened at Automobile Owned by Philip Latourette.

Mrs. Asa Carkhuff, wife of a well-to-do farmer, was severely injured in an accident near Somerville, yesterday afternoon, brought about by a new horse behind which she was riding, taking fright at an automobile. She is now in the Somerville hospital with a compound fracture of the skull and the doctors say her chances for recovery are very slight.

Mrs. Carkhuff's driver, John Gaddis, had charge of the horse, a spirited animal, and it became extremely nervous when an automobile owned by Philip Latourtette, of North Branch, came toward it. At Gaddis' signal, the chauffeur sent the machine to one side of the road and the horse quieted sufficiently to be gotten just beyond. It suddenly became fractious and thinking to quiet it quicker, Gaddis jumped out to catch it by the head. The animal bolted, immediately, however, and Mrs. Carkhuff was thrown heavily to the ground, striking with great force. As soon as Mr. Latourette and his chauffeur realized what had happened, they placed her in the machine and hurried her to the hospital.

Mrs. Carkhuff is one of the most prominent women in the vicinity of Somerville. Latourtette is a wealthy farmer and prominent in Somerset county affairs. He is a member of the present Grand Jury and was returning from Somerville when the accident happened.

Plumbers' Demands Unsettled.

There is no change in the situation regarding the request of the Journeymen Plumbers' Association for more money and shorter hours, which is supposed to go into effect May 6. The Master Plumbers' Association has taken no action, and both sides are simply playing a waiting game. It is understood that all the master plumbers, but one, has practically agreed to grant the increase from $21 to $22 a week with a half-holiday the year round. The report is that D. J. Galbraith seriously opposes the change, which would affect his work on St. Mary's College now being erected.

John H. Tier, Sr.'s Funeral.

The funeral of former Freeholder John H. Tier, who died yesterday morning after a long illness, will be held at his late home on Bank place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be at Hillside.

Three Days' Fair Opens.

The three-days' fair of St. Mary's church, Stony Hill, opened last night in Excelsior hall, Scotch Plains, with a good attendance.

FINE STEEPLECHASES PLANNED FOR THE SEASON

Plainfield, Linden, Cedarhurst, Meadowbrook and Bernardsville on the List.

BEGINNING TOMORROW

Big Annual Event of Watchung Hunt Club On May 30 and June 1 — To Dine the Farmers.

Local horsemen are interested in the invitation steeplechase meet to be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Linden race track, situated between Elizabeth and Rahway. Louis Batjer, of Elizabeth, is the promoter of the meet, and he is assisted by a number of well known horsemen in arranging the details. The meet is intended purely as a try-out for the horses preparatory to the big meets to be held at Cedarhurst and Meadowbrook, L. I., a little later, and it will afford a fine opportunity for enthusiasts to witness good steeplechases and flat races. No admission fee will be charged and a general invitation is extended to all interested.

There will be entries from Plainfield, including Charles W. Fisk's "Apple Jack," and "Fassifern," W. H. Wildey's "Silvert Trust," and "Reliance," and one or two horses by C. H. S. Bellows. Charles Pfizer, of Bernardsville, and others from Morristown and surrounding country have made entries.

There will be three steeplechase events, one hurdle, a flat race, ¾ of a mile, and a pony race for ponies 14.2 hands and under. No money will be offered as prizes, but instead winners of the different events will receive handsome cups. Lewis E. Waring and Robert A. Fairbairn will be the judges.

The track can be reached by conveyances from the Elizabeth or South Elizabeth stations of the Pennsylvania Railroad; by road from Elizabeth, Rahway avenue to Dark Lane directly to the track.

The big meet will be held at Cedarhurst, L. I., on Saturday, April 27, when a number of horses from this vicinity will be entered. This will be followed by the big meet at Meadowbrook on Saturday, May 4, and the third large meet will be at Bernardsville on or about May 20, in which Charles Pfizer is the leading spirit. The fourth important meet will be that of the Watchung Hunt Club, which comes later in the month. It is intended to make the local meet one of the best ever held, and preparations are now being made for the entries and other details.

The Watchung Hunt Club has been granted the dates, Decoration Day, May 30, and the following Saturday, June 1, by the National Hunt and Steeplechase Association, for the third annual steeplechase meet which will be held at the Gentlemen's Driving Park. The programme will be as strong and attractive as ever, including steeplechase and flat races, which are so popular with horsemen. Entries will be drawn from Long Island, through Union and Morris counties and from the stables of P. F. Collier in Monmouth county, while there will be a number of entries from New York, including many of the old favorites.

The club will give the usual dinner to the farmers on Saturday, June 1, after the races. This is a return favor for the privileges given to the club by the farmers in allowing the members to ride over their lands. A feature of the races will be the one for local farm horses. This always attracts a large number of entries.

Surprised Mrs. Sarah Greene.

A surprise party was given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Greene, of West Fourth street, last night, in honor of Mr. Greene's mother, Mrs. Sarah Greene. The affair was arranged by Mrs. Mayhew and Mrs. Kinslow. Mrs. Greene is one of the founders of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, and during the evening she was presented with a purse of money, as a token of esteem. Refreshments were served.

Plainfielders Sailing Tomorrow.

Among the passengers who will sail on the Steamer Repugblic, of the White Star Line, tomorrow, are Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Jennings and Miss Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wadsworth and Miss Wadsworth, of this city, and Rev. Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Mitchell, formerly of this city, but now of Cleveland.

Judge At Horse Show.

Lewis E. Waring, of West Seventh street, will be one of the judges at the horse show to be held tonight at the New York Riding and Driving Club.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

DEBILITY.

Many people who talk to me say: "I feel half sick all the time. I dont just know what's the matter with me." This is general debility. It's very common. People who get in this shape have my sympathy. They aren't sick enough for bed so they drag around and their families get exasperated with them.

E. MC DADE.

There are two causes for this condition; bad habits and a weak stomach. By bad habits I mean eating irregularly and too fast and not chewing the food thoroughly. The stomach gives out and loss of appetite, billiousness, constipation, and general debility result. First get the stomach in shape and then be more careful in the future, and the worn out, despondent, half sick feeling will be a thing of the past.

Two bottles of Cooper's New Discovery will put the stomach in shape. Common sense will do the rest. There are fifty thousand people in this country who know this to be true because they've tried it.

Here's a letter from one of them:

"I was all run down from overwork, lost ambition and energy and could not sleep. It was difficult for me to attend to my work owing to that tired-out feeling. I secured two bottles of the New Discovery medicine and determined to try it. The result delighted me for renewed strength and vigor and energy came with the first few doses. It's effect was different from anything I had ever taken. I finished the two bottles now and feel well and strong again." E. McDade, 839 Dix Ave., Detroit, Mich.

We hear favorable reports of these famous medicines every day. Ask us about them.

SUITINGS SELLING SWIFTLY.

MORE THAN A HUNDRED FULL FRESH PIECES IN THIS SENSATIONAL SALE.

The simple truth sufficed—as it must here—and to tell of the arrival of this big lot of Imported Suitings to sell at such little prices was enough to make us busy as bees clipping the goods for the eager hundreds. We expect a still livelier day tomorrow when the news is spread by those who bought today.

All Wool and Silk and Wool Imported Suitings, in exquisite light colorings with dainty hairline checks and pretty plaid effects, in richest blues, tans, browns, etc., and some in darker colors with over-checks and plaids of silk; still others in silk warp weaves in tan, gray, green, etc., goods measuring 40 to 44 inches wide. Just such fabrics as are most popular this season for Springtime and Summer wear and are strictly perfect in every particular. Imported to sell at $1, $1.10 and $1.50 a yard. On Bargain Table No. 10, near the New Street elevator.

16.50 and 18.50 Misses' Suits $10.50.

An event of unusual interest has been planned for Saturday—this sale of smart, snappy, up-to-date Misses' Suits at a price so low as to insure rapid selling of the seventy-five suits which we have gathered to sell so cheaply.

Most stylish of all the stylish suits—the Prince Chap model, with plaited skirts with collars inlaid with silks of contrasting colors; Coats lined thruout; made of new Novelty Checks and pretty Plaid Mixtures in the newest shades of tan, gray, brown and green combinations; sizes 12 to 18; suits worth every penny of $16.50 and $18.50, to be sold tomorrow at only $10.50

GIRLS' COATS. 5.00 and $6.00 Coats to go at $3.50

These coats are in mannish models; are made of strictly all-wool cloths in a neat variety of colors, including fashionable grays and many fancy mixtures. Some are collarless with silk and braid trimming; and the mannish styles have velvet notched collars. There are all sizes of from 4 to 14 to choose from, and instead of asking you $5 and $6 we will make the price $3.50

THE COAT YOU WANT

IS SURE TO BE IN THIS STOCK.

We never had so many kinds of Spring coats to choose from—that is saying a great deal—and we never made you more tempting offers than these:

DIAMOND DUST.

The Elizabeth Atlantic League Club will play the Roeblings at Trenton tomorrow. Phil. Smith may pitch for Elizabeth.

The Elizabethport Stars will play the Brooklyn Royal Giants at the 'Port on Sunday. The Giants are under Monroe's management this year.

Heyniger, of Princeton, and Schneider, of Lafayette, engaged in a pitcher's battle on Wednesday, when Lafayette defeated the Tigers by a score of 3 to 2, fourteen innings. Heyniger was given poor support.

Badgley, formerly of the Plainfield team, is again pitching for Trinity College this season. This far his work has not been marked by any brilliant feats.

Cy Seymour, of the Giants, is hitting the ball hard these days and if he keeps it up he will make some of the crack pitchers hustle to hold their records.

"Willie" Keeler has struck out three times this season, something remarkable for him. It is rarely that any pitcher can fan the little wonder.

Cecil Ferguson, of the Giants, displayed great ability pitching against Brooklyn Wednesday. He let the Trolley Dodgers down with three hits.

The Philadelphia Nations, under the management of "Billy" Murray, are making a fine showing this year. They promise to give the other teams considerable trouble.

The Pittsburg fans are disappointed over the showing of their team this season. The aggregation is far from being in championship form. Warmer weather may bring the players up to their usual fast gait.

Murphy is doing the bulk of the pitching for the Plainfield High School this season and thus far has made a good showing.

The Mont Field Club and The Clinton Avenue baseball teams are scheduled to meet for the first time this season tomorrow afternoon. They will cross bats on Crescent Oval, the contest opening the year for both. The lineups have not been announced but they are understood to be exceptionally strong.

GOLF.

Throughout the season the East Jersey Golf League matches will claim considerable attention with the Field Club members. The Forest Hill team won the championship last year, but since then the club has lost two of its strongest players, J. Campbell Cory, who went West, and Harry Christe, who resigned.

Last fall the first annual championship tournament of the Eastern Professional Golfers' Association was held over the Forest Hill links, and Alec Smith, the national open champion, won the title. Since then the eighteen-hole course has been improved. Only recently the third tee was put back, and by Memorial Day, the new first green will be in commission. This will add fully 100 yards to the hole.

Since the first consignment of white sea sand was received at Baltusrol and deposited in the traps the appearance of the course has changed considerably. The committee also found that a good deal more sand than was at first expected will be required. Several more carloads have been ordered.

With a view to giving the turf a rest so that it might be in the best possible condition for the amateur championship tournament of Great Britain, to be held there in May, the old course of St. Andrews has been closed for a short period. The course will be reopened next week.

The South Orange Field Club has decided to dispense with the services of a professional this season. Instead the course will be under the care of a greenkeeper. A schedule of club competitions will be issued shortly.

WOMAN IN COACHMAN'S ROLE FOR BRIDAL PAIR.

Mrs. James Gorman, Sister of Bride, Driver Carriage Bearing the Principals.

A woman attired in an elaborate gown mounted the box of a carriage that contained a bridal party at Bayonne Wednesday afternoon, and drove the conveyance about town.

The driver was Mrs. James Gorman. The principals in the wedding were her sister, Mrs. Margaret O'Neill, of Pittsville, Pa., and John Kerr. They were married at St. Mary's church, Bayonne, and had just entered the carriage after the ceremony, when Mrs. Gorman played the role of coachman.

—"Brit" Martin, the well known baseball player, has removed to 1427 Williver street, where he will reside permanently.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. Fitzsimmons, of New York, have moved to Watchung avenue, between Summit and Grandview avenue.

SAN FRANCISCO LOSSES AFFECT NEW JERSEY

In the annual report of Banking and Insurance Commissioner David O. Watkins there are reflected the enormous losses following the San Francisco disaster. This part of the commissioner's report which has just been submitted to Governor Stokes shows that 171 insurance companies are now doing business in New Jersey, an increase of thirteen over the year 1905. The companies reporting include 12 stock and 23 mutual fire companies of New Jersey, 102 stock and marine companies of other states, three mutual fire companies of other states, and 32 stock and marine companies of foriegn countries.

The first of the tables offered in the report shows the capital, assets, liabilities and surplus of the companies other than the New Jersey mutuals. The aggregate capital of $67,571,390 is $8,018,515 greater than the total capitalization of the companies reporting for the year 1905. The assets are less by $1,903,204, the total being $400,771,397. Liabilities, exclusive of capital, amount to $233,146,658, which is an increase of $27,809,404. The surplus above capital and all liabilities, which amounts to $100,053,349, shows the large reduction of $37,730,943 for the year, and is in striking contrast to the gain of $221,476,918 in net surplus in 1905. The tremendous losses sustained by the companies in the San Francisco conflagration accounts for this heavy depletion in their accumulated funds. It should be stated in this connection that many millions of dollars were subsequently paid in by stockholders to restore deficiencies without which the reduction in surplus would have been materially larger.

The tabular statement giving the income and disbursement for the year presetns very unusual results owing to the extent to which the companies were involved through the San Francisco disaster. The fire insurance premiums received aggregated $223,914,373, or $19,372,264 more than in 1905, but the fire losses paid were greater by $123,276,613, the total being $221,644,684, which is within $2,269,689 of the whole year's fire premiums. The companies of foreign countries remitted in 1905 to their home offices $5,887,113 more than they received therefrom, while in the past year the receipts exceeded the remittances by $47,221,477, the larger portion of which went to pay San Francisco claims. The gross income for the year, which amounted to $338,797,137 and exceeded by $105,765,847 the total income of the preceding year, was but $582,350 greater than the total disbursement, contrasted with an income of $32,364,674 in 1906.

His Brother Dead in Buffalo.

The police received a telegram from Smith & Clody, undertakers, of Buffalo, N. Y., yesterday afternoon, asking them to notify Robert Naylor that his brother Thomas had died in Buffalo. The name Naylor was spelled "Naylow" in the telegram and Detective-Sergeant John Flynn had considerable sleuthing to do before the right man was located. Robert Naylor is a gear cutter at the Pond shop.

Monos to Open the Season.

The Mono Field Club will open the baseball season tomorrow with a game on Crescent Oval with the Clinton Avenues. The Monos will have a strong team in the field and the players say that their opponents will have no walk-over. The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock.

Anyone Miss Cattle?

James B. Guttridge, 1101 South avenue, telephoned the police this morning that four head of stray cattle were making themselves at home in his barnyard. He said he could take care of them and the police told him to do it. He is a butcher.

THOUGHTS ON CONFERENCE

was no advocacy of a crazy plunge into an undefended condition, but a calm and rational suggestion that the civilized portion of our race should gradually bristle less, with swords and guns, and pacify more. Such sums as we sorely need here at home, to save our forests, irrigate our West, instruct our blacks and better endow our charities, would thus be released for beneficent work.

"The suggestion of a permanent court of judges which could be appealed to at any time, by any nation, was a sane and welcome one. The sooner two nations come to a mutual understanding after a quarrel or dispute, even as when folk 'fall out' the better for the whole world. Nothing is so expensive or so bothersome to non-participants in war, as the incidental damages which they incur ere the antagonists agree to 'make up.'

"So the proposition to make property of neutral persons nations immune from attack and devastation, on the sea as on athe land, is one which all traveling and every commercial people will appreciate.

"The resolution that 'a general treaty of arbitration for all nations' to be framed at The Hague, should be the work of next summer's conference, but carries forward into exemplification for us the Christian profession of brotherhood and the American doctrine of democracy, both of which get so sorely bruised, muddied and tumbled in every war.

"The quality of the men and women who addressed the conference gave it a standing and importance which shall cause the world to heed its advice. Two members of the President's cabinet, Root and Strauss; the presidents of two American universities, Eliot and Butler; the representatives of the two oldest English universities, Oxford and Cambridge; Dr. Lavalle, for the Roman Catholic church; Bishop Potter, as speaker for the Protestants; Rabbi Hush, standing for our Hebrew population, and Dr Felic Adler, lecturer for the New York Ethical Society, and newly elected Theodore Roosevelt, professor at Berlin university briefly but brilliantly indicate the conference's illumination, without mentioning innumerable stars of lesser magnitude which followed in their train.

"Mr. Carnegie, to whom more than to any one else we owe the conference, was most happy on the occasions of his presiding, and in the exceptions which he took to the remarks and suggestions of some eminent individuals. Indeer the enthusiastic and prolonged applause which greeted his reply to the Harvard professor, told him how fully the people were 'with him.' He seemed a very govial, happy, enthusiastic old man, striding up and down the platform, his spectacles pushed up on to his forehead, his arms aswing, his face aglow, the very embodiment of benevolence and peaceable intentions."

To Present S. A. Colors.

Major and Mrs. Simonson, of New York, will present new colors and a bass drum to the local Salvation Army corps on Saturday evening. Special services will be held all day Sunday. Mrs. Simonson will address the Sunday-school at 2:30 o'clock.

Signs the Bills.

NURSERY NOTES.

Don't pick the baby up every time it cries.

Never force a baby to sit up. It will sit up of its own accord when its spine and muscles are strong enough.

The baby's stomach is intended for food and drink. Avoid therefore giving medicines unless they are actually needed.

Never lift a baby by its arms, but under the arms. A child's arm is very easily dislocated, and lifelong injury may result from its dislocation.

A prominent physician claims that there will be no diptheria or scarlet fever for children if they eat plentiful of onions every day, especially when there is a scarcity of fresh fruit.

Among the various causes for crossness of children are some very common ones, such as hunger or thirst, improper sleep, overheating, uncomfortable clothing and the pernicious feeding of sweets.

IN INDUSTRIAL WORLD.

In 1906 two cats inherited $20,000 each from B. F. Dilley, an eccentric millionaire.

Jeremiah Curtin, at present living in Bristol, Vt., is said to be the master of seventy languages.

George F. Pride, the last survivor of Gen. U. S. Grant's staff, died recently at Huntington, Ind.

The population of baptized citizens in Japan has increased since 1872 from nine to more than 50,000.

Of the twelve members of the new French Cabinet eight have been regular writers for the Paris press.

In Germany collangol, a silver solution, is curing appendicitis without the necessity of an operation.

A 500-mile canal, projected to drain the great swamps of Florida, would reclaim 6,500,000 acres of land.

Eary drums made from thin silver sheets are being used in Russian hospitals to replace defective organs.

Pianola Recital in Borough School.

C. B. Chilton gave a pianola recital at the North Plainfield High School, this morning, affording much pleasure to the teachers and pupils. Recently, Mr. Chilton gave a similar recital at the Plainfield High School, and Prof. H. C. Krebs made arrangements to have it repeated in his school.

A GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

Keep your blood in good condition and your whole body will feel the glow of health.

"RANDOLPH'S Compound Extract of SARSAPARILLA" with Iodide of Potassium is unexcelled as a Spring Tonic. It soon removes pimples, boils and eruptions, because it is a Blood Purifier in the truest sense.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., will go to Westfield, Sunday, to attend the funeral service of Brother Good, who died nearly two months ago. The body was placed in a receiving vault at the time and the interment will be made Sunday. The funeral will be held in Oddfellows' Hall.

EDITORIAL FLINGS.

Henry James says American women can't talk. That destroys Henry's reputation as a realist.—Nashville Banner.

"War," says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, "means vice, graft, debt, theft and vainglory." In many respects it was is like politics.—Rochester Post-Express.

The fashion writers who are trying to revive the hoopskirt are wasting their energies. Hoopskirts and automobiles were never made to go together.—Boston Globe.

Lecture Tonight.

Charles W. McCutchen will give his illustrated lecture on "Egypt and the Nile," in the Borough High School tonight. He has travelled extensively through Egypt and along the Nile and is especially fitted to talk on the subject.

College President to Preach.

GAS OVERCOMES SIX AND CAUSES A DEATH.

Fatality in James Egan's Case Due to Disconnection of a Tube Supplying a Stove.

Illuminating gas caused the death of James Egan at his home, 573 Broadway, Bayonne, early yesterday morning, and almost killed his daughters, Anna, Mary and Delia, and his two grandchildren.

It was about 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning when Mr. Egan, in a semi-stupor, went to the room of his daughter Anna and told her he felt ill. The young woman, who was in much the same condition, realized that gas was escaping. She managed to get her father back to bed, raise the windows and discover that the tube of a gas stove in a room adjoining the sleeping apartments had become disconnected and that the gas was escaping from it.

Her cries for help were soon answered, but by the time a neighbor arrived the five inmates of the Egan apartments were unconscious. Two doctors who were summoned succeeded in saving the lives of all of the victims but the old man.

FIRE DOES $2,000 DAMAGE.

Lawyer's Barn, With Others, Destroyed in Blaze.

Pompton Lakes, April 19.—Fire, that originated from an unknown cause in a barn belonging to Allen Charmers Wednesday, threatened destruction to the entire town. The building where it started and the Longyear's barns were burned to the ground. Several nearby residences were in constant peril.

Mr. Charmers, who is a lawyer in Paterson, was not at home when the fire started. His dog gave the alarm by constant howling.

The loss is estimated at $2,000.

Merchant Tries Bribery.

New York, April 19.—Arrested while in a carriage in Fifth avenue and Fifty-secoond street, Benedict Gimbel, member of a firm which has a large department store in Philadelphia and a wholesale department in this city, added bribery to a serious charge against him by giving $2,100 to the detective arresting him as an inducement to permit him to escape. Taken to court, Gimbel let it be known to Assistant District Attorney Krotel that $10,000 would be his if he dropped the charges. But his efforts were futile and he was sent to the Tombs, where he was released later on $6,000 bail. The release papers were signed by Judge Blanchard. Prostrated by his arrest, Gimbel openly declared he would pay any amount of money if he could escape prosecution and publicity, threatening he would kill himself should the accusations against him become known.

Contest Dissipates Fortune.

New York, April 19.—Fact has at last furnished a parallel to the celebrated case of Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce, which Charles Dickens wove into his novel, "Bleak House." The estate of Daniel Riker, a wealthy man of old New York, has been tentatively settled after dragging for twenty-nine years through the courts and after all the original litigants in the action have died or drifted away. The fortune left by him when he died in 1850 had shrunk until the fifty-one persons, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, who will divide it will receive only the meagre sum of $220 each, and many of them are persons to whom the name Riker is almost unknown.

Fagan Dollar Dinner.

It is announced by the Hudson County Central Republican committee that more than 1,000 plates will be provided at the Fagan dollar dinner, to be held April 25, at Grand View Hall, Ogden avenue, in Jersey City. The dollar dinner will formally open the campaign of Mayor Mark M. Fagan for a fourth term as mayor of Jersey City. The speakers for the dinner were announced as follows: Senator Everett Colby, of Essex county; Sheriff Frank H. Sommer, of Essex county; Herman B. Walker, of Orange; General E. Burd Grubb, James Blauvelt, of Passaic county, and former Assemblyman Henry Marelli, of Paterson.

Could Not Wed; They Die.

Springwood, Va., April 19.—Stewart C. Gay, nineteen years old, and Miss Mabel Pendleton, seventeen years old, committed suicide yesterday by leaping from the suspension bridge across Jackson River at Clifton Forge. They started Wednesday night to Washington to be married, but were intercepted at Stauton and taken back to Clifton Forge. Gay was a son of Charles Gay, a conductor on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad. Miss Pendleton was formerly from Buckinham county and highly connected.

Plainfield Council, No. 293, Jr. O. U. A. M., will celebrate its first anniversary on Monday night, April 29.

Marshall & Ball Clothing
The Highest Type of Ready-to-Wear.

The Economical Side of

M. & B. Spring Garments

Even if Marshall & Ball Suits and Overcoats did cost more than other makes, which of course they don't, their points of economy would still be prominent.

The careful selection of fabrics, linings, inter-linings and stays, and the skilfull hand-tailoring, which assures permanent shapeliness and long life to the garment; and the clever touches of fashion, all make for economy.

Refined individuality, which young men demand, finds full expression here; at the same time the widest provision is made for the more conservative man. Whether exclusive patterns or conventional designs appeal most to you, your fancy will find its desire satisfied in our Spring showing of Suits and Overcoats.

Of course, the popular shades are the new grays. The correct coat is long, slightly shaped in the back and is without vents; some have cuff finished sleeves. Overcoats are also long, and the new gray cheviots have black velvet collars.

Spring Suits, Overcoats and Raincoats, $12 to $35.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Readers of current fiction who found much to delight them in Harold MacGrath's story, "The Man on the Box," will find equal pleasure in Grace Livingstone Furniss' dramatization of the book which will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night, with Max Figman as the star, supported by a carefully selected company and mounted with special attention to every detail of furniture and scenery. "The Man on the Box" was the pronounced comedy success of the New York season last year and ran for three hundred nights. It is a clean wholesome comedy, full of spirited action, bright dialogue and interesting dramatic situations. The hero is a character admirably adapted to Max Figman's style and temperament and affords him the best opportunity of his career.

The New Plainfield theatre offers as its attraction for next Monday night the famed automobile play, "The Vanderbilt Cup." From its first presentation at the Broadway theatre in New York it is said to have been an assured success and it went on the road so gloriously that it has been on tour since early in the season. No play more appropriate to the times has ever written. It's theme is a subject which certainly appeals to the sporting instinct of every American, the great automobile race on the Long Island course where are gathered every year noted drivers from all over the world to compete for the cup presented by Willie K. Vanderbilt, Jr. One of the touches of realism promised will be the famous motor car when two French racing machines come crashing across the stage in a thrilling realistic contest. When the play was having its wonderful run of five months in New York, Mr. Vanderbilt was one of its heartiest admirers. He said, after witnessing the race scene: "That is the best and most realistic event I've ever seen and it is as near the real thing as it is possible to get on the stage."

The story of the Two Orphans is very old and familiar to many. Louise and Henriette, two girls, sisters by adoption, arrive in Paris, and instead of being met by friends, are separated by an unprincipled nobleman, who takes Henriette to his palace and leaves Louise, helpless and blind, in the streets. A notorious old woman, La Frochard, finds her, promises to help her find the sister, but instead forces the girl to sing in the streets. Several acts lead up to the strongest scene and climax in the last, where the girls are re-united. "The Two Orphans" will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday afternoon and night.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS.

Any second-hand clothing to sell? Ike Richards, of Somerset street, pays highest prices.

M. F. Gano, of Park avenue, deals in high-class real estate and he can tell you how to secure a home easily.

When you patronize E. B. Maynard's barber shop you always get a first-class shave, shampoo or haircut.

Alex. Lusardi, West Front street, is the best fruiterer in the city. His stock is always fresh and most attractive.

If you contemplate building consult Titus H. Laury, of East Front street. His work and prices will please you.

Don't forget that V. W. Nash, Sr., the Park avenue coal dealer, handles only the best grade of anthracite and his prices are low.

George H. Brown, of Somerset street, represents the leading insurance companies and also deals in first-class real estate.

A. M. Harper, the Park avenue stationer, makes a specialty of the best grades of writing paper. Stop in at the store and see a new consignment just received.

John A. Koch, the Watchung avenue butcher, would like a share of your patronage. He sells the choicest cuts of beef and his market is headquarters for the best poultry.

Send your clothes to the American Steam Laundry on East Front street and the work will please you. Mr. Marshall uses the latest improved machinery and employs only the best help.

This is the season the householder is apt to figure on repainting and redecorating his house. The one who entrusts the work to J. C. Hanson, East Front street, will be sure it will be done right.

The best of groceries and provisions at the lowest market prices is what has made R. W. Barnes' Park avenue store so popular. Do your trading with him and you are sure to be pleased. Orders delivered.

E. M. French & Co., the real estate agents who developed Highland Park, have more than had their expectations realized and it is now one of the most desirable residential sections in the city. They still have some very choice lots remaining to be sold and intending purchasers should lose no time as they are going very fast. French & Co. also represent the well known fire insurance companies.

—David Olmstead, formerly of East Millstone, has removed to a house on Somerset street.

—The Treble Clef Club, a vocal organization composed of women, will give a concert early in May under the direction of Edmund Skiff.

NEWARK NEWS BOWLERS LOSE THREE STRAIGHT

PLAINFIELD TEAM WON WITHOUT ANY STRAINING—SUPPER AT THE WALDORF

The Newark News bowling team was defeated at McLaughlin's alleys last night by a near-newspaper team, three games straight. The shooting, except for two games by Chauncey Stout, one of the real newspaper workers on the Plainfield five, was poor. Both sides split and chopped and "blew" disgracefully, but the Newarkers blew and chopped and split with more frequency and shamelessness, wherefore were they walloped thrice. Jimmy Kearney, B. W., a lallapaloosa with the mahogany, was there with his hook, but the shoot didn't connect. Jimmy tried a different ball at every shot, and got a different hook each time.

The scores:

After the match the visitors were entertained at supper at the Hotel Waldorf. Boniface Windham spread a layout that took a heap of sting out of the defeat and made the victors lovely in their victory.

GOLF SEASON OPENS TOMORROW AFTERNOON

PEAINFIELD COUNTRY AND PARK CLUBS WILL BEGIN TOURNEY.

Preceding the announcements of the golf and tennis fixtures and the social events at the Plainfield Country Club, James P. Murray, the secretary, has issued a circular giving the names of the new offiers and complete committees for the coming year. The active season of the club will open tomorrow, when the clubhouse and restaurant will be ready for the reception of guests, and there will be play for regular events on the course.

The officers and committees follow: President, Elliott T. Barrows; vice president, Thomas Mills Day; secretary, James P. Murray; treasurer, Joseph M. Shellabarger. Greens committee—Leighton Calkins, chairman; George F. Schoonmaker, J. A. Lane. House committee—Lewis G. Timpson, chairman; Frederick W. Butler, Mrs. Frederick W. Butler, Henry L. Hall, J. Hartley Mellick, Mrs. Lewis G. Timpson. Golf committee—J. Whitney Baker, chairman; Jules E. Erickson, Frank O. Reinhart, R. H. Cox, W. Lester Glenney, R. S. Rowland. Tennis committee—Thomas Mills Day, chairman; Frederick W. Goddard, Wylie Brown, Miss Sarah E. Schuyler, Owen H. Fleming, Albert D. Beers, Miss Elsie Burke. Buildings and grounds committee—Stuart H. Patterson, chairman; E. B. Shoemaker, Henry C. Irons.

LINDEN WILL GROW.

The Realty Trust Company of New York yesterday filed in the office of the Union County Registrar Smith, at Elizabeth, a map of 4,400 building lots just purchased by the company in Linden. The boundaries of the property are the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, St. George and Wood avenues, respecttively.

The property will be traversed by twenty-three streets, sixteen in one direction and seven in the other. The purchase is looked upon as one that will net the present owners a big profit when the Hudson tunnels have been completed and transporation facilities between this part of New Jersey and the metropolis are otherwise extended and improved.

Earthquake Was Sulphurous.

City of Mexico, April 19.—From several towns in the district most affected by the recent earthquake telegrams make it certain that the death list will exceed one hundred. There are a number of small towns yet to be heard from, but up to date the fatalities at these places have ranged from nine to twelve and the injured from thirty to forty. A peculiar phenomenon which has just been made known is that after the first great shock the air was filled for many miles with a sickening, sulphurous odor. This caused great distress to the survivors. There are many speculations as to the cause of this, and some consider it as a proof that the earthquake had its origin in some subterranean explosion. For this reason considerable anxiety will be felt until news is received from the sections surrounding the active volcanoes of Colima and Jurrillo. Even the water in the streams was made sulphurous.

Unconscious, Couldn't Wed.

New York, April 19—Kneeling at his bedside in Bellevue Hospital and trying to recall him to consciousness long enough to murmer the word of consent that should make them man and wife, while a clergyman stood by ready to perform the ceremony, Miss Elizabeth Garvey, of Chicago, spent hours yesterday afternoon in the ward where lay her fiance, William G. Morgan, also of Chicago, gravely ill of nephritis. At the end of that time the hospital rules concerning visitinrs compelled her to leave, but before going she arranged with the clergyman and the authorities of the institution to have her informed when the ailing man should recover his senses, so that the marriage could be performed. Then she went to the nearest hotel and took up a lonely vigil, which had not been broken by favorable news up to an early hour this morning.

Robber Gives Up Loot.

St. Paul, Minn., April 19.—She $25,000 stolen from the office of the Northern Express Company at the Union Depot Tuesday night was yesterday recovered by the police. John Gunderson, the suspected robber, who was arrested on Wednesday, confessed yesterday to the police where he had hidden the money. The officers who were sent to the place indicated by Gunderson found the money in three packages, two of which contained $10,000 each and one of $5,000.

Two Asphyxiated.

Two roommates were found dead from gas asphyxiation at Elizabeth yesterday morning. They were John Cavanaugh, a horseshoer, and Patrick mith, an employee of the Elizabeth street department. They lived at No. 20 Rahway avenue in that city, a boarding house kept by John L. Titus.

Snow on April 9.

Real estate men and farmers were disagreeably surprised at the snow today, the former because it interfers with their sales and the latter because it gives a set back to farming. The flakes began to come down thick and fact at 6:30 this morning and there has been no let up since.

Applegate's Specials Saturday.

Nothing succeeds like success. The success of my great veal sale last week was so great that I have purchased for this sale the hind saddles from 50 of the finest Jersey milk fed calves the former can produce, which I will sell at prices that no other market can duplicate, quality considered.

WATER PROBERS ACTIVE

Likely that an Engineer will Be Engaged Next Friday to Assist in Investigation.

APPROPRIATION SURE

Common Council Will Provide for Expenses When Called Upon—Report to Be a Thorough One.

The water investing commission got down to real business at its meeting in Mayor Fisk's office, last night, and as a result more was accomplished than at any previous meeting when preliminary matters were discussed. Those present were Mayor Charles J. Fisk, Henry L. Hall, Joseph O. Osgood, J. B. Dumont, William Newcorn, R. I. Tolles, W. S. Tyler, W. A. Coddington, George P. Mellick and Secretary Leon R. Thurlow.

The commission mapped out its line of action and definitely decided what it hopes to accomplish. In the first place it will determine the cost of installing an independent water plant in the city and its maintenance. Then the conditions and rights of the Plainfield-Union Water Company and lastly what proposition the Plainfield-Union Water Company desires to make to the city.

The engineering committee, of which Joseph O. Osgood is the chairman, proposes to go ahead and secure this information and also the present value of the local water company plant, as well as such other data as it thinks it may need to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion of the whole matter. The committee will meet on Friday night, April 26, when it is possible that the selection of a competent engineer may be made to assist in conducting the investigation. It may be necessary for the engineer to make a few independent borings.

The question of expense in making the investigation will be met through an appropriation by the Common Council. This matter has been reported to the Council, referred to the finance committee, and at the request of Mayor Fisk has been held back until more definite information is obtained as to the amount thought to be necessary. There is no doubt but that the appropriation will be granted. It is the purpose of the engineering committee to make a very thorough investigation so that every fact obtainable will be incorporated in the report, and the question will be settled for good.

The commission realizes that it is under obligations to the citizens of Plainfield and North Plainfield to give them all possible information and the investigation will probably take all summer. Many important matters were thrashed out last night and every member of the commission now knows where he stands in relation to the work to be undertaken.

To Exchange Pulpits.

The pulpit of the Christian church tomorrow night will be occupied by Rev. J. L. Garvin, of the Stirling Place Christian church, Brooklyn. Mr. Garvin is a young man of varied and interesting experience and a pleasing speaker. A man of surprising energy, he was at one and the same time a student of Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University, an active figure in New York politics, assistant night editor of the New York American and Journal, and supply pastor of the Stirling Place church, Brooklyn. The first of June he will take a position as secretary and general manager of a large Chautauqua movement in Pennsylvania. Mr. Parsons will occupy Mr. Garvin's pulpit in Brooklyn tomorrow night.

Transferred to East Quogue.

Rev. Francis E. Whiteside, formerly of this city, and at one time a reporter on the staff of another paper, has been transferred by the Bishop of the New York East Conference, which recently convened at Bridgeport, Conn., from East Norwich to East Quogue in the Long Island District. The appointment is for two years. Mr. Whiteside was pastor of the East Norwich M. E. church two years.

Tea and Play by College Club.

The College Club, of which Miss Margaret W. McCutchen is president, will have its next meeting Friday, April 26, at Miss McCutchen's home on Rockview avenue. During the afternoon tea and a play will be given for the graduaing classes of the Plainfield schools.

Men's Meeting Speaker.

George B. Shaw, pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist church, will speak at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting tomorrow at 4 o'clock and Horace J. Martin will sing.

—Only first class machinists employed in the repair department of the Thompson Auto Garage, 413 Park avenue. No boys nor helpers employed in this department. ***

GOLD MEDALS RECEIVE "GLAD HAND" AT STIRLING

FOLLOWING SHOW THEY ARE ENTERTAINED BY ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

Leaving their accustomed territory and invading a new field, the "Tom" Muir Gold Medal minstrels, of this city, presented one of their popular black-face entertainments at Stirling, last night. The trip over the mountains was made in stages and though the travelling was bad because of yesterday's storm the troupe was more than repaid for the venture.

The show was given under the auspices of the Stirling A. A. in Maennerchor Hall and was enthusiastically received by a large audience. At its conclusion the Plainfielders were the guests of the association at supper and were given in every way the most enjoyable time they have had in connection with any of the past winters shows. A dance was held in conclusion, the troupe having brought an "audience" with it, and the return home was made at an early hour this morning.

The arrangements at the Stirling end for the performance were made by Walter and Edward Swenson and Raymond Allen.

MARTINE TO ASK BRYAN TO SPEAK IN NEWARK

FARMER ORATOR WILL MAKE SPECIAL JOURNEY TO BOSTON.

James E. Martine, who is William Jennings Bryan's closest friend in the East, will go to Boston tonight, to see the Democratic leader regarding a visit to this State. Mr. Martine will be accompanied by Herman B. Walker, who drew up the initiative and referendum bill.

It is desired to get Mr. Bryan to speak at Newark the first part of next month. If any man can induce him to come, Mr. Martine is regarded as that man. The last time, early in the fall of 1907, it was desired to have Mr. Bryan speak in Newark, it was Mr. Martine who got him to consent. Former-Senator James Smith, Jr., tried unavailingly to secure Mr. Bryan's appearance, and so did other Democratic leaders. It was only after a personal appeal from Mr. Martine that Mr. Bryan consented to visit Newark, and he insisted on coming as Mr. Martine's guest, and no other's. Mr. Bryan admires and respects Mr. Martine above all other Democratic leader in the East.

MISS HALL'S MASTERPIECE IS IN GREAT DEMAND.

Now It is the Worcester Art Museum That Wants "Wooded Vale."

Miss Caroline Minturn Hall, the artist, has been invited to send her landscape, "Wooded Vale," that has been at the exhibition of the National Academy of Design, New York, to the tenth annual summer exhibition of oil paintings of the Worcester Art Museum, Worcester, Mass.

This is the same picture which was shown at the exhibition of the Champs de Mars, in the spring of 1905. It was hung on the line, and received favorable comment from four French newspapers. Miss Hall was invited to exhibit it at Angers, France, and did so. A portrait of Miss Hall and a notice of her work appears in Harper's Bazaar for May. A sketch of her and her paintings has also recently appeared in the New York Evening Mail.

Y. M. C. A. Candidates.

All the candidates for the Y. M. C. A. baseball team are expected to be out at Crescent Oval this afternoon for practise. They are as follows: Pitchers, Minford, Dupee; catchers, Nelson, Davis; infielders, R. S. Schoonmaker, Glenney, Trotter, Gilmore, Rice, Brown, Payne, Craig, Odell, Howard; outfielders, W. Schoonmaker, Pond, Lueder, Daniel, Banks, Squires, Egan, Phillips, McGill.

Tea for Miss Nichols.

In honor of her guest, Miss Ethel Nichols, of New York, Miss Frances Cahoone, of Watchung avenue, gave a charming tea at her home yesterday afternoon. The affair afforded an opportunity for Miss Nichols to meet a large number of Plainfield young people. The table decorations were attractive, there being a profusion of flowers.

Fred C. Harris Weds.

Fred C. Harris, representing Collier's Weekly, and Miss Mary A. Pope, both of Newark, were quietly married Wednesday night at the Baptist church parsonage, Westfield, by the pastor, Rev. C. J. Greenwood. The couple will reside in Newark.

JUSTICE WITH AN EDGE FOR ANIMAL ABUSERS

ONE OF THE DEFENDANTS DROVE THE THE COURT'S OWN TEAM.

William Saunders, of Warrenville, and Otto Doodlesack, who lives near Mt. Bethel, were fined $10 apiece by Justice John Cooper, at Warrenville, yesterday, for cruelty to animals. In addition, he suspended three months in jail over their heads.

Saunders and Doodlesack drove to the freight house in this city on April 2, with two wagons, after loads of manure. On their way back to Warren township they imbibed in several potions of Jersey lightning. In urging their horses up the hill beyond Pedeflous', they beat the animals cruelly. Residents saw the act, and their indignant comments were carried to the ears of Miss Steele, of Somerville, counsel for the S. P. C. A. in Somerset county. She entered a complaint and yesterday, Constable William Pangborn, of North Plainfield, S. P. C. A. officed, served the warrants.

In passing sentence, Justice Cooper scored the prisoners severely. After the hearing, he turned to Constable Pangborn.

"Do you know whose horses Saunders drove, Bill?" he asked.

The constable didn't.

"They were mine," said the justice grimly.

OPPOSE MR. HASTINGS FOR ANOTHER TERM

FRIENDS OF PROF. OSGOOD PRESENT HIS NAME TO GOV. HUGHES.

Much surprised was aroused at Albany yesterday, when it became known that a systematic campaign had been going on to oust Hugh Hastings, of this city, as New York State historian, a position which he has held for twelve years. His term of office will expire on Thursday, April 25, and it is said that the opponents of Mr. Hastings want Prof. Osgood, of Columbia, appointed. Much correspondence has been sent to Governor Hughes advocating a change in the office, and in the letters and petitions, according to the current story, Prof. Osgood's name was suggested.

Legislators and politicians generally are not inclined to look with favor on any prospective new candidate. Mr. Hastings personally is well liked by every man at the capitol. His conduct of the work of his office has been praised officially many times since he took office under Governor Morton, and most of the people who heard the story are asking why the Governor is considering any change in the place. Governor Hughes has not given any indication of whether he will reappoint Mr. Hastings or give the place to a new man, but there is a feeling that he will make no change, which it is said would please a majority of those who are associated with Mr. Hastings in State work.

Evangelistic Services to Continue.

The sixth week of the evangelistic campaign being conducted by Evangelists Acomb and Ironside, will begin at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Ironside will speak on "Evidences of the Lord's Near Return, in the Church, in Israel and in the World." Each evening of the coming week, except Saturday, addresses will be given in the meeting-room, at Bank place and East Front street, at 8 o'clock. The interest in these meetings has been marked and the attendance increasing. Christmas of all denominations are enjoying the clear Bible instruction.

Bar Association Incorporated.

Articles of incorporation were filed by the Plainfield Bar Association in the office of the county clerk at Elizabeth this morning. The incorporators and trustees are Craig A. Marsh, Nelson Runyon and John H. VanWinkle, Sr. The objects of the association, as published on Thursday, following the re-organization meeting, are to uphold the dignity of the profession, promote social relations, secure reforms in the law and an effort will be made to secure the adoption of a uniform minimum fee to charge clients.

Sunday Night at Y. M. C. A.

Evangelist H. A. Ironside is to give an address on "Evidences of the Lord's Near Return; in the Church, in Israel, and in the World." The subject is a most interesting one, and a large attendance is expected. Both men and women are cordially invited. ***

—The four cows found straying on James B. Guttridge's place in the East End yesterday were claimed by John Marando, of Fanwood.

NEW RUSHMORE FACTORY

To be Erected at South Avenue and Berckman Street.

WORK ON IT COMMENCED

Plant Has Grown Rapidly Since Its Removal Here From Jersey City—New Factory for Concrete.

Plans have been filed with Building Inspector Doane by S. W. Rushmore for a large new factory building that is to be erected at South avenue and Berckman street for the business of the Rushmore Dynamo Works. The concern's present plant just west of the Scott factory has been taxed to its capacity for many months past and larger quarters have been made imperative.

Actual work of construction has already commenced and the building will be one of the largest of its kind in the East End. The new style reinforced concrete method is to be used throughout and all modern improvements will be installed. The main building will face on South avenue and will be 220 feet long by forty-seven in width. It will be two stories in height and will have several ornamentations that will do away with the severe appearance so often noted in structures of this kind.

There is also to be a power house that will be a good-sized building. It will be one story high and will measure forty by twenty-seven feet. It will be equipped with an electric crane and other needs of an up-to-date shop.

The plans for the structures were prepared by Tucker & Vinton, a New York concern which makes a specialty of reinforced concrete buildings. They have the contract for the work and have made rapid progress within the past week. They are keeping a large force of men employed constantly in order to complete the job as soon as possible.

The Rushmore plant was originally brought from Jersey City to Plainfield and since entering the local field has grown rapidly. At the present time every bit of available space at the plant now occupied is kept in use in order to keep up with orders. The concern makes a specialty of dynamos and electric searchlights.

ELECTRICAL WORKERS DANCE.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, local No. 262, held their first annual ball in Saengerbund Hall, last night. It was attended by one of the largest crowds of the season and proved a great success. Suhr's Imperial orchestra furnished the music and Dan J. Guinee acted as floor manager. The hall was brilliantly illuminated with electrical decorations which formed one of the prettiest effects ever seen in the place.

The committee which arranged and had charge of the affair consisted of John Kenney, George Summers, W. T. Bentliff, H. E. Canfield and Stanley Emmons.

MARRIED WOMAN LEADS VOTE.

Mrs. W. M. Schleicher May Be Old Home Week's Queen.

The first announcement of the standing of the competition for the honor of being queen of the carnival of the Old Home Week celebration at Elizabeth next October, was made yesterday. Very much to the surprise of all, the leader in the contest is a married woman, Mrs. Wilhelmina M. Schleicher, who has already received nearly 3,000 votes. Next in order is Miss Minnie Cornell, while Miss Mary Sarle is third. Upward of fifty have already entered the race.

It was announced yesterday that the Maennerchor and the Leiderkranz, rival singing societies, would co-operate with the Old Home Week committee for the purpose of having a song fest as one of the features of the celebration. Instead of being opposed in competition, the societies will sing together, something which they have never done heretofore.

Up to date, twenty-five local organizations have adopted resolutions indorsing the Old Home Week plans and have contributed to the fund.

P. H. S. Plays Tie Game.

The Adelphia Academy team, of Brooklyn, played a tie game with the Plainfield High School nine on Crescent Oval, this morning, the score being 2 to 2 at the end of the seventh inning, when the game was called. Murphy, the local school's pitcher, shut out his opponents for five innings. They scored a run in the fourth and fifth inning, while Plainfield tallied its run in the sixth inning.

Rev. A. C. Nickerson, of All Souls' Unitarian church, has received a contribution to the Chinese relief fund.

WESTFIELD CLUB TO DISBAND ON MAY 1

TO PREVENT INSOLVENCY THE ORGANIZATION WILL BREAK UP.

Owing to lack of support which threatens to deplete the treasury, the Westfield Club has voted to discontinue the organization after May 1. This action has been taken in order to ward-off insolvency. It has been shown that should the membership continue to fall-off during the summer months as it has during the past winter, the club would be unable to pay its debts.

By disbanding at this time, the club is able to meet all its financial obligations. Influencial members say that a new club will be organized in the fall under entirely different auspices. In the meantime the club house will remain untenanted.

The Westfield Club was organized in 1891. It has a fine home on Elm street, which was recently improved. The property is valued at about $40,000.

The Westfield Golf Club is now the only social organization in Westfield with a club house. The I. O. S. Club, the oldest social organization in the town, has no home, but has been using the Westfield club house for its dances and other social functions. This club celebrated its fifteenth anniversary by a reception and dance Monday night.

THREE ODDLY MISSING EVER SINCE MARCH 2

ABSENCE OF WIFE, DAUGHTER AND YOUNG BEUTENMILLER MADE PUBLIC.

Though Mrs. Josephine Guempel, wife of Henry Guempel, a well-to-do produce dealer, of Elizabeth, disappeared from her home, 314 Norwood terrace, in that city, on Saturday, March 2, the fact has only just become generally known. She was accompanied, when she left town, by her fourteen-year-old daughter, and also, it is said, by Charles Beutenmiller, seventeen years old, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Beutenmiller, a widow, of Paradise farm, Elizabeth, who died suddenly of heart disease Wednesday night at her home, leaving four children.

Chief of Police Tenney was not informed about the affair until last Monday, when the missing woman's husband called on him and related the matter and also gave the chief a description of his wife and daughter. Chief Tenney had circulars printed which were sent out to the various police chiefs of the State on Wednesday.

In the circular, Mrs. Guempel is described as forty-six years old, five feet five inches tall, weight about one hundred and seventy pounds. Her daughter is of sandy complexion, looks older than she is, and wore a long light coat, plain skirt, white dresswaist, gray sweater and a red hat, trimmed with white feathers. Young Beutenmiller is short and stout.

The funeral of young Beutenmiller's mother, who was one of the founders of the German Lutheran church at Elizabeth, will take place Sunday afternoon. The services will be conducted by Rev. Christian G. Fischer, her pastor. It is said that grief over her son hastened her death.

No Summit Election Date.

It was reported yesterday at the lower end of the county that the County Board of Elections would fix the date of a special trolley franchise election in Summit. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of this city, a member of the board, said at noon today that no such meeting was called.

Two in the Toils.

As the result of a ball given in the borough last night, the North Plainfield cops gathered in two of the attendants of disorderly houses charges. They were put on the docket as John Callahan and Charles Gervel and locked up for a hearing tonight.

Suicide Report Untrue.

The police received a report last night that a man against whom a complaint of disorderly conduct was made had attempted to commit suicide. The report was found to be untrue.

Played Wedding March.

Mrs. John Height, of this city, played the march at the wedding of Miss Maude McKenna, of South Amboy, to John Manhattan, at Bradley Beach, at the bride's home, on Thursday.

CALLS ON THE BOROUGH OFFICERS TO ENFORCE LAW

JUDGE SAYS IT'S TIME SAENGERBUND HALL DANCES WERE REFORMED.

"Most of the disorderly cases among young men follow dances held in Saengerbund hall," said City Judge Runyon, this morning, in passing sentence on Harry Molleson, Jr., and William Mullen, arrested for fighting before the railroad station on North avenue at 5:45 o'clock a. m. "There seems to be a clear violation of the law as to the sale of liquor."

"It seems to me like a sloppy way to run a municipal government. If there is anybody over in North Plainfield with authority and a sufficient interest in this thing, a remedy should be readily found. I will do my part to discourage the passion young men have for these dances. I will fine each of the prisoners $5, or twenty days in jail."

Both the young men had been to a dance at Saengerbund hall last night. Mullen said there was "plenty of stuff" sold. Mollenson and he got into a fight for no particular reason, excepting that neither felt peaceful or serene. The fines were paid.

FORMAL OPENING OF THE COUNTRY CLUB

WIND TOO STRONG TO PERMIT OF MUCH PLAYING.

The formal opening of the Plainfield Country Club took place today, when a number of members and their guests visited the clubhouse and course. The unseasonable weather of the past week has interfered with getting the course in the best of condition for play, but it is hoped that it will be in readiness for next Saturday, when the regular schedule will be started with the initial play for the golf committee cup and other events.

The wind was too strong today to permit much playing and those who went to the grounds remained inside the clubhouse, where it was more comfortable. The restaurant was also opened today and from now on this will be a feature. Next Saturday night there will be a dinner-dance to mark the regular opening of the season. In the meantime the schedule of events will be sent to the members.

Similar conditions prevailed at the Park Golf Club today. It is expected that all details will be completed and the schedule announced in time for the commencement of regular play on the course the latter part of the month.

At the Westfield Golf Club today there will be the first competition, qualifying rounds in Classes A and B for handicap match play during the month of May. The eight lowest net scores in each class today and next Saturday will qualify.

CHANGES AT SAFE WORKS.

Mosler Safe Company Now Controls Manganese Steel Safe Co.

Howard E. White, vice-president of the Manganese Steel Safe Company, of this city, has been elected president of the Taylor Iron and Steel Company, of High Bridge, in place of Robert E. Jennings, who resigned to take the position of chairman of the Board of Directors. Mr. White is a lawyer and has had wide business experience.

An arrangement has been made between the Manganese Steel Safe Company and the Mosler Safe Company, of Hamilton, Ohio, by which the latter company becomes identified with the management of the former. The local plant will probably be increased in size. The Taylor Iron and Steel Company will continue to supply the company with manganese steel castings.

Unitarian State Meeting.

The New Jersey Associate Alliance, which is the State organization of the National Alliance of Unitarian and Other Christian Women, began its annual convention yesterday morning at the Park M. E. church, Elizabeth. Representatives were present from all the Unitarian churches in the State, there being about fifty delegates in all. It developed from the report of the Elizabeth branch that there is a possibility of having a Unitarian church in Elizabeth before long.

Lecture by Mr. McCutchen.

Charles W. McCutchen, of the borough, delivered his lecture, "Egypt and the Nile," in the chapel of the borough high school, last night, for the benefit of the N. P. H. S. A. A. It was heard by a large audience which thoroughly enjoyed Mr. McCutchen's description of the places he had recently visited.

13 INDICTMENTS RETURNED

In Four Days Somerset County Grand Jury Investigated Forty-Eight Cases.

PRESENTMENT MADE

Court Promises to Look Into Charges of Selling Liquor to Minors—Jail Inspected.

After sitting for four full days, the Somerset County Grand Jury yesterday afternoon at 4:30 made their report to Judge Louis Schenck, who agreed to receive them at that time. The Grand Jury handed up to the court thirteen indictments as a result of a thorough investigation of forty-eight cases brought to their attention.

Before the jury was discharged Foreman Remsen, on behalf of the others, directed the court's attention to the abuse of selling liquor to children, stating incidently that several offenses of the sort would be brought before him in the shape of a presentment from the Grand Jury. Judge Schenck assured the jurors that the matter would receive his serious attention and investigation. Both Prosecutor Yeger and Foreman Remsen were cordially thanked by the jurymen for their uniform courtesy.

Before disbanding, the Grand Jury were shown through the new jail by Sheriff Edward Cooper, who was congratulated upon its excellent condition. The jail is said to be one of the best in New Jersey.

The Grand Jury consisted of Frank W. Remsen, Daniel Suydam, Benj. McDowell, John H. Belton, Russell F. Randolph, Laird H. Bowers, John S. Amerman, Philip Latourette, Charles C. Kenyon, Job B. Osbourn, Jacob Nevius, Jules J. Bach, Wm. H. Dunham, [illegible] W. Mack, Wm. M. Staats, Cyrus S. Peterson, Charles Opie, Peter S. Polhemus, Aug. Schumacher, Edmund E. Sage, Morris C. VanArsdale, A. L. Force, William McCauley.

HE WINS HIS FIGHT FOR $20,500 FEE.

Lawyer Gets Verdict Against an Elizabeth Railroad Magnate.

After sixteen minutes' deliberation, the jury in the case of James W. M. Newlin, of Philadelphia, against Samuel P. Langdon, of Elizabeth, in the United States Circuit Court, at Trenton, Thursday afternoon, returned with a verdict of $20,500 in favor of the plaintiff. This was the amount sued for. The case was tried before Judge William M. Lanning.

Newlin was a lawyer and Langdon a railroad magnate. Newlin was retained by Langdon to defend him in a suit brought in the Pennsylvania courts. A judgment of $372,000 had already been obtained against Langdon, and Newlin claims that an agreement was made whereby he was to appeal the case to the higher courts and was to receive twenty-five per cent. of the amount he was able to have shaved off the verdict.

A verdict was returned for $106,000, a saving of $266,000. Newlin claimed he was entitled to over $50,000, but brought suit for only $20,500. Langdon is at the present time traveling in Europe. He was represented by J. A. Kiernan, of Elizabeth. Newlin took care of his own case.

Newlin is the man who several years ago tried to have the late Judge Kirkpatrick impeached on the ground that he had been influenced by the corporations in the famous asphalt litigation.

OUTDOOR MEET.

CRANFORD.

The members of the graduating class of the High School this year are Elsie Smock, Thomas Cooper, Joseph See, Ethel Bell, Hattie Jeamby, Clara Neipp, Josephine Reeves, Marion Veray, Walter Wagstaff, Irma Hart and Hazel Rice.

William Mott, forty-five years old, died suddenly Thursday at his home, 5 Woodlawn avenue. He leaves a widow and two children.

ELIZABETH.

Robert McLuce, fifty years old, and his wife, forty-five years old, of Staten Island, were arrested Thursday night on a charge of trying to take possession of a house at 82 Fulton street, Elizabethport, and when arraigned in Police Court yesterday morning they explained that seeing the hall door open they only entered the place for shelter. They were under the influence of liquor at the time. Judge Mahon consigned them to the county jail for thirty days.

BERNARDSVILLE.

Frederic P. Olcott and Dr. F. C. Jones sailed Thursday for Bad Nauheim, Germany, where they will remain until July. Prior to his departure Mr. Olcott was elected an honorary member of the 1907 (the first) graduating class of the High School and presented with a class pin. A fund of $20 was raised by the pupils of the school, with which a huge bouquet was purchased and presented to Mr. Olcott when he boarded the steamship in New York. Mr. Olcott was the donor of the Bernardsville school building and grounds, the total cost of which was upward of $100,000.

TALK IT OVER.

With People You Know, With Plainfield People.

No evidence can be stronger than the direct testimony of people you know. The public expression of friends and neighbors is the proof of merit we offer. If you still remain a skeptic, talk it over with this testifier.

Mrs. Agnes Christiansen, of 311 Prescott place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I was sick with kidney diseases, suffered all kinds of hard pains in my back and loins, and about the kidneys. I could not bend over to pick up anything, and occasionally had dizzy spells and headaches. I could not rest well at night and on the whole my condition was such that life did not seem worth living. Doctors being unable to help me I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills, which had been used with success in our family. I took them, finding relief in a short time and continued the treatment until cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The three days' fair of St. Mary's church, which was held in Excelsior Hall, came to a close last night. The attendance was even larger than on Thursday night, notwithstanding the weather. Dancing as usual was the most popular attraction of the evening, although the booths did a good business. At 1 o'clock the several contests were decided and the balance of the stock left in the booths were auctioned off. The net profit of the fair has not been announced, but the committee is satisfied it will be large enough to enable the church to celebrate its sixtieth anniversary in an appropriate manner next month.

Services tomorrow at the Baptist church will be at the usual hours. Morning preaching, 10:45; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7:15 p. m.; followed by the evening preaching at 8 o'clock.

This is hardly ideal baseball weather, but the local ball team will make a star toward opening the season this afternoon, the visiting team being the Potters.

A meeting of the Township Committee was held in the town rooms last night. Only the regular routine township business was transacted.

At the close of the weekly prayer meeting at the Methodist church tonight, a business meeting of the church will be held.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

Marshall Whitlach won the gold medal for the best gross score in the annual invitation tournament which began at the Garden City Golf Club on Thursday. His achievement is all the more notable because Walter J. Travis and Jerome D. Travers were in the field.

Not very seasonable weather for opening the golf season, but it is a game that is played rain or shine, and weather conditions never interfere. Therefore, the openings at the local clubs will be held today.

It is a source of regret to many that Thomas VanBoskerck has resigned as a trustee of the Plainfield Country Club. He has served in the capacity several years and has been faithful in the performance of his duties, devoting considerable time to them.

In addition to his duties as professional, and those of taking charge of some of the competitions, "Marty" O'Loughlin will also look out for the caddie boys, as usual. His system governing the work of the boys has proved very satisfactory in the past.

Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, president of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, will be one of the captains of the teams in the association, and in the selection of players for the teams the poorest as well as the best players will be given a chance.

Eben M. Byers and F. Oden Horstman sailed yesterday on the Cedric for a golfing tour of the famous links in Great Britain. Incidentally they will play in the amateur championship to be held this year on the old St. Andrews links, in the week of May 24. They were both competitors in the English championship at Sandwich in 1904, which Walter J. Travers won. They know the old game as it is played abroad and have many personal friends among the golfers over there.

The British women's championship will be at Newcastle, Ireland, beginning May 6, and the American champion, Miss Harriot Curtis, will be a starter. Her sister, Miss Margaret Curtis, twice runner-up in this country for the national title, is also to enter.

DIAMOND DUST.

Phil. Smith will not report to the Elizabeth Atlantic League, until May 1. It was hoped that he would pitch for the team against the University of Pennsylvania on Thursday.

The Elizabeth Atlantic League team will play fifty-six games on its home grounds during the season. These together with the games to be played by the Stars, the Palmers and many amateur teams, will give the county seat plenty of baseball.

The Elizabeth Times has the following item of interest here: "Outside of a baseball team entered in the up-county amateur league, Plainfield will not figure in county baseball this season. This comes as a disappointment, not only to a great many Plainfield baseball enthusiasts, but to the fans of this city, who have always been interested in baseball dongs at that end of the county." To disabuse the minds of the Elizabeth fans it may be stated that the Suburban A. C., of which James Penney is manager, is an independent team, and no doubt would like to meet some of the county seat teams during the season.

Easton players, of the Atlantic League, will get their first try-out tomorrow when that team will meet the Pen Argyl aggregation of the Blue Mountain League.

The Invaders, of Elizabeth, will open the season at home tomorrow with a game with the Chatham, Lackawanna League team. This will be the first opportunity the county seat fans will have to see the new lineup.

"Rube" Oldring, who is playing with the Philadelphia Athletics, injured his ankle on Thursday and will be out of the game for several weeks. It was the second injury to his ankle this season.

The outlook for a successful baseball season at Somerville is bright. The season will be opened on Decoration Day with either Flemington or the Garwoods. Braden and Steiner will be the battery for the home team. Schlund, Gorman and Wallace, old favorites, have also been signed, and the other positions will be filled by local players. A series of games will be arranged with Flemington, Garwood, Hopewell, Pennington and High Bridge. Three games will also be played with Clinton Avenue, of the amateur league.

Manager Smith, of the Westfield, Lackawanna League team, is rapidly getting his players together, and there is much enthusiasm among the fans in that town. President Snyder, of the club, in company with Manager Smith, went to Newark, Wednesday night and secured Westfield's franchise for the league. Westfield will have sixteen home games and nine away from home. The team will play on its own grounds every holiday. The season opens on Saturday, May 11, and Westfield will play Irvington at Recreation Park on that date. There will be a meeting of the officials of the Lackawanna League at Newark on Wednesday night when the schedule will be adopted.

Racing In Snow.

New York, April 20.—Winter racing was that seen at Aqueduct yesterday. A more cheerless spectacle than was presented to racegoers as they entered the grounds from the trains could scarcely be imagined. The air was thick with snowflakes, which soon turned to hail. The track was not much affected, however, though possibly on the surface it was what horsemen term "greasy." This is the excuse offered for the bad showing of Jacquin, which horse at his best far outclasses the lot opposed to him in the first race. He was a short priced favorite, but carried no money for his owner, D. C. Johnson, or his friends. Defeat was his portion. He had a poor post position, No. 1, with Beckman up. Ed. Ball, owned by J. A. Bennet, won the race, hard pressed by Melbourne nominee. The long shot, Park Row, led for a long time. Mr. Bennet won the fifth race also, this time with Molesey. Both Ed. Ball and Molesey had campaigned at Los Angeles.

BOARD'S CHANGE OF HEART.

Elizabeth Excise Commissioners Cause Surprise.

The Board of Excise of Elizabeth, which had a bad half day's session with the January Grand Jury, before whom it was summoned to explain several actions, and evidently fearing a repetition of the episode by being hauled up before the May Grand Jury, has experienced a change of heart. To the surprise of the applicants and the breweries that were backing them, the board yesterday rejected nine new applications for saloon licenses, and announced that for the present at least no more new saloons will be permitted in Elizabeth.

The board received a communication from George Matthews, to whom Mrs. Ellen Donnelly, who some time ago pleaded guilty to running a disorderly house, transferred her hotel license. Matthews was a bartender for Mrs. Donnelly, and paid the Excise Board $25 for the transfer as the board had revoked the woman's license. His money was accepted, but the board afterward decided not to grant the transfer. Now Matthews wants his $25 returned. The board decided as the money had been turned over to the city's sinking fund, it had no power to refund it to Matthews without first getting a favorable opinion from the city attorney, to whom the matter was referred.

A communication was received from a number of property-owners on Pine and Second streets at Elizabeth asking that no license be granted for any new saloon, cafe or hotel in that neighborhood, as there are already ten places on one block of Pine street between First and Second street.

—For best results try The Daily Press.

—George Zepp, of West Second street, has purchased a property on Liberty street, nearly opposite Orchard place, and has moved there.

—Edward S. F. Randolph has sold his home on Grant avenue to Henry Sweiffel, of New York, and he will occupy his new house on Evergreen avenue as soon as completed.

Probasco will teach the lesson for Sunday, April 28. Rev. J. W. Musson, of Faith chapel, will attend and present the Baraca Class movement.

The Organ Club, of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, has just closed its accounts for the fiscal year. The sum of $109.37 was realized from the rally and $114.12 from the fair. The total amount raised during the year was $616.27 and the balance in the band is $268. The officers of the club are president, Mrs. L. M. Dempsey; secretary, Mrs. Katie Kingslow; treasurer, Mrs. Oscar Greene.

"It was Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, pastor of the influential Brick Presbyterian church of New York, who told an audience of members of his denomination that filled Carnegie Hall how hard it was to keep church work going in the metropolis because as fast as people opposed to the church moved into the city, the people supporting it moved out 'to New Jersey or to heaven.' While the doctor did not say so, he left the impression in the mind of his hearers that he considered the people who had moved across the Hudson about as fortunate as those who had been ferried over the Styx in a boat that landed at the angel dock. And Dr. Richards is familiar with what he is talking about. He was a resident of Jersey for many years and he knows the country well. He appreciates its attractions for the good people, and he surely does not blame them for improving their condition when it can be done with convenience, economy and dispatch. But if New Jersey is next to a heavenly spot for a home now, what will it be when the tunnels cut out the ferryboats for suburban traffic and other improvements are made for rapid transit? Brooklyn and Long Island will then be out of the competition, and the stream of good people can only be deflected from its natural channel into this State by being repulsed.—Newark News.

Mortar Saved His Life.

New York, April 20.—Charles Kramer, of No. 164 Irving avenue, falling yesterday from a third story scaffold, saved his life by dropping into a bed of soft mortar in front of a new building at No. 932 Myrtle avenue. He was only slightly bruised.

Mrs. Aletta Huff, of Centerville, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Mosher, of this city.

PEOPLE'S LOBBY ASKS GOVERNOR FOR HEARING.

Denounces Hillery Bill for Popular Vote On Senators As a Sham Reform.

Governor Stokes has been asked by the People's Lobby for a hearing on Assembly bill 291, which is supposed to have been among the measures passed by the Legislature in the disorderly closing hours. This is the bill for a popular vote on United States Senators. Assembly 291 was a People's Lobby bill, introduced by Assemblyman Brady, and was made a Democratic caucus measure. The Brady bill provided for direct nomination and vote on election of United States Senator in the State at large, and the pledging of legislative candidates to support the Senatorial nominee receiving the highest popular vote.

Previously the Senate had passed the Hillery bill, providing for an expression of party sentiment on Senator in the party primaries, in each county separately, the legislative candidates to be committed only to the choice of a majority of the party voters in the primaries in their own county.

When the Brady bill went to the Senate it was favorably reported by the committee—Bradley, Colby and Cornish—without amendment. On the floor of the Senate it was amended, on motion of Hillery, by substituting his bill, and the measure passed the Senate in that form. It got back to the House some time late in the last night of the session. Brady, when he discovered what the Senate had done to the bill, said he was opposed to its passage. Nobody remembers that it was passed, but some of the records show that the House agreed to the Senate amendments.

In a letter to the Governor, asking for a hearing on the measure before he signs it, Edmond A. Whittier, secretary of the People's Lobby, wrote as follows:

"Had this measure been enacted into law in the form in which it originally passed the Assembly, it would have accomplished the purpose for which it was intended, namely, to record and execute the popular will in the choice of the United States Senators.

"In the substitution, however, by the Senate, of the so-called Hillery bill, a result has been reached which will neither satisfy public sentiment nor, under the present purchasable delegate convention system of nominations, remove any of the evils which have been a source of disgrace and scandal in most of the States of the Union.

"This organization asks for a hearing, at which it can fully explain its reasons for urging you to withhold from the measure Executive approval."

In a letter written Thursday the Governor replies: "This bill has not yet been received, but, if it reaches my hands, I shall be very glad to give you a hearing."

Fasted for Forty-five Days.

Webster City, Iowa, April 20.—After fasting forty-five days, during which time no food passed her lips, Mrs. Harriet M. Closz, of this city, Thursday night broke her fast and began taking nourishment. Although she had eaten nothing for nearly seven weeks the woman was still able to work around her home. Mrs. Closz began fasting as a cure for rheumatism and declared that she would eat absolutely nothing until every vestige of rheumatism pain had left her. This she has accomplished, and she has been free from all pain for the last week. During the first week of fasting Mrs. Closz suffered from hunger and rheumatism, but after two weeks she says she felt no hunger at all.

Bingham Strikes.

New York, April 20.—General Theodore A. Bingham, Commissioner of Police, dealt the once powerful secret police "system" of New York its death blow yesterday when, armed by the recently enacted law, he degraded eight inspectors and reorganized the Bureau of Detectives.

William W. McLaughlin and Adam Cross, head and front of the old fabric, whose influence it was believed would save them from the axe, were the first to realize that a new order of things had been achieved. The reduction of these created more comment than all the other changes, which affected former Inspectors Stephen O'Brien, eGorge McClusky, Wiegand, Grant, Kane and Murphy.

Pressing Weapon Carriers.

New York, April 20.—With one dirk carrier sent to Sing Sing for one year and four months and pistol carriers in Special Sessions sentenced to from three to six months terms in the penitentiary, the practice among Italians of carrying deadly weapons received a severe setback yesterday. Not only was justice swift, but Italians themselves began to bestir themselves. Tito Pacelli, head of the Rockmen and Execavators' Union, to which more than 5,000 Italians belong, issued an order that hereafter all members will be searched when they enter a union meeting. If a dirk or a revolver is found the culprit is to be handed over to the police.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The topic for the morning service at the Baptist church will be, "My God Will Hear Me." The Easter memorial service will be repeated in the evening and there will be no sermon. The Christian Endeavor meeting will be omitted.

Rehearsals of the farce to be given by the Good Government Club are being held three nights in a week. It is said that the play will be the best ever given in Washington hall.

An entertainment will be given by the Ladies' Aid Society at the Baptist chruch next Wednesday evening, April 24.

The dance held in Washington hall last night by the Climax A. C. was in every way a success, including the financial part.

Mrs. William J. Ledden is entertaining her friend, Miss Gallagher, of Toronto, Canada.

John S. Linaberry is on the list to soon join Company K.

ASLEEP, FALLS BEFORE TRAIN.

Somnambulist Narrowly Escapes Death Under Iron Wheels.

William Seeler, a somnambulist, is in the General Hospital, suffering from injuries and shock sustained in a fall from the second-story window of his home at 338 Marshall street at Elizabeth, yesterday morning. That Seeler escaped with his life is due to the fact that his fall was heard by John Drake, a flagman in the employ of the Central Railroad Company, who went to the rescue of the unconscious Seeler and removed him from the railroad tracks, upon which he had fallen.

Seeler's home adjoins the Long Branch division of the Central Railroad, and several windows open out upon the tracks. This morning he arose from his bed and, impelled by an impulse of which he knew nothing, made his way to the window, climbed upon its sill, smashed the frame and the panes of glass in it and, through the opening, fell thirty feet to the tracks below, where he lay senseless.

His fall was heard by the flagman, however, who was expecting the oncoming of a fast freight train, under the wheels of which Seeler would have been ground to pieces had it not been for Drake's timely interference. The latter found the unconscious man, dressed only in his nightclothes, in such a position as to indicate that he had fallen asleep on the tracks. He was removed to the General Hospital, where it was stated that he had regained consciousness, and, aside from a bruised back and lacerated hands, would be himself again in the course of a few days.

Citizens Committee Decides That It Is Better Not to Build Gas Plant.

The plan of municipal ownership of a lighting plant by Rutherford, N. J., was repealed last night at a public meeting called by Mayor Andrew H. Brinkerhoff.

A committee of fifteen was appointed a year ago to investigate the question. Nine members of the committee presented a majority report, with which the other six disagreed.

"It should be mentioned," the majority report says, "that every member of our committee is, in the abstract, in favor of municipal ownership. As a concrete proposition, however, the facts elicited compel as a contrary judgment, so far as Rutherford is concerned, at the present time."

The minority report agreed that it was inadvisable for the borough to install at the present time a municipal gas plant, but advocated the establishment of an electric plant.

Rebuilt, Stone for Stone.

New York, April 20.—As though it had been removed by some trick of necromancy, the Catholic church of St. Michael's, with its parish school, rectory and convent, complete in every detail of exterior and interior, has been transferred from West Thirty-second street to West Thirty-fourth street, and will be taken over by the church authorities in the coming week. Stone by stone, each numbered for re-erection according to the original plan, the structure was taken from the old site to the new; piece by piece the stained glass windows were taken apart and placed in the same relative positions; the paintings on the ceilings are exact copies of those that were in the old church, and the plaster, mouldings and cornices are perfect reproductions in line, profile and detail.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

OFFICIAL.

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, April 4th, 1907, at 2:30 p. m. Roll call showed the following members present: Director King, Freeholders Adams, Cady, Cladek, Darby, Doane, Donahue, Fay, Gruener, Jones, Krouse, Maurer, Meisel, Perry, Pierson, Robison, Smith, Swain, Wilbur and Woodruff, 20.

The minutes of previous meetings, Jan. 3d, 1907, Feb. 7th, 1907, and March 7th, 1907, (reading of bills being omitted) were on motion approved as read.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the First Street Extension Association, of Elizabeth, N. J., heartily endorsing the action of this board in the matter of building a bridge over the Elizabeth river, so as to extend First street toward the direction of our factories; and also with a view of having a continuous road made to Roosevelt. After being read in full the communication was received and placed on file.

From J. J. Philips, of the New Jersey and Staten Island Ferry Co. stating that they had received a letter from the clerk of this board advising that a special committee had been appointed to confer with the said company relative to ferry rates between Staten Island and Elizabethport. It was further stated that the President of said company would fix a date for conference as soon as he was able to do so. After being read in full the communication was received and placed on file.

From J. Madison Drake, as follows:

Gentlemen: December 2d, 1905, in the presence of a distinguished company, your board, through Major Benjamin King, Director, formally accepted the keeping and preservation of one of the prettiest as well as one of the most historic pieces of ordnance ever manufactured. The gun, possessed at times by two of the foremost nations in Europe, at length, after a brilliant engagement in which it was wrested from a proud and haughty enemy by American soldiers, was presented to the people of this town by General Washington.

This dog of several wars, ever an object of intense interest to our citizens, and more so now than at any previous time, is a beautiful ornament to the Court House lawn, and a great attraction to all passers-by, but to become the lesson intended by the Veteran Zouaves, in whose possession it was for a third of a century and who surrendered the relic to the county, it is necessary that its history be emblazoned thereon. I, therefore, petition your honorable body to cause a bronze tablet to be placed upon a granite pedestal, fronting the street, bearing the following legend: "This gun, cast in Strasburg in 1758, was sent by Louis XV, King of France, to Canada for the defence of Quhec. Upon the surrender of that place in the following year, the gun fell into the hands o fthe British. In April, 1760, the French recaptured the gun, and in May the British retook it. In the fall of 1775 this gun aided in the repulse of the Continental force under General Richard Montgomery, who was mortally wounded while attempting to capture it. In June, 1779, Sir Henry Clinton, captured Stony Point, and a month later General Anthony Wayne retook it, finding this gun among the trophies. General Washington presented the piece to troops from Elizabethtown who had acted as a reserve, and it was brought here by them soon after. Unveiled by Elizabethtown Chapter, No. 1, Sons of the American Revolution, December 2, 1905."

Freeholder Cady moved that the foregoing communication be received and referred to the committee on public grounds and buildings with power, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

Gentlemen: I have been instructed by the borough council of the borough of Roselle Park, N. J., to forward to you the enclosed report of the police committee of Council. I would explain that Council has been appealed to so continuously, of the service, by residents of the borough who are obliged to travel on the Westfield trolley car line, that they have taken the matter up and the enclosed report is their result so far. They desire you to know the the conditions, as your body granted them their franchise, so you can judge if the company are living up to what they promised, and agreed to, when they received the franchise, and if you have any power to correct the evil. Yours respectfully, A. M. Woodruff, Borough Clerk.

Attached to the foregoing communication was an extended report of the police committee showing the evils as complained of. In connection with the foregoing. Director King presented the following letter, addressed to him:

Newark, N. J., April 3d, 1907.

Dear Sir: In regard to the complaint from the borough clerk of Roselle, containing criticisms on the operation of our cars, I have had this matter taken up very carefully with the operating department, and I understand from our local superintendent, Mr. Gettings, that some of the things complained of have been remedied. As stated to you, we are making every effort to give good service, but the obstacles in the way are so serious and persistent, that we have not been able to make real progress in the direction of rendering efficient service.

The existence of sixteen railroad crossings in Elizabethport, over which the Third street line cars run out Westfield avenue, makes delays on that line inevitable. The constant drilling of freight cars over two of these crossings is very apt to hold up our cars, and of course that results in irregular service. Again, the weather conditions have been particularly bad this winter, so that the operation of an electric railway, to which snow and ice are great enemies has been very hard. I have asked Mr. Gettings to go down to the Court House and introduce himself to you on Thursday afternoon, and explain in person so far as he may be able, the exigencies of the case.

I trust that you, and any other of the Freeholders who may be interested in the matter will receive some encouragement from him as to the betterment of the conditions complained of.

Yours truly,
A. B. Carlton, Vice-President.

It was stated that an agent of the Trolley Company would appear before the borough council on the 5th of April and endeavor to straighten matters out.

On motion of Freeholder Cladek, it was ordered that the two foregoing communications be received and placed on file.

From Lenox Brick Company, as follows:

Cliffwood, N. J., March 22, 1907.

Dear Sir: Through neglecting to keep the South street draw in working order, our schooner, "Grace Hoffmire," was delayed four days, March 8th to March 12th. Our loss while delayed these four days for use of vessel and labor, is very reasonable at $40. The foreman on the bridge was unable to ge the draw open, therefore our vessel was unable to get to her destination when the navigation was blocked in this manner, which is the duty of the man in charge of bridge, to see that the bridge is in working order. Enclosed there is a bill for the amount.

On motion of Freeholder Gruener, received, and referred to the Elizabeth drawbridge committee and county attorney, they to report back to this board.

REPORTS OF COMMITEES.

By the committee to settle with the sheriff, as follows:

Gentlemen: The undersigned committee respectfully report, that after having had a conference with the sheriff respecting the compensation to be paid him for the furnishing of board to the prisoners, etc., we have come to an understanding with the sheriff as to the terms to be agreed upon, which terms are embodied in a contract herewith submitted; and we would recommend the acceptance of said contract, and that the Director of this board be authorized to execute the same.

Dated April 4th, 1907.

Very respectfully submitted, E. K. Adams, J. Hervey Doane, Adolph H. Gruener, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Robison the clerk read the agreement in full and, after being laid over temporarily, the report of the committee and the agreement were taken up later, and on motion of Freeholder Cady, were both adopted on roll call by a unanimous vote.

By the committee on county roads:

Gentlemen: The undersigned, county road committee, to whom was referred the consideration of the application for the purchasing of land and widening of the county road at the junction of South avenue and Broad street in the town of Westfield, would respectfully report that they have inspected said premises in conjunction with the representatives of the town of Westfield, and while we unanimously concede that said improvement is much to be desired, and would be of great benefit to the inhabitants of teh town of Westfield as well as the traveling public, yet we find that in order to make said improvement, it would be necessary eiteher to purchase or condemn lands owned by private individuals at said location, and being advised by the county attorney that under the County Road Act there is no provision authorizing this board to either purchase or condemn private property for said purposes, we would recommend that on condition that the town of Westfield procure said property, either by purchase or otherwise, that this board then, at the county expense, proceed with the work necessary to macadam and straighten said road at said point.

Dated April 4th, 1907.

Very respectfully submitted, E. K. Adams, Henry Krouse, Thomas J. Pierson, S. P. T. Wilbur, Committee.

Freeholder Cady moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By Joint Committee of Union and Somerset Counties, as follows:

Whereas, at a meeting of the joint committee of this board with the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Somerset, a contract was awarded to J. E. Kelley for the building of the abutment walls at the bridge over Green Brook at West End avenue, in city of Plainfield, for the sum of $2,460, he being the lowest bidder; and whereas, said Joseph E. Kelley, after presenting said bid, and having said award made to him, declined to execute said contract, representing that he had secured a position which would necessarily prevent him from the building of said wing walls; and whereas, Arthur E. Smith was the next lowest bidder for said work, and he having signified his willingness to execute the contract for the sum, $2,545, so bid by him; therefore, be it resolved, that the director of this board be authorized and empowered to execute said contract with said Arthur E. Smith, provided the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Somerset concur therein and jointly execute the same.

Respectfully, S. P. T. Wilbur, chairman; Charles A. Smith, J. Hervey Doane, John Robinson, Adolph H. Gruener, committee.

Freeholder Krouse moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By the committee to inspect bridge at St. George avenue, near Woodbridge line, Rahway:

Your committee reports that they have examined the bridge and find that the telephone company has laid pipes across the same, supported from the steel beams of the bridge, and enclosed in a heavy mass of concrete. The bridge is an iron truss bridge, with a wooden floor, and the very large increased weight put on the structure by reason of the pipes and concrete of the telephone company, has resulted in the breaking of some of the tie rods, which bind together diagonally, the steel floor beams. Other tie rods are bent and will soon break, if not relieved. If the telephone company has had the right given it to lay pipes across this bridge, the work was not properly done at the time, and your committee would recommend that the repairs be made and paid for by the telephone company, and that the work be done under the supervision of the Board of Freeholders. Your committee would further recommend that the county attorney be requested to notify the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, that this bridge has been injured by reason of their work, and that they are requested to take immediate steps to make the necessary repairs to this bridge, at their own expense.

Respectfully submitted, Adolph H. Gruener, Joseph Perry, George B. Cladek, committee.

On motion of Freeholder Darby the report was received and recommendation adopted without dissent:

The special committee appointed to revise and redraft the by-laws of the board presented their report, and on motion of Freeholder Pierson it was ordered that the report be laid over one month, and that typewritten copies of the report be furnished to each member of the board.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Gruener: Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed by the Director, to consider the necessity of, and probable cost of the construction of a bridge over Robinson's Branch of the Rahway river, in the city of Rahway, between Central avenue and Church street, said bridge having been heretofore petitioned for, and report at a subsequent meeting of this board.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse the resolution was adopted without dissent. The Director appointed as the said committee, Freeholders Gruener, Krouse, Woodruff, Donahue and Doane.

By Freeholder Cady: Resolved, that a committee of three be appointed to visit and examine the Division avenue bridge, Summit, with the view of lengthening the bridge for a sidewalk on the south side of the avenue.

On motion of Freeholder Gruener the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the Director appointed as the said committee, Freeholders Cady, Jones and Perry.

By Freeholder Swain: Resolved, that a committee of three be appointed to examine the bridge on Springfield avenue, Summit, opposite Briant's pond, and report to the board at its next meeting as to certain stoppages at the faterway of the bridge, and to recommend a course of action looking toward the removal of the stoppages.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse the resolution was adopted without dissent. The Director appointed as the said committee, Freeholders Swain, Smith and Maurer.

By Freeholder Cladek: "Whereas, heretofore, on March 27th, 1905, control of certain roads were by resolution of this board relinquished, the same having been at the time of said relinquishment in a poor and rough condition; and whereas, it is desirable that said roads, or a part thereof should again be placed under the control of this board to the end that the same may be repaired and placed in a proper condition; therefore be it resolved, that this board assumes control over all those parts of roads herein particularly described, viz: Beginning at a point in the center line of St. George avenue, where the same intersects the boundary line dividing the township of Linden and the city of Rahway, thence running in a southwesterly direction along St. George avenue, its various courses through said city of Rahway to a point where the same intersects with Westfield avenue in said city. Also the following: Beginning at a point where the center line of St. George avenue intersects with the center line of Westfield avenue in the city of Rahway, thence westerly along the said avenue, its various courses thereon through the city of Rahway to a point where the center line of said road of avenue intersects the boundary line dividing the city of Rahway and the township of Clark; and be it further resolved: that a certified copy of this resolution be, by the clerk of this board, filed in the office of the county clerk, and that the map now on file be changed accordingly.

Freeholder Gruener moved the adoption of the resolution which was duly seconded, and after Freeholder Cladek had briefly explained the great need that there was for the said roads being repaired and being placed in proper condition for public use and travel, the expense of which was not really incumbent upon the city of Rahway, the resolution on roll call was unanimously adopted.

Freeholder Meisel called attention to the fact that a short road between Summit and Springfield, and which road was a county road, was in very bad condition. A sewer had been laid through said road by the city of Summit, and said road had never afterwards been placed in proper condition. County Attorney Codington said that this board had an agreement with the city of Summit that said city should repair the road, and he had so notified the common council of said city; no attention had been paid to his notification in the matter, but if now referred to the county road committee and county attorney, due notification was given to said city to repair said road and no reply was received, then the county attorney could take action under the law.

On motion of Freeholder Jones it was ordered that the above matter be referred to the county road committee and county attorney.

Freeholder Woodruff also called attention to bad conditions of County Road on certain portions of Morris Avenue and which matter was also referred to the County Road Committee for action.

The following bills properly audited and approved were read and on roll call unanimously ordered paid, viz:

THE PLUM TREE

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

Perhaps the most far-sighted—certainly, as the event showed, the most fortunate—single stroke of my campaign was done in Illinois. That state was vital to our success; also it was one of the doubtful states where, next to his own Indiana, Scarborough's chances were best. I felt that we must put a heavy handicap on his popularity there. I had noticed that in Illinois the violently radical wing of the opposition was very strong. So I sent Merriweather to strengthen the radicals still further. I hoped to make them strong enough to put through their party's state convention a platform that would be a scarecrow to timid voters in Illinois and throughout the west; and I wished for a "wild man" as the candidate for governor, but I didn't hope it, though I told Merriweather it must be done. Curiously enough, my calculation of the probabilities was just reversed. The radicals were beaten on platform; but, thanks to a desperate effort of Merriweather's in "coaxing" rural delegates a frothing, wild-eyed, political crank got the nomination. And he never spoke during the campaign that he didn't drive voters away from his ticket—and, therefore, from Scarborough. And our machine there sacrificed the local interests to the general by nominating a popular and not insincere reformer.

When Roebuck and I descended upon Wall street on October 16, three weeks before election, I had everything in readiness for my final and real campaign.

Throughout the doubtful states, Woodruff was in touch with local machine leaders of Scarborough's party, with corruptible labor and fraternal order leaders, with every element that would for a cash price deliver a body of voters on election day. Also he had arranged in those states for the "right sort" of election officers at upward of 500 polling places, at least half of them places where several hundred votes could be shifted without danger or suspicion. Also, Burbank and our corps of "spellbinders" had succeeded beyond my hopes in rousing partizan passion—but here again part of the credit belongs to Woodruff. Never before had there been so many free barbecues, distributions of free uniforms to well-financed Burbank and Howard Campaign clubs, and arrangings of those expensive parades in which the average citizen delights. The wise Woodruff spent nearly one-third of my "education" money in this way.

One morning I found him laughing over the bill for a grand Burbank rally at Indianapolis—about $35,000, as I remember the figures.

"What amuses you?" said I.

"I was thinking what fools the people are, never to ask themselves where all the money for these free shows comes from, and why those who give are willing to give so much, and how they get it back. What an ass the public is!"

"Fortunately," said I.

"For us," said he.

"And for itself," I rejoined.

"Perhaps," he admitted. "It was born to be plucked and I suppose our crowd does do the plucking more scientifically than less experienced hands would."

"I prefer to put it another way," said I. "Let's say that we save it from a worse plucking."

"That is better" said Doc. For, on his way up in the world, he was rapidly enveloping what could, and should be called conscience.

I looked at him, and once more had a qualm like shame before his moral superiority to me. We were plodding along on about the same moral level; but he had ascended to that level, while I had descended to it. There were politicians, posing as pure before the world and even in the party's behind-the-scene, who would have sneered at Doc's "conscience." Yet to my notion, they, who started high and from whatever sophistry of motive trailed down into the mire, are lower far than they who began deep in the mire and have been struggling bravely toward the surface. I know a man who was born in the slums was a pickpocket at eight years of age, was a boss at 45, administering justice according to his lights. I know a man who was born what he calls a gentleman and who, at 45, sold himself for the "honors" of a high office. And once, after he had shaken hands with that boss, he looked at me, furtively made a wry face, and wiped his hand with his pocket handkerchief!

The other part of our work of preparation—getting the Wall street whales in condition for the "fat-frying"—was also finished. The Wall street Roebuck and I adventured was in a state of quake from fear of the election of "the scourge of God," as our subsidized socialist and extreme radical papers had dubbed Scarborough—and what invaluable campaign material their praise of him did make us!

Roebuck and I went from office to office among the great of commerce, industry and finance. We were received with politeness everywhere. But not a penny could we get. Everywhere the same answer: "We cannot see our way to contributing just yet. But if you will call early next week—say Monday or Tuesday—" four or five days away—"we'll let you know what we can do." The most arrant eagerness to placate us, to keep us in good humor; but not a cent—until Monday or Tuesday.

When I heard "Monday or Tuesday" for the third time my suspicions were aroused. When I heard it the fifth time, I understood. Wall street was negotiating with the other side, and would know the result by Monday, or at the latest Tuesday.

CHAPTER XXIII.

In Which a Mouse Helps a Lion.

I did not dare communicate my suspicions to my "dear friend" Roebuck. As it was, with each refusal I had seen his confidence in me sink; if he should get an inkling how near to utter disaster I and my candidate were, he would be upon me like a tiger upon his trainer when he slips. I reasoned out my course while we were descending from the fifth "king's" office to our cab: If the negotiations with the opposition should be successful I should not get a cent; if they should fail, Wall street would be frantic to get its contributions into my hands; therefore, the only sane thing to do was to go west and make such preparations as I could against the worst.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Max Figman will make his stellar debut in this city this afternoon and tonight at the New Plainfield theatre in "The Man on the Box," the brilliant comedy success that kept New York city in good humor for over three hundred nights, and is the most enjoyable bit of stage literature that has been conceived since the days of the Augustin Daly comedies. It was adapted by Grace Livingston Furniss from Harold McGrath's book of the same name, and promises to eclipse the latter in point of popularity. Max Figman has earned his spurs as an actor, and is more than qualified to become a lasting star.

The management of the New Plainfield theatre announce the engagement of the much talked of "Vanderbilt Cup" next Monday night. It is promised with all the wealth of surroundings and lavish equipment which marked its long run at the Broadway theatre, New York, and the Colonial, Chicago. With a theme as thoroughly fascinating as the automobile about which to construct a play, it becomes necessary that the rollicking mirth and enjoyment that the motor car naturally brings in its train should be interpreted by a company of players who are peculiarly fitted to the part they assume, and in this respect "The Vanderbilt Cup" is unique, numbering amongst its personnel such eminent exponents of the art of comedy as Miss Alice Dovey, Otis B. Thayer, William Keogh, George Anderson, David Andrada, John H. Keefe, Arthur Hoyt, Frank Andrews, Douglas Lloyd, Virginia Bray, Emely Alton, Gladys Towle, Helen DuBois, the three Pendleton Sisters, and the daring automobilist, Eddie "Cannon" Bald.

"The Two Orphans," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday afternoon and night, is essentially a drama of deeds, and not one of words. Many of its strongest scenes could be played in pantomime, so little do they depend on the lines that the actors read; in this regard they are like some of the best scenes in Shakespearian dramas. Like all really great dramas, including "Hamlet" and "Julius Caesar," it appeals to the emotions that are common to all humanity, and not to that small and deliciously naive class that modestly styles itself the intellectually superior one. "The Two Orphans" is a dramatic gem that sparkles against all environments; it touches all hearts, and the sacrificial love of one sister for the other gives all a homily that will last. To tell about "The Two Orphans" would be but reciting an old story, it has been told over and over again, and even in the nursery the good governess will reach the little hearts with a recital of the sisters.

The forthcoming engagement of Nat M. Wills and his company of comedians, singers and dancers in his latest musical success, "A Lucky Dog," at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night, is looked forward to with great interest by those who are familiar with this favorite comedian's ability as a laugh maker. Broadhurst and Currie have surrounded Mr. Wills with a company of unusual merit, a strong singing and dancing chorus of the prettiest bunch of girls ever gathered into one production, and have mounted the play with three gigantic sets unsurpassable in point of beauty and costumes, light effects and novelty dancing numbers calculated to dazzle the most blase spectator. The company includes Delia Stacey, Emma Lou Giffin, Anita Zorn, Lee Hobbs Martin, Ninon De Verenne, Mae Harrison, Edna Mitchell, Mazie Oliver, Mae Francis, Marie Grecourt, Charles Udell, Fred Bennold, Joseph Eggenton, Maurice Lavigne, James Vincent, Peter Griffen and others of equal note.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Brokaw's creamery on East Front street is headquarters for pure cream, milk, butter and fresh eggs.

For solid Havana cigars, made of undoped tobacco, go to M. C. Dobbins' store, North avenue. The Yara is still a favorite.

Boice, Runyon & Co., of Park avenue, sell the best anthracite coal that can be obtained and the prices will be found reasonable.

John Winternreid, of Lee place, is a reliable trucker and when he takes charge of your work you can rest assured it will be attended to right.

One can get the furniture one wants, no matter what it is, provided it be modern, at Powlison & Jones' store, East Front street. The prices are right and the deliveries are prompt.

Have you got your spring suit yet, young man? If not, go to Harry Werner's store, West Front street, and be certain to make satisfactory purchases. All purchases made at Werner's are satisfactory. The quality, style and cut of his clothes and furnishings are of the first order.

Trade with A. E. Force & Co., proprietors of "The White Store," and you will always receive the best goods and full value. Besides carrying a full line of dry goods, the firm also has a large stock of fine rugs, of the best make, and guaranteed to give satisfaction. Men's furnishing goods in a wide variety can be found in that department and the women will always find many things to interest them at this up-to-date store.

"Keeping Company" Rules.

New York, April 20.—"Seven months is long enough to 'keep company,'" said Father Angelo, of the Passionist Fathers, who are conducting a mission at St. Michael's Roman Catholic church, Flushing, to 2,000 women last evening. mong the rules he laid down for parents were:—"Young lovers should not be permitted to 'keep company' until they are of a proper age; it is an insult for a young man to 'keep company' with a young woman two or three years; the proper hours for courting are from eight to half-past ten o'clock, and the lights should always be kept lit; if the young man does not declare his intentions soon after the seven month period of probation the mother should step in and make inquiries."

Edey Follower a Suicide.

Boston, Mass., April 20.—Despairing from ill health, Miss Mary E. Tomlinson, of Concord, N. H., a prominent Christian Scientist and sister of the Rev. Irving C. Tomlinson, who is one of Mrs. Eddy's leaders, committed suicide yesterday morning by leaping from a fourth story window of the Parker House. Miss Tomlinson devoted most of her time to the church at Concord. Medical Examiner William McGrath, who was called to view the body, stated that Miss Tomlinson had suffered from hallucinations.

Mrs. Winfield S. Schomp, of West Front street, has returned from a visit with D. S. VanPelt, of Harlingen.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Runyon, of Madison avenue, went to Atlantic City today. They wil stop at Galen Hall.

"CENTRAL PARK"

Was—Is—Will Be

IT WAS, only about a year ago, just a pretty farm.

IT IS to day the finest building site in Plainfield, with broad avenues macadamized their entire width, concrete curb, sidewalks, trees, gas, electric light, in fact all improvements. Nearly $100,000 expended in new and handsome dwellings, now ready for the market.

WHAT IT WILL BE we hardly dare predict, with contracts out for even more extensive improvements and twelve more handsome residences.

Central Park is that beautifully situated tract bounded by Park, Prospect, Hillside and Thornton Avenues.

OBITUARY.

OBIT .....

Mrs. Nancy Hotchkiss Wheeler.

Mrs. Nancy Hotchkiss Wheeler, widow of Henry Wheeler, died at her home on East Fifth street, last night. She was in her eighty-eighth year and had been ailing for the past two months. She was a native of New Haven, Conn., but had resided in Plainfield for the past twenty-four years, coming here from New York. She had been a member of Grace church for a long time. There are surviving three daughters, Mrs. Charles L. Lockwood, of Philadelphia; Mrs. George W. Ely, of New York, and Mrs. William E. Lowe, of Park avenue. A brother, Elias Hotchkiss, resides in the borough. The funeral will be held at her late home tomorrow afternoon and will be private. Interment will be at Seymour, Conn., at the convenience of the family.

Miss Sarah Dayton.

The funeral of Miss Sarah Dayton, who died while on a visit at the home of her nephew, Edward Drake, of Stelton, took place from the Baptist church of Stelton Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. W. T. Dorward, pastor of the church, officiated at the services. The interment took place in the old burying ground adjoining the church, where rest the remainder of the Dayton family.

HIS ESCAPE CUT SHORT.

Constables Prove Too Fast for Thief at New Brunswick.

New Brunswick, April 20.—Christopher J. Cook, of this city, after being sentenced to the Rahway Reformatory by Judge Booraem yesterday made a break for liberty on the steps of the Middlesex court house. As he left the court room he took off his overcoat and necktie and threw them to a friend standing nearby. On the steps he shook himself free from Constables Holman and Gilliland and started to run.

Holman, who is 60 years old, ran after and caught him. The officers overpowered him and dragged him to the county jail.

Cook is a young fellow who has been ruined by drink. Mrs. Emily Williamson, of Elizabeth, probation officer for Middlesex county, found him in the county jail last January serving a four months' sentence for disorderly conduct. She induced him to sign the pledge and had him discharged. Then with Joseph Newberger, an ex-convict, he stole a horse blanket and sold it for fifty cents.

Gimbel Tries Suicide.

New York, April 20.—Benedict Gimbel, of Philadelphia, who was arrested in this city on Thursday afternoon on a complaint to the district attorney of Mrs. William Hudson Clark, mother of Ivor Clark, a crippled lad, attempted to kill himself yesterday in a hotel in Hoboken. Gimbel broke the nose from a water pitcher in his room, and with the charpedged piece of crockery cut his throat and left wrist. The gash across his throat severed his windpipe. Two arteries in his wrist was cut through. He will probably recover.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jackson, of Crescent avenue, left today for Atlantic City, where they will remain for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Steel and daughter, of Stebbins place, have returned to Worcester, Mass., their former home.

Miss Brokaw, of East Ninth street, and Miss Laura Runyon, of Madison avenue, have gone to Lakewood for a short time.

John Grierson, of Crescent avenue, with his family sailed for Europe yesterday, where they will remain an indefinite time.

H. F. Johnson, of Watchung avenue, is planning to take his wife and children abroad, where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. James Trimmer and son, Ray, of West Fourth street, are spending a few days with relatives in Clinton, Hunterdon county.

Mrs. M. F. Draper, of Orchard place, is recovering from a severe illness. She has left the hospital after a two weeks' stay.

CLOSED PORTALS.

State Council officers will pay a fraternal visit to Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., on Thursday night, May 2.

Rev. Frank Fletcher will make an address before Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., on Tuesday night, when an entertainment will be held. There will be a musical programme.

GOVERNOR STOKES IMPROVED.

Physician Says His Condition Is Not Serious, but He Must Rest.

Trenton, April 20.—Governor Edward C. Stokes, who was stricken with illness Thursday night as the result of overwork during the session of the Legislature, was much improved today, although not able to leave his apartments. His physician, however, thinks he will be able to go to Millville tomorrow to spend Sunday with his mother, as is his custom. He will be obliged to forego for the present his contemplated fishing trip to Pike county, Pa.

The physicians declare that the Governor's condition is not at all serious, but he must have rest after his hard work during the winter. The Governor always overtaxes his strength during a session of the Legislature, and invariably suffers an attack of stomach trouble as the result.

WOMAN FOUND DROWNED.

Canal Boat Captain's Wife, It Is Supposed, Fell Off Gankplank at Elizabethport.

Mrs. Daniel Donovan, wife of the captain of a canal boat which is lying at Pier 6, Elizabethport, was found drowned alongside the vessel yesterday. The woman was last seen alive at 2 o'clock this morning, in a saloon on the water front at Elizabethport.

It is surmised that in trying to get on board of the boat she fell off the plank which led from the boat to the wharf. Nothing is known by the police as to where the couple belong. The woman's body was removed to Steiner's morgue, at Elizabethport.

BURNS KILL LONG BRANCH TOT.

Detective's Little Girl Dies in Hospital as Result of Accident.

Long Branch, April 20.—Agnes Leddy, about three years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leddy, of Grand avenue, died Thursday night at the Monmouth Memorial Hospital from burns received while playing around a bonfire.

The child's clothing was almost burned away before the flames were smothered. She died four hours later. Mr. Leddy is a detective.

Protests Mutual Election.

New York, April 20.—Following the official announcement that the administration ticket had won in the election of trustees for the Mutual Life Insurance Company by a vote of approximately three to one, Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the International Policy Holders' Committee, declared that an election under the present system is farcical, and that the Legislature would be asked to order a new election in which an official ballot would be used, and the agents excluded from participation. Candidates on the administration ticket received an average of 185,000 votes, while those on the united ticket, in opposition, received about 65,000.

Centenarian to Wed.

St. Louis, Mo., April 20.—John B. Bundren, 101 years old this month, whose home is in Ttaesville, in the Tennessee Mountains, expects to Marry Miss Rose McGuire, of Preston, Lancastershire, England, who is ninety-eight years old. The wedding will be the sequel to a romance that has covered eighty years. Mr. Bundren and Miss McGuire were to marry seventy-five years ago, but parental objections interfered, and Miss McGuire was sent to England. Mr. Bundren went to California and made a considerable fortune.

Bank Stockholders to Elect.

The stockholders of the Dunellen National Bank will meet Monday night. This will be the first annual meeting and fifteen directors will be elected.

TO MAKE NO NEW LAWS AFTER RECESS.

Lawmakers to Take Action Only On Bills Returned By Governor.

It is assumed by some newspapers that law-making may be resumed by the Legislature when it reassembles on June 18. But this is a mistake. The concurrent resolution under which both Houses adjourned on Saturday morning provided that "on June 18, 1907, both Houses of the Legislature reassemble for the sole purpose of acting upon bills vetoed by the Governor." It was for the express purpose of shutting the doors against general legislation and preventing the reopening of vexatious problems that this resolution was adopted.

Of course, the inhibition against reopening the doors has no force in law. The Legislature has absolute power over the matter.

It might rescind the resolution and resume legislation and remain in session for a month longer, or all summer, or even all the year for that matter, if it wanted to, but good faith requires that the c onditions be observed, and it is practically certain that the Legislature will strictly live up to the contract when it reassembles in June.

CONVICT FIGHTS KEEPERS.

Negro Attacks James Fitzgerald in State Prison, Makes a Dash and Tries to Scale Wall.

Maron Williams, of Salem county, a negro convict at the State prison at Trenton, who is more than six feet tall and has a reputation of being a "bad man," attacked James Fitzgerald, a deputy keeper, last Sunday night in an effort to escape, but was overpowered. The attempted escape has just become known.

William struck Fitzgerald on the head with a glass decanter, which the convicts are allowed to have in their cells for the keeping of vinegar. The negro was about to follow this up with blows from another decanter made in a sling by the use of a handkerchief when other keepers interfered.

Williams ran through an open door and into the prison yard and made a frantic effort to climb the wall to liberty, but a score of keepers were on his heels and pounded him into a state of semi-consciousness before they could subdue him.

IN THE WORLD OF INDUSTRY.

Capt. Bernier, in charge of the Canadian expedition in the Arctic seas, reports that he has taken possession, in the name of his government, of fourteen islands, hertofore undiscovered.

Sweet potatoes are principally used in the Azores to make alcohol, the yield being 10 to 11 per cent. The present price is about 13 cents (United States currency) per liter (1,0567 quarts).

By modern processes, a piece of leather is converted into a completed pair of shoes in 14 minutes, and during this time it passes through the hands of 63 persons and through 15 machines.

It is claimed by grocerymen in Mexico that asparagus is being imported from France in large packages and canned in the City of Mexico under American labels as though coming from California.

A Vermont gardner has succeeded in raising on a patch of ground three by twenty feet, nearly four bushels of onions. At this rate an acre would produce 2,904 bushels which would bring about $1,000.

In Japan every male over 25 years of age and paying a direct annual tax of ten yen ($) is entitled to vote.

Governor Stokes Ill.

Governor Stokes was stricken with stomach trouble late Thursday night and was obliged to take to his apartments, at the Bloomfield, Trenton. He is somewhat improved today, but is not well enough to go to Bloomingrove, Pa., for a fishing trip, as he expected. His physician, Dr. H. C. Norton, says he will be all right in a few days, and that he may be able to visit his mother, at Millville, tomorrow. The Governor was pretty well worn out by the strain of work during the sessions of the Legislature.

Charges Cruelty.

William Tulp, fourteen years old, of No. 130 North Park street, East Orange, an inmate of the State Home for Epileptics at Skillman, and who is at his home on a leave of absence, has told a story of alleged cruelty at the Home which is now being investigated by Probation Officer Gascoyne, of Newark. If the latter finds the story to be true he will lay the matter before Governor Stokes and a thorough investigation of the Home will likely follow.

Ephriam B. Hedden's Funeral.

A private funeral service was held Thursday afternoon over the body of Ephriam B. Hedden at his late home on East Front street. It was conducted by Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman. There were numerous floral offerings. Burial was made at Hillside, brothers and nephews of the deceased acting as pall bearers.

P.H.S. PUPILS' CONCERT

MYGRANT A FEATURE

Trained Dogs Introduced As a Vaudeville Stunt—List of Those Taking Part in the Affair.

The concert given by the Plainfield High School musical clubs at the High School auditorium Saturday evening was exceptionally fine The feature was the cornet playing by the assisting artist, W. S. Mygrant, of Fanwood, who is leader of the Thirteenth Regiment Band of Brooklyn. The audience showed its appreciation by enthusiastic applause and Mr. Mygrant responded generously to the hearty encores. The solos by Mr. Mygrant were, "Erinnerunng au Prague," "Gounod's Serenade," "Valse Brilliante" and "Bonny Sweet Bessy." Particularly good were the cornet duets by W. S. Mygrant and Percy L. Mygrant. They responded to an encore with "Hear 'Dem Bells," the solo part of which is composed by Mr. Mygrant. They were accompanied on the piano by Miss S. Louise Mygrant.

Two numbers were given by the High School orchestra: "La Fiancee Waltz," and "The Blue Jackets," a two-step. The solo parts in the Glee Club were taken by Miss Quenna Tillotson and Guion Fountain. The pieces were, "Forward, Gaily Together," "Marching," "Sing Me a Song o' the Sea," "Tom, the Piper's Son," "Then You'll Remember Me," and "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep." A surprise awaited the audience and the conductor, S. B. Howe, Jr., for, at the conclusion of one number, Guion Fountain presented Mr. Howe, in the name of the musical clubs, with a baton as a token of appreciation. He replied with a few words of thanks.

"The Four Leaf Clover," a soprano solo by Miss Queena Tillotson, and "Sing Me to Sleep," as an encore, were followed by the Mandolin and Banjo Club: "Angels' Serenade" and "The Runabouts," and "Summer Secrets" given for an encore. Other selections by the Mandolin Club during the evening were "Wonderland," a waltz song, and "Katie," the words of both pieces being sung by the Boys' Glee Club. A violin solo entitled "Cavatina" was played by Miss Arline Brown, accompanied on the piano by Miss Elsie Knowlton.

The members of the male quartette, which gained considerable popularity in the High School last year, were present as spectators Saturday night, but were induced to take part in the programme. The quartette was composed of the Messrs. Malcolm Davis, Gideon Fountain, Guion Fountain and William Flanders. They sang some of the old-time favorites.

The novel feature of the programme was that furnished by Monsieur le "Professeur" Guillaume Briggs and his two well trained fox terriers. With all the ease and grace of a typical ring master the "Professeur" made the dogs do clever tricks.

The entertainment concluded with the High School song by the Glee Club.

The accompanists—Miss Mabel Maxson, Miss S. Louise Mygrant, Miss Elsie Knowlton, Miss Frances Rittenhouse, Miss Margaret Leggett; Mandolin and Banjo Club—Miss VanNorden, Miss Leggett; Messrs. Howe, Leggett, Williams, Smith, Gavett, Bond, Leland, Linabury, de Brigard; The Orchestra—Misses Brouwer, A. Brown, M. Brown, Knowlton; Messrs. Doane, J. Dutcher, Dutcher, Taylor, Brick, Mygrant, Briggs. The Glee Club—Misses Randall, Collins, Jones, Eckert, Pound, Radford, Brown, Jewett, VanTuyl, C. Kanen, F. Kanen, M. Carman, Tilltson, Carr, Cuming, Brouwer, FitzGerald, Smalley, Stutsman, H. Rogers, DeLaney, Dunham, Wynn, Andrews, Smith, Brousse, Messrs. Leggett, J. Dutcher, R. Dutcher, Briggs, H. de Brigard, Bond, Linabury, Doane, Fountain, Reed, Thickstun, Caldwell, Hardcastle, Bogardus, S. Fisher. Conductor—S. B. Howe, Jr.

Entertainment for Organ Fund.

Under the auspices of the Men's Club, a musical and literary entertainment will be given at Hope chapel tomorrow night. It will be presented by the Four H Quartette, assisted by Miss Justine Roberts, of Brooklyn, reader; Thomas M. Muir, monologuist, and Thomas H. DeMeza, accompanist. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the organ fund of the chapel.

OVERHEATED STOVE SET FIRE TO HOUSE

DEPARTMENT'S QUICK ARRIVAL SAVES CHARLES MAURER'S HOME.

An overheated stove at the home of Charles Maurer at 1,336 West Front street, started a blaze at 7:40 last night that gave the fire department an hour's fight. The stove set fire to the floor and the flames crept between the partitions into a lot of inaccessible places.

A still alarm was sent to headquarters and the chemical engine and two horse wagons responded. The men found it necessary to cut away part of the flooring after which they were able to cope with the blaze with only the use of the chemical engine. The flames had gotten to the second story before they were finally extinguished.

The loss to the house is estimated by Chief Doane at $300, covered by insurance. The property is owned by Louis H. Morgan, who is at present living in the south. There was no loss to Maurer's furniture.

LEAVES HER HUSBAND FOR THE THIRD TIME

HOW WILSON STEININGER ADVERTISES HIS WIFE'S DESERTION.

Wilson Steininger, of Orchard place, left the following advertisement with The Daily Press, this morning, for insertion in the paper:

"To the Public—Take Notice.—Whereas, my wife, Katie Steininger, having left my bed and board without my consent, I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by her in my name from the date of this notice. WILSON STEININGER."

Mr. Steininger says his wife deserted him on April 16, going to the home of her father, John O'Brien, Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth. On April 20 he received a letter from her, he says, in which she declared she would not return to him. He says she left him twice before. He knows no reason for the desertion, he says.

MANY FRIENDS ATTEND FUNERAL OF JOHN H. TIER.

Service at His Late Home on Bank Place Conducted by Two Clergymen.

With a large gathering of relatives and friends in attendance, the funeral of former Freeholder John H. Tier was held at his late home on Bank place, yesterday afternoon. It was conducted jointly by Rev. Mr. Koechli, of Somerville, former pastor of the German Reformed church, Craig place, and Rev. E. P. Johnson, acting pastor of Trinity Reformed church.

At the opening of the service, Psalms were read by Mr. Koechli, after which scripture lessons from the New Testament were read by Mr. Johnson. He also told of a letter of sympathy to the bereaved family from Dr. and Mrs. Schenck, which he was privileged to read. He was followed by Mr. Koechli who gave an account of several visitis he had made to Mr. Tier during his long illness. The clergyman told of the patience he had displayed during his long illness and of his desire to be at peace with God. Mr. Tier's seventy-sixth birthday would have occurred yesterday and Mr. Koechli added that he was spending it at his home in Heaven. A tender prayer was offered by Dr. Johnson in closing.

There were a large number of floral tributes from friends, several of them being handsome set pieces.

Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery, the pall bearers being Edward P. Thorn, Harrison Coddington, Worth Coddington, James Tilby, William Gaddis and L. E. Barkalew.

Gilbert Sells Cafe.

Billy Gilbert, of the Trenton Tri-State league club, returned to New York yesterday, where he will finish the work of settling up his business, which he abandoned to play at Trenton on Saturday; Gilbert has sold out his cafe on Broadway, and will be at Trenton again today, where he will remain for the balance of the season.

Married at St. Mary's.

HIT BY BLACK DIAMOND

Lehigh Valley Flyer Strikes Hay Wagon at South Plainfield Crossing.

TWO MEN ARE INJURED

Thrown From Hay Into Road, They Suffer Apparently Severe Internal Hurts—Wagon Smashed but Horses Escape.

The Black Diamond express of the Lehigh Valley Railroad struck a hay wagon, on which George Becker, the owner, and George Yonsherko were riding, at South Plainfield at 12:53 o'clock this afternoon. The wagon was smashed and the two men were injured.

The accident occurred at a small unguarded crossing, near John Geary's truck farm. The men were riding on a load of hay. They did not see the train approaching, and the flyer hit the wagon almost before they had time to realize what was happening. The train hit the end of the wagon.

Both men were thrown into the road. The wagon was smashed and hay was scattered all about, but the horses were cut loose and escaped injury. Becker and Yonsherko were injured internally. There were no injuries on the outside of their bodies, but they appeared to be suffering severely. They were hurried to the hospital in the ambulance The full extent of their hurts could not be told at 2:30 o'clock.

PRINTERS' LEAGUE MEETS.

Delegates Report No Strike Troubles Outside of Newark.

The New Jersey Union Printers' League met yesterday in quarterly session at Elizabeth at Pfluger's Hall, corner of South Broad street and Washington avenue. The delegates were welcomed by George J. Reiss, president of the local typographical union, and R. Elmer Throssell, of Newark, presided as chairman of the meeting.

Representatives from nearly all of the printers' unions in the State attended, as well as from Typographical Union, No. 6, of New York. John W. Hays, vice president of the International Union, and Secretary Phillips, of the Wilmington (Del.) Typographical Union, were present as guests and made addresses.

Resolutions were adopted on the death recently of Samuel T. Woodrow, of Camden, late State organizer for New Jersey of the International Typographical Union. All the delegates reported conditions in the trades excellent, and no strike troubles outside of Newark.

After the business session the visitors were entertained at a banquet by the Elizabeth union. Newark was represented by R. Elmer Throssell, H. J. Gottlob and John T. Hudson.

REV. DR. J. S. ZELIE WILL BE THE ORATOR.

Programme for Memorial Day Observance Is About Completed By the Detail.

Col. Mason W. Tyler, chairman from the Memorial Detail to secure a speaker for the public exercises to be held in Reform Hall Decoration Day afternoon, announces that Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will be the orator of the day. All the other details in connection with the annual observance are being arranged in a satisfactory manner and the customary programme will be carried out.

Winfield Scottt Post, No. 73, G. A. R., has accepted the invitation to attend divine services the Sunday night previous to Memorial Day in the Presbyterian church, Westfield. The Post will be accompanied by the Women's Relief Corps and friends of the two organizations.

POWERS SELLS OUT.

E. F. Champlin Buys His Drug Store.

Edwin F. Champlin, of Little Falls, N. Y., has purchased the drug business of the Powers' Pharmacy Company, at Somerset street and Craig place, and took possession today. John P. Powers, who heretofore conducted the business, has no definite plans for the future, but he intends taking a rest for a time.

Mr. Champlin, the new proprietor, is a graduate of the Pharmaceutical College at Albany, N. Y., and was engaged in the retail drug business at Little Falls for nine years.

Funeral of Mrs. Wheeler.

A private funeral service was held yesterday afternoon over the body of Mrs. Nancy Hotchkiss Wheeler at her late home on East Fifth street. It was conducted by Rev. E. M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church. Interment is to be made at Seymour, Conn., at the convenience of the family.

COLLINS FOR GOVERNOR

Former Supreme Court Justice is Picked as the Likely Republican Candidate.

PROSPECT ARE BRIGHT

Hudson County Lawyer Well Qualified For the Honor—Popular Throughout State.

The gubernatorial campaign is expected to open soon, and continue with increasing interest and warmth throughout the summer. The conventions will be held early in the fall. Owing to the factional rows among the Democrats during the Legislature, the Republicans regard the outlook for landing a man of their political faith in the gubernatorial chair as most encouraging. Since the disgraceful scenes in the House of Assembly during its closing hours, when a rough and tumble fight among the Democratic members was threatened, and which was averted by the cool-headedness of the Republican Assemblymen, the chances of Democratic gubernatorial success have been greatly diminished.

The Republicans have been casting about for a candidate who will be looked upon with favor by the independent voters of North Jersey, where the Democrats made their gains last fall. At the same time the prospective candidate must be known and somewhat popular in the southern section of the State.

Such a man, it is believed in many quarters, will be found in former Supreme Court Justice Gilbert Collins, of Hudson county. He is an eminent lawyer, and popular throughout the State. He is well qualified for the honor.

Admitted to the bar in 1869, he practiced his profession in Jersey City, and became mayor of that city. Governor Griggs recognized his ability, and appointed him associate justice of the Supreme Court in March 3, 1897. He resigned several years later to resume the practice of law. His preceptor in law was the late Justice Jonathan Dixon.

WANT ADDRESSES.

First Baptist's Officials Desire Information.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss and the deacons of the First Baptist church are endeavoring to revise the church register, but there are a number of persons on the church roll whose addresses cannot be learned. DUNHAM AND HIS CHAIR.

"Cooney's" Little Escapade Will Cost Him Forty Days of Liberty.

"Cooney" Dunham, arrested several weeks ago for drunkenness and under suspicion of having stolen a chair, was arraigned in the city court this morning. He was found wandering along West Front street by Patrolman McDonald, with the chair over his back at 1:30 o'clock a. m.

The next day McDonald could not appear and Dunham was allowed to go upon his promise to return for an adjourned hearing. He didn't come back, and orders for his arrest were executed Saturday night.

Dunham told Judge Runyon he had been too sick to appear. He said the chair was his, which was not what he told McDonald when arrested. Judge Runyon sentenced him to forty days in the county jail.

Veterans Will Entertain.

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G.A.R., will hold a public meeting tomorrow night, to which the Women's Relief Corps and the public generally is invited. Rev. Frank Fletcher, formerly pastor of the Baptist church, New Market, and a veteran of the Civil War, will make an address and Dr. J. F. Berg, commander of the Post, has arranged for a musical programme. A social with refreshments will follow.

RESENT COURT'S STIGMA

North Plainfield Officials take Exception to Statements Made by City Judge.

AS TO LIQUOR SELLING

It Is Generally Admitted That Custom Has Been for Lessees of Saengerbund Hall to Conduct a Bar.

City Judge Runyon's observation in passing sentence on two offenders who had imbibed too freely at Saengerbund Hall during a dance and then wandered across the city line for a scrap, that "it seemed like a sloppy way to run a municipal government," has met with a vigorous resentment on the part of the borough authorities.

It was asserted by one of the officials this morning that everything possible has been done to abate the practice of selling liquor at the hall during dances but the promotors of the various affairs have always found some way to get around the legal obstacles. The Gesang and Turn Verein has the customary club license for the benefit of its members but the interpretation has always been that it does not permit the open sale of liquor during a social affair. The custom has been for various local organzations to hire the hall for a dance and conduct the bar as a side issue.

The official took exception to Judge Runyon's criticism that no one seemed to show interest enough to stop the practice and asserted that the Somerset county authorities, who have jurisdiction in the matter, have been appealed to on numerous occasions but they have seemingly taken no notice. As long as the county people permit the club license to be broadened out to the extent of leasing the bar privilege to whoever hires the hall for a dance, it was said, the borough people can take no action.

Judge Runyon's remarks were occasioned by the arraignment before him of Harry Molleson and William Mullen, two young men, both of whom had gotten intoxicated at the hall during a dance held there Friday night. They had been arraigned on the same charge only three weeks before and on that occasion it was also a dancefest that had led to their undoing. The judge was upset by their relation of the occurrence, especially after Mullen had told him that there was "plenty of stuff" sold and he gave his opinion of the methods that allowed it to be done.

A FIVE-DOLLAR RUN.

Traynor Took It in the Station House After His Arrest.

Joseph Traynor, 28 years old, a blacksmith, arrested Saturday afternoon for drunkenness by Patrolman Kelly, was fined $5 or twenty days in jail by City Judge Runyon this morning. The fine was imposed because Traynor tried to run out of the station house shortly after his incarceration.

Doorman McCue opened his cell door to give him a pail of water, and he took advantage of the opportunity to rush out. McCue caught hold of him, but the prisoner succeeded in getting to the door before Chief Kiely, who sat at his desk, could reach him. The chief's heavy grip stopped Traynor's rush in a hurry, and he went back to his cell.

COAL CONTRACT AWARDED.

Consumers' Company Will Deliver the School Fuel for $3,165.50.

The Consumers' Coal Company has been awarded the contract to supply coal to the city schools. The bid was $260 lower than the outside bidder.

The amount to be delivered is 690 tons. The company's price is $3,165.50 for the lot.

Plainfielder Weds Newark Girl.

Chester Hurlbert Guinn, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Guinn, of Carlton avenue, and Miss Cora May Crosby, of Newark, were married at the home of the latter's parents on Halsey street, Newark, Saturday morning. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Hunter, of Newark, and was witnessed by a large gathering of friends. Following a reception, Mr. and Mrs. Guinn left on a wedding trip and on returning will make their home in Newark. Those from this city who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. George H. Guinn and Raymond M. Guinn.

Rector Bridegroom Back.

Rev. George A. Warner, of Holy Cross Protestant Episcopal church, preached to his congregation yesterday, for the first time since his marriage. He returned from his honeymoon trip to Virginia Beach, Va., Friday night. He thanked the congregation and vestry for their wedding gifts.

"BILLY" LEE'S HOTEL DAMAGED BY FIRE

BLAZE STARTING IN BOWLING ALLEYS CAUSED $500 DAMAGES.

The throwing of a lighted cigarette or cigar into a box of sawdust in the bowling alleys of "Billy" Lee's hotel at Scotch Plains, threatened the destruction of the entire hotel yesterday morning, and resulted in at least $500 damage. The fire smouldered all Saturday night and worked its way through the base-boards, the floor and the ceiling into the bar-room, gaining considerable headway when discovered by Mr. Lee's daughter, Miss Sadie Lee, yesterday morning.

The bowling alleys were closed at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night, and it was 7 o'clock yesterday morning, when Miss Lee detected the odor of burning wood. She awakened her father, who immediately summoned the fire department to his place. By the time the department arrived the fire was eating itself into the bedrooms on the second floor. The firemen worked for over a half-hour before the fire was finally extinguished. The property is fully covered by insurance.

PLAINFIELDER'S AUTO STRIKES ELIZABETH WOMAN

VICTIM ESCAPED WITH SHOCK AND SEVERE CONTUSIONS.

While making a crossing at Elizabeth avenue and Reid street, Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. S. E. Lighnard, of that city, was run down by an automobile of the runabout type, belonging to a Mr. Apgar, of Plainfield. The woman was knocked to one side of the road and when picked up was in a dazed condition.

The accident occurred in front of the home of S. K. Knowles, superintendent of the Elizabeth General Hospital, where she was going for a visit, and she was taken inside. Dr. Elroy was called and found her to be suffering from severe contusions and shock but she refused to go to a hospital when requested. She has been living at an Elizabeth hotel and was taken there as soon as she had recovered sufficiently.

The automobilist stopped as soon as possible after Mrs. Leighnard was struck and did everything he could to help her. He gave his name to Mr. Knowles but the first initials were not mentioned. There are several Apgars living in this city who own machines. The one which figured in the accident bore the number 24,731.

STOKES IMPROVING.

Governor Expects to Attend to Business Today.

Governor Stokes was still to ill to go to his home in Millville Saturday, and spent the day in his room at his apartments, in the Bloomfield. He was sufficiently improved yesterday afternoon to take an hour's ride with Dr. H. G. Norton, his physician, in the latter's electric runabout.

The executive said he felt much better after the ride. During the afternoon there were many callers at the Governor's apartments, and numerous messages of sympathy and inquiries were received from out-of-town friends.

The Governor expects to be well enough to spend a short time at the Mechanics' Bank at Trenton, of which he is president, today, and will be at his office in the tate house for a while, but his physician has warned him against actively resuming his duties for a few days.

Will Talk About Children's Home.

Mrs. Kihball, president of the Children's Home Association, will address the Women's Society for Christian Work at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, Wednesday afternoon, telling the women something of the work being accomplished at the Home.

Auto Speeder Fined.

Leon B. Harris, charged with speeding his automobile over the legal limit, was fined $10 by City Judge Runyon this morning. Chief Kiely caught him whipping up his gasoline on North avenue Saturday night, at a time when traffic was somewhat heavy.

A $3 Drunk.

John Journeau, of Scotch Plains, arrested Saturday night for drunkenness, was fined $3 by Judge Runyon in the city court this morning. It was his second appearance.

POLICE RESCUE CHILD

19-Year-Old Charles Hopes Had Enticed a 3-Year-Old White Child —Kidnapping Charge Added.

Charles Edward Hopes, colored, 19 years old, was arraigned before Judge Runyon, sitting as a State magistrate, this morning, on a charge of attempting to kidnap, and assault Martha Mead, a three-year-old tot. He was captured redhanded at the New Plainfield theatre, yesterday afternoon.

Hopes has been hanging around the theatre for some time. Martha Mead, with her brothers, Warren Mead, six years old, and Jocelyn Mead, eight years old, was playing near the theatre shortly before 6 o'clock. Hopes called Martha and Warren to him, and took them into the theatre.

Jocelyn Mead, who had heard of the Marvin and other kidnapping cases, became frightened at the act. He ran to his home at 145 West Second street and told his father, George W. Mead. The latter ran from the house and to the theatre.

He found the door locked. The discovery awakened terrible suspicions and he ran with all haste to the police station. Detective Sergeant John Flynn hurried out with his as soon as his story was told. Patrolmen Kelly and Payne joined him.

Flynn and Payne forced in the theatre door, and the officers ran inside. door, and the officers ran inside. They found Hopes and the little girl in the smoke room. The worst suspicions as to Hopes' intentions were substantiated. The girl was unharmed, but the officers had arrived only in the nick of time.

The little boy was not in the place. It was learned afterwards that the negro had sent him out to buy some candy as soon as he got the children indoors.

Hopes took his arrest coolly, even manifesting something of bravado. He did not attempt to deny his crime, and made a full confession to Chief Kiely.

Hopes was still unruffled when he faced Judge Runyon this morning. Answering the court's formal inquiries, he reaffirmed his confession in level tones, acknowledging that his statement was correct in full, that it was voluntarily given, and that he appreciated the gravity of its contents.

In ordering Hopes held for the grand jury without bail, Judge Runyon said to the prisoner:

"If the grand jury knows its business, and I think it does, you will be indicted on these charges. If the court trial knows its business, and I think it does, you will be a middle-aged man before you leave prison.

"You can thank your God you live in a law-abiding community. If you had committed this crime in your native state you would be dead now. When a community like this is brought face to face with an act of this cort, wonder at lynching grows less.

"It is men like you that keeps the colored race down. You have done, by this act of yours, as much as one man can do, to set back the advancement of the colored people to full faith and trust by whites."

The little girl is too young to appreciate her escape from a terrible outrage, and Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, the city physician, who was called into the case by Chief Kiely immediately after the arrest, has made formal professional declaration to the effect that she was not harmed.

Hopes has a mother in North Plainfield. She visited him at the station house this morning.

Hopes will be imprisoned for life, if the charge of kidnapping is sustained. A law passed at the last session of the Legislature fixed that penalty. If the kidnapping charge falls to the ground, the negro will be guilty of only a misdemeanor, his attempt having failed. The maximum penalty for it is $1,000 fine and three years in prison. A prominent lawyer said this morning that the kidnapping charge, although the court would probably go a good way

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

In winter overcoats, the Scotch Plains fans to the number of several hundred watched the opening of the local baseball season Saturday afternoon, and with chattering teeth saw the home team defeat the Potters in a one sided game by the score of 20 to 2. The only redeeming feature of the game was that it gave the fans a chance to get a line on the available material that Manager Johnston has from which to select the league team. From the game put up Saturday the cranks are satisfied the 'Plains will have a show for the flag and will be found with the leaders when the league closes. Three new faces, which will greatly strengthen the team was found in the lineup, these being Jacot at first base, Mahaffey at third base, and C. Montrose, left field. The three played a fast game and were found handy with the stick. The balance of the lineup was H. Albertus, c; Johnston and Frentz, p; G. Frentz, 2b; Baldwin, ss; Reck, cf; Vanderbilt, rf.

Several of Rev. G. M. Shott's former parishioners from here attended the closing services marking the sixtieth anniversary of the Lyons Farms church at Lyons Farms yesterday.

MAY BUILD A GARDEN TOWN IN NEW JERSEY.

Site Here Is Being Considered by Philanthropic Promoters of Suburban Homes for Workmen.

New York, April 22.—Announcement is made that the Garden Cities Association of America, an organization to encourage and aid in building garden cities for workingmen, had decided to give its support to three movements for this purpose, and is about to indorse two others.

The sites of these cities, is was stated, would not be made public immediately because the land would be seized by speculators. The three sites are on Long Island, in Virginia, and in Pennsylvania. The other two now under consideration are in Connecticut and New Jersey. The Long Island tract is being developed, and consists of 800 acres. One factory has agreed to move there and others are considering the matter.

John Lewis Child is president of the association. Among the directors are Felix Alder, Bishop Henry C. Potter and Edward M. Shepard.

ACCUSE TWO MEN OF BEING FIRE BUGS

MORRISTOWN RESIDENTS ARE HELD IN $10,000 BAIL EACH.

Roundsman Michael Naughton, of the Morristown police force, preferred charges of incendiarism against Frederick Schwickhardt, Jr., and Thomas Fitzgerald on Friday night, and they were committed to the county jail by Justice of the Peace John Condon, who, upon Schwickhardt's request for bail, fixed it at $1,000. Later this was raised to $10,000 each. The authorities have been satisfied that several recent fires were of incendiary origin and the police have suspected Schwickhardt and Fitzgerald of being concerned in them and have kept them under surveillance.

Late Friday night Naughton says he saw Schwickhardt, who is a member of Washington Engine Company, go into the house on Market street and shortly after come out and after walking a short block and a half stop at Bank street and the Park. A few moments later there was an alarm of fire from Market street and Naughton, stepping up to Schwickhardt, placed him under arrest and took him to the scene of the fire, which was in the engine house. Flames had started under the stairway in the rear of the building, but after a brisk fight were extinguished, the damage to building and furniture, the latter belonging to the company, being $500.

When Schwickhardt was taken to police headquarters he denied knowledge of the fire, but in the meantime the police had also arrested Fitzgerold, who when charged with the crimes, confessed, the police say, that he and Schwickhardt had been concerned in the fire of March 24 that destroyed the Mansion House stables, and also that in the rear of the Trimmer property on South street. He asserted, says the police, that in each instance Schwickhardt "touched them off."

Fitzgerald is the steward of the Morristown Field Club, and Schwickhardt is a butcher employed in his father's place on Washington street. Both are young married men.

1 Baby Fine; 3, Ugh!

New York, April 22.—Czar, ruler of the Russian brown bear colony at the Bronx Zoological Park, believes in small families. When Katcha, his mate, proudly presented for his approval yesterday three cubs he became furious and had to be locked up in solitary confinement. Before he was taken away, however, he bit a piece from Katcha's neck as a mark of his displeasure. Katcha first dragged one whining cub into the sunlight. Czar was delighted. He played with the youngster with fatherly pride. Katcha carried forth a second cub. Czar's mood changed to disdain and aloofness. Then Katcha came back with a third bear cub. With a growl Czar sprang for his mate, knocked her down and fastened his teeth in her neck.

Broken Wooden Leg Hurts.

New York, April 22.—Complaining of pains in his right side and right leg, a man who said he was John Burke, of No. 190 Hester street, went to Bellevue Hospital last night. He winced under examination. Dr. Le Roy Smith, who examined Burke, found he had a wooden leg below the right knee and that this leg was broken three inches above the ankle. As he touched the splintered wood Burke acted as if in agony. He was sent to Ward No. 30, where intoxicated persons are sent, and the case was recorded as one of "a fractured wooden leg."

UNCLE SAM'S PRINT SHOP

It is the Biggest Establisment of Its Kind Anywhere in the World.

PAY $50,000, WEEKLY

Has An Invested Capital of Ten Million Dollars and Can Produce An Entire Book In a Night.

Working on a stupendous scale, and with resources beyond the control of any similar establishment in the world, the United States Printing Office today represents a public institution of the highest type, and holds an enviable place in nation achievement. The official nature of its operation is really of an exclusive sort, and the public is but slightly acquainted with its methods and output.

A glance at the great range of subjects handled by the department—aided by its carefully organized and equipped bureaus for research, reveals sufficiently the part the institution plays in the educational life of the nation. The list includes history, diplomacy, biography and military and naval operations in the United States and elsewhere, statistics of all kinds, laws, finance and the tariff; education, mineral resources, fisheries and agriculture in all its branches, including the farmer's habits, reading, welfare and prospects, the crops, insects, animals and soil, the trees and plants of the United States and those of other countries adapted to growth here; medicine, ethnology, geology, astronomy; coast and interior surveys, geographical research, and the progress of foreign nations in industries, art and science. An idea of the volume of work this implies may be gathered from the fact that the Department of Agriculture alone prints approximately 400 different topics annually.

Millions Invested.

The equipment with which this work is done and which enables entire books to be produced in a night, is the result of years of slow and continuous growth, and represents $10,000,000 of invested capital as against the $135,000 which, in 1860, purchased a small building, 23 Adams presses, 3 rotary presses, and about twenty tons of type to do the Federal printing of the newly created department. The job department was stated to consist of 82 cases of job type and 19 "spittoons."

Three years ago the principal building in which the great office is housed was completed at a cost of $2,500,000, and its dimensions are 408 feet long, 175 feet wide, and seven stories high. It is equipped with 15 elevators, a refrigerator plant, a filtration plant, 8-300 horse-power boilers, and 3 engines. The plant contains nearly 16 acres of floor space, and does its work with 300 tons of type, 60 type-setting machines, nearly 150 printing presses of all sizes, 600 individual electric motors, and ruling, folding and binding machinery of bewildering variety and vast capacity. Connected with the establishment is an electrotype foundry said to have no equal in size in the world. It is capable of turning out 2,000 electrotypes daily. Under the sidewalk is located a large storage vault for plates, with a capacity of 2,000,000 electrotypes.

An Enormous Pay Roll.

Wages to the sum of $100,000 are disbursed fortnightly to the 4,000 employes of whom there are 1,200 compositors, these being divided into eight divisions, each of which by itself would be considered a large composing force. A distinct line of work is assigned to each of these divisions. Congressional bills, special catalogue and library work, statistics and directory work, legal composition, technical composition, Congressional Record, specifications and job printing.

The job printing of the office requires a separate department employing about 150 compositors and including nearly 40 presses. Finally, the printing office has seven branch offices located in the Government departments. Each branch is fully equipped with type and presses; and in two of these branches there are complete binderies.

The immense quantity of material of all kinds consumed by the Government Printing Office in the course of a year can be indicated by a few of the large items (given in round numbers). During the last fiscal year there were purchased 7,000,000 pounds of machine book paper, costing $250,000; 41,000 reams of supercalendered paper of varying sizes, and 5,000 reams of coated or "cut" paper, together costing about $150,000; 57,000 reams of writing and ledger paper, costing about $106,000; 40,000 pounds of printing ink, costing $3,000; 22,000 feet of leather, and 20,000 dozen skins, costing $47,000; 6,000 packs and rolls of gold leaf, costing $34,000; 1,400,000 pounds of binders' board, costing $42,000; while the lithographs, engravings and cuts purchased by the Public Printer from private contractors for use in publications printed and bound in the Government plant cost $273,000.

A Monopoly In Its Field.

Within his field the Public Printer has a complete monopoly, for the law compels every official who requires printing, and has an appropriation to pay for it, to patronize him. He supplies estimates on work as a matter of information, but finally charges for each job whatever his records show it to have cost.

It is doubtful if there can be found in the United States a manufacturing plant employing one-tenth of the number of persons employed in the Government Printing Office, in which the two highest officials are paid as little as the Government pays the Public Printer and his chief clerk. The salary of the first is $4,500 a year; that of the chief clerk, $2,750, and the figures have not been changed in 20 years.

With the exception of compositors and binding operators the wage-earners employed in the Printing Office receive in actual compensation little more than the average wages paid in commercial offices; but the additional expense of annual leave and liberality in the number of workers results in a higher rate of pay. At the present time there is no piece-work composition; every compositor in the Government Printing Office is paid 50 cents per hour for an eight-hour day.

Uncle Sam's liberality in allowing the annual leave with pay, although not a definite asset to the recipient, is a definite liability to the Government; and when this item is included, it raises the cost of composition approximately to $26 a week.

BUTTERICK PATTERNS FOR MAY.

The Woodhull & Martin Store.

Millinery, Suits, Jackets and Skirts.

Our Spring Exhibit in these departments is by far the grandest ever shown in this city. Everything that's newest and most desirable and all moderately priced.

Everything That's New in Dress Goods.

which we are selling at last year's prices. This is made possible by reason of our anticipating the advance in prices and placing our orders accordingly.

Porch Furniture.

Our stock is the largest we've ever shown in Rockers, Chairs, Settees and Swings. Prices are low and quality high, not a frequent combination elsewhere.

New Summer Carpets, Rugs and Matting.

We import our own mattings direct from China and Japan, and this year the stocks are larger than ever, making a display of surpassing interest to any housekeeper. In Rugs and Carpets we have never had a finer line, our policy being to exclude rigidly everything not up to the highest standard. We make, lay and line all carpets free of charge.

Laces and Embroideries.

The most complete stocks in the city. In the face of high prices we are quoting many bargains, because we bought when prices were low.

Women's White Shirt Waists.

There has never been a time in the history of this store when we have sold so many Shirt Waists, and there's good reason for it. Buying as we do, direct from the best makers, and for our Atlantic City and Lakewood stores as well as this, enables us to buy in such quantities that we get all that there is in it, and what we save you also save. Herein lies the secret of our immense shirt waist business.

It's Time To Use

JAP-A-LAC.

"Jap-a-Lac" is stain and varnish combined; it is the most durable floor finish on the market. It is a great reviver of old woodwork, as it covers up all marks and scratches. Just the thing to make look like new your old porch furniture, window and door screens, wicker furniture, refrigerators, etc. It comes in ¼ pint, ½ pint, pint and quart cans, in all colors and sells for 15c, 25c, 40c and 75c a can.

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINES are equal in every way to other high priced machines, yet we sell them to you at $19.50, $21.50, $22.50 and $25.00, and you can pay for them at a dollar a week.

THE ECLISPSE BREAD MAKERS are simply wonders. Think of kneading thoroughly dough in three minutes without your hands touching the dough. They make fine bread and sell for only $2.00.

AWNINGS, made of Boyle's best stripes and guaranteed galvanized iron frames, with patent hinges that won't wear out and become loose; fit and workmanship guaranteed.

A FEW DON'TS FOR WARM WEATHER

"The following don'ts for warm weather should be borne in the mind of every housekeeper during the summer," says a well-known New York physician, "and one of the most important of those is, don't worry. For once a woman begins to fret and fume she exhausts nervous and physical energy and reduces her vitality until she is a prey to both mental and physical ailments.

"In the matter of summer undergarments, those of stockinette, I think, are the best, for the reason that they absorb the perspiration and are so sheer that they retain but little of the heat of the body.

"I tell my patients to be late in keeping an engagement rather than hurry, and to take time in doing their housework during the hot days of summer. Another dangerous practice in summer is the drinking of many iced drinks, which chill the stomach, and along the same lines I say, don't overeat, for an overloaded stomach means an attack of indigestion and a subsequent illness. Dispense with meats as much as possible.

"I firmly believe if women would go to bed early on hot nights and lie there with their eyes closed, even though they cannot sleep, that fewer of them would be listless during the day, and they would certainly have more strength to withstand the enervating effect of hot weather. Sitting up late at night is one of the worst ways of exhausting nervous energy, and the pernicious results of the practise are every day in evidence in summer by the dull, weary eyes and the lack of ambition and interest noticed among women in every-day affairs. Lying down in the middle of the afternoon is also a habit to be adopted.

"After removing the clothing preparatory to a nap, rub the body off with a coarse towel to dry it, and if if it is not too expensive an alcohol bath would be of benefit at such a time. If a bath is desired, one may be taken in tepid water, just a trifle warmer than the body—never in cold when perspiring, for, like the iced drinks, it checks the natural perspiration and is a shock to the body that might result in congestion.

"Never sit in a draught, for there is no easier or surer way of contracting cold, catarrh and even pneumonia. Sitting beside a window or in front of an electric fan is all right so long as there is no wind blowing from the opposite direction. During hot weather particular care should be taken of the eyes, for perspiration is bad for them, and the glare of the sun has a tendency to weaken and cause the minute veins to become congested."

Dies In Sweetheart's Room.

New York, April 22.—Isabelle Routtelot, a French girl, about twenty years old, committed suicide in the room of Louis Velleville, at No. 302 West Twenty-eighth street, early yesterday morning by inhaling gas, having gained admission to the room by means of a ladder and the fire escape. Belleville is a musician, said to be a member of the Manhattan Opera House orchestra, and the girl was known to be deeply in love with him. Recently the girl had been despondent. She had visited a restaurant on Saturday evening in the basement of Belleville's boarding house, and had made some inquiries about Belleville.

Dying Woman In Collision.

New York, April 22.—Carrying a dying woman to Bellevue Hospital, while a surgeon sat beside her with her infant child in his arms, an ambulance of Roosevelt Hospital was struck by a crosstown car at Thirty-fourth street and Broadway at nine o'clock last night and broken in two. No one was seriously hurt. Summoned on a hurry call, another ambulance soon arroved and took the woman, Mrs. Leonardo Barbagello, of No. 544 West Thirty-seventh street, to Bellevue. Her condition is very grave, though she escaped injury in the collision.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Thirty years in the theatre equal a cycle in almost any other sphere of activity, so rapidly do fashions and tastes change; yet a good play is always a good play, however archaic its outward garb may seem to a new. It is not difficult to understand why D'Ennery's "The Two Orphans," which comes to this city tomorrow, has held the stage since first produced thirty years ago. As a final judge the public seldom err, and if it gives its approval to a play for a whole generation, that play, be it tragedy, comedy, melodrama, or farce, must have in it certain vital elements which raise it above the rapidly shifting fashions of time. It would be a good thing for the stage if the modern productions, as a whole, contained the dramatic values of this master piece of D'Ennery's. It weaves together with marvelous skill five distinct love romances. It never flags in intensity, the interest gradually rising from one climax to another. It gives an accurate picture of the time in which it is laid, and it presents a variety of lifelike figures all strongly contrasted with one another.

At New Plainfield Theatre, Tomorrow, Matinee and Night.

Plainfield's favorite minstrel, George Primrose, and his big company of singers and dancers are coming back to the city next month. They will be at the New Plainfield on May 14, making the third time they have appeared here this season. The company has been all the way to the Pacific coast since its last local presentation and is at present working back to the East. Next season Mr. Primrose will put out a show of sixty people, forty men and twenty women, and has planned to hold the rehearsals and opening performance in this city as he did last year.

Wyatt Barnes, a former well known Plainfield young man who has been on the stage for several years, is at present included in the roster at the New York Hippodrome. He appears in the production of "Pioneer Days" as one of the guards of the stage coach attacked by Indians.

Miss Maude Fealy, who was seen in this city a short time ago, closed her season in "The Illusion of Beatrice" last Saturday. She will sail this week for London to see "The Stronger Sex," the play in which John Cort will present her next fall.

Daniel Jarrett, an actor of the old school who was for many years a member of Daniel Frohman's Lyceum theatre stock company, who last year gave such a capital performance of Oliver Goldsmith in Chauncey Olcott's production of "Edmund Burke," has an equally congenial role in "Eileen Asthore," as Corney Delaney, Mr. Olcott's faithful Irish retainer.

John H. Keefe, the greatest rube comedian on the American stage, will be seen in the cast of "The Vanderbilt Cup" when it appears here tonight. Mr. Keefe has just joined the company on account of the closing of "The Man from Now." Mr. Keefe was the original "Newt" in the production of "The Vanderbilt Cup" in New York last season.

CUSTOMS AND DOINGS HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

Those of Today Are Much Different.

Every gentleman wore a queue and powdered his hair.

A gentleman bowing to a lady always scraped his foot on the ground.

All the population of a village assembled at the inn on "post day" to hear the news.

The church collection was taken in a bag at the end of a pole with a bell attached to arouse sleepy contributors.

An old copper mine in Connecticut was used as a prison.

Imprisonment for debt was a common practice.

There was only one hat factory, and that made cocked hats.

Virginia contained a fifth of the whole population of the country.

Tw stage coaches bore all the travel between New York and Boston.

The Mississippi Valley was not so well known as the heart of Africa now is.

Quinine was unknown. When a ma had ague fits he took Peruvian bark and whiskey.

There was not a public library in the United States.

Books were very expensive. "The Lives of the Poets" cost $15.

A day laborer received two shillings a day.

A horseman who galloped on a city street was fined four shillings.

Crockery plates were objected to because they dulled the knives.

A man who jeered at the preacher or criticised the sermon was fined.

Dry goods were designated as "men's stuff" or "women's stuffs."

Stoves were unknown.

Six days were rejuired for a journey betewen New York and Boston.

Many of the streets were not named and the houses were not numbered.

The parquet of a theatre was called the pit, and was filled with the rabble.

The whipping post and pillory were still standing in New York and Boston.

Three fourths of the books in every library came from beyond the Atlantic.

Twenty days were required for a letter to go from New York to Charleston by land.

A New England girl was not allowed to marry until she could bake a loaf of bread and cuit it in smooth, even slices while it was still warm.

When a Virginian started on a journey to New York he made his will and bade farewell to his friends as though he never expected to see them again.

When a man had enough tea he placed his spoon across his cup to indicate that he wanted no more.

The favorite novels of worldly young women were Victoria, Lady Julia Bandeville and Malvern Dole.

Dances in Philadelphia were given every two weeks, but young men under 20 and girls under 18 were not admitted.

At the Christmas quilting parties games were fashionable, with kissing penalties.

The printer's—The devil.
The spendthrift's—Dear me.—Life.

FOR THE TOILET.

The size of the hips and abdomen may be reduced by certain general exercises, but the very best and most interesting way to go about such a reform would be to join a gymnasium class where, so many times a week, one would be obliged to go through the various forms. Such exercises are made really fascinating and you will not find them burdensome at all, but quite the reverse. For home treatment, it must be suggested that night and morning one stand up very straight, head back, chest erect, then very rapidly touch the floor with the finger tips and without bending the knees. Jumping the rope is also good. After the exercise take a quick cold bath. One can reduce the fleshy neck by twisting the head from side to side with muscular effort, then up and down. The idea is to break down the fat cells to make the muscles firm.

The resorcin hair tonic is an excellent and "sure-nuff" dandruff cure. If the dandruff is very, very bad, you should shampoo your hair frequently. Never dusturb the dandruff by using a fine comb, for the growth will increase as the flesh of the scalp is bruised and irritated. You should be careful about your shampoo. Never rub a bar of soap over the hair. Use the soap melted or shampot your glery halo with eggs.

You can cleanse your finger nails by dipping the orange wood stick in peroxide, then in finely powdered puice stone, and rubbing the mixture under the edges of the nails. This treatment will not prove injurious at all.

When shampooning the hair, it is not necessary to beat the egg. Break them into a small bowl. Apply some to the hair, allowing them to drain into the washbowl, which has previously been filled with hot water. Use the bath spray, then apply the rest of the eggs, rubbing them in with sufficient friction to cause them to foam up and distrube themselves thoroughly all through the hair. Rinse once more, and always very thoroughly.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

The Laurel Athletic Club, of Bound Brook, members of the Inter-City Amateur League, will have a strong team on the diamond this season. It will be composed of practically the same players as last year, with a few exceptions. Harvey Moynihan will do the catching again and Norman Harney and Joe Hayles, the latter of Raritan, will do the pitching. The rest of the infield will be composed of Hawk on second, Shaw at short and Rugen at third. The outfield will be the same as last year. It is doubtful whether Captain Roberson will play, as he has about made good with Steven's Institute team. The club will only pick players from its membership. Hugh C. Pierce, of North Plainfield, has given the club the use of his grounds at Bound Brook for another year.

It is doubtful whether Leal's School will have much of a team this season. There is a woeful lack of material and it seems impossible to pick a nine that can make a good showing, and besides the boys have not devoted much time to practice.

Chauncey Murphy, who is doing the pitching for the Plainfield High School, this year, is making good. His work on Saturday against the Adelphia Academy team, of Brooklyn, was most creditable. The P. H. S. boys are now putting up a fast game.

Walter Nelson, of New Market, who is catcher and captain of the Rutgers College team, this year, has been signed to catch for the Y. M. C. A. nine, and this will be welcome news to the followers of the team. Nelson and Davis are expected to do the receiving-end work.

"Jimmie" Montross is quite sure to land with the Newark, Atlantic League team. He is in good condition and capable of making a fine showing.

Phil. Smith's work with the Elizabeth Club will be watched with unusual interest this season. It will be a severe test for the young twirler, but his friends predict success for him.

The Lackawanna League officials will meet at Newark Wednesday night to adopt its schedule.

The Atlantic (outlaw) League, has been the means of taking many good players away from the Lackawanna League, yet the latter organization appears to be getting in good shape.

GOLF.

Charles B. Morse, chairman of the golf committee, of the Park Golf Club, is busily engaged on the season's schedule which he hopes to have ready this week. The course will be opened for regular play on Saturday, May 4.

A strong feature at the Park Golf Club this season will be the competition for a new cup every month. Several individuals, as well as the club, have offered these trophies and it is believed that these contests will bring out a large field.

The Plainfield Country Club schedule is delayed a little this season owing to a change in the golf committee, but J. Whitney Baker, the new chairman, will send them out this week.

The present indications are that the coming season will be the most prosperous in the history of golf. There are a great many new players and every club is offering handsome prizes and attractive schedules.

The season's competitive schedule of the Arsdale Golf Club has been announced. Beginning with the kickers' handicap, which was run off Saturday, there will be something going on every week until the end of October. Several innovations are to be tried. On August 17 a team match has been arranged—Schlaffers vs Foozlers. Just what qualifies a person to make one or both of these teams has not been announced. On June 15 there will be another team match between the married and single men. The members will begin play for the club championship on September 14. Mixed foursomes have also been scheduled. Recently the officers voted to admit ministers and women to honorary membership.

The Wilmington Country Club has announced an open tournament for June 13, 14 and 15. An effort will be made to get a representative entry from the New York, Philadelphia and Washington districts. The Wilmington club has one of the best eighteen hole courses in the East.

The competitive season at the St. Andrew's Golf Club began with a handicap. Walter Stern has been re-elected captain for another year.

There is a chance that the Yale team will have a match with the Dyker Meadow Golf Club sometime next month. James L. Taylor, the Dyker Meadow captain, is in communication with Dwight Partridge, who is trying to arrange a date.

(Other sporting news on page eight).

—Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Lipsett, of Bound Brook, will remove to Plainfield this week.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"The Vanderbilt Cup" comes to the New Plainfield theatre tonight. This Broadway success has been assigned a high place in the list of popular and stirring entertainments. It is said to be right in line with the public demand, and every one in the cast is fitted with fine roles. An automobile race is a "big" feature.

Thirty years in the theatre equal a cycle in almost any other sphere of activity, so rapidly do fashions and tastes change; yet a good play is always a good play, however archaic it's outward garb may seem to a new generation. It is not difficult to understand why D'Ennery's "The Two Orphans," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night, has held the stage since first produced thirty years ago. As a final judge the public seldom err, and if it gives its approval to a play for a whole generation that play, be it tragedy, comedy, melodrama, or farce, must have in it certain vital elements which raise it above the rapidly shifting fashions of time. It would be a good thing for the stage if the modern productions, as a whole, contained the dramatic values of this master piece of D'Ennery's.

The sensational rural comedy, "Joshua Simpkins," will be produced at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night. The play contains an interesting and intelligible plot, but it is not allowed to interfere with the fun, which is said to be in abundance. During the run of the play some startling scenes and situations are seen, the principal of which is said to be the saw-mill, in the third act, shown in complete operation, cutting up real timber. The saw used is the genuine article, the same as usually seen in large country saw mills. An excellent band and fine orchestra accompany this attraction. The band will parade at noon, when good music may be looked for, all being dressed as farmers.

At the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night Messrs. Broadhurst and Currie will present the happy tramp comedian, Nat M. Wills, in his latest musical comedy success, "A Lucky Dog." The book is undoubtedly the best effort of the talented young writer, Mark E. Swan, and the music which promises to sing itself rapidly into popularity is the work of George Nichols. The supporting company includes Miss Delia Stacey, Miss Lee Hobbs Martin, Charles Udell, Peter Griffen, Fred Rennolds, George Nichols and a chorus of fifty American beauties.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

J. W. VanSickle's meat market is the mecca for housewives who want good meat and poultry. They get it there. North avenue.

Every detail of a gentleman's shave is enjoyed by customers of William B. Randolph, of Watchung avenue. The best barber shop in the city.

For cleanliness, prompt and painstaking service, high quality of meat and poultry, the Grandview market, Somerset street, cannot be surpassed.

If you have decided to have your house painted and papered let Chas. Conover & Co., of Elmwood place, estimate on the work. You will not regret it.

For a cigar you must enjoy, go to M. C. Dobbins, North avenue. The old favorite, Nickel Yara, will fill your soul with bliss. All pipe and plug tobaccoes.

Electrical work of all kinds is the business of William H. Pope, the North avenue electrical contractor. He will gladly furnish estimates for any kind of a job.

For first-class hardware, kitchen utensils, housefurnishings, as well as garden tools and farming implements trade with the H. E. Coyle Hardware Company. You will find the goods the best in the market and the prices reasonable.

The celebrated Sorosis shoes which have a wold wide reputation, are sold by A. E. and A. L. Giddes, the West Front street dealers. Their children's school shoes are the best in the city and are guaranteed to wear "like iron."

Spring millinery is all the go now and I. H. Boehm, the West Front street dry goods man, is ready with one of the largest assortments to be found in the city. The department at his store is in charge of Miss Daley, who is well known to the Plainfield women.

Did it ever occur to you that you might be paying a great deal more for meat that is necessary. Patronize Roth & Co., of East Front street, and you will realize it more than ever. At this market you get the best quality of meat and fresh fish and the prices are not exorbitant.

When you need clothes just remember that Weinberger, of West Front street, can please you. His clothing meet every condition of the weather and the line of men's furnishings is so large that a selection is easy. The quality of the goods at this store and the low prices are attractive features not to be overlooked.

—The work of constructing the southside sanitary sewer is now progressing favorably. No further trouble has been experienced with the Italian laborers, those now employed appearing to be well satisfied with conditions.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

"Let's go back to the Holland," said I to Roebuck, in a weary, bored tone. "These people are a waste of time. I'll start home to-night, and when they see in the morning papers that I've left for good, they may come to their senses. But they'll have to hunt me out. I'll not go near them again. And when they come dragging themselves to you, don't forget how they've treated us to-day."

Roebuck was silent glancing furtively at me now and then, not knowing what to think. "How is it possible to win without them?" he finally said. "This demagogue Scarborough has set the people crazy. I can't imagine what possesses these men of property with interests throughout the country. They are inviting ruin."

I smiled. "My dear Roebuck," I replied, "do you suppose I'm the man to put all my eggs into one basket—and that basket Wall street?".

And I refused to talk any more politics with him. We dined together, I calm and in the best of spirits; we went to a musical farce, and he watched me glumly as I showed my lightness of heart. Then I went alone, at midnight, to the Chicago express sleeper—to lie awake all night staring at the phantoms of ruin that moved in dire panorama before me. In every great affair there is a crisis at which one must stake all upon a single throw. I had staked all upon Wall street. Without its contributions, Woodruff's arrangements could not be carried out.

When I descended at the Fredonia station I found De Milt waiting for me. He had news that was indeed news. I shall give it here more consecutively than my impatience for the event permitted him to give it to me.

About ten days before, a paragraph in one of Burbank's "pilgrimage" speeches had been twisted by the reporter so that it seemed a personal attack upon Scarborough. As Burbank was a stickler for the etiquette of campaigning, he not only sent out a denial and a correction, but also directed De Milt to go to Scarborough's home at Saint X, Indiana, and convey the explanation in a personal message. De Milt arrived at Saint X at eight in the evening. As he was leaving the parlor car he saw a man emerge from its drawing-room, make a hasty descent to the platform, hurriedly engage a station hack and drive away. De Milt had an amazing memory for identities—something far rarer than memory merely for faces. He was convinced he knew that man; and being shrewd and quick of thought, he jumped into a trap and told the driver to follow the hack which was just disappearing. A few minutes' driving and he saw it turn in at a gateway.

"Whose place is that?" he asked.

"The old Gardiner homestead," was the answer. "President Scarborough lives there."

De Milt did not discuss this rather premature entitling of Senator Scarborough. He said: "Oh—I've made a mistake," descended and sent his trap away. Scarborough's house was quiet, not a soul about, lights in only a few windows. De Milt strolled in at the open gates and, keeping out of view, made a detour of the gardens, the "lay" of which he could see by starlight. He was soon in line with the front door—his man was parleying with a servant. "Evidently he's not expected," thought my client of publicity.

Soon his man entered. De Milt, keeping in the shadows, moved round the house until he was close under open windows from which came light and men's voices. Peering through a bush he saw at a table-desk a man whom he recognized as Senator Scarborough. Seated opposite him, with a very uneasy, deprecating expression on his face, was John Thwing, president of the Atlantic & Western system, and Senator Goodrich's brother-in-law.

De Milt could not hear what Thwing was saying, so careful was that experienced voice to reach only the ears for whom its insinuating subtleties were intended. But he saw a puzzled look come into Scarborough's face, heard him say: "I don't think I understand you, John."

Thwing unconsciously raised his voice in his reply, and De Milt caught—"satisfacory assurances from you that these alarming views and intentions attributed to you are false, and they'll be glad to exert themselves to elect you."

Scarborough smiled. "Impossible," he said. "Very few of them would support me in any circumstances."

"You are mistaken, Hampden," was Thwing's answer. "On the contrary, they will—"

Scarborough interrupted with an impatient motion of the head. "Impossible!" he repeated. "But in any case, why should they send you to me? My speeches speak for themselves. Surely no intelligent man could fancy that my election would mean harm to any legitimate business great or small, east or west. You've known me for 20 years, Thwing. You needn't come to me for permission to reassure your friends—such of them as you can honestly reassure."

"The Servant Will Show You the Door."

"I have been reassuring them," Thwing answered. "I tell them that you are about the last man in the world to permit mob rule."

"Precisely," said Scarborough. "I propose to continue to do what I can to break up the mob that is being led by demagogues disguised as captains of industry and advance agents of prosperity—led on to pillage the resources of the country, its riches and its character."

This ought to have put Thwing on his guard. But, convinced that the gods he worshiped must be the gods of all men, whatever they might profess, he held to his purpose.

"Still, you don't quite follow me," he persisted. "You've said some very disquieting things against some of my friends—of course, they understand that the exigencies of campaigning, the necessity of rousing the party spirit, the—"

Thwing stopped short; De Milt held his breath. Scarborough was leaning forward, was holding Thwing's eyes with one of those looks that grip. "Do you mean," said he, "that, if I'll assure those friends of yours that I don't mean what I say, they'll buy me the presidency?"

"My dear Hampden," expostulated Thwing, "nothing of the sort. Simply that the campaign fund which Burbank must get to be elected won't go to him, but will be at the disposal of your national committee. My friends, naturally, won't support their enemies."

De Milt, watching Scarborough, saw him lower his head, his face flushing deeply.

"Believe me, Hampden," continued Thwing, "without our support Burbank is beaten and you are triumphantly elected—not otherwise. But you know politics; I needn't tell you. You know that the presidency depends upon getting the doubtful element in the doubtful states."

Scarborough stood, and without lifting his eyes, said in a voice very different from his strong, clear tones of a few minutes before: "I suppose in this day no one is beyond the reach of insult. I have thought I was. I see I have been mistaken. And it is a man who has known me 20 years and has called me friend, who has taught me the deep meaning of the word shame. The servant will show you the door." And he left Thwing alone in the room.

I had made De Milt give me the point of his story as soon as I saw its drift. While he was going over it in detail, I was thinking out all the bearings of Scarborough's refusal upon my plans.

"Has Senator Goodrich seen Gov. Burbank yet?" I asked De Milt in a casual tone when he had told how he escaped unobserved in Thwing's wake and delivered Burbank's message the next morning.

"I believe he's to see him by appointment to-morrow," replied De Milt.

So my suspicion was well-founded. Goodrich, informed of his brother-in-law's failure, was posting to make peace on whatever terms he could honeyfugle out of my conciliation-mad candidate.

A few minutes later I shut myself in with the long-distance telephone, and roused Burbank from bed and from sleep. "I am coming by the first train to-morrow" I said. "I thought you'd be glad to know that I've made satisfactory arrangements in New York—unexpectedly satisfactory."

"That's good—excellent," came the reply. I noted an instant change of tone which told me that Burbank had got by some underground route, news of my failure in New York and had been preparing to give Goodrich a cordial reception.

"If Goodrich comes, James," I went on, "don't see him till I've seen you."

A pause, then in a strained voice: "But I've given him an appointment at nine to-morrow."

"Put him off till noon. I'll be there at 11. It's—imperative." That last word with an accent I did not like to use, but knew how to use—and when.

Another pause, then: "Very well, Harvey. But we must be careful about him. De Milt has told you how dangerous he is, hasn't he?"

"Yes—how dangerous he tried to be." I was about to add that Goodrich was a fool to permit any one to go to such a man as Scarborough with such a proposition; but I bethought me of Burbank's acute moral sensitiveness and how it would be rasped by the implication of his opponent's moral superiority. "We're past the last danger, James. That's all. Sleep sound. Good night."

"Good night, old man," was his reply in his purest tone for affection. But I could imagine him posing there in his night shirt, the anger against me snapping in his eyes.

On the train the next morning, De Milt, who had evidently been doing a little thinking, said: "I hope you won't let it out to Cousin James that I told you Goodrich was coming to see him."

"Certainly not," I replied, not losing the opportunity to win over to myself one so near to my political ward. "I'm deeply obliged to you for telling me." And presently I went on: "By the way, has anything been done for you for your brilliant work at Saint X?"

"Oh, that's all right," he said. "I guess Cousin James'll look after me—unless he forgets about it." "Cousin James" has always had the habit of taking favors for granted unless reward was pressed for; and since he had become a presidential candidate, he was inclining more than ever to look on a favor done him as a high privilege which was its own reward.

I made no immediate reply to De Milt; but just before we reached the capital, I gave him a cheque for $5,000. "A little expression of gratitude from the party," said I. "Your reward will come later." From that hour he was mine, for he knew now by personal experience that "the boys" were right in calling me appreciative.

It is better to ignore a debt than to pay with words.

Quality and Price

The two vital questions in your piano purchase are, first, quality; second, price. An unsatisfactory piano, in tone and action, is the most annoying article you can have in your home. You dislike to be expending money on it continually to keep it in playing condition.

Musical Surroundings

may not make a musical genius, but they facilitate the study of music. In every case the instrument should be the best. A good instrument grows better as it grows older. A poor instrument doesn't last long enough to get anything but worse.

The Hazleton Piano

is an instrument of particularly fine construction. No effort has been spared to make it mechanically and musically perfect, etc.

Lessons in Music

on an inferior instrument spoils the ear. Correct tone has much to do with the acquirement of correct touch and method.

The Mullins Piano

is so delightfully sweet in tone, and of such perfect mechanical construction that it enables the beginner to learn much easier. Durability and moderate prices are also atractive features, etc.

SUBURBANS DEFEAT SAFE WORKS' TEAM

WON BY SCORE OF 15 TO 8 ON CLINTON AVENUE GROUNDS.

The Suburban A. C. played its first game of the season on the Clinton Avenue grounds Saturday afternoon, when it defeated the Safe Works' team by a score of 15 to 8 in an interesting contest. VanArsdale and Romand occupied the points for the victorious team, while Dwyer and Conole were the battery for the opposing nine. In the sixth inning VanArsdale went to left field and Bolmer occupied the box for the rest of the contest. The Suburban nine showed up strong in the field and at the bat and not once through the game was there any danger of the team losing.

The Safe Works' team excelled in the error department, making eight to two for the Suburbans. The line-up follows:

Suburbans—Davy, Gordon, cf; Randolph, 2b; Beekman, 1b; Arrow, 3b; Halard, ss; Bolmer, lf-p; Romand, c; Weaner, cf; VanArsdale, p-lf.

MONO FIELD CLUB 2, CLINTON AVENUE 0

NEITHER TEAM MAKES AN ERROR IN FIRST GAME OF SEASON.

Greatly to the surprise of the friends of the Clinton Avenue team, the recently organized Mono Field Club won Saturday's contest on Crescent Oval by a score of 2 to 0. The game was close throughout and the hits were few and well scattered. Craft and Norton, last year's Somerville battery, and Jack Enright covered second base for the Monos, and assisted largely to win the game. Craft was in fine condition, striking out eleven men, while Norton caught him in fine style.

Randolph and Squires divided the honors pitching for Clinton Avenue, the former strinking out three men and the latter four. Features of the game were the playing of Hub Conover at short and Trotter at third. Neither team made an error.

Mono Field Club—Moffett and Emmons, lf; MacLaughlin, cf; Norton, c; H. Conover, ss; Trotter, 3b; J. Enright, 2b; Brokaw and Phillips, rf; G. Conover, 1c; Craft, p.

Clinton Avenue—Scott, lf; Giles, cf; O'Loughlin, c; Jack Martin, ss; Emery, 3b; Brit Martin, 2b; Squires, rf-p; Barnes, 1b; Randolph, rf-p.

BASKETBALL.

The Orange Y. M. C. A. team, champions of the New Jersey State League, will close its season tonight at Orange with a game with the fast team from Troy, N. Y. Several Plainfielders will witness the game.

BOWLING

The cocked-hat bowling tournament which has been in progress at the Park Club during the past season will be concluded on Thursday night.

Play Begins on May 4.

It was planned to begin regular play on the course of the Westfield Golf Club, Saturday afternoon, but owing to the poor condition of the greens and the course, it was found impossible. The play has therefore been postponed until Saturday, May 4.

SENATOR BRIGGS WILL ATTEND DINNER.

Senator-Eelect Abandons the Southern Trip for Big Republican Event.

United States Senator-elect Briggs has given up a trip to the Jamestown exposition in order to be present at the dinner of the Republican club in Masonic hall, Trenton, next Friday night.

Tickets are selling rapidly for the affair. They may be obtained all day today from Assistant Postmaster K. C. Hill, at the postoffice, and this evening at the Republican club.

Acceptances have been received from Congressman Burton, of Ohio, chairman of the river and harbor committee; Congressman J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia, and Congressman Ira W. Wood and H. C. Loudenslager, of this State.

Speaker "Uncle Joe" Cannon and Vice President Fairbanks have been invited and at this date are expected.

Winkler's full band will furnish the music. Dinner will be served by Hildebrecht. The decorations are in the hands of Johnson.

Joked As Leg Was Cut Off.

New York, April 22.—While two surgeons were cutting off his leg in Flower Hospital yesterday, Edward McCabe, in full possession of his faculties, sat propped up by pillows, watched the operation, and occasionally cracked a joke with the men who were wielding the knives. He felt no pain whatever. This was because the physicians pursued a most unusual method of operation. McCabe's heart action was too weak to permit the administration of an anaesthetic, and it was decided to apply a hypodermic injection of cocaine to the spinal column. This produces what is known as spinal anaesthesia of the lower extremities, depriving the patient of all sensation there. He has a fair chance for recovery.

80,000 at Coney.

New York, April 22.—It wasn't the sort of day that the poets rave over, but eighty thousand persons responded yesterday to the call of Coney. Few and far between were the men and women that did not wear overcoats and wraps, and certain young men that ventured into the surf for a short swim were looked upon as reckless.

Long Island Forest Fire.

Amagansett, L. I., Fire that started early yesterday morning destroyed five miles square of timber land that was estimated to have been worth half a million dollars. Arthur Griffin lost about a thousand cords of standing oak and cedar and four hundred cords that had been cut, ready for hauling. For several hours the village of Pantigo was deserted. At seven o'clock the fire, which is supposed to have been of incendiary origin, started in Lyman Babcock's woods, about a mile from Easthampton. By noon practically every man and woman between Easthampton and Amagansett was out fighting the fire.

Investigate Suspicious Negro.

Harry Berry, colored, who claims to be a hostler on his way to Philadelphia from Jersey City, was arrested by Patrolman Tobias Nolan last night, while sleeping before a fire at Berckman street and South avenue. Chief Kiely asked that he be held for investigation, this morning, and Judge Runyon sentenced Berry to twenty days in the county jail.

Gimbel Dead.

Benedict Gimbel, the well-to-do Philadelphian who severed his windpipe and cut his wrists with broken glass in the Palace Hotel, Hoboken, Thursday afternoon, following his arrest in that city for assault on Ivan Clark, a lame boy, died at 2:35 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Hospital, Hoboken.

In the Borough Police Court.

In the borough police court, Saturday night, John Callahan was fined $5 and Charles Garvel $3 for disorderly conduct at Saengerbund hall. Both paid up in preference to going to jail. Charles, better known as "Shorty" Long, arrested Saturday night for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, will be arraigned tonight.

Have You Lost a Watch?

A watch described as gold double case, size 16, made by Picquet Geneva, with an inscription, is held for identification by the Baldwin Detective Agency, Roanoke, Va. It is believed to belong here, and Chief Kiely has been asked to help in locating its owner. The watch is worth $200.

Hackmen Arrested.

William Willis and Ray Hall, colored, hackmen, were arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning, charged with soliciting patronage at the North avenue station. The case was adjourned until Saturday morning.

Connors on a Spree.

David Connors, arrested Saturday night at Central avenue and West Front street, for drunkenness, was released this morning by City Judge Runyon to appear for a hearing Saturday morning. The complainant could not appear.

NEW JERSEY TROOPS AT THE UNVEILING

ARRANGEMENT MADE FOR THE QUARTERING AND FEEDING OF MILTIA.

All arrangements have been completed for housing and feeding the New Jersey militiamen at the unveiling of the McClellan monument at Washington, D. C., May 2.

Major Harry B. Salter, together with Captain Field, commander of Troop B; Captain Paul Ronges, quartermaster of the Third Regiment, and Lieutnant Lauterman, of Battery A, N. G. N. J., made the arrangements.

The New Jersey companies commanded to attend the ceremonies are the Third Regiment provisional brigade, under command of General Collins, 860 men; Battery A, 66 men and four officers, and Troop B, 60 men.

In the parade there will be four companies of coast artillery, one regiment of infantry, one battery of field artillery, one squadron of the Thirteenth Cavalry, six companies of United States marines and one hospital corps of the regular army, under command of Colonel Charles A. P. Hatfield, of the Thirteenth Cavalry, U. S. A.

Governor Stokes' staff, consisting of Colonel Frelinghuysen, Lieutenant Colonel Bryant, Captain Vickers, Captain Edge and Captain Margerum, will act as escort, and in addition his party will probably number General Brinetnall, General Murray, General Congdon, General Spencer, General Meany and General Campbell.

General Collins' staff will consist of Lieutenant Colonels Gilgyson, Broadway, Murray, Patterson, Majors Salter and Walker, Captains Margerum and Mack and non-commissioned staff, Hospital Steward G. D. Laird, Standard Bearer Newkirk and Buglar Rowley.

NEGRO YOUTH HELD

to sustain it in a case of this sort, was debatable.

In addition to the other charges, Hopes will have to face a complaint of breaking and entering the theatre. W. J. Counihan, the manager, indignant beyond words over the occurrence, hastened to make the charge when he came downtown this morning.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First M. E. church will meet in Vincent chapel, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The members are requested to bring items about China.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, on Clinton avenue, a social will be held in the parish house Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served.

The Christian Endeavor Society, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, has decided not to give the annual musicale in the church this year. This is a disappointment to many, but circumstances are such that it has been found impossible to arrange the affair.

Owing to repairs that are to be made at the First Baptist church this week, no services will be held there until next Sunday. Workmen started the repairs this morning and they will occupy the Sunday-school room and main auditorium during the entire week.

More Lottery Indicements.

Mobile, Ala., April 22.—The investigation into the operations of the Honduras Lottery has been completed by the Federal Grand Jury. Eight more indictments have been returned, but names will not be made public until adjournment. Assistant Attorney General J. P. Nields will go to Wilmington, Del., to impanel a Grand Jury to investigate the operations of the lottery company. It is said tickets of the Honduras National Lottery Company were printed in that city.

Two Killed In Train Wreck.

Birmingham, Ala., April 22.—Two dead and twelve injured is the result of a collision on the Southern Railway at Woodlawn Junction last night. A southbound freight train became stalled on the main line. A passenger train ran into the rear of this train, though it is claimed a flagman was sent back to protect the freight. Later a wrecking train leaving the city yards to clear another wreck ran into the Woodlawn Junction wreck.

VAIL SAYS "NOT GUILTY"

West Portal Postmaster, Miss Gillen, of this City and Hummell Plead to Indictments.

HELD IN HEAVY BAIL

Trial to Take Place On May 7—Hummell's Bail $4,000, While Others $2,000 Each.

Charles T. Vail, postmaster at West Portal; Joseph Hummell, his assistant, and a mail-carrier, and Miss Ellen Gillen, of Plainfield, were arraigned before Judge John L. Connet at Flemington yesterday, upon indictments growing out of the fire which destroyed the old Cornish store property at West Portal on Sunday morning, February 24. The fire started about 7 o'clock in the morning. Postmaster Vail was absent and Hummell went to the store, it is said, to fix the fires.

Hummell claims, it is asserted, that in raking the stove it upset, setting the building on fire. The building was totally destroyed with its contents. There was about six thousand dollars insurance on the stock and building.

Vail came into possession of the property about two years ago, and sold it to Miss Gillen, on February 19 last.

The insurance companies refused to pay the claims, and demanded an investigation, which resulted in the arrest of the trio. Postmaster Vail, who is a former resident of Plainfield and whose wife still lives here, was released on $2,000 bail. The bail of Miss Gillen and Hummell was fixed at $10,000, and later reduced to $2,000, which was subsequently furnished.

Hummell was the first to be called to plead yesterday. Two indictments were found against him, one for burning the store of Miss Gillen and the other for burning the store to defraud the Westchester Fire Insurance Company. To each indictment he pleaded not guilty, and bail was fixed at $2,000 for each indictment.

Similar indictments were presented against Postmaster Vail. Mr. Vail pleaded not guilty to both indictments, and his bail was fixed the same as Hummell's. The indictment against Miss Gillen was for complicity in the burning of the store to defraud the Westchester Insurance Company. She pleaded not guilty and promptly furnished bail in the sum of $2,000.

Hummell had expected that his bail of $2,000, which had been given to await the action of the grand jury, would hold good, but Judge Connet refused to permit it, and the $2,000 additional made it impossible for him to secure a bondsman, and he was led, weeping, to prison.

Postmaster Vail was also committed to jail, but he was released later on bail. The cases have been set down for trial on May 7.

CONDIT—COGER NUPTIALS.

Ceremony at Former Mayor's Home in Westfield.

Miss Ethel L. Coger, only daughter of John J. Coger, district clerk, and Frederick P. Condit, of Westfield avenue, were married at the home of former Mayor Anson F. Grant, in Westfield avenue, on Saturday afternoon. The Rev. C. J. Greenwood, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Dr. W. I. Sterns, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Miss Grace M. Harden and Miss Sophie M. Condit, a sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids, and Miss Winifred Grant, a neice of the bride, was flower girl. Harry F. Hadden, of Tenafly, was best man. The ushers were Arthur D. Tuttle and Aubrey B. Smith, of Westfield. After a wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Condit will reside at 12 Summit avenue, Westfield.

"The Weeping Prophet."

"The Weeping Prophet," reflections on The Prophecy and Lamentations of Jeremiah, by H. A. Ironside, the evangelist, who is now conducting special meetings in this city, is attracting considerable attention. it is published by Loizeaux Brothers. It is not so much a commentary upon the books of Jeremiah and Lamentations, as of a series of meditative studies, which have been jotted down at various intervals during the past five years. As a help to Bible students the book is considered invaluable.

Fire Calls Rearranged.

Because of the placing of new boxes, Chief Doane has rearranged the calls to be answered by various companies. The men have been notified of the change in general order No. 2 which goes into effect tomorrow morning. The change will not make and material difference to the department as a whole but will lessen the pressure on one or two of the companies which have had nearly all the boxes to answer.

EXPECT A LIFE SENTENCE

Mayor Fisk Hopes that Kidnapping Charge Can be Sustained Against Negro.

TO EXPEDITE CASE

Prisoner Is Taken to County Jail—Mr. Fisk Says He'll Work For a Conviction.

Charles Hopes, the nineteen-year-old negro, held by Judge Runyon yesterday without bail to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of attempting to assault and to kidnap three-year-old Martha Mead, a white child, was taken to the County jail yesterday by Detective-Sergeant Flynn. It is said that short work will be made of the case as a warning to others. The police believe that they can sustain the kidnapping charge and if they succeed, Hopes will spend the rest of his life at hard labor in the penitentiary.

In speaking of the charge of kidnapping on which the negro is held, Mayor Fisk said today:

"I feel very strongly on this matter. We must put an effective stop to the practise of any rascals, be they white or black, luring your children to their ruin. Particularly should this be the case regarding such an atrocious crime as that perpetrated by Hopes. In my opinion, I believe that we have a good case against the prisoner. He took this little child into the theatre and secreted it. In fact he hid it away where nobody could see where it was. For all we know he might have intended to steal it away for good. The law does not state how long the kidnapper must hold his prey."

"In this case," continued the Mayor, "the child was so young that he in fact carried it off by force. Had he taken the little girl to North Plainfield for instance there would be no question about his crime and therefore I am led to believe that the fact that he took it into a building and hid it away will enable us to make out a case against him. For my part I intend to do all I can to have the prisoner convicted of kidnapping. It will be fit punishment for him and will be a warning to men of his type that New Jersey is no place for them to commit their dastardly deeds."

NORTH AVE. BARBER IS TO BE ORDAINED

EDWARD B. MAYNARD TO BECOME AN A. M. E. CHURCH DOMINEE.

Following four years of close application to studies in preparation for the ministry, Edward B. Maynard, the North avenue barber, expects to be ordained as a minister at the annual conference of the African Methodist church, which opens at Orange, tomorrow. The ordination services will be held on Sunday, after the required examination is conducted by the Bishop and elders, who will be in charge.

In connection with the ordination, Mr. Maynard will be given the title of "Reverend" and he will be licensed to preach in any of the churches in his denomination, perform marriages, officiate at funerals, and in fact do a general work of the ministry. He does not intend to give up his business, but will devote his spare time and Sundays to religious work as at present.

Mr. Maynard's barber shop is one of the oldest in the city and he is one of the best known colored men in this vicinity. Four years ago he began the work of preparing for the ministry, studying outside of business hours. Those who have heard him speak at services say that he is earnest, convincing and pleasing. For the present he intends to devote his efforts to assisting the pastor of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, of which he is a member.

To Address Teachers.

Miss Lillian Williams, of the Trenton Normal School, will address a meeting of the teachers of Plainfield and North Plainfield on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the North Plainfield High School. The subject will be "Why Children Disobey."

James Glyn Arrested.

James Glyn, arrested yesterday for drunkenness by Patrolman Andrew Saffron, was arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning. He was released under suspended sentence.

District Court.

There were no trials at the district court this morning, and only one judgment. Kuhn Bros. were granted judgment against Leith McGinnis, for $117.52 and costs, on proof.

ACKERMAN BILL SIGNED

New Law Will Prevent Public Utility Corporations Disfiguring Borough Streets.

CONSENT NECESSARY

Mayor Fisks Regrets That Measure Does Not Apply to Cities—Provisions of the Bill.

Senate Bill No. 10, introduced by Senator Ernest R. Ackerman on January 14, was signed yesterday by Governor Stokes and is now a law. It is an act relating to telephone, electric light, heat and power companies, making it unlawful for any such concerns to erect poles, or string wires thereon for telephone service or for the distribution of electricity for electric lights, heat or power, in any of the public roads, highways, streets, avenues or alleys in any township or borough in the State, without first obtaining from the township committee, common council or other legislative body of the township or borough, permission to do so.

The law also provides that before erecting posts or poles the company or corporation must first obtain the consent of the owner of the land in writing, and it is also unlawful for any company to extend its lines without getting the required consent.

When a copy of the bill was shown to Mayor Charles J. Fisk, today, by a reporter of The Daily Press, His Honor said that for some reason he had failed to notice the bill, but he considered it most unfortunate that it did not include the cities so that Plainfield could take advantage of its provisions. The bill does, however, affect North Plainfield and no doubt the council of that borough will take some action on it.

CO. K BOYS MAY GO TO JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION.

Reported That They Will Not Be Sent to Sea Girt This Year.

Instead of spending a week in camp at Sea Girt, this summer, it is more than probable that the members of Company K will be chosen among the State military organizations to visit the Jamestown Exposition. It was originally expected that the local company would be selected to make the trip to Washington to attend the unveiling of the McClellan manument, but other companies were picked and, it is said, that it was with the understanding that Company K should go to Jamestown.

The trip to the expisition will be for ten days and in many respects will be preferable to the one to Sea Girtfi which only lasts a week. The members of Company K are quite jubilant over the prospects of visiting Jamestown and are perfectly willing to forego the Washington trip in consequence.

"A Bath in An English Tub."

The Men's Association of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will hold its last entertainment of the season tonight in the chapel of the church. Charles Battell Loomis, formerly of Fanwood, will give readings from his latest book, "A Bath In An English Tub," and other writings. Mrs. Charles L. Lewis will sing and the entertainment will be followed by a social time.

Permits for Additions Granted.

The fire and building committee from the Common Council has given the auto firm of Morris Brothers permission to erect an addition to their garage on East Fourth street. It is being built in the rear, next to the railroad and concrete stone is used. Similar permit has been given to U. B. Crane to erect an addition in the rear of his store on West Front street.

Will Observe First Anniversary.

The Plainfield Council of the National Protective Legion will celebrate its first anniversary in its rooms, Exempt Firemen's hall, Thursday night. A committee appointed some time ago has prepared an attractive programme, features of which will be the Four H Quartette and Miss Aimee Louise Emmons, reader.

Mrs. Martha Voorhees Buried.

The body of Mrs. Martha G. Voorhees, a well known former resident of New Brunswick, and widow of the late U. P. Voorhees, which was placed in the receiving vault in Elmwood cemetery in New Brunswick on Feb. 5, has been removed to Griggstown and buried in the family plot.

Made Long a Little Short.

Charles Long, who was arrested in the borough for getting gay on Somerset street, was given his choice of $5 or twenty days at Somerville by Recorder Dolliver last night. A friend came around with the money and he gained his freedom.

BECKER AND SEREVAGO IN CRITICAL CONDITION

VICTIMS OF COLLISION HOWEVER HAVE CHANCE FOR RECOVERY.

George Becker and Julian Serevago, who were injured by a collision between a wagon in which they were riding and the Black Diamond Express on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, yesterday afternoon, at South Plainfield, were reported at the hospital this afternoon as being slightly improved with a chance for recovery. Becker's injuries are the more serious. Several ribs were fractured and he received a scalp wound and a contused wound of the leg. Serevago, who is a Russian, escaped with a shake-up and a few bruises. It was said that another twenty-four hours would determine the result of the injuries.

The men, it is considered, had a most miraculous escape from instant death. They were riding on top of a load of hay and while going over an unguarded crossing a few blocks below the station, the express train bore down on them before they realized their perilous position.

The fact that the men were on top of the hay and that the train struck the end of the wagon is the only thing that prevented a fatality. The force of the collision threw the men fully fifteen feet. They landed in the roadway alonside the tracks, where they were picked up and brought to the hospital. The wagon was reduced to kindling wood, the hay scattered in all directions, but the team of horses escaped without a scratch.

Father Delehanty visited Serevago last night. Today Becker summoned his lawyer, District Court Judge Newcorn, to his bedside.

BAR RIVAL EDITORS FROM A PETIT JURY

EXCUSED FROM JURY FOR "FOR THE SAKE OF PEACE."

Arthur H. Boyd, editor of the New Brunswick Home News, and Francis W. Daire, editor of the New Brunswick Times, who have opposed each other on all subjects of political or local interest for years, and who are members of Sheriff Church's "model" petit jury this term in Middlesex county, were called yesterday on a jury to try James Curtin and Robert Egan, of Metuchen, charged with assaulting Enos Fouratt, Metuchen's police department.

Their names came out of the jury box in succession and they took their seats side by side. The murmur went around that no jury with opposing editors on it would ever agree. Prosecutor George Berdine excused both of the newspaper men, saying that he did it "for the sake of peace."

Metuchen's police department, during the trial, claimed that Curtin and Egan had come upon him at night unexpectedly and had beaten him. He had to knock them out with his club before he could arrest them. On cross-examination he admitted that once Curtin had offered him whiskey from a flask while he was on duty at night and that he had taken a drink, but he did not think that that placed him on intimate terms with the young man.

The jury acquitted the two young men of the assault charge.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Trial of Riley's Alleged Murderer Set For May 6.

Supreme Court Judge Reed at Flemington yesterday listened to the plea of John Schuyler in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, who was indicted for the murder of Manning Riley at Califon January 19. Schuyler pleaded not guilty, and May 6 was set for his trial.

The coroner's jury in the case held sessions behind closed doors, Schuyler's attorneys being refused admission. Former Prosecutor Herr, for the defendant, made application to Judge Reed to have the evidence filed with the county clerk, which would enable the defendant's lawyers to ascertain what evidence had been produced before the inquest.

It was not quite clear to Judge Reed that such action would be proper, but he decided to look into the question and submit an opinion later.

Die in Flames.

Three men were burned to death, one man suffocated and 200 horses destroyed in a three-alarm fire early this morning, which gutted the Despatch Stable building, at Christopher and Barrow streets, the last of a series of spectacular fires which occurred in rapid succession very early this morning, causing two collisions between street cars and fire engines, injuring several firemen and resulting in a number of thrilling rescues.

BRYAN TO INVADE STATE

Promises Martine that He will Address People's Lobby at Newark on May 1.

AT DOLLAR DINNER

The Commoner's Editor and Democracy's Trustee Promises to Discuss the Initiative and Referendum.

As on a previous occasion when his influence was sought to induce William Jennings Bryan to speak in this State, James E. Martine was signally successful in his trip to Boston after the Democratic leader. After a chase from New York city to midway between Springfield and Pittsfield, Mass., Mr. Martine bagged Mr. Bryan's consent to speak in Newark.

With Herman B. Walker, a journalist and reformer, and Edward A. Whittier, of Orange, Mr. Martine started after Mr. Bryan Saturday afternoon. The desire of the trio to have Mr. Bryan consent to speak before the People's Lobby, a non-partisan body dedicated to the purity of elections and legislation, on the initiative and referendum, which is being advocated by the Lobby. Mr. Walker drew up an initiative and referendum bill that was introduced at the last session of the Legislature. Mr. Bryan is an advocate of the initiative and referendum.

In New York the Martine party went to the Hotel Imperial, where Mr. Bryan stays when in the metropolis, and learned that Mr. Bryan had proceeded to Boston. Reaching Boston Sunday morning, they heard that Mr. Bryan had left there and a telephone message to George Fred Williams placed them in possession of the information that the leader had gone to Springfield.

Mr. Bryan was located in Springfield. He was to speak there at a big Y. M. C. A. meeting. Mr. Martine sat with him on the platform at the meeting, which packed the house.

By appointment, Mr. Martine and his companions had a conference with Mr. Bryan after lunch at the Nayhaset Club. The Nebraskan was surrounded by a group of influential Massachusetts Democrats. When the request to speak in Newark was placed before him, he held out no hope of granting it. He was too busy, he said. He had engagements to speak every night in New England until May 1, and on the latter date he was to address the New York Legislature.

Mr. Walker and Mr. Whittier were downcast, but Mr. Martine did not lose hope. "Wait," he said: "we won't give up yet." With his companions he boarded the same train with Mr. Bryan, who was travelling to Pittsfield to spend the night, and in the car he returned to the attack.

He pleaded and argued, and the burden of his statements was "Colonel, you must come."

Mr. Bryan finally succumbed to the persuasions of his friend. He said he would speak before the People's Lobby in Newark, on the evening of May 1, if Mr. Martine could arrange the affair.

As soon as Mr. Martine returned to New Jersey yesterday he started arrangements for the Bryan appearance. The Democratic leader will speak at a dollar dinner. Plans for the affair are rapidly forming.

Insane Girl Visits Doctor.

Suffering from emotional insanity, a patient of Dr. J. P. Zeglio, a girl of twenty, escaped from her sister's house in the East End last night, and made her way to the doctor's office. She became uncontrollable there, and the assistance of a policeman, summoned from the station house, was necessary to get her back to the house. She escaped from the house again this morning, and got into the residence of a neighbor. She was induced to return home, but an acute attack of hysteria developed, and Chief Kiely was summoned. He went to the house with Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, who decided that the girl had best be sent to Morris Plains. After a formal examination by Dr. Zeglio and Dr. Lufburrow papers were made out and the girl was taken to the State asylum at noon in an automobile. Chief Kiely, Overseer of the Poor Alexander Ayers and the girl's sister accompanied her.

The People's Bank Opens.

The People's Bank, the new institution started at Westfield, was opened on Wednesday. The apparent need for this institution in that town is shown by the fact that there are now one hundred depositors and $50,000 has been deposited in the bank. It is the intention of the company in the near future to erect a building suited to the purposes of the company.

No Prayer Meeting.

Owing to the fact that repairs are being made at the church, the regular weekly prayer meeting of the First Baptists will be dispensed with tomorrow night.

PTOMAINES KILL A CHILD

Infant's Death is Attributed to the Condensed Milk It Was Fed On.

R. E. HUMPSTON'S CHILD

Dr. Endicott and Drs. J. B. and Norman Probasco Worked Hard to Save the Little One's Life.

Ptomaine poisoning caused the death, yesterday morning, of the ten-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Humpston, of Dunellen avenue. It is supposed the ptomaines entered the baby's system in a mixture of condensed milk and water given to it by Mrs. Humpston.

Mrs. Humpston had been feeding the child on a brand of condensed milk, and prepared the usual quantity shortly after 8 o'clock yesterday morning. At 10 o'clock the baby was taken ill. Its condition became worse rapidly, and Mrs. Humpston called up Dr. G. W. Endicott's office. Dr. Endicott was out, and the office of Drs. J. B. and Norman H. Probasco was called. Dr. Norman Probasco responded to an urgent appeal and hurried to the house.

He found the child in a dying state. That was at 12 o'clock. Mrs. Humpston had had no idea of the serious condition of the baby, and when Dr. Probasco told her what was impending she was almost prostrated. Dr. Probasco diagonosed the case as one of ptomaine poisoning after examination, and administered all the antidotes. Dr. Endicott reached the house shortly after Dr. Probasco's arrival, and confirmed the diagnossi. Both physicians did all that was possible for the child, but the heart action failed steadily and the infant died at about 1 o'clock.

The milk is held responsible for the child's death. It is said to be the only thing so far as is known through which the poison could have entered the unttue one's system.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon. It is an only child.

It is believed that the poisoning was caused by the can being opened sometime before the milk was fed to the child.

IT WAS COLD LIKE THIS IN APRIL '74

THE MONTH SO FAR BEATS ALL THE RECORDS IT IS SAID.

Levi A. Judkins, section director of the United States Weather Service for New Jersey, in a statement made yesterday, says:

"The cold weather that has prevailed in New Jersey constantly since April 1, while very unusual, is not without exception. It is necessary, however, to go back to April, 1874, to find a similar condition. Meteorological records for New Jersey, covering a period of 40 to 60 years, indicate that the coldest April was that of the year just mentioned—1874. At Newark (record dating from 1844) the average temperature for April, 1874, was 41.5 degrees; at New Brunswick (record dating from 1857), 42.4 degrees; at Vineland, 52.6 degrees; at Morristown, 41.7 degrees; at South Orange, 42.2 degrees, and at Atlantic City, 42 degrees; at the four last named stations the records extend over periods of 34 to about 40 years.

"At Atlantic City the temperature for the first 20 days of the current April has averaged 40.8 degrees, or nine-tenths of a degree lower than the average for a like period in April, 1874. The average daily deficiency in mean temperature at Atlantic City from April 1 to 20, 1907, inclusive, is 5 degrees, while for the whole month, in 1874, the temperature was 5.6 degrees below the normal.

"At the other stations mentioned, the average temperature for the portion of the month that has past is slightly lower than the mean temperature for April, 1874.

"Thus it wil be seen that the current April, so far, is averaging slightly colder than the same month in 1874. Whether it will continue its present character for the remaining days is still to be determined. A few days with temperatures above the seasonal average during this, the latter portion of the month, would tend to overcome some of the present marked deficiency in the temperature.

"Although snow has been of frequent occurrence during the month, the falls in some of the northern counties having ranged from 4 to about 6 inches, no records of April snowstorms have been exceeded."

MAYOR FISK ACTS TO PROTECT CHILDREN

Issues Instructions to Chief That All Under 14 Years of Age Must Be Home at 8 P. M.

LIKELY CURFEW LAW

Radical Move Taken to Save Little Ones From the Dangers of the Street After Nightfall.

A curfew order was issued by Mayor Charles J. Fisk this morning. It directs the police to send all children under 14 years of age, unless accompanied by older people, home when found on the street after 8 o'clock, at night.

The order reads as follows:

"SPECIAL POLICE ORDER.
Mayor's Office,
Plainfield, N. J.,
"April 22, 1907.

"P. S. Kiely, Chief of Police,
"Plainfield, N. J.

"You are hereby directed to issue an order to all member of the police force to direct all children under 14 years of age found on the streets after 8 o'clock in the evening unless accompanied by parents or guardian, to go immediately to their homes. This order must be read to members of the force both at morning and evening roll call.

"CHARLES J. FISK,
"Mayor."

Mayor Fisk said this afternoon that as soon as Senate Bill No. 290 was passed he would take further action. This bill is directed against the evil of young boys and girls about dances, pool rooms, bowling alleys and the like.

The W. C. T. U. recently asked the mayor to take action regarding curfew regulations. The case of the negro Hopes, who tried to outrage a little girl on Sunday afternoon, moved the mayor to action.

CLEVELAND AS GUEST OF CORRESPONDENTS.

Speaks at Banquet of Princeton University Press Club.

A banquet was given at the Inn at Princeton last night by the Princeton University Press Club, at which former President Grover Cleveland was the guest of honor. Mr. Cleveland made an after-dinner speech which sparkled with wit and good words. He spoke about the relation of the Press Club to the university and congratulated the members on their work. Other speakers were President Woodrow Wilson, Professor Stockton Axson, Dean Andrew F. West and Professor C. F. Brackett.

The Princeton Press Club was started several years ago by students who were corresponding for the big New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago dailies. The purpose of the organization is to share the news and protect Princeton from scandal and yellow stories. The faculty works in close harmony with the club, as does Mr. Cleveland, who is an ardent admirer of the system.

George S. Davis Dead.

George S. Davis, general bookkeeper for the Newark Banking Co., Newark, died at his home at Elizabeth yesterday morning after a short illness from pneumonia. He was born in this city in 1848 and had always lived in Elizabeth. For more than thirty years he was general bookkeeper for the First National Bank, of Elizabeth, and was with that institution when it became the property of the Union County Trust Company. He is survived by his widow, a daughter, 8 years old, a brother, D. E. Davis, and a sister, Mrs. R. Conley.

Aiding Miss Curry's Efforts.

A series of parlor meetings for Miss Curry's work have been arranged to be held in various parts of the city. The first will be at Mrs. George A. Chapman's, in Stelle avenue, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. A silver offering will be received for Miss Curry's work at that time.

Too Much Steam.

Heat affected three or four of the High School girls at chapel exercises in the school auditorium this morning. None of them were overcome, but they were sent home.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

NEW PROVIDENCE.

"Over the Bar," a hymn, the words of which were written by Dr. A. M. Cory, of this borough, and the music by August Rubsamen, of Murray Hill, was sung Sunday morning at St. Luke's Reformed Episcopal church by Miss Pauline Rubsamen. Mr. Rubsamen, her uncle, played the accompaniment. Miss Rubsamen is only sixteen years old, but has a powerful soprano voice.

Clarence Gordon, a junior at Harvard University, spent Sunday with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. T. E. Gordon, of Springfield avenue. Gerald Gordon, of Philadelphia, another son, has also been visiting Dr. Gordon.

Plans are now complete for the musical and literary entertainment to be held at the Methodist church next Friday evening. Special features of the entertainment will be a male quartette and tableaux.

There will be a congregational meeting of the members of St. Luke's Reformed Episcopal church next Monday evening to elect a vestry for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Leach, of Summit, have been the guests of former Freeholder John F. Wahl, Mrs. Leach's father, of Springfield avenue.

There will be a meeting of the Men's Club at the home of Ira Frazee, Passaic street, tonight.

William Post, of Summit, has moved to a house on Springfield avenue in this borough.

The Gillette Social Club will give a dance at Schatz' Hall next Saturday evening.

Miss Hattie Baldwin is spending a week or so with friends in Newark.

SOMERVILLE.

The Somerville Board of Trade has taken steps toward the consolidation of Somerville and Raritan into one city. At a meeting on Friday night a committee, consisting of Selah Schoonmaker, James Q. Ten Eyck and W. G. Savage, was appointed to look into the matter and confer with the Raritan Board of Trade as to whether such a union was feasible. This subject has been agitated for a long time, but has never before taken tangible shape. The towns almost touch each other and Main street, Somerville, extends right through Raritan. The population of Somerville is about 5,000 and that of Raritan 3,000. There are now two town governments, although both use the same water and light supply. It is believed by the members of the Board of Trade that the consolidation of the places would be of great advantage to both.

At the recent annual meeting of the Hillside Tennis Club the following officers were elected: President, Oliver Allen; vice president, Dr. W. F. Naylor; secretary, Carl Garretson; treasurer, George Gaston.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rindskof and daughter, of Altamont place, have returned from Nassau, where they spent the winter.

Miss Gertrude Anderson went to Lake Hopatcong yesterday, where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Lewis A. Thompson.

Mrs. Frederick Wilson, of Montreal, Canada, is a guest of Miss Lizzie Potter here.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Chambers, of West End avenue, are staying at Asbury Park.

RARITAN.

"Oak Farm," the play which was given by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Third Reformed church in St. Bernard's Hall, last Friday evening, proved to be a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Smith entertained last week the Misses Florence Kebbe and Gertrude Smith, of Boston, Mass.

Oscar Dow has returned to his home in Raritan, after visiting his son in Elizabeth.

M. H. Hernt has been entertaining his sister, Mrs. Mila Henderson, of Glen Gardner.

Miss Bessie Talbot has returned from Flemington, where she has been visiting.

STIRLING.

The entertainment which was given the other night in Maennerchor Hall by the Gold Medal minstrels, of Plainfield, under the auspices of the athletic association of this town, was a success. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Holmes, Dr. Theodore Bebout, Charles Albert and the Misses Mamie and Flora Bender, Oscar and the Misses Mary and Emma Volka, Miss Carrie Zegler, William Gegger, Edward and Walter Swenson, Charles and Jack Ananson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Semit, Miss Bertha Saalfrank, Arthur and Clarence Finnemore, David and William Totten, Ernest and Miss Gertrude Williams, Joseph and Miss Mary Renz, Charles Lewis, Raymond Alland and Miss Lena Semit.

The morning service of the Presbyterian church Sunday was a special service for Valley Lodge, No. 257, of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Rev. Nicklas Bowers preached. Special music was given by Charles and Jack Ananson.

The meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was held Sunday night in the Presbyterian church. It was conducted by Miss Jennie Moore, the topic being "Wise Ways to Read Wise Books."

Miss Anna Berglain, of Elizabeth, who had been entertained here for the last few days by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nelson and family, of Elm street, returned home yesterday.

Miss Mamie Neudeck, of Morton street, Newark, is spending a few days here with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Germarshousen and family, of Railroad avenue.

The meeting of the Junior Christian Endeavor was held Sunday afternoon in the Presbyterian church. It was conducted by Miss Dorothy Swenson.

Miss Bertha Peuker, of Main street, is suffering from injuries she received the other day in the silk mill by a heavy weight falling on her toes.

A social will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in St. Vincent's church Hall under the auspices of the Rosary Society of this place.

NORTH BRANCH.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Tilden, of East Orange, were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Dunham at Larger Crossroads. Mr. and Mrs. Dunham have also been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Case and daughter, of Plainfield, for a few days.

Raymond G. Todd, principal of the Fairview School, near Neshanic, reports the following pupils neither tardy nor absent during the past school month: Pauline Oliver, Raymond Agans, Addie Riker and Ethel Herder.

The pulpit of the Reformed church in this place Sunday was occupied by Rev. Harry Scudder, of New Brunswick. At the evening service in the chapel he gave an address on mission work in India.

Edgar Hall and Adolph Mertans, of New York, have been spending a short vacation at their respective homes in South Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Fremont K. Shafer have returned to South Branch after a visit at the home of C. C. Wyckoff, near Lamington.

W. G. Smith and family, of Brooklyn, have taken possession of the Benward farm, recently purchased.

Robert F. Bogardus has planned the installation of city water and a bath room in his house.

Miss Elizabeth Herlich is taking Miss Edna Vail's place in the postoffice temporarily.

Miss Edna Vail has been spending several days at Binghamton, N. Y., with her mother.

The annual statement of the Methodist church is about to be printed and distributed.

The Misses Jessie and Amy Haynes will entertain the Embroidery Club tonight.

Several candidates were initiated by Friendship Council last night.

Miss Mary Baldwin was confined to the house yesterday by illness.

Mrs. Charles H. Thornton is steadily improving in health.

S. R. Titsworth is having his residence improved.

BOUND BROOK.

Rev. W. O. Cone and family, of Barrytown-on-the-Hudson, are being entertained at the home of Mr. Cone's mother, Mrs. C. T. Cone, in Mountain avenue, Bound Brook.

—Under the direction of Miss Aimee Emmons a "Mother Goose" entertainment will be given at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday night, April 30. In connection with this there will be a varied programme.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Minnehan, formerly of Manhattan College, but later of the Southern League, is now on the pitching staff of the Cincinnati Nationals, where he is doing good work.

According to a Trenton newspaper, "Billy" Gilbert who is to play second base for the Trenton Tri-State team, will receive as large a salary as he did last year with the Giants.

The Cuban students at Pennington Seminary have formed a baseball team and they are playing a fast game. There are only two members of the nine who are not Cubans.

"Jimmie" Montross pitched for the Chatham team on Saturday against the Cliftons of Newark, winning by a score of 6 to 5. Each team secured eight hits.

Mike Rickford, formerly of the Westfield team, has signed to play first base for the Trenton Tri-State League Club. He is a fast fielder and hard hitter.

Phinn, a crack Jersey City twirler, has signed to pitch for Irvington, of the Lackawanna League, this season.

Jack McEtridge, the famous pitcher, will probably join the Newark Atlantic League Club inside of another week.

Tommy Moorehead has succeeded "Pop" Westlake as captain of the Chatham, Lackawanna League Club, and the selection meets with general approval.

Fred Vanduken, pitching for the Naval Academy team, defeated Johns Hopkins on Saturday, by a score of 3 to 1.

There is already considerable speculation among the local fans as to what success the Inter-City Amateur League will have this season. The semi-professional game has been given a fair trial for two years and failed and now the fans will be given a chance to show their appreciation of the other class ball.

Bar Sickness From the Nursery

Keep the children well!

The best way to insure their health is to prevent the attacks of ills to which they are most subject.

You can guard them against attacks of sickness by fortifying them with the oldest and most reliable medicine and tonic known—

DR. D. JAYNE'S TONIC VERMIFUGE

A Safe Worm Cure

A large percentage of children have worms. A very large proportion of children's ills are directly due to this cause, and to the weakening effect of worms on the child's frail system.

JAYNE'S TONIC VERMIFUGE has for over four generations successfully expelled worms and kept children strong and healthy. This long-tried worm-cure and child's tonic is the best medicine you can possibly give your children, and the best way you can insure their health. Per bottle, 35c. and 50c.

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT has been a reliable cure for Croup, Whooping Cough, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and other lung troubles for 77 years.

Near-Oriental Rugs.

Made in America.

Don't turn from these rugs because they are American made. We want you to see them. We want you to know how closely the American rug makers have imitated and even improved upon the Oriental hand-made product. In an offhand way you could not tell that they were not from the Far East, except from the fact that they are a little more regularly made, perhaps, and better finished than the product of the Orientalists. These come from the Whittall mills, of Worcester, Mass., and are in a variety of patterns and colorings most delightful to choose from, and in this sale are priced at about one-third what Oriental rugs would cost you.

The sizes run all the way from the little door rug to the great room rug, and there are many narrow and wide hall sizes, so that any room or any hall or stairway may be perfectly fitted.

The pricings, as will be seen below, are so far below the cost of Oriental rugs and so much reduced from the regular cost of these rugs that it will pay any one to make an extra effort to buy while the sale is on.

Scotch Madras Draperies.

FOR CITY HOMES OR SUMMER COTTAGES.

There is no need to let the windows and doors go bare simply because you wish to take down your lace curtains and heavy portiers—not when Scotch Madras, the dainty and beautiful, is available. There is nothing prettier or more artistic for summer window and door draperies than Scotch Madras.

Nice also for bed canopies and other uses; colorings of many sorts, all of them beautiful designs, in colonial, floral, art, nouveau, scroll and cathedral effects, some of the latter being excellent substitutes for stained glass; all of the designs and colorings being suitable for certain rooms in the house—some just right for libraries, some for dens, some for dining rooms, some for halls.

Particular attention is called to the new designs and colorings made for use in rooms fitted with the quiet mission furniture.

We have Scotch Madras in plain white and ivory. Price range from 28c to $2.00 yard.

MRAVLAG IS THREATENED

Prominent Physician of Elizabeth Receives Warning Him that He Must Die.

A DEMAND FOR $500

Two "Black Hand" Communications Received By Doctor, Who is Not Alarmed—Police Investigating.

Dr. Victor Mravlag, of No. 1,062 East Jersey street, Elizabeth, has received two letters signed "Black Hand," one demanding money and the other predicting the doctor's death within the next three months. Both letters are now in the hands of the police.

Dr. Mravlag is chief consulting physician at the General Hospital at Elizabeth and is a leading surgeon in Union county. He has served as member of the City Council and has been spoken of as a candidate for the Mayoralty. He is about fifty-five years old and has a wife and several children. One of his sons is a lawyer and is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Dr. Mravlag said yesterday that he received in his mail two weeks ago the following letter:

"Dr. Victor Mravlag—Be prepared to turn over $500 to a person who will meet you at the corner of High street and First avenue on the night of April 20.

"BLACK HAND."

Dr. Mravlag showed his courage by going unaccompanied to the place designated in the letter on the night named by the writer of it. He never carries a revolver, but he took with him a pair of forceps with a heavy handle for use in case of an emergency. He says that he stayed at the corner of the streets named for at least two hours, but no one approached him for money and he saw no suspicious looking person in the neighborhood. About five days later he gave the letter to the police, but they were unable to find a clew to the sender. The letter was mailed at Elizabeth.

The doctor had almost forgotten the incident when he received another Black Hand letter yesterday. This read:

"Dr. Mravlag.—You will die before July 17. BLACK HAND."

At the top of the note was a rudely drawn hand. Dr. Mravlag took the letter to the police and they have renewed their investigation. Dr. Mravlag says that while he may have some enemies he hardly thinks that any of them would seek his life. He is a member of various organizations and when it was suggested that some of his fellow members may have been playing a practical joke on him he remarked that if that were the case he thought it a pretty poor kind of "joke," as it was calculated to cause his family serious alarm. As for himself, he says he does not fear that an attempt will be made on his life, but thought it his duty to hand the letter to the police.

PLUCKY GIRL'S FEAT.

Insists Upon Riding Horse After Animal Had Thrown Her.

New Providence, April 23.—Miss Beatrice French, sixteen years old, of Murray Hill, showed considerable pluck Saturday evening, when she insisted on riding a horse that previously had run away with her and thrown her, rendering her unconscious for fully five minutes. The accident occurred at Springfield avenue and Madison avenue, Lackawanna Park, just in front of the residence of J. G. Alden Miss French was riding horseback with her sister, Miss Dorothy French, when several boys in an automobile went past at a fast gait and yelled at the girls. Both horses were frightened and started to run down Springfield avenue.

Miss Beatrice's horse began to rear and plunge and the girl's right foot slipped out of the stirrup. Mrs. Lewis High was walking past on the sidewalk, and seeing that Miss French was about to be thrown, she called out, "Let go of the lines," just as the horse "bucked," "or you'll be dragged!"

Miss Beatrice let go of the lines and released her other foot from the stirrup and was thrown into a ditch at the side of the road. Miss Dorothy French rode after the horse, which was running away, caught it, and returned to where her sister was lying unconscious, attended by Mrs. High and several of the Aldens, who hastened to the scene.

Dr. W. L. Baker arrived in about ten minutes time. The young woman, who had recovered consciousness and had been taken into the Alden house, refused to be examined, saying she was all right and had only been shaken up a little. She refused to ride home in a carriage and called for her horse.

"I am gong to ride him home," she said firmly, "and show him that I am his mistress."

New Summer Carpets, Rugs and Matting.

We import our own mattings direct from China and Japan, and this year the stocks are larger than ever, making a display of surpassing interest to any housekeeper. In Rugs and Carpets we have never had a finer line, our policy being to exclude rigidly everything not up to the highest standard. We make, lay and line all carpets free of charge.

Laces and Embroideries.

The most complete stocks in the city. In the face of high prices we are quoting many bargains, because we bought when prices were low.

Women's White Shirt Waists.

There has never been a time in the history of this store when we have sold so many Shirt Waists, and there's good reason for it. Buying as we do, direct from the best makers, and for our Atlantic City and Lakewood stores as well as this, enables us to buy in such quantities that we get all that there is in it, and what we save you also save. Herein lies the secret of our immense shirt waist business.

It's Time To Use JAP-A-LAC.

"Jap-a-Lac" is stain and varnish combined; it is the most durable floor finish on the market. It is a great reviver of old woodwork, as it covers up all marks and scratches. Just the thing to make look like new your old porch furniture, window and door screens, wicker furniture, refrigerators, etc. It comes in ¼ pint, ½ pint, pint and quart cans, in all colors and sells for 15c, 25c, 40c and 75c a can.

DEMOREST SEWING MACHINES are equal in every way to other high priced machines, yet we sell them to you at $19.50, $21.50, $22.50 and $25.00, and you can pay for them at a dollar a week.

THE ECLISPSE BREAD MAKERS are simply wonders. Think of kneading thoroughly dough in three minutes without your hands touching the dough. They make fine bread and sell for only $2.00.

AWNINGS, made of Boyle's best stripes and guaranteed galvanized iron frames, with patent hinges that won't wear out and become loose; fit and workmanship guaranteed.

New York Deaths Decrease.

New York, April 23.—Remarkable at this time of the year, and particularly after such a severe winter, is the report from the Health Department that the decrease in the death rate noticed by the department a few weeks ago is continuing. A falling off was first noticed three weeks ago. Although the report showed an increase over that of the previous week, the weekly death rate was nevertheless a whole point below that for the corresponding week last year.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Matthews, formerly of Codington avenue, have leased a house on Rockview avenue, near West End avenue.

—Mrs. E. A. Lowe, of Fairview avenue, entertained a bridge whist club at her home on Saturday. Prizes were presented to the winners.

—Everett Murray's new house, situated in the Washington Heights section of the borough, is nearing completion and he hopes to occupy it soon.

—Every quart bottle of olive oil sold by Neuman Brothers contains eight ounces more than is contained in the ordinary bottle. Every bottle is guaranteed by the firm to be high grade.

—Lemuel E. Hart broke ground this morning on his property on Elmwood place, for cellar and foundations upon which he will place the old dwelling now standing at West Front street and Elmwood place. After the removal of the house he will build a modern structure on the corner.

—By order of Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard, P. H. Latourette, auctioneer, will sell at auction all the household furniture at 304 West Seventh street tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock sharp. As many bargains will be offered it will afford an excellent opportunity to secure articles of use in good condition.

—The grounds about the Somerset street schol building have undergone a complete change at the hands of, Contractor Utzsinger, who was awarded the job by the borough Board of Education. The front is to be made unusually attractive with hedges and shrubbery and will be unusually attractive.

—The Plainfield Operatic Association will hold a rehearsal of "Pinafore" at the Casino tonight and a special rehearsal at the Camera Club rooms on Thursday night. The dress rehearsal will probably be held at the Casino on Tuesday night, April 30, preceding the first regular performance on Thursday, May 2.

Danish Lutheran services will be held in the W. C. T. U. rooms on Madison avenue, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. There will be preaching by Rev. Mr. Klaer.

STRIKE BREAKERS AT WORK IN STOVE PLANT.

Manager of Dover Firm Says He Fears No Trouble from Those Who Went Out.

Dover, April 23.—The striking laborers having failed to respond to the Richardson & Boynton Co.'s invitation to return to work at the old scale, the company yesterday morning opened up the shops with a gang of imported men, under the leadership of a professional strike-breaker.

Sixty-one men arrived Saturday and were put to work getting up bunk-houses for themselves. Five colored cooks came with the men to cook for the strike-breakers and a gang of armed guards, sent by the International Manufacturers' Defense Association, patrol the confines of the stove works grounds to see that the men who take strickers' places are not interfered with.

Asked if he anticipated trouble, Superintendent W. L R. Lynd replied: "No, we don't; but we are prepared to preserve order on our own property."

More strike-breakers are on the road, according to Superintendent Lynd. "When we determined to resume operations," said Mr. Lynd, "we invited the men to come back. We have blown the whistle every day and they have not responded, so we made other arrangements."

Since the arrival of the men on Saturday no one has been allowed to enter the gate without a pass.

JAMES SMITH, JR., ENDS WORK.

Gets Discharge As Receiver of Shipbuilding Trust.

Former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., was discharged as receiver for the United States Shipbuilding Company by Judge William M. Lanning in the United States Court at Trenton yesterday.

The last supplemental report was filed at the time. The report showed that there is now in the hands of the receiver $2,117.15, which goes to the creditors of the defunct concern. At the last report there was $14,824.17, of which the State of New Jersey got $7,320 for franchise tax of 1905.

With yesterday's action the famous case is brought to an end in this court.

Pittsburg Graft.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 23.—C. S. Cameron, president of the Pitsburg and Tube City Railroad, yesterday told under oath how he was held up for $70,000 by the "graft" combine which controls both branches of the City Councils, and how finally $70,000 disappeared from his pocket while he was in the company of William A. Martin, Common Councilman. Martin, Cameron declared, was the collector for the combine. Before leaving the stand Cameron said he had in his possession a list of the Councilman who were to have divided the $70,000 fund, for which they were to have passed the franchise ordinance of the railroad. This list he promises to produce when the hearings are resumed. This testimony of President Cameron has created the greatest sensation of years in this city. John Marron, special counsel for Mayor Gutherie in the prosecution of the graft cases, last night declared that before he is through there will be a considerable reduction in the present number of Councilmen who are at liberty.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The story of "The Two Orphans," which is to be at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight, is a very old one and familiar to many. Louise and Henriette, two girls, sisters by adoption, arrive in Paris, and instead of being met by friends, are separated by an unprincipled nobleman, who takes Henriette to his palace and leaves Louise, helpless and blind, in the streets. A notorious old woman, La Frochard, finds her, promises to help her find the sister, but instead forces the girl to sing in the streets. Several acts lead up to the strongest scene and climax in the last, where the girls are reunited.

"A Lucky Dog," with the popular tramp comedian, Nat Wills, in the stellar role, will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night. Mr. Wills brings with him the best cast of comedians and singers he has ever had the good fortune to secure and the prettiest singing chorus of fifty from Broadway. "A Lucky Dog" is a musical comedy with a serious story of absorbing interest, the plot, however, providing splendid opportunity for Mr. Wills' fun-making of which he is not slow in taking advantage. The music is catchy and a number of new novelty creations are presented with costume and light effects calculated to dazzle and delight even the most blase theatregoer.

The "Joshua Simpkins" company, carrying their own special scenery, a band of music and fine orchestra, will produce the great pastoral comedy drama of that name at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night. The piece deals with country life and people, three acts of the play being laid in one of the many quaint villages of Vermont. The second act (in three scenes) portrays Uncle Josh's first visit to Washington City. In the third act a sensational saw-mill effect is shown, being nothing more or less than a complete saw-mill in full operation, cutting up genuine timber. The saw is a genuine buzz or circular saw, and cuts through timber at lightning speed.

Eileen Asthore, the new play written for Chauncey Olcott by Theodore Burt Sayre, which will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night, tells a romantic love story of the Emerald Isle during the early years of the last century. Unlike the usual class of plays dealing with the Irish people, politics are treated only as a background and do not figure in the plot which is a strong and moving one. The play tells in a breezy fashion of how young Richard Temple, a likeable rascal, has fallen into evil ways and like the young blade of our own times has gone the paces, spent his money and gotten himself into inextricable debts from which he cannot escape. He is preparing to make a run of it and try fighting as a living, under the ensign of Napoleon, when chance throws him in the pathway of a pretty Irish maid, Eileen O'Donnell, and he falls a victim to love at first sight. He, with a tarnished reputation, is in a sorry predicament to win a proud girl as a wife, and his struggle to assert his manhood and prove his worth to her, is the theme of the four engrossing acts.

There could be no more welcome announcement for the amusement-loving public than the appearance here of "The Old Homstead," at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday afternoon and night. The dear old pastoral play itself is by this time so familiar to everyone that any attempt to describe it would be supererogation. The mere mention of the names of Joshua Whitcomb, Cy Prime, Seth Perkins, Aunt Matilda and Rickety Ann, is sufficient to bring to mind all of these delightful rural characters, and at the same time arise in the background the pictures of the old farm, the homestead in Swanzey, Grace church on Broadway in New York city, and the aristocratic mansion of Henry Hopkins, the metropolitan merchant and millionaire. The company this season is practically the same as last, and the production is said to be perfect in every detail.

Firemen's Fair Closes.

The four days' firemen's fair at Westfield, which closed Saturday night, netted close to $2,000 for the department. The object of the fair was to raise $1,350 for uniforms for the seventy firemen, including the officers.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

The Bell Mead sweets are the finest candy made. They are sold by Peter B. Hodge, East Front street.

Every day a change of menu at Timbo's restaurant on North avenue makes this place an ideal one to dine.

D. Demolli & Co., of West Front street, are the florists you need when a perfect service is desired. They know their business.

Until we learn just how to burn cast off ashes we will need real coal for our stoves. When we buy it of John Johnson, South avenue, we get the right kind.

The finest poultry and the finest cuts of meat are to be had at the Fred Endress' market, West Front street. The service is prompt and perfect. Quick deliveries.

Wheeling is good now and if you contemplate buying a machine see the big line at S. Fracht's West Front street establishment. He does repairing in all its branches.

For strictly fine groceries at the lowest market prices you need go no further than W. T. Dunn's store, Duer street and Lincoln place. Give your order over the 'phone and it will be delivered.

Low cut shoes will be much worn this spring and summer. The latest shapes in all sizes at M. C. Van-Arsdale's shop, East Front street. High cut shoes in a profusion of styles for those that prefer them.

When you want drugs or medicines you want the best, the kind that C. M. Neagle sells at his up-to-date pharmacy on West Front street. Everything that should be in a modern pharmacy is to be had here.

Putnam & DeGraw's dry goods store on West Front street is one of the most attractive in town. The stock of goods is large and men as well as women will find just what they want at reasonable prices.

Spring has been a little late in arriving but it is here now and James R. Blair, of Park avenue, is ready with one of the largest and most complete lines of men's spring furnishings ever seen in the city. Better drop in at once and see them.

L. W. Randolph's famous cold cream is in great demand these days, when the wind roughens the face and hands, and this pharmacy on West Front street is just the place to purchase absolutely pure drugs and medicines. Delicious soda is also a feature.

Smalley Brothers have for many years had the reputation of dealing in only the best meats, poultry and provisions. They are among Plainfield's longest established market men and they have enjoyed a steadily increasing patronage. Their delivery service is unexcelled.

This is the season when awnings must be put up—how about yours? Shirley & Johnston, in the Babcock building, make a specialty of this work. They repair old awnings or will give you estimates on making new ones. Their line of porch chairs and summer furniture is one of the largest in the State.

THEY'RE ALWAYS THERE.

"How it is when parades go by,"
Complained the little runt,
"The tallest men about you then Must always stands in front?"

Makes Wet Ashes Burn.

New York, April 23.—Before reporters and others in the boiler room of the Park Avenue Hotel James W. Geyer, a cigar manufacturer in Tenth avenue, yesterday afternoon gave a demonstration of his process of burning anthracite coal ashes. Three boilers are used for generating steam for the hotel. With this process yesterday Mr. Geyer made one boiler do the work of the three for one hour and with a smaller quantity of fuel than would ordinarily have been used in one furnace. He mixed three parts of ashes and one part of coal and then saturated the heap with the liquid which contains the secret. This liquid was made by putting a tablespoonful of a yellowish powder into a gallon of water. Between four and five gallons were used to saturate a hundred pounds of ashes and coal. At precisely 4 o'clock this wet mass was shovelled into the furnace, where there was a small bed of coal fire. In seven minutes the entire mass was glowing at white heat and the one furnace was doing the work of all three. The steam gauge held at seventy-six pounds for the next hour, when the other furnaces were opened again.

Worlds for Explorers.

Notwithstanding the rapid advance of exploration in the various parts of the globe, a recent estimate by a member of the American Geographical Society shows that no less than 200,000,000 square miles of the earth's surface yet remains unexplored. The largest unexplored area is in Africa, 65,000,000 square miles, but even North America contains 1,500,000 square miles of virgin territory. It is surprising to learn that there is three times as much land awaiting the foot of the pioneer in North America as in South America.—Philadelphia Record.

Convinced.

Mr. Spongely (slightly related)—"Splendid! Magnificent! Do you know, Uncle Eli, I believe I shall never get tired of seeing the sun set behind that hill!"

CHAPTER XXIV.

Granby Intrudes Again.

Fairbank had grown like a fungus in his own esteem.

The adulation of the free excursionists I had poured in upon him, the eulogies in the newspapers, the flatteries of those about him, eager to make themselves "solid" with the man who might soon have the shaking of the huge, richly laden presidential boughs of the plum tree—this combination of assaults upon sanity was too strong for a man with such vanity as his, a traitor within. He had convinced his last prudent doubt that he was indeed a "child of destiny." He was resentful lest I might possibly think myself more important than he to the success of the campaign. And his resentment was deepened by the probably incessant reminders of his common sense that all this vast machine, public and secret, could have been set in motion just as effectively for any one of a score of "statesmen" conspicuous in the party.

I saw through his labored cordiality; and it depressed me again—started me down toward those depths of self-condemnation from which I had been held up for a few days by the excitement of the swiftly thronging events and by the necessity of putting my whole mind upon moves for my game.

"I am heartily glad you were successful," he began when we were alone. "That takes a weight off my mind."

"You misunderstood me, I see," said I. "I haven't got anything from those people in New York as yet. But within a week they'll be begging me to take whatever I need. Thring's report will put them in a panic."

His face fell. "Then I must be especially courteous to Goodrich," he said, after thinking intently. "Your hopes might be disappointed."

"Not the slightest danger," was my prompt assurance. "And if you take my advice, you will ask Goodrich how his agent found Senator Scarborough's health, and then order him out of this house. Why harbor a deadly snake that can be of no use to you?"

"But you seem to forget, Harvey that he is the master of at least the eastern wing of the party. And you must now see that he will stop at nothing unless he is pacified."

"He is the fetch-and-carry of an impudent crowd in Wall street," I retorted, "that is all. When they find he can no longer do their errands they'll throw him over and come to us. And we can have them on our own terms."

We argued, with growing irritation on both sides, and after an hour or so, I saw that he was hopelessly under the spell of his pettiness and his moral cowardice. He had convinced himself that I was jealous of Goodrich and would sacrifice anything to gratify my hate. And Goodrich's sending an agent to Scarborough had only made him the more formidable in Burbank's eyes. As I looked in upon his mind and watched its weak, foolish little workings, my irritation subsided. "Do as you think best," said I, wearily. "But when he presents the mortgage you are going to give him on your presidency, remember my warning."

He laughed this off, feeling my point only in his vanity, not at all in his judgment. "And how will you receive him, Harvey? He will be sure to come to you next—must, as you are in charge of my campaign."

"I'll tell him straight out that I'll have nothing to do with him," said I, blandly. "The Wall street submission to the party must be brought to me by some other ambassador. I'll not help him to fool his masters and to hide it from them that he has lost control."

I could have insisted, could have destroyed Goodrich — for Burbank would not have dared disobey me. But the campaign, politics in general, life itself, filled me with disgust, a paralyzing disgust that made me almost lose confidence in my theory of practical life.

"What's the use?" I said to myself. "Let Burbank keep his adder. Let it sting him. If it so much as shoots a fang at me, I can crush it."

And so Burbank lifted up Goodrich and gave hostage to him; and Goodrich, warned that I would not deal with him, made some excuse or other to his masters for sending Senator Revell to me. "See Woodruff," said I to Revell, for I was in no mood for such business. "He knows best what we need."

"They gave up too damn cheerfully," Woodruff said to me, when I saw him a week or ten days later, and he gave me an account of the negotiations. "I suspect they've paid more before."

"They have," said I. "In two campaigns where they had to elect against hard times."

"But I've a notion," he warned me, "that our candidate has promised them something privately."

"No doubt," I replied, as indifferently as I felt.

I had intended to make some speeches—I had always kept the public side of my carrer in the foreground, and in this campaign my enforced prominence as director of the machine was causing the public to dwell too much on the real nature of my political activity. But I could not bring myself to it. Instead, I set out for home to spend the time with my children and to do by telephone, as I easily could, such directing of Woodruff as might be necessary.

My daughter Frances was driving me from the Fredonia station. A man darted in front of the horses, flung up his arms and began to shriek curses at me. If she had not been a skillful driver, we should both have been thrown from the cart. As it was, the horses ran several miles before she got them under control. I sitting inactive, because I knew how it would hurt her pride if I should interfere.

When the horses were quiet she gave me an impetuous kiss that more than repaid me for the strain on my nerves. "You are the dearest papa that ever was!" she said. Then—"Who was he? He looked like a crazy man!"

"No doubt he is," was my reply. And I began complimenting her on her skill with horses, chiefly to prevent her pressing me about the man. I had heard, and had done, so much lying that I had a horror of it, and tried to make my children absolutely truthful—my boy Ed used to think up and do mischief just for the pleasure of pleasing me by confessing. To make my example effective, I was always strictly truthful with them. I did not wish to tell her who the man was; but I instantly recognized, through the drunken dishevelment, my mutineer, Granby—less than a year before one of the magnates of the state. My orders about him had been swiftly and literally obeyed. Deserted by his associates, blacklisted by banks, beset by his creditors, harassed by the attorney general, his assets chained with injunctions, his liabilities given triple fangs, he went bankrupt, took to drink, became a sot and a barroom lounger. His dominant passion was hatred of me; he discharged the rambling and frantic story of his wrongs upon whoever would listen. And here he was in Fredonia!

I had one of my secretaries telephone the police to look after him; they reported that he had disappeared.

The next morning but one, my daughter and I went for an early walk. At the turn of the main drive just beyond view from the lodge, she exclaimed: "Oh, father, oh!" and clung to me. Something—like a scarecrow, but not a scarecrow—swung from a limb overhanging the drive. The face was distorted and swollen; the arms and legs were drawn up in sickening crookedness. Before I saw, I knew it was Granby.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

Several London churches receive incomes of $8,500 to $10,000 from pew rents.

The Church of St. Magnus the Martyr in London and nine other old English churches have streets running through them.

The oldest minister in New Hampshire is Rev. William Hurlin, of Antrim, who in his ninety-second year is still preaching the gospel. He preached his first sermon seventy-two years ago.

Rev. Dr. David G. Downey, for ten years pastor of St. John's Methodist Episcopal church, Williamsburg, New York, has resigned to take up the duties of assistant editor for Sunday-school and religious literature in the Methodist denominations.

Henry McNeal Turner, bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal church, claims direct descent from an African king. As the story goes, his grandfather, when a mere boy was stolen from his home in Africa and sold as a slave in Charleston, S. C. Although the African king sent many slaves as a ransom, the lad was never returned to him.

THE COOKBOOK.

Fried tomatoes are delicious served with white sauce into which curry has been stirred.

An onion for soup should be stuck with six cloves and added after the stock has been skimmed.

Before placing a roast of beef in the oven dip it in boiling water. It prevents the juices from escaping.

Fish scales can be easily removed by pouring hot water slowly over the fish until the scales curl, then scrape quickly. Wash in several waters, having the last water cold and well salted, so that there will be no slime left.

Stillman Defeats P. H. S. Seconds.

The baseball team from the Stillman School defeated the High School second nine, yesterday afternoon by a score of 6 to 5. The game was played on Hope Common. Slocum pitched a good game for the Grammar School aggregation, and the support given him was exceptionally good. The battery for the winning team was Slocum and Trembath, while Linderbery and Foster alternated in the box for the opposing team, and Schenck and Parsons did the catching.

GOLF.

Competitive golf this week will be at the Country Club of Lakewood, where the annual spring open tournament is to be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. There will be a thirty-six-hole medal play qualification round on Thursday, first and second match play rounds on Friday, with semi-finals and finals on Saturday.

The Women's Golf Association of Boston will have its second team match over the links of the Brae Burn Country Club tomorrow. Miss Pauline Mackay, former national champion, is to have charge of the match.

The Wykagyl Country Club is negotiating for the purchase of the entire property, consisting of 180 acres. After this purchase has been made work will begin on a new clubhouse. In order to provide a site for the new home it will be necessary to change several holes in the fall, but still maintaining the present arrangement of the ninth and eighteenth greens. The following officers have been elected: President, M. J. Condon; vice-president, G. F. Pelham; treasurer, Winthrop Pond; secretary, J. R. Turner; captain, T. L. Jaques. Committees: House, E. B. Pinckney chairman; finance, W. B. Randall, chairman; green, T. L. Jaques, chairman; handicap and tournament, J. R. Turner, chairman; admissions, G. F. Pelham, chairman.

The greens committee of the South Orange Field Club has issued its golf schedule for the season. There will be something going on in a competitive way from May 4 to December 1, and the club has also offered a cup for the best composite score of the year. A cross-country contest is scheduled for Semtember 2, while on October 26 the members will engage in the club championship tournament. Something of a novelty has been arranged for November 23. It is a two-ball, one-club foursome, partners to select different clubs. The usual ball sweepstakes and approaching and putting contests will also be decided. As this club is a member of the East Jersey Golf League, it will be represented by a team in the championship matches.

Early indications point to a good-sized entry for the annual spring tournament of the Country Club of Atlantic City early next month. Well known amateurs in New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Pittsburg districts have already signified their intention of entering. It is understood that the Fownes family, of Pittsburg, will put in an appearance. W. C. Fownes, Jr., who is ranked among the leading amateurs in the country, has avoided tournament play for the last year. Some of his best golf has been recorded at Atlantic City. Jerome D. Travers, the metropolitan champion, also contemplates entering. He has never competed in a tournament over the Northfield links. A number of amateurs in this vicinity are planning to make the trip in automobiles. The course is in excellent condition at present.

AMATEUR LEAGUE.

Simon Pure Baseballists Will Be Registered at the Next Meeting.

The Inter-city Baseball League held a regular meeting last night. Only routine matters were discussed and disposed of. Next month's meeting will bring out the registered membership of the pennant-chasing combinations.

There were rumors before last night's meeting that one of the clubs was in bad shape, but nothing to substantiate the report developed at the session. Secretary Listman said this morning that all five of the teams would be ready for the struggle when the season opened May 18.

(Other sporting news on page three).

The Women's Relief Corps will meet Friday night to consider business of importance and complete arrangements for the observance of Memorial Day.

WHY GREEN GOODS ARE SO HIGH NOW

WEEKLY MARKET LETTER EXPLAINS CONDITIONS IN THE SOUTH.

The current high prices of fresh vegetables and green goods is explained from one standpoint in a weekly market letter received by local grocers. It is:

"We have had freezing cold weather all through the South. At Charleston, beans, cucumbers, and probably fifty per cent. of the potato crop, have been killed. At Savannah, the vegetable crop is in the same condition. The peach crop in Georgia is fully fifty per cent. destroyed, if not more. Whole sections will not have any peaches for shipment this year, and Florida, in many sections, beans, cucumbers and tender vegetables have been frozen, so that there will be no shipments from there. Of course, there will be a limited supply of such articles until Norfolk and North Carolina shall begin to market their crops, which means that, for some time to come, string beans, cucumbers, etc., will be no lower and probably higher. The bulk of the spinach from Norfolk, Va., has been marketed and we look for higher prices in the immediate future.

"Old potatoes have also advanced in price, owing to these conditions. We looked for a large quantity of Bermuda onions on the steamer due this week, but she has very light receipts. Very little real, first-class Southern lettuce coming to market at present, and Boston lettuce is bringing from $5 to $6 per barrel of four dozen. Most of the lettuce being handled is of the hot-house variety, which is selling at from $1.25 to $1.50 per dozen. Charleston asparagus, owing to cold weather, has more than doubled in price, the price asked being from $11 to $12 per dozen for the fancy kind, and the other stock averaging from $1.25 to $9 per dozen."

ELK TEETH AS EMBLEMS.

President Asks the Order of Elks to Discontinue Their Use.

The Butte, Mont., lodge of Elks is in receipt of a letter from Grand Exalted Ruler Melvin, enclosing a copy of a letter from President Roosevelt relative to the reported destruction of elk by men gathering elk teeth. President Roosevelt says that it has been reported to him that many elk have been slaughtered for no other purpose than to obtain their teeth. He expresses the hope that the lodge of Elks will take measures to discourage the use of elk teeth as emblems of membership and as ornaments.

Grand Exalted Ruler Melvin has taken the matter up with the order throughout the country and is urging the discontinuance of the use of the teeth. Many lodges have already taken action, and the Butte lodge has adopted a resolution declaring against a continuance of the use of the teeth.

For several years hunters in the West have been making collections of elk teeth and holding them for an advance in prices because of the growing scarcity. One man at Billings has a collection of many thousands. The declaration of Elk lodges against their continued use will likely cause a severe drop in market prices.

Dr. Gardner Defeated.

New York, April 23.—T. D. Sullivan's much exploited horse, Dr. Gardner, which cost his present owner $15,000, met with defeat yesterday at Aqueduct. Starting in a seven furlong handicap with 127 pounds up, ridden by Garner, who weighs about eighty pounds, and who therefore bestoded a lead pad which must have had about forty pounds of lead in it, Dr. Gardner was an odds-on favorite, and apparently his defeat was a sore blow to the confederacy which at present seems very strong in racing affairs. The winner proved to be Athlete, a racer which has been campaigning at New Orleans all winter; the second horse was Orphan Lad, which wintered in Virginia and raced at Bennings and which should have won decisively but for the bad judgment of Shillings in being satisfied to come along on the rail behind the top weight. Dr. Gardner, which was struggling gamely on despite his high impost. It was the latter's second race this year and he therefore lacked the seasoning which the two others have had.

Woman Held as a Curtain Thief.

Elizabeth, April 23.—Elsie Eldridge was arrested last night at her home, 602 Elizabeth avenue, this city, charged with stealing, on April 12, three pairs of valuable lace curtains from the premises of Dr. Thos. E. Dolan, on Elizabeth avenue, here. The curtains were put on a clothesline in the yard for an airing, and disappeared. The police have since recovered them where they were sold. The prisoner was held for the grand jury in $200 bail.

Andrew Miller.

The funeral of former Councilman Andrew Miller took place at 3 p. m. yesterday from his late residence, 9 Union street, Rahway, and was largely attended. The Rev. F. C. Mooney, of Union Hill, assisted by the Rev. J. B. Heard, of the First Methodist Episcopal church, conducted the services.

HURT IN TROLLEY CRASH

Colored Driver Thrown From Seat and Run Over by His Own Van.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Vehicle Was Struck From Behind by Employes Car Returning From Dewey Park Barns.

The Public Service Corporation's employes car, returning from Dewey Park with motormen and conductors on their way home at 2 o'clock this morning, crashed into the rear of a moving van belonging to N. O. Dunster, of Somerville, on West Front street, between Albert street and Mariners place. The driver of the rig, Henry Howard, colored, was pitched headlong from his seat and falling in front of the van was run over by it. His right arm was broken and he sustained severe contusions that compelled his hurried removal to Muhlenberg Hospital.

The horses attached to the vehicle tore themselves from it and ran blindly down West Front street and all the way through the city. They were found at 3 o'clock this morning by a milkman, jogging along at East Fifth street and Franklin place. The police took them to a stable.

The trolley car was in charge of Motorman Charles Schotopp and Conductor Phillips and was proceeding at a high rate of speed. In his statement of the accident, Schotopp said it was raining heavily at the time and very dark, making it impossible for him to see any great length ahead. He was unaware that the rig was in front of him until almost directly upon it. He reversed his controller and applied the brake but the force of the crash was sufficient to demolish the rear end of the van and tear off one of the sides.

Howard was driving behind another rig owned by Dunster and in charge of John Frech, of Raritan. Frech told the police that they noticed no light or heard no bell and were totally unconscious of their danger. The crash came so suddenly that Howard had no chance to catch hold of the seat and keep himself from falling. He went down between the horses and his escape from death was little short of miraculous. In running away, the team cleared Frech's van safely and his rig was not damaged in any way. The employes in the trolley car were severely shaken up by the collision but none of them were injured. Schotopp escaped without a scratch.

The hospital authorities said this noon that Howard's condition is not serious. His home is at 172 Davenport street, Somerville.

HOPE CHAPEL MEN'S CLUB HOLDS ENTERTAINMENT

FOUR H QUARTETTE AND OTHERS PRESENT FINE PROGRAMME.

The Men's Club of Hope chapel presented a musical and literary entertainment in the Sunday-school rooms, last night, that was largely attended despite the heavy downpour at starting-out time. The proceeds are to be added to the organ fund.

The appearing artists on the programme were the Four H. Quartette, the well known local singing organization; Miss Justine Roberts, of Brooklyn, reader, who has become a favorite in the city through previous apeparances; Thomas M. Muir, monologuist, and Thomas L. DeMeza, accompanist. Miss Roberts made as distinct a "hit" in the West End as she has done in the uptown churches and was compelled to respond to two and three encores after every selection. Her character impersonations were splendid and other numbers of a dramatic nature revealed her versatility in no small measure.

Though allotted but two numbers on the programme, The Four H. Quartette were not allowed to retire and gave four or five. The organization is composed of Harry R. Roberts, Horace J. Martin, Jr., Hugh Ricketts and Harry Blimm. They have a repertoire of songs, choruses and character work that is an antidote for the blues. Mr. Martin scored an individual success with a selected solo and Mr. Muir's monologue, "Tersely Told Trolleyisms," was well received. The programme closed with a playlet, "A Husband's Dilemma," in which the characters were taken by Messrs. Roberts, Rocketts and Blimm, assisted by Mrs. H. R. Roberts.

The committee from the club which had charge of the affair was composed of David Bowden, chairman; Ralph Eckert, John Slorah and Peter Sweeny.

NEW LAW WON'T AFFECT US

Measure Providing for Change of Form of Government Has Referendum Clause.

ACKERMAN FOUGHT IT

Senator and Mayor Do Not Fear that Act Signed by Governor Yesterday Will Be Taken Advantage of Here.

Governor Stokes yesterday signed Senate bill, No. 222, an extraordinary measure providing for a change in the form of government in Bridgeton, but which unfortunately applies equally to Plainfield, Bayonne and other cities, should the inhabitants be so foolish as to take advantage of it. Luckily a referendum clause is attached although there would not be the least fear that the municipality's governing body would adopt the act should it be left to its discretion.

In discussing the new law, State Senator E. R. Ackerman, of this city, who vigorously opposed it in the Senate, stated that happily there is no danger that Plainfield will be effected by it. He drew attention to the fact that he had the bill amended so that it requires twenty-five per cent. of the voters to petition the Common Council or other governing body in order that the referendum be had. In its original form, provision was made that ten per cent. was all that was necessary. Mayor Fisk, too, does in no wise anticipate that Plainfield will adopt the law.

The measure in question, introduced by Senator Hutchinson, is intended for the relief of conditions said to exist in Bridgeton, but as it applies to all cities under 20,000 inhabitants it would equally affect Plainfield.

The Hutchinson bill covers sixty pages and a careful reading of it shows that should any city adopt its provisions the place would be controlled absolutely by six men in whom the entire government is vested. It provides for the election of five taxpayers of three years residence each to act as the Council, the terms of office being graduated. It also provides for the election of a mayor. The Council by a four-fifths vote resolves itself into commissions, there being one such berth for each man, namely, a commissioner of finance, a commissioner of streets and highways, a commissioner of parks and public buildings, a commissioner of public works and a commissioner of safety. They take office on January 1 and have power to fill all vacancies in their body. In case they fail to agree on the commissionerships, the mayor has the power of appointment. The mayor, himself, is the pooh-bah of the city. The Council has the right to pass any measure by a four-fifths vote over the mayor's veto and it can borrow any sum or negotiate any loan it desires without ordinance or consent of the people. The salaries of the councilmen are $500 each and no official is allowed to engage in other business nor receive any passes or gratuities. The council has also power to erect and maintain a hospital, city hall and lots of other things without the consent of the people. A local option clause is also contained in the bill, as is a provision empowering the local authorities to call out the militia.

New Chorus Choir and Organist.

The officers of Faith chapel have engaged William Holmes, baritone soloist of the First Baptist church choir, to take charge of the music at the chapel, commencing May 1. He will organize a chorus choir and afterward train the voices each week in the singing of church music. Arrangements have also been made with Mrs. Clarence Murphy to take the position of organist from May 1. Mr. Holmes will continue to sing at the First Baptist church.

Rev. Mr. Goodrich to Speak.

Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, will be among those who will make addresses this afternoon at the twenty-ninth annual meeting of the Congregational Association of New Jersey, which opens today and continues through tomorrow. The address of welcome will be given by Rev. George P. Eastman, with a response by the Rev. Elliot W. Brown, of Glen Ridge, moderator of the association.

Popular Concert.

The Junior Tennessee Jubilee vocalists will give a popular concert at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. They are said to be the true exponents of plantation song and story.

REDUCE YOUR COAL BILL

Here is the Formula for Making Ashes Burn Like Coke.

COMBINATION IS CHEAP

Plain Salt, Oxalic Acid and Water All That Are Necessary to Cut Down Fuel Expense by More Than Half.

Chemists have solved the secret of John Ellmore, the Altoona, Pa., cobbler, who invented a compound to make coal ashes burn better than the original fuel. Residents of Altoona have been using the compound with much saving in their fuel bills.

Here is the formula and the way to use it:

Common salt, one pound.
Oxalic acid, two ounces.
Water, one gallon.

Mix and moisten a mixture containing one part coal and three parts ashes and a better fuel than pure coal is obtained.

The ashes of anthracite coal burn as readily as do those of bituminous. This mixture will, upon being placed upon a burning fire, fuse into a coke like mass and deposit but little residue. The chemical action of this compound is thus explained:

When an aqueous solution of an alkaline salt, such as common salt, is mixed with coal ash, the result is that a mild lye is formed, which when mixed with any combustible material, such as coal, and upon the application of heat gives off oxygen gas, thus enabling rapid combustion.

The addition of oxalic acid caused a chemical change of greater value than the first, for the reason that it results in the formation of a carbide, which in turn gives off acetylene gas, this adding to the intensity of the heat and facilitating complete combustion.

It is possible upon moistening a small quantity of ashes without the addition of coal, to really detect the odor of acetylene gas, and if the treated ashes are placed upon a lighted fire they will fuse and burn to a fine powder.

The compound is now being used in many large industrial and mercantile places there, and it is claimed for it that it has reduced the fuel item more than half. It has eliminated almost entirely the question of disposition of ashes, which has been considerable where great quantities of coal are consumed.

Ellmore, who discovered the secret and focused attention upon the possibilities that lurked in ashes, claims that his patent will protect him in his secret. He says he has received an offer from the British Government provided he can demonstrate the practicability of his compound.

C. B. LOOMIS DELIGHTS A LARGE AUDIENCE

HIS DRY HUMOR PROVOKED CONTINUED AMUSEMENT FOR MEN'S CLUB.

Charles Battell Loomis, the humorist, delighted a large audience at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, last night, with readings from some of his latest writings, including "A Bath In An English Tub," which was fully described in a series of articles published in The New York Sun a few months ago. His dry humor was greatly enjoyed and provoked constant laughter, as he related in an amusing manner the primitive method adopted by an English at home for taking a bath.

The readings by Mr. Loomis were interspersed with vocal selections by Charles Lewis, accompanied by Mrs Lewis on the piano. The programme was a delightful one throughout. Afterward a social was enjoyed. This was the last of the season's entertainments given under the auspices of the Men's Association of the church, which have been such a success.

Evangelistic Services.

Special evangelistic meetings will be held in the W. C. T. U. Saturday and Sunday, under the direction of Rev. E. J. Richards, an evangelist, who will conduct the services. Miss Mary Compton, a returned missionary from India, will assist, and Miss Cromwell, of Cranford, will conduct the singing. There will be a service Saturday afternoon at :30 o'clock and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, and at the same hours on Sunday.

WANT MARTINE TO RUN

Delegation of Democrats from Essex County to Visit Him.

TO URGE HIS CANDIDACY

Other Delegations Expected to Come to Cedar Brook, and Popular Demand For Nomination As Governor Probable.

Interest in James E. Martine's boom for the Democratic nomination for Governor continues to spread throughout the State. In keeping with the general trend among the rank and file of the party, a number of Essex county party workers have decided that Mr. Martine is the man who should be nominated, and they have gone so far as to plan a pilgrimage to Cedar Brook to urge the Farmer Orator to announce himself definitely as a candidate and to pledge their support.

This delegation is expected to visit Mr. Martine the last part of the week. It has the sanction, unofficially, at least, of men prominent in the Essex county Democratic councils and the movement is viewed sympathetically by Democratic workers of counties about Essex. Those engaged in it believe the pilgrimage will be followed by others and that Mr. Martine will be swept into nomination on a popular wave.

HIS SON-IN-LAW DIES FOLLOWING WEDDING

HOSPITAL BRIDEGROOM SUCCUMBS TO MERCURY POISONING.

William A. De Witt, who was thought to have been suffering from peritonitis and who, despite his illness, was married in Roosevelt Hospital, New York, last Wednesday to Miss Elizabeth Denniston Nielson, a niece of Rev. Dr. William H. Nielson, of this city, died at the institution yesterday. Coroner's Physician Philip O'Hanlon announced that death was due to taking bichloride of mercury. Coroner Harburger will hold an inquest.

De Witt was 29 years old and lived at 133 West Seventy-eighth street, New York. The ceremony was performed at the hospital by the Rev. Dr. William H. Nielson.

De Witt is supposed to have taken poison by mistake a week ago Tuesday.

MINISTER RECALLS CIVIL WAR SCENES

REV. FRANK FLETCHER GIVES TALK AT SCOTT POST MEETING.

Rev. Frank Fletcher, formerly pastor of the Baptist church, New Market, addressed a large assemblage of veterans, the Women's Relief Corps and their friends last night at an open meeting of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., in the post rooms. The divine himself fought in the Civil War and he entered into the spirit of the occasion in a manner that enthused the hearts of his fellow-veterans.

Mr. Fletcher described graphically scenes and incidents in connection with his personal experiences during the war. He enlisted in New York and organized a company of volunteers, when he concluded his studies at a theological seminary. Subsequently he was made captain of a company, then a chaplain and finally he received an appointment as one of the aides on General Sherman's staff.

The minister briefly related his experiences at Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, the Battle of Lookout Mountain, and Sherman's march from Atlanta to the Sea, all of which he took part in. Many pathetic scenes were described and incidents of hardship, privations and heroic sacrifice related.

In addition to the lecture a programme of music was given by Dr. J. F. Berg's orchestra, followed by the serving of refreshments under the direction of the Women's Relief Corps. The meeting was in charge of Dr. Berg, who is commander of the Post.

Sesame Club Meeting.

The Sesame Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. L. Ross, 403 East Seventh St.

The Y. M. C. A. gymnasium class will hold a gymnastic competition for the association championship tomorrow night. Special athletic events will be on the card.

MINISTERS IN CONFERENCE

Rev. C.L. Goodrich tells of Association Progress at Congregationalist's Meeting.

IN SESSION AT ORANGE

Thirty-Ninth Annual Conference Will End Tonight—Addresses By Prominent Divines of the Denomination.

Congregational clergymen from various parts of the country with lay delegates are in attendance at the thirty-ninth annual meeting of the Congregational Association of New Jersey at the Orange Valley Congregational church, Orange, which opened yesterday afternoon and will be concluded tonight.

The sessions yesterday were of a religious character, the principal business being the appointment of a committee to select a moderator to succeed the Rev. Dr. Frank P. Woodbury, of Washington, D. C. After the devotional services yesterday the out of town visitors were welcomed by the Rev. George P. Eastman, pastor of the church.

The Rev. Henry H. Guernsey, of Westfield, led the devotional service. The Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, of this city, spoke on the topic, "Our Progress as an Association." James H. Noyes gave the treasurer's report.

The moderator made an address and the Rev. Dr. E. W. Brown, of Glen Ridge, spoke on "God's Requirements;" the Rev. Dr. Robert C. Herring, of New York, discussed the meaning of the modern missionary movement in this country, and the Rev. Dr. Cornelius H. Patton, of Boston, discussed the same topics applied to foreign countries.

At the services last night the Rev. Roger A. Dunlop led the devotional service. The Rev. Dr. Harry P. Dewey, of Brooklyn, preached the sermon and the Rev. David Brewer Eddy, of East Orange, and the Rev. John T. Nichols, of Asbury Park, administered Holy Communion.

DESCRIBED HIS TRIP AROUND THE WORLD

SENATOR ACKERMAN GAVE AN ILLUSTRATED LECTTRE IN ELIZABETH.

State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman delighted a large audience in the parish house of the German Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, last night, when under the auspices of the Downtown Republican Club, of that city, he gave his superb illustrated lecture on "A Trip Around the World." A majority of the views were new to the four hundred people present, but of especial interest were his views taken in Switzerland, shown for the first time.

The lecture covered a goodly portion of the world, touching a majority of the most important points visited by Mr. Ackerman, and the talk was listened to with the deepest interest by all, showing his appreciation. The lecture was concluded with handsome views of the Yellowstone Park, and by that route Mr. Ackerman brought his audience home from what proved to be a delightful trip around the world. Preceding and following the lecture the programme included illustrated songs by local talent, which was an enjoyable feature.

Miss Elsie T. Smith Engaged.

Mrs. Lester R. Walton, of New York, formerly of Plainfield, announces the engagement of her sister, Miss Elsie T. Smith, to William R. Crary, of Liberty, N. Y. The wedding will take place at the home of Miss Smith's uncle, Dr. Fabriskie, of Glen Cove, L. I., on June 1. The young couple will reside at Liberty where Mr. Crary is now having a handsome home erected. Miss Smith formerly resided with her parents on Westervelt avenue and has a host of friends in the city and borough.

Surprise for Miss Heidt.

Miss Mary B. Heidt, of Kenoza, N. Y., was pleasantly surprised last night at the home of her cousin, Mrs. W. H. Addis, of East Second street, when about twenty of her friends called to spend the evening. The time was spent playing games. There were also piano and phonograph selections. Miss Heidt, who has been spending the past season in Plainfield, returns home tomorrow.

High Court Officers to Attend.

Court Plainfield, No. 11[illegible], Independent Order Foresters, will initiate a number of candidates at its meeting on Friday night. The members who won prizes in the recent membership contest will receive them at that time and high court officers will be present.

NEW JERSEY COMMISSIONERS SELECT MISS LITTLE

DOLLAR DINNER TALKERS

Bryan, Colby, Martine, Fagan and Record to Speak at the People's Lobby Banquet.

FORDYCE TO PRESIDE

General Invitation To Public to Attend Affair In Newark On May 1—Women Welcome.

Completed plans for the "May Day" dollar dinner of the People's Lobby are announced by Alden Freeman, chairman of the dinner committee. It will be held on the lower floor of the Krueger Auditorium, at Newark, Wednesday, May 1, and, as announced, William Jennings Bryan, whose subject will be the initiative and referendum, will be the principal speaker. Others who will talk on legislative subjects in which the Lobby is interested, will be Sheriff Frank H. Sommer, of Newark; Senator Everett Colby, James E. Martine, of this city, and Mayor Mark M. Fagan and Corporation Counsel George L. Record, of Jersey City.

Because of the short time in which to complete the arrangements, the only special notices or invitations for the dinner that will be sent out will be to the members of the Lobby. A general invitation is extended to the public, however, and tickets will be sold on the first come, first served plan up to the limit of the seating capacity of the hall. The seating of guests at the tables will be on the same plan. The invitation is extended to both men and women. Edmond A. Whittier, secretary of the Lobby, is assisting Mr. Freeman in the arrangements.

Mr. Bryan is expected to arrive at Newark late in the afternoon. He will be escorted from New York by James E. Martine and a committee of the People's Lobby and Harry Walker, secretary of the Anti-Trust League. In order that he may get away to lecture in New York in the evening, Mr. Bryan will speak at 6 o'clock, before the dinner, which will be served at 7. The other speakers will talk after dinner.

Alexander Fordyce, Jr., president of the People's Lobby, will preside, and among the guests of honor will be Mrs. Henry H. Dawson, president of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs; Mrs. William F. Brown, president of the Woman's Club of Orange; Peter Campbell, president of the Newark Board of Trade, and Wilson Farrand, president of the New England Society of Orange.

M. E. Laymen to Meet Here.

In connection with the annual session of the Newark Conference, which will be held at the First M. E. church next year, there will also be a session of the Laymen's Association, which meets once in four years. The meeting is for one day only and at that time delegates will be selected to attend the General Conference, which will meet in Baltimore during the month of May, 1908. There is usually considerable rivalry over the choice of delegates to the larger gathering. Each church in the Newark Conference is entitled to one delegate to the Laymen's Association meeting.

Will Enlarge Soda Department.

L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist, has signed the contract for the erection of a brick extension in the rear of his pharmacy to be devoted exclusively to his soda water department. Apparatus for the making of fruit syrups, ice cream, etc., will be installed and the building will be fully equipped. Heretofore, this work has been performed in the basement of the building. Mr. Randolph's soda fountain, installed some years ago, cost $5,000.

C. D. Freeman Will Entertain.

Charles D. Freeman, of Colonia, master of the hounds of the Watchung Hunt Club, will entertain the members at dinner at the Baltusrol Golf Club, Saturday afternoon, after which they will enjoy a chase to Colonia. At Scotch Plains there will be a check. The run will cover a distance of about five miles. It is expected that many New York people will join in the hunt as guests of the club.

Methodist Divines Will Exchange.

Rev. A. C. McCrea, of the First M. E. church, and Rev. E. E. Roberson, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will exchange pulpits Sunday morning. In the evening each pastor will occupy his own pulpit. At the First M. E. church at night there will be the monthly musical service by the choir.

—The best olive oil in the city is to be had at Neuman Brothers'. It may be purchased by the gallon, half gallon, quart or pint.

James T. McMurray's Candidate for Hostess of State's Building is Unanimously Elected.

WINS IN HOT CONTEST

Commissioners Balloted in New York—Her Selection Meets With General Approval.

The New Jersey Commissioners of the Jamestown Exposition, of which James T. MacMurray, of this city, is a member, met yesterday in New York, and at that time Miss Edith H. Little, of Sandford avenue, was chosen hostess of the New Jersey State building at the Exposition. The selection was made through the influence of Mr. MacMurray, and was in the nature of a surprise to Miss Little, as well as her many friends.

When seen at her home this morning by a reporter for The Daily Press, Miss Little said that the position was unsought by her. She considered it a great honor and is looking forward to a time of great pleasure during the Exposition. She will report at the New Jersey building at Jamestown on May 1, and as hostess there will have full charge under the supervision of Col. Bryant, of the State Militia, who is secretary to the New Jersey Commission, a position he held at the St. Louis Exposition.

Miss Little is not wholly unfamiliar with the work that will be required of her, as she was a guest at the New Jersey building during the St. Louis Exposition and was able to acquaint herself with many details. The appointment comes with additional pleasure for in October the 300th anniversary of the founding of the Protestant Episcopal church will be observed at Jamestown, and she is a member of that church and greatly interested in all its work. Aside from the social duties in connection with her position, Miss Little anticipates that the social features will be something to look forward to. It will afford her an opportunity to meet not only people from her own State, but from all parts of the world.

The appointment of Miss Little meets with the hearty approval of all who are interested in New Jersey at the Exposition. She is well fitted for the position and there is no doubt but that she will fill it in a manner that will bring credit and honor to the State she represents, and Plainfield will naturally be more interested in the Exposition, especially in the New Jersey exhibit there.

There was a hot contest for the honor, but Miss Little received a majority of the votes and on motion of Mr. Scudder her appointment was made unanimous.

CONGREGATION GREETS REV. E. E. ROBERSON

PASTOR AND WIFE GIVEN RECEPTION BY MONROE AVE. FLOCK.

The congregation of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church tendered the annual reception to Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Roberson, last night, in honor of the former's return to the pastorate for another year. It was an informal affair and was attended by over 150 members and friends.

At the opening of the reception an address of welcome was made by Superintendent Walter M. McGee and Mr. Roberson responded with a few appropriate remarks. An orchestra in charge of Martin A. Korff rendered several selections in a very pleasing manner and Miss Josephine Martin, a member of the church choir, earned hearty applause by the contribution of two vocal solos. The church was very prettily decorated with palms, ferns and flowers.

In conclusion refreshments were served by the Ladies' Aid Society and an hour was spent in social conversation, during which Mr. and Mrs. Roberson received congratulations. The affair was arranged and in charge of the Ladies' Aid Society and the Epworth League.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Commencing about May 1 a chorus choir will lead the congregational singing at Faith chapel.

The choir of the First M. E. church will give a special musical service Sunday night. The soloists will be Miss Laura Geisswein, Miss Zimmerman and Carlos C. Gallup.

Miss Elizabeth VanWinkle will lead the missionary meeting under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church Friday night.

The mid-week prayer meeting will not be held at the First Baptist church tonight, owing to the repairs now being made there, which include the installation of several additional Sunday-school classrooms.

Rev. H. C. Ashby, pastor of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, and Edward B. Maynard left this morning for Orange, where they will attend the annual conference of the African Methodist church. The conference will continue until Sunday, when Mr Maynard wil be ordained a minister.

An orchestral and vocal concert woill be given at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night, under the auspices of the Hunter Avenue Tabernacle. Martin A. Koff will be in charge. Miss Etta Raybert will sing, Miss Anna Cooper, of Westfield, will give readings and Miss Lillian Teeter will be the pianist.

WOMEN PREFER "PULL" TO "PUSH."

An observer who stands near the swinging doors of a big store in the shopping district will observe an interesting little incident that is repeated again and again until the frequency of its occurrence furnishes basis for a general deduction.

Nine women out of ten pull the doors open, where choice is offered, while the same proportion of men push their way through.

Now, why do women do one thing by preference or instinct and men the other?

Is it because women are used to answering the door bell, and, therefore, to opening their own street doors from the inside, while someone usually lets them in when they return to the house?

Is man, on the other hand, more consciously familiar with the latchkey side of his street door than with the other, and, therefore, with pushing the barrier open?

Is the matter one of strength, coupled with avoirdupois, the man finding that he helps himself by throwing his bulk against the door, while the woman's lesser weight is not equally effectual?

Is it a question of clothes, the women seeking to protect their dainty garments by standing back, a precaution which men, more serviceably clad, do not feel it necessary to observe?

FORTY-FIVE YEARS WEDDED.

Veteran Elizabeth Baggage Master and His Wife Celebrate.

Elizabeth, April 24.—George A. Townley, the veteran baggagemaster at the main station of the Jersey Central Railroad, here, who is the oldest, in point of service, in the company's employ, and Mrs. Townley celebrated yesterday their forty-fifth wedding anniversary. He was forty years baggage master here, on December 1 last. He was born here and was married at the old First Methodist Episcopal church, here, by the late Bishop Hurst.

Mr. Townley has two sons and five daughters living, all of whom, but one girl, are married. She is an Elizabeth school teacher. His wife is in excellent health. She was a Miss Asch. The couple have seventeen grandchildren.

Leg Twice Broken in Four Months.

Glen Gardner, April 24.—John Miller, about forty years old, of this place, is confined to his room with a broken leg. This is the second time the same leg has been broken within the last four months. Mr. Miller is employed at the State Tuberculosis Sanitarium on Mt. Kipp, and while returning to his home after dark one night last winter fell and broke his leg below the knee. He came near freezing to death, but managed to crawl back to the sanitarium and a physician was summoned, who set the member. He had about recovered and had returned to work a few days ago, when he made a misstep and broke the same leg a couple of inches lower down.

Harvard Gets Rare Animal.

Cambridge, Mass., April 24.—In the Agassiz Museum of Harvard University there was great rejoicing today over receipt of a cablegram from the Congo Free State announcing that a party of Harvard alumni there had obtained a specimen of the Okapi Johnsoni, a species of giraffe, supposed to be prehistoric and extinct. This will be a very valuable addition to the collection in Harvard. The Zoological Museum in Antwerp has a skeleton of a similar animal, but Harvard is the first to obtain the entire creature. Bones of this species are usually encountered imbedded in clay or lava. The animal was shot in the interior of the Ituri forests.

—The Treble Clef Club will give a concert on May 23, under the direction of J. Edmund Skiff.

Larchmont Pilot Blamed.

New London, Conn., April 24.—W. E. Withey and John Stewart, local United States steamboat inspectors, yesterday made public their finding in the steamboat Larchmont marine disaster on the night of February 11, when more than one hundred lives were lost in the sinking of the vessel after collision with the schooner Harry Knowlton in Block Island Sound. The responsibility for the collision is laid upon John L. Anson, pilot of the Larchmont, who was drowned. Captain George W. McVey is practically exonerated, though not commended for his efforts to save lives. The schooner is declared to have been sailed in full compliance with the navigation rules.

Sees Daughter Run Over.

New York, April 24.—Before the eyes of her mother, who was watching her playing tag from a third story window, ten-year-old Anna Meaney, of No. 274 West 119th street, was run over by a grocery wagon Monday afternoon and had her right leg fractured. The mother, fainting, fell upon the window sill, and would have dropped to the street had she not been caught by her sister. Anna was "it," and was running after another girl to "tag" her when a grocery wagon, driven, the police say, by Thomas Hart, of No. 237 East 113th street, came along at a brisk trot. The girl tripped and fell directly in the path of the wagon. She was taken to the J. Hood Wright Hospital.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Laborers have commenced the work of laying concrete walks on West End avenue in the borough, in connection with the many other improvements now underway there.

—The Plainfield Savings Bank expects to take possession of its new building about May 1. The large force of workmen is rushing things as fast as possible with that purpose in view.

—The rehearsals for the production of "The Peasant Prince," a composition of W. E. MacClymont, are progessing favorably. It will be given at the New Plainfield theatre during May.

—There will be a special rehearsal of "Pinafore," by the Plainfield Operatic Association tomorrow night at the Camera Club rooms. It is expected that all the principals, including Mrs. F. M. Ward, will be present. Mr. Kloeckner, of Elizabeth, will direct, as William Holmes takes one of the leading parts.

THE NEWSPAPER MAN.

He seldom is handsome or natty,
And has none of the charms of the dude;
Is oft more abstracted than chatty,
And sometimes unbearably rude.

He courts us, then slights us and grieves us,
As much as he possibly can;
He kisses us, loves us and leaves us,
This perfidious newspaper man.

Our mothers won't have him come calling,
He's no earthly good as a "catch;"
His morals (they say) are appalling,
His finances usually match.

He's rollicking, reckless, uncaring,
Lives but for the hour, the day;
He's dangerous, dubious, daring,
Not fit for a husband, they say.

But somehow we girls are forgiving,
Perhaps he but needs us the more
Because he goes wrong in the living
And knows the old world to the core.

So we pass up the dude and the schemer,
Who leads in society's van,
And cherish the thinker and dreamer
Enshrined in the newspaper man.

—Marie M. Hemstreet; in the Blue Magazine.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS.

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles — A Plainfield Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Plainfield people testify to permanent cures.

John H. Stewart, carpenter, of 417 New street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Last winter I suffered with severe pains across my kidneys and what is more commonly called backache. When my back hurt the worst cold sweat stood out on me, and if I caught cold it always settled on my kidneys. I got so bad with these ctuobles that I had to quit work, but though I doctored faithfully, no medicine struck the right spot until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Randolph's pharmacy. I took in all three boxes and they stopped my many aches and pains and regulated the action of the kidneys. Since taking them I have worked steadily, without any ill effect on the action of the kidneys."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Firemen's Race War Still On.

Asbury Park, April 24.—The color question in the Asbury Park Fire Department is still raging. It was expected that council Monday night would take action on the petition of 150 members of the department to have the Eureka colored company dropped from the rolls. Council chamber was crowded in anticipation of a hot argument, but the clash was averted by Chairman Minot, of the fire and water committee, who announced that there were questions of law and procedure in the reorganization of the Asbury Park Fire Department, which would require the opinion of the city solicitor. At this request, therefore, the report on the petition was reserved until next Monday night. The colored contingent has prepared a counter petition, signed by 50 residents of the annexed district, asking its retention in the service.

Miss Jennie Phillips, of Brooklyn, who has been visiting relatives in Plainfield for several days, has returned home.

GOLF.

The Plainfield Country Club will issue its season schedule tomorrow. Copies will be sent out by J. Whitney Baker, chairman of the golf committee.

The draw for the women's golf championship tournament, which will begin at Newcastle, Ireland, on May 6, occupied in London on Monday. Out of 210 entries only two are Americans—the Misses Harriet S. and Margaret Curtis, of Massachussetts.

The Manhansett Manor Club, of Shelter Island, is preparing to issue its golf schedule earlier this season than last. By adopting this method, it is expected that larger fields of contestants will be secured.

R. R. King won the selected nine-hole medal play competition finished on the links of the Marine and Field Club Monday. He returned a card of 35.

The present article of weather is not encouraging to members of the local golf clubs who are counting on the openings schedule for Saturday and the following week. The courses are very soft and the weather prohibits the placing of the greens in commission.

The New Brunswick Golf Club is preparing for a very active season. In addition to an attractive schedule of events for the members of the club, a series of team matches is being arranged.

Frank O. Reinhart will be a prominent figure on the golf course this season and he may be expected to make a new record.

An informal foursome match was played at the Plainfield Country Club Monday afternoon, in which Mrs. N. Pendelton Rogers and "Marty" O'Loughlin were the winners.

Miss Gertrude Travers, daughter of Vincent P. Travers, and S. C. Niedlinger, of New York, were married last Tuesday, and are now away on a short wedding tour. The ceremony was a quiet affair and did not get into the newspapers. The bride comes of a well-known golfing family, having been runner up in the Metropolitan championship two years ago. She is a sister of Jerome D. Travers, metropolitan champion, and of Miss Katherine Travers, who has also been prominent in the sport. The family now lives in Montclair, having moved from Oyster Bay, Long Island, a year since. For a year or more Mrs. Niedlinger has not played much, being engaged in preparations for her wedding. It is stated on good authority that she will soon be an active factor again in the game.

Plainfield, N. J., April 24, 1907.

Mayor Fisk is to be commended for his efforts to protect the young in issuing an order to the police to clear the streets of children under fourteen years of age after eight o'clock at night. No earthly good can come to children who parade about the town after nightfall when unaccompanied by parents or guardians. On the other hand many dangers confront them. Their proper place at night is by the fireside. Statistics show that many of those who walk in the paths of sin today were led from the way of righteousness before they arrived at the age of discretion. And, therefore, we say that the mayor has done a good deed in issuing his radical order.

When all the horrors of the attempted atrocity are admitted in evidence, it does seem that there should be no difficulty in obtaining a conviction on the kidnapping charge lodged against Charles Hopes, the nineteen year old negro who has confessed to luring a three-year-old white child into a place where he had planned to commit the worst form of crime known to the human race. It was a wise move on the part of the mayor to suggest that kidnapping be added to the other charges against the rascal for otherwise the punishment would not fit the crime.

HEARING ON WATER BILL.

Stokes Will Give Patersonians Chance to Make Objections.

Trenton, April 24.—Governor Stokes yesterday announced that he would give the Paterson Taxpayers' Association a hearing on the State Potable Water Commission bill at a day named later.

The bill is officially known as Senate No. 116. At the hearing, it is stated, former Governor Griggs will appear to represent the objecting Patersonians.

The main objection of the people of Paterson is their fear of section 8, which, among other things, provides for the payment of the State for water hereafter diverted to excess of the amount now being legally diverted. They claim that this will sustain all the companies and municipalities in the amount they are now diverting from the Passaic.

OBITUARY.

Miss Elizabeth V. McInerney.

Miss Elizabeth V. McInerney, daughter of Margaret and the late John McInerney, died at the home of her mother on South Second street, last night. She had been ill for a long time with a complication of troubles. Miss McInernery was in her thirty-fourth year and had lived in Plainfield all her life. She leaves two brothers, Frank and Thomas McInerney, and three sisters, the Misses Katherine and Susan McInerney, of this city, and Mrs. George VanHouten, of Brooklyn. The funeral will be held in St. Mary's church Friday morning.

James W. Hewitt.

The funeral of James W. Hewett, who died Sunday afternoon after a lingering illness, was held at his late home on Harmony street this afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel and was attended by a large gathering of friends. During the service, Miss Jennie DeMott and Miss Florence Conroy sang two selections, "Shall We Meet Beyond the River," and "Face to Face." Interment was made in the Methodist cemetery, members of an orchestra to which the young man belonged acting as pall bearers. Mr. Hewitt was in his thirty-second year and was the son of the late W. B. Hewitt. His aged mother still resides on Watchung avenue. He is also survived by a wife and two children and four brothers, Charles, John, Gideon and Tunis Hewitt. Mr. Hewitt was a musician of recognized ability and during the Spanish-American war served as a member of the band of the Fourth N. J. Regiment. He also served in the regular army and was stationed for a time in the Philippines.

Martha Washington Council, No. 23, D. of A., will hold its meeting on Saturday evening, April 27, at 8 o'clock, at which time several candidates will be initiated. There will be a delegation present from Golden Rod Council, of New Brunswick.

State Council officers of the Jr. O. U. A. M. are expected to visit Franklin Council, No. 41, tomorrow night, and Plainfield Council, No. 249, on Monday night, when the latter organization will observe its anniversary.

STOKES SIGNS FREE PASS BILL.

Exempts Federal and State Officials from Paying Up.

Trenton, April 24.—Gov. Stokes yesterday signed House bill No. 115, by Mr. Merz. It amends the railroad act relative to the issuing of free transportation, so that United States Senators, members of the House of Representatives, and State officials shall travel free.

Senate No. 298, by Mr. Wakelee, which provides that municipalities which abut on roads must maintain the same unless the Board of Freeholders accepts and adopts a road, when the county must maintain it, was also signed.

Senate No. 222, President Minch's bill, which provides a new charter for the city of Bridgeton, also received the Governor's signature.

These bills were also signed:

Assembly 372, Mr. Holzapfel, requires water, sewer and gas connections to be made before the streets are improved.

Assembly 341, Mr. Crowther, extends provisions of Delaware Bay and Maurice River Cove oyster act of 1905 to the tidal waters of Raritan and Cheesequake Creek.

PROBE SHOWS INFANT IS CHOKED TO DEATH.

Persons Holding Autopsy Say it Is Strangled By Cord Around Neck.

As a result of an autopsy, held in New Brunswick, it has been determined that the infant whose body was found near the Raritan river was murdered.

A careful examination revealed the fact that it had been choked to death by means of a cord tied tightly around its throat.

The body was wrapped in a New York newspaper, dated April 2. Coroner C. H. Moke will make an investigation of the case. As yet there are no clues to the murderer.

BOSSCHIETER SLAYER IS ASKING FOR PARDON.

The Court of Pardons will meet today at the State House, Trenton, and it is thought the application of Andrew J. Campbell, one of the four men convicted six years ago of the murder of Jennie Bosschieter in Patterson and sentenced to 30 years, will come up.

His first appeal was made to Justice Gummere, who told the prisoner that the Court of Pardons was the proper tribunal to appeal to. Thomas A. Campbell, a brother of the prisoner, is circulating a petition among the prisoners, former friends and associates in Paterson, asking their aid.

LEGISLATURE'S WORK PLEASES THE FARMERS

STANDARD SIZE MILK CANS CUTS DEALERS UNUSUAL PROFIT.

Legislative matters in connection with the agricultural interests of the State were discussed yesterday at a meeting of the Federation of Agricultural societies of New Jersey, in the office of Franklin Dye, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture.

Dr. E. D Voorhees, head of the State Board of Agriculture, presided. There were present representatives from the State Board of Agriculture, the Horticultural society, the State grange, the Cranberry Growers' association and the board of visitors of the Agricultural college.

The bill passed by the Legislature for a scientific oyster investigation met with the approval of the body, as did also the measure appropriating $3,000 for the inspection of tubercular cattle. This amount is to go to the commission for tuberculosis animals.

Another measure which met with the hearty approval of the body was that of the prevention of the sale of adulterated paris green. The discussion on this subject tended to show that whole crops of potatoes were jeopardized by the use of this adulterated poison for the extermination of potato bugs. The new bill provides that paris green must come up to a certain standard.

The proposition for the extermination of mosquitoes also met with approval.

Unqualified endorsement was given to the bill appropriating $50,000 for the extension of short courses in the State Agricultural college at New Brunswick. Last term 30 students were graduated. It is hoped to greatly increase this number by the appropriation asked for. All agreed that the short courses were particularly beneficial to agricultural interests and that they should be continued and extended.

The bill for the extension of time to 50 years for the building of trolley roads in all but first class counties was discussed and generally approved. It was the consensus of opinion that the extension of the franchise limit to 50 years would encourage the building of rural trolley lines.

The last measure to be d iscussed and approved was that for the uniform size of milk cans. It was claim- that certain dealers made large profits by buying milk in dry measure quantities and selling by liquid measure.

Franklin Dye, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, will present a report of the meeting and opinions of the members to Governor Stokes to secure his endorsement.

DENNETT ARRESTED FOR RECEIVING STOLEN BONDS.

Police and Trust Company Now Searching for Third Man in the Big Steal.

New York, April 24.—Oliver M. Dennett, broker, of 42 Wall street, residing in South Orange, was arrested yesterday on the charge of having been the receiver of a part of the bonds stolen from the Trust Company of America by the assistant bond clerk of the company, W. O. Douglass, who was lodged in prison Sunday.

After the arrest of Dennett, who had not been out of sight of a Pinkerton detective from the time $20,000 worth of the stolen bonds were found between the mattresses of his bed, in the Manhattan Club, on Monday, a director of the trust company admitted that it is the belief of the heads of the company that the man who stood behind the bond clerk and the broker and who engineered the systematic looting of the trust company's vaults for collateral to back loans on the market, had yet to be brought to earth.

Yesterday's proceedings in the bond robbery all pointed to the confirmation of the official's admission. In the warrant for Dennett's arrest, sworn to by President Oakleigh Thorne, of the Trust Company of America, it is set forth that the accused had been guilty of receiving stolen bonds between April 19, 1906, and April 19, 1907, an indication that the trust company did not admit the full truth on Sunday last, when it was stated that Douglass had made his only theft on the Friday previous. Another significant fact in today's proceedings was that Dennett was kept all day in his office a voluntary prisoner under the eyes of two Pinkerton and two Wall Street Bureau detectives before the warrant for his arrest was forthcoming, and that before swearing to the warrant President Thorne, of the trust company, was in consultation with Douglass, the defaulter, and Douglass' attorney for an hour.

Walter Hockridge, of Watchung avenue, sailed last week for Europe, where he will visit relatives. He goes abroad for the benefit of his health.

FAVOR KENILWORTH BOROUGH.

Cranford Citizens Adopt Resolutions Recommending the Incorporation.

Cranford, April 24.—For the purpose of obtaining the views of the citizens upon the proposition to incorporate a portion of the township into the borough of Kenilworth, a meeting called by the Township Saturday night. The bill, House 433, creating the borough, is in the Governor's hands, and he sent word to the township authorities that before signing it he would like to know somethink about the sentiments of the citizens of Cranford and Union townships upon the question.

About twenty citizens were present. F. W. Park was made chairman and George Everett secretary. Among those present were the officers of the Kenilworth Realty Company, who told of the passage of the bill through the Legislature and the request of Governor Stokes for the opinions of the citizens as to the advisability of creating the proposed borough. As matters were at present, they said, they had no fire or police protection in that section and were unable to lay out roads. The erection of the borough, they declared, would remove all the obstacles which now stand in the way of the development of that section. They further explained that there is a referendum in the bill, which submits the question of the new borough to the voters of the second election district only.

No one else spoke on the matter, but a resolution favoring the new borough was adopted without a dissenting voice.

STRUCK JURY TO TRY RECORD.

Indictment Is for Libel Upon Secretary of State Dickinson.

Struck juries will hear the cases of George L. Record, corporation counsel, and Frank J. Higgins, justice of the First Criminal Court, by agreement between Prosecutor Speer and counsel for the defense, when they are placed on trial at Jersey City for alleged criminal libel of Samuel D. Dickinson, Secretary of State and Republican boss of Hudson county.

The allegation is that Mr. Record, in a speech delivered prior to last fall's election, branded Colonel Dickinson as a political boss and accused him of using money for unlawful purposes.

TRAIN KILLS MAN AT RAHWAY.

Name "James P. Dwyer" Found Stamped On His Undershirt.

A man supposed to be James P. Dwyer was killed early Monday morning by the westbound train on the Pennsylvania Railroad near Linden. The body was brought to the freight depot in Rahway, and later taken to Ryno & High's morgue.

Stamped on an undershirt was the name James P. Dwyer. A transfer ticket, No. 001,345, on the Easton Transit Company, and several slips of paper on which was unintelligible writing were found. The ticket was dated April 18. He was undoubtedly a workingman.

Tomlinson, of Elizabeth.

TWO PETITIONS IN BANKRUPTCY

Jersey City and Asbury Park Men the Applicants.

George W. Enderlein, of 250 Sixth street, Jersey City, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court at Trenton Monday. He places his liabilities at $3,210.65, and his assets at $25.

A voluntary petition was also filed by Charles O. Davis, of Asbury Park. His liabilities are $4,650.17, and his assets $2,400.

Clerk Wrecks a Business.

New York, April 23.—Ruined by the defalcation of a bookkeeper, the Crescent Biscuit and Manufacturing Company went into the hands of a receiver Monday, with liabilities of $52,000, against $6,000 in assets. The company was regarded as a prosperous concern, with rapidly growing business, and the suspension caused general surprise. Investigation of the books, following the disappearance last December of a bookkeeper, disclosed the fact that the affairs of the company were in a badly tangled condition.

Bartula Is Demented.

Hazleton, Pa., April 24.—Jan Bartula, who told the police and secret service officers at Newark, N. J., last week that he was a member of a band of anarchists with headquarters at Hazleton who were plotting to kill President Roosevelt, came here yesterday and went to Audenried, his former home, where he shot at Chas. Krause, a mine foreman in the service of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company. The bullet struck Krause's watch and he escaped injury. Barfula was taken into custody. It is believed he is demented.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

When in need of coal get the best, the kind that TenEyck & Harris sell. The firm gives full weight, well screened and the prices are low.

High grade groceries, choice cuts of meat, fresh fruits and vegetables are always to be found at S. Schener & Co.'s store on West Front street.

This firm does not handle cheap goods, but its prices are so reasonable that every one can afford to have the best. Deliveries are made promptly to all parts of the city and vicinity.

You will make no mistake patronizing Dudley S. Miller's pharmacy on Park avenue. He carries a complete line of drugs, medicines, toilet articles and his prescription work is the best.

When you want to get a first-class time-keeper, a watch guaranteed to run on the dot, go to Charles E. Vail's store on Park avenue, and you will get it at a reasonable price. A full line of jewelry always in stock.

The best way to save your earnings is to place them in the Plainfield Savings Bank, where they will draw liberal interest. About May 1 possession will be taken of the handsome new building on West Front street. In the meantime you can deposit your money just the same.

Sold Skim Milk, Fined $1,800.

New York, April 22.—Anton Koester, a milk dealer with creameries at Davenport Centre, Delaware county, was fined $1,800 by Judge Ford in the Supreme Court Monday. He was convicted of skimming the cream from milk and shipping the skimmed milk into this city, where it was principally sold to grocers. A. L. Kellogg, of Oneonta, N. Y., a Special Attorney General, appointed to prosecute the case, declared that the conviction marked a new era in the prosecution of wholesalers who violate the provisions of the State agricultural law and also settles a point as to whether such offences can be cumulative or not. T. O. Smith, secretary of the Milk Dealers' Association, was in court daily advising with counsel for the defense, Charles L. Andrus, of Stamford, N. Y.

"Lord Barrington" to Die.

Washington, D. C., April 24.—In an opinion by Chief Justice Fuller the Supreme Court of the United States has dismissed the criminal case of Frederick Seymour, alias "Lord Barrington," under sentence of death in St. Louis on the charge of murdering James P. McCann in the outskirts of that city in June, 1903. This in effect affirms the decision of the Supreme Court of Missouri and thus sustains the verdict of guilty returned in the trial court. Seymour's case has been before the public for several years and has attracted much attention largely because of his pretense of bearing an English title under which, before the tragedy, he married a young woman of good family residing in Kansas City.

Smoke Bad Temper Away.

"Bad weather and bad tempers do our business good," said a tobacconist. "What other business can you say that of? You see, the more dismal the weather is the more men seek the solace of tobacco. In consequence the more money falls into the tobacconist's till. Bad tempered men are always the cigar dealer's best customers. The ill natured man not only flies to his pipe or weed oftener than others, but he smokes twice as rapidly as his placid, mild tempered brother." New York Press.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

LIVER TROUBLE.

A dull, sluggish liver always brings a dull, sluggish feeling to the entire body. When the liver works properly the blood courses through the body in a bright red stream. When the liver is inactive the blood becomes dull and muddy, and it is full of poisonous matter.

MICHAEL SILK.

A great many people try to get a fine, clear, pink and white complexion by rubbing things on their faces. They might rub a life time and the same yellow complexion would remain—for the liver causes it. Only bright, red blood brings fine complexions. Blood loaded with impurities from the liver sends the impurities out through the pores of the skin and turns the skin a brownish yellow.

To get rid of the dull, heavy feeling and muddy, yellow complexion get the liver to working again. Two bottles of Cooper's New Discovery will do this nine times out of ten though sometimes it takes four or five bottles.

Here's what a man who used it says: "My health had been poor for several years. My face was yellow and covered with pimples, I was bothered constantly with chronic constipation, had little or no appetite and could not sleep well at night. I became weak and lost all ambition. I tried many different medicines but nothing seemed to help me until I began taking Cooper's New Discovery. It seemed to help me at once. Now, after I have taken several bottles I feel entirely well. My face is clear, I sleep well, have a good appetite and am quite myself again."

"I am deeply grateful for my restored health." Michael Silk, 24 Kentucky Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

THE PLUM TREE

took Frances home, then returned, passing the swaying horror far on the other side of the road. I got the lodge-keeper, and he and I went back together. I had them telephone from the lodge for the coroner and personally saw to it that the corpse should be reported as found in the open woods a long distance from my place. But Granby had left a message "to the public" in his room at the hotel: "Senator Sayler ruined me and drove me to death. I have gone to hang myself in his park. Down with monopoly!" In spite of my efforts, this was published throughout the country—though not in Fredonia. Such of the big opposition papers as were not under our control sent reporters and raked out the whole story; and it was blown up hugely and told everywhere. Our organs retold it, giving the true color and perspective; but my blundering attempt to avoid publicity had put me in too bad a light.

It was the irony of fate—my power thus ludicrously thwarted by a triviality. Within 24 hours I realized the danger to our campaign. I sent Woodruff post-haste to the widow. He gave her convincing assurances that she and her children were to be lifted from the slough of poverty into which Granby's drunkenness had thrust them. And in return she wrote at his dictation and issued an apparently uninspired public statement, exonerating me from all blame for her husband's reverses, and saying that he had been acting strangely for over a year, and had been insane for several months. In brief, I did everything suggested by sincere regret, and such skill at influencing public opinion as I had and commanded. But not until my reports began to show the good effects of the million dollars Woodruff put into the last week of the campaign, did I begin to hope again.

Another hope brightened toward confidence, when, on the Saturday before election, I sprung my carefully matured scheme for stiffening those of our partizans who were wavering. The Scarborough speakers had, with powerful effect, been taunting us with our huge campaign fund, daring us to disclose its sources. On that Sunday morning, when it was too late for the opposition to discount me, I boldly threw open a set of campaign ledgers which showed that our fund was just under a million dollars, with the only large subscription, the hundred thousand dollars which I myseslf had given. Tens of thousands of our partizans, longing for an excuse for staying with us, returned cheering to the ranks—enough of them in the doubtful states, we believed, to restore the floating vote to its usual balance of power.

Each horse of my team had taken a turn at doing dangerous, even menacing, threshing about; but both were now quietly pulling in the harness. Partizanship as docile as Plutocracy. The betting odds were six to five against us, but we of the "inside" began to plunge on Burbank and Howard.

CHAPTER XXV.

An Hour of Emotion.

It was after midnight of election day before we knew the result, so close were the two more important doubtful states.

Scarborough had swept the rural districts and the small towns. But we had beaten him in the cities where the machines and other purchasable organizations were powerful. His state gave him 42,000 plurality, Burbank carried his own state by less than 10,000—and in 24 years our majority there in presidential campaigns had never before been less than 40,000.

By half-past one, the whole capital city knew that Burbank had won. And they flocked and swarmed out the road to his modest "retreat," until perhaps 30,000 people were shouting, blowing horns, singing, sending up rockets and Roman candles, burning red fire, lighting bonfires in and near the grounds. I had come down from Fredonia to be in instant touch with Burbank and the whole national machine, should there arise at the last minute necessity for bold and swift action. When Burbank finally yielded to the mob and showed himself on his porch with us, his immediate associates, about him, I for the first time unreservedly admired him. For the man inside seemed at last to swell until the presidential pose he had so long worn prematurely was filled to a perfect fit. And in what he said as well as in the way he said it there was an unexpected dignity and breadth and force. "I have made him president," I thought, "and it looks as if the presidency has made him a man."

After he finished, Croffut spoke, and Senator Berwick of Illinois. Then rose a few calls for me. They were drowned in a chorus of hoots, toots and hisses. Burbank cast a quick glance of apprehension at me—again that hidden conviction of my vanity, this time shown in dread lest it should goad me into hating him. I smiled reassuringly at him—and I can say in all honesty that the smile came from the bottom of my heart. An hour later, as I bade him good night, I said:

"I Believe the Man and the Opportunity Have Met Mr. President. God Bless You."

"I believe the man and the opportunity have met, Mr. President. God bless you."

Perhaps it was the unusualness of my speaking with feeling that caused the tears to start in his eyes. "Thank you, Harvey," he replied, clasping my hand in both his. "I realize now the grave responsibility. I need the help of every friend—the true help of every true friend. And I know what I owe to you just as clearly as if she were here to remind me."

I was too moved to venture a reply. Woodruff and I drove to the hotel together—the crowd hissed me whenever it recognized me. Woodruff looked first on one side then on the other, muttering at them. "The fools!" he said to me, with his abrupt, cool laugh. "Just like them, isn't it? Cheering the puppet, hissing its proprietor."

I made no answer—what did it matter? Not for Burbank's position and opportunity, as in that hour of emotion they appeared even to us who knew politics from behind the scenes, not for the reality of what the sounding title of president seems to mean, would I have changed with him, would I have paid the degrading price he had paid. I preferred my own position—if I had bowed the knee, at least it was not to men. As for hisses, I saw in them a certain instinctive tribute to my power. The mob cheers its servant, hisses its master.

"Doc," said I, "do you want to go to the senate instead of Croffut?"

By the flames on the torches on either side I saw his amazement. "No?" he exclaimed. "Why, you forget I've got a past."

"I do," said I, "and so does every one else. All we know is that you've got a future."

HOT WEATHER AHEAD.

How to Keep the Kitchen Cool and Comfortable in Mid-Summer.

Many a housekeeper is wondering how she will pass through the coming summer months with the stove she well knows will make the kitchen unbearably hot—to say nothing of the dirt, dust and ashes that will add to the discomfort.

There is a way out of it all—a way that not only lessens the work and keeps the kitchen cool, but that also reduces fuel expense. This convenience, comfort and economy is all effected by the New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove, an oil stove so superior to other makes that it is fast replacing the coal and wood range, the old-fashioned oil-stove and in many cases the gas stove.

On washing and ironing days the comfort and convenience of the New Perfection will be greatly appreciated. It gives best results in the least time, and does away with all coal and wood carrying and the many other disagreeable jobs that have to be done with other stoves. The New Perfection is made in three sizes, with one, two and three burners, and is warranted to give full satisfaction.

Another home comfort is the Rayo Lamp, which produces a light of unusual brightness, yet soft and mellow—a light that will not hurt the eyes. Every lamp is guaranted and makes a valuable and handsome addition to any home.

The New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook Stove and the Rayo Lamp are two real essentials to home comfort. The easy operation, absolute safety and handsome appearance commend them wherever stoves and lamps are used. ***

THE ROYAL BOX.

Queen Elizabeth is said to have possessed no fewer than eighty outfits of false hair.

Hereditary Prince Vinzenz von Windschgraetz of Germany has entered the Dresden bank as a temporary unpaid clerk for the purpose of familiarizing himself with financial affairs.

King Edward has to affix his autograph to at least 50,000 official documents every year, an average of about 160 for each working day, and this is in addition to all his private signatures.

The king of Portugal, who is one of the most expert shots in Europe, exercises his skill in a remarkable way. Rifle in hand, he takes up a position by a lake in the palace grounds, and as the fish rise to the surface he fires at them, rarely missing.

Fishing Line Worth $2,000.

"A fishing line worth $2,000?"

"Yes, sir."

"I don't believe it."

"It's the truth. It's a codfish line. It's one of those lines to which you owe your Sunday morning codfish balls and your less appetizing but equally helpful cod liver oil. These codfish lines, by the use, are frequently eight miles long. They have 4,680 hooks. They'll often land 2,500 cod. No wonder they cost $2,000, eh?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Cheap Advertising.

Sued in Bloomsbury, England, for the balance of an account for an advertisement in a weekly paper, a court dressmaker contended that the terms of her agreement had not been fulfilled, viz., that she was to receive a notice weekly in "Answers to Correspondents," such as "Dear Matilda, the best place for you to get the hat is Madame —'s."

CORBITT POLICE CHIEF.

Newark Captain Successor of Adams, Who Killed Himself.

The first step in the direction of lifting Newark's Police Department out of its chaotic state was taken yesterday when it was announced that the Police Board had decided to make Captain Michael Corbitt, now in command of the 3d Precinct, acting chief to fill the position made vacant by the suicide of Chief Adams a week ago. At the same time it was agreed to promote Desk Sergeant Michael J. Ryan, of the 1st Precinct, and Detective Sergeants Peter J. Christie and Michael T. Long, of Police Headquarters, to be acting captains of the 1st, 2d and 3d precincts, respectively. Detective Sergeant William A. Carroll, of Police Headquarters, will become captain of detectives.

All the changes will be necessary after the next meeting of the police commissioners tomorrow afternoon, when Captain Jacob Scriba, of the 1st Precinct, and Captain William P. Daly, of the 2d Precinct, both under indictment, with several other officials, will be suspended.

The promotions mean that the favored ones will be "acting," but from good authority it was learned that with the exception of Christie and Ryan, whose appointments hang upon the outcome of the charges of nonfeasance made against Scriba and Daly, they will be permanent.

MILLION TO BLACKS.

Quakeress Philanthropist Gives Booker T. Washington Big Sum For Negro Education.

Philadelphia, April 24.—Booker T. Washington, after three days of argument with Miss Anna T. Jeanes, an aged Quaker philanthropist of this city, returned to the South last night with $1,000,000 for the betterment of the negro race, half of the money being in cash and half in solid securities.

With few hampering restrictions, Miss Jeanes, who is 85 years old and lives at 1023 Arch street, has given the million dollars to assist in the education of negro children in the South. It is to be used in carrying the burden of rudimentary education. Special schools are to be established in various sections.

Full authority for the disbursement of the money is vested in Washington and Hollis Burke Frizzell, a colleague of his.

LAY WHERE HE FELL 5 DAYS.

James Callahan Found Suffering from Broken Ribs, Cuts and Exposure.

Morristown, April 24.—That James Callahan, thirty years old, of No. 20 Hazel street, is alive to tell where he has been for the last five days has astounded the physicians at Memorial Hospital and the police. Callahan is in the hospital suffering with three broken ribs, a deep cut in the forehead, a sprained ankle and exposure. He was found yesterday afternoon in the rear of a barn in Howell's lane, where he had been since Thursday night.

When discovered the man was lying on the ground unconscious. Murder was at first suspected, but when Callahan was taken to the hospital and able to tell of his injuries he said he had fallen out of the hay loft of the barn and was unable to move. He suffered intense pain until relieved by unconsciousness. No one had happened in the rear of the barn till yesterday.

Miss Sadie Smith, of Whitehouse, has been spending a few days in town with friends.

REST CURE FOR CLOTHES.

It has been discerned that a woman's clothes also require rest, and the careful, up-to-date woman has taken to resting her clothes. Nothing indicates shabbiness in coats and gowns more than the lines and wrinkles which show that they have been worn and reworn. Walking creases and sitting creases make a garment old before it has done its duty.

Men know this better than women and this is why a man is well dressed with a small wardrobe because every week or so he makes a change of suits, sends the suit he has been wearing to the tailor and never by any chance allows a wrinkle to become fixed in his garments.

Not all of a woman's frocks can go to the tailor, but she can manage to change her clothes often enough to give them all an entire rest, says the Philadelphia Press.

Many sermons have been preached on this point concerning shoes.

Here is a plan that has been tried with success for cleaning and pressing skirts: Brush them first, then whisk off with a clean brush dampened in ammonia and warm water. Any stain can be removed if rubbed out at once with a mixture of equal parts of ammonia, alcohol and water. After the skirt is thoroughly cleaned, brushed and dried, lay it on the pressing table or board, pin each pleat down in its proper fold, cover the skirt with a piece of dark woolen goods which has been previously dampened and then press.

After it is pressed, hang it up carefully and leave the pleats pinned down until used.

To remove dust from silk skirts, do not use a brush, but wipe them with a piece of velveteen, which will not wear the silk and will remove the dust much better than a brush.

Silk or ruffled skirts should be fitted out with tapes sewn on the lower ruffles, by which they can be hung upside down; this prevents the skirt from sagging and the ruffle from drooping.

Gowns of delicate material should be put away in long boxes or bureau drawers, each skirt being folded in the pleats into which it should fall when worn. The bodices should be stuffed with tissue paper, the sleeves and trimmings filled out with tissue paper also.

Wash frocks should always be put away in trunks, boxes or drawers, whether they have been worn or not, for in hanging they grow stringy, are more easily affected by dampness and lose their freshness before they are worn.

Suits and frocks should be carefully gone over and mended and repaired before they are put away for a rest.

A clever girl with more taste than money always puts away her ribbons and laces to rest. This is not so much to freshen them, though they are improved by it, as to have something which is apparently new to her friends when she rewears them after their "rest cure."

TWO MEN ASPHYXIATED.

Stopped at Elizabeth Hotel and Found Unconscious in Morning.

Elizabeth, April 24.—Stephen Kortes and Arthur Benkin, Hungarians, employed on Staten Island, are believed to be beyond recovery in the Alexian Hospital, where they were taken yesterday morning overcome by illuminating gas. They stayed last night at the Hugarian Hotel.

When a servant went to call them yesterday morning she found that gas was escaping from a jet. At the hospital it was said that there was little hope for their recovery.

PERSONAL.

Daniel G. VanWinkle, of New street, is detained at his home by an attack of tonsillitis.

Miss Lydia Johnson, of Jersey City, has returned home after a visit with friends here.

Miss Josephine Serrell, of Plainfield avenue, has about recovered from a recent illness.

E. A. Embury, formerly of this city, who has been visiting here, has returned to his home in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Naylor, of Kensington avenue, will move to New York next week, where they will remain during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stafford, who have been sojourning at Atlantic City, will return here the last of the week and on May 1 Mr. Stafford will go to Cleveland, preparatory to sailing for Europe.

WE EAT TOO MUCH.

Medical science declares that practically seven-eighths of our ills are due to overfeeding. Colds in the head are often due to eating too much.

It may be claimed that our own well-spread boards are meagre compared to those of our ancestors. Probably, but our ancestors were hardy and able to throw off the effects of a hearty meal. We do not take into consideration the great difference between their life and ours. As it is, we eat altogether too much food for our health and comfort, and the fashionable remedy for most ailments is semi-starvation for a period of varying length.

The great Edison says that he has not only become convinced that mortals sleep too much, but that they eat many times more than they should. He is proving his beliefs by personal experiments, and says that is power to work and endure fatigue has increased to an amazing degree.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

JURY AWARDS $775 FOR LIBEL.

Soapmaker's Charge Is That Partner Called Him a Thief.

Trenton, April 24.—A jury in the United States Circuit Court here yesterday found Oliver Smith, of Camden, guilty of libeling and slandering William A. Reed, of Philadelphia, and decreed that Reed should receive $775 damages. The case was tried before Judge Cross and has been on for several days.

Smith was the president of the Benzonated Soap Company and Reed was its secretary and managing salesman. Reed was in charge of a corps of men when the soap company had no product to market. They worked for the Colgate Soap Company on condition that the commissions were all to be turned over to the Benzonated company. Smith claimed that Reed had falsified expenses and said that Reed was a "thief and a rascal."

DICKINSON CASE TART.

Testimony Taken Yesterday In Colonel's Suit for $100,000 Damages.

Special Master Frederick W. Knichtel yesterday took further testimony in the suit for $100,000 damages for libel, brought by Colonel Samuel D. Dickinson, Secretary of State, against Mark M. Fagan, Mayor of Jersey City. Colonel Dickinson was present at the entire session at Trenton yestesrday, and listened attentively to all that transpired, at times conferring with his counsel in whispers.

The testimony of Jole Corey, taken before the Master on behalf of the plaintiff at the previous secret hearing, was made public yesterday. The testimony was tart.

WILLIAM J. LEE DECLARED INSANE IN NEW YORK.

New York, April 24.—William J. Lee, who is under indictment here for sending a letter to Governor Stokes, of New Jersey, threatening to kill him, is a lunatic, in the opinion of Dr. Gregory, in charge of Bellevue Hospital. Lee has been in Bellevue since Saturday.

When Dr. Gregory's report was made to Judge O'Sullivan, in general sessions, he jumped Lee's bail to $10,000.

Lee will be taken back to the Tombs, but the district attorneys' office will apply for a commission to decide whether or not he is insane.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, will have charge of the mid-week prayer-meeting at Faith chapel tonight.

MASONS TO GREET ELKS.

Ancient Order Invites Benevolent Organization to Its Great Temple.

Philadelphia, April 24.—The following invitation has been extended to the Elks who will attend the annual convention and reunion of the order in this city, July 15th to 20th, by the Right Worshipful Grand Master of Free and Accepted Masons of Pennsylvania:

Philadelphia, April 11, 1907.

Mr. Henry J. Walter,
Exalted Ruler, Philadelphia Lodge, No. 2, B. P. O. Elks.

My Dear Sir:

The object of the present is to extend to you, and your Grand Officers, and brethren who may be present in this city next summer, an invitation to visit the Masonic Temple, at the corner of Broad and Filbert streets.

As you are aware it is quite convenient to your own beautiful home meeting-place and I feel that among all the other attractions which will be offered to your members and visitors, that the Masonic Temple will be appreciated not alone by those who may be members of our craft, but by those who appreciate a work of art and beauty.

Ample accommodations will be made to show our visitors through the building, and I am sure none need go away disappointed.

Assuring you of our desire to assist in making your members and visitors welcome to our city, I remain, Fraternally yours.

GEORGE W. KENDRICK, Jr.,
Grand Master.

PRESIDENT MINCH SIGNS ART SCHOOL MEASURE.

President Minch, of the Senate, yesterday signed the last batch of bills as Senate president, and turned them over to the governor. Included in the list were the Trenton Art school bill, senate 263, by Mr. Hutchinson, and the Robbins bill permitting special elections to determine whether or not voting machines shall be continued in any municipality.

William M. Atkinson, who fought for the railroad commission bill all through the session, was at the State House yesterday. Mr. Atkinson said the people of North Jersey were pleased with the bill as passed, believing it provided a good initial measure for the control of the railroads. He said, if necessary, the law could be amended next year, but under the present measures the railroads could be investigated and legislation to cure existing evils could be recommended.

Immigration Is Beneficial?

An interesting debate was held last night under the auspices of the Young Men's Hebrew Association in its rooms at 204 West Front street, the question being, "Resolved, That Immigration is Beneficial to the United States." The affirmative side, represented by Hyman Richards, Samuel and Harry Rosenbaum, won. Isadore Rottberg and David Wolfe argued the negative side of the question. Max Goldstein was the judge and the critics were Herman Kahn and Jacob Moldesky.

"CENTRAL PARK"

Was — Is — Will Be

IT WAS, only about a year ago, just a pretty farm.

IT IS to day the finest building site in Plainfield, with broad avenues macadamized their entire width, concrete curb, sidewalks, trees, gas, electric light, in fact all improvements. Nearly $100,000 expended in new and handsome dwellings, now ready for the market.

WHAT IT WILL BE we hardly dare predict, with contracts out for even more extensive improvements and twelve more handsome residences.

Central Park is that beautifully situated tract bounded by Park, Prospect, Hillside and Thornton Avenues.

Lots selling rapidly—Prices very low—Great investment or speculative opportunities.

THIRTEEN BRIDGES TO COST A HALF-MILLION

Jersey Central Railroad Company Spending Big Sum on Structural Work in Plainfield.

NEW SWITCH TOWER

All Improvements Being Made Under the Direction of Chief Engineer Joseph O. Osgood —Work Progressing.

While it is generally known that the New Jersey Central is making extensive repairs to its bridges in this city, the work having been in progress for several months, little is known of the details, particularly as to the lavish expenditure of money to say nothing of the great amount of labor and material necessary to complete the improvements. The bridge work which has and will be under contract between Westfield and Bound Brook, will represent an outlay in round figures of a half million dollars, which is considered a pretty large sum for just one small section of a large system.

In this city there are thirteen bridges to be replaced by the most experienced and improved sort of structures, including the structures at Leland avenue and Berckman street, which are now nearing completion. The bridges to be rebuilt include those at Leland avenue, Berckman, Richmond, Washington streets, Watchung, Park, Madison and Central avenues, New and Liberty streets, Plainfield, Grant and Clinton avenues.

By May 1 all tracks will be restored at Leland avenue and by the last of the month the work at Berckman and Richmond streets will be finished. It will take a little time to clean up and repair the sidewalks, etc. The re-building of the bridge at Clinton avenue is now to be taken up. One abutment will be replaced and the other one strengthened. Then the bridges at Watchung and Park avenues will be taken up in order. The difficulty in doing this work can be realized when it is known that it is necessary to cut two tracks out of an exceedingly busy service. At Leland avenue there was sufficient room and an extra track was built which materially helped to prevent delays in the running of trains. But in the case of the other bridges it will be necessary to put in switches, properly signal them and, operate them so that an engineer will not mistake the signals. Bulletins are issued to engineers and men are stationed at these switches as extra precautions.

The method of reconstruction is an interesting one. All of this work has been planned and is under the personal direction of Joseph O. Osgood, of North Plainfield, the chief engineer of the New Jersey Central. Other experts say that his wide experience and extensive knowledge will insure the building of structures modern in every respect.

The flooring of each bridge will be of steel, perfectly tight, upon which will be placed four or five layers of felt. This will be followed with a coating of coal tar in which bricks will be imbedded. Another coating of coal tar will be put on top of the brick surface and then the heavy rock ballast will be filled in to correspond with the roadbed. Thus it will be seen that there will be absolutely no wood in the construction and the bridges will be as near water-proof and sound-proof as possible to make them. Drains will be located so as to carry off any water that may gather in the vicinity of the bridges. At the Leland avenue bridge a clear span is left beneath the structure, but at the other bridges this is not possible. However, much improvement will be made in the supports.

The present bridges were built about twenty-three years ago and Mr. Osgood says that they have stood the wear and tear remarkably well. The only reason for making the changes is that the loading and traffic has about doubled since the old bridges were installed. In the new work, as the old the engineering department allows a large margin for increased traffic. The new bridges, including material, labor, etc., will approximately cost $30,000 each.

The improvements will necessitate the raising of the tracks in front of the North Avenue station about eight inches, so that it will correspond with the heavier bridges to be built at Park and Watchung avenues. This

PLAN TO BOOM COLBY FOR THE GOVERNORSHIP

SENATOR WILL BE NAMED AT FAGAN DOLLAR DINNER TONIGHT.

Fully 1,000 of the followers of Mayor Fagan and other distinguished "New Idea" men are expected tonight at the dollar dinner to be given at Grand View Hall, Jersey City, by the Central Republican (Fagan) Committee of Hudson County.

The principal speakers will be Senator Everett Colby and Sheriff Sommer of Essex county. It is expected that Senator Colby will have something of interest to say to the Fagan men. Among the other speakers will be William P. Martin, James G. Blaisdell and Henry Marelli, of Passaic county, Thomas McEwan, Corporation Counsel George L. Record and Mayor Fagan. President of the Board of Aldermen James W. McCarthy will be toastmaster.

There will be several booms sprung on the diners. One of them will be for Senator Colby for the Gubernatorial nomination next fall.

EQUAL SUFFRAGISTS IN ANNUAL SESSION

MISS MABEL PHILLIPPS READ PAPER ON HEALTH DEFENCE LEAGUE WORK.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, president of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, entertained the members of the organization at her home on Madison avenue, Monday afternoon, at the annual meeting of the league. The reports showed a satisfactory balance in the treasury and that the year has been one of interest and increased attendance. Letters have been received from Senator Ernest R. Ackerman and Senator Everett Colby regarding the pure food bill and State child labor law as well as the question of a State reformatory for women.

Miss Mabel Phillips, of this city, gave an interesting talk on the subject of the Public Health Defense League, the main purpose of which is to create public interest and to assist the authorities in enforcing all laws on public health. A motion was carried expressing sympathy with and approving of the work of the league. Several women present joined the movement. The editors of the local papers were thanked for courtesies shown through the past year.

By special invitation the league will meet next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. William L. Riley, of Myrtle avenue, to discuss current events.

CHARGED BY HIS WIFE.

Charles Hope Arrested for Alleged Misbehavior Before His Children.

Charles Hope, forty-two years old, of Hunter avenue, was arrested this morning by Detective-Sergeant John Flynn, on a charge preferred by his wife. He will be arraigned before Judge Runyon tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Hope complained to the police yesterday that her husband had misbehaved grossly in the presence of their four young children, and this morning she telephoned to headquarters that she wanted him arrested. Flynn arrested him as he sat alone in the kitchen of his home. Hopes, it is alleged, acknowledged to Chief Kiely that he had offended twice as charged, while under the influence of beer. He seemed to be in bad shape when brought into the station house. When Flynn arrested him he was reading the Bible.

Heffernan Will Probated.

Judge Edward S. Atwater, in the Union County Court, yesterday, admitted the will of the late Michael Heffernan to probate. Joseph Harrigan, of this city, administrator of the estate, was represented by Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., and Edward Nugent, Esq., appeared for the contestant of the will, Thomas Heffernan. The estate is a small one and after paying the funeral and other expenses and erecting a suitable monument in the plot where he and his wife are buried, there will be practically nothing left. Thomas Heffernan, the brother, made a contest, because he was cut off with a dollar, believing that a large sum was to go to the Pope.

Miss McInerney's Funeral.

The funeral of Miss Elizabeth V. McInerney, who died at her home on South Second street, Tuesday night, will be held at St. Mary's church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement of Dwight Van Doren, of Roselle Park, to Miss Jennie Addis, daughter of Health Inspector and Mrs. William Addis, of Orange street, has been announced.

CHILD LABOR CAMPAIGN

Hugh F. Fox Presiding Maps Out Children's Protective Alliance Work.

OFFICERS ARE NAMED

Plainfield Is Represented at the Annual Meeting By Dr. Groszman, H. F. Fox and J. A. Lane.

At the annual meeting of the Children's Protective Alliance of New Jersey held at the residence of Mrs. Emily E. Williamson in Elizabeth, Hugh F. Fox, of this city, presided. There were present besides Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Cushing, of the Consumer's League, the Rev. Francis A. Foy, the Rev. Father Moran, Dr. Laban Dennis, of Newark, Charles McCall, of Newark, Mrs. Brice Collard, of Jersey City, Dr. Maximilian Groszmann, of this city, James B. Williams, of Orange, J. A. Lane, of this city, and the Rev. J. R. Atkinson, of Elizabeth.

Mr. Fox suggested that the work that seemed cut out especially for the alliance this year was the complete organization of all the resources and forces in the State for all the children of the State. The alliance could keep twenty-five speakers busy.

Mrs. Williamson, before presenting the names of those selected by the nominating committee for the various offices, urged upon those present the necessity of working up a vigorous campaign during the coming year against the evils of child labor.

"During the coming summer and fall," said she, "there has got to be an expression of public sentiment on this subject that will impress upon the minds of our Legislators the fact that the best public sentiment is back of the bills the organizations of this State are pushing in behalf of the children, and if this work is properly done the measures we have been endeavoring to secure for the last four or five years will be carried through the next Legislature."

The following officers were then elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Brice Collard; treasurer, J. A. Lane; recording secretary, James B. Williams; corresponding secretary, Charles McCall.

Answering a question by Dr. Dennis, Mr. Fox said that the People's Lobby had given a rather vague promise to help the work in behalf of children, but when it came to business they seemed to be wholly taken up with railroad, civil service and referendum propositions.

The report of the New Jersey child labor committee reviewing the work done in the Legislature during the past session was then presented by Mr. Fox. The report said that the efforts of the committee had been chiefly directed toward securing the passage of Assembly bill No. 90, introduced by Assemblyman Alexander early in the session. The object of the bill was to prevent the employment of children between the hours of 6 o'clock in the evening and 6 o'clock in the morning. The child labor committee was represented by its chairman, Mrs. C. B. Alexander, Miss Cornelia Bradford, Miss E. B. Butler, Mrs. Emily E. Williamson the Rev. Dr. Dixon, Professor Walter Wyckoff, of Princeton, and a number of representatives of the New Jersey Federation of Labor, including Messrs. Ford, Gottlob and Falcey. The opposition was made up of the glassblowers of Bridgeton and Millville. The bill went through the Assembly with the entire Democratic vote and thirteen Republican votes.

The President of the Senate opposed the bill and sent it to the committee on revision of laws instead of the committee on labor and industry, where it belonged. Three hearings followed, and in spite of the efforts of a strong representation of citizens the report says that the bill was smothered in committee.

Mrs. Cushing presented a report from the Consumers' League, detailing the work of the league in securing the passage of a bill for the protection of children in mercantile establishments, giving them shorter hours and providing seats for them, both of which are now awaiting the Governor's signature.

Somerset's Physicians Elect.

The annual meeting of the Somerset County Medical Society at Somerville Tuesday was attended by twenty members from different parts of the county. The following officers were elected: President, J. H. Buchanan, of North Plainfield; vice president, H. V. Davis, North Branch; secretary, William H. Long, Jr., Somerville; treasurer, Thomas H. Flynn, Somerville; reporter, A. S. Stillwell, Somerville; censor, R. J. Zeglio, of North Plainfield; delegate to state society, J. F. McWilliam.

Inspecting Roads.

State Supervisor of Roads Robert A. Meeker, of this city, was in Camden county yesterday inspecting State roads.

ALBERT CONWAY IS HELD

Young Man Charged With Theft of Bicycle Wheels Must Answer.

HIS TESTIMONY UPSET

Complainant Proves He Could Not Have Purchased Tires On the Date He Claimed to Have Done So.

After several adjournments, the preliminary hearing of Albert Conway, 28 years old, a machinist, charged with stealing two bicycle wheels by Rafael Kase, a fellow employe at the Rushmore Dynamo Works, was concluded before Judge Runyon, sitting as a State magistrate, in the city court this morning. The defendant was held in $100 bail for the grand jury.

Conway was arrested on April 9. Kase alleged that he took the wheels from his bicycle at the Rushmore works, and put them on his own bicycle. Kase said he recognized the markings on the rims.

Conway told an apparently frank and straightforward story, alleging that the wheels were his, and that he bought the tires on them in a New York store in February, 1906. To enable both sides to bring forward some substantial evidence to sustain the contentions, the hearing was adjourned four times.

A week ago W. M. Quackenbush, a Westfield bicycle dealer of whom Kase bought the bicycle, brought into court a letter from the Fisk Rubber Company, of Chicopee Falls, Mass., makers of the tires, in which it was stated that the tires in question were not made at the time Conway declared he had bought them. Counsellor S. S. Swackhamer, for defense, objected that the testimony was not competent. Mr. Quackenbush said he could arrange for the appearance of a representative of the Fisk Rubber Company in court, and the case was laid over until today.

L. N. Mansuy, representing the tire company, appeared in court this morning, and his testimony alone established a prima facie case against the defendant. He testified that the company put marks on every tire made in its factory to show the month and the year of manufacture. He drew the cipher marks for the court, and then showed Judge Runyon ciphers on the front tire that fixed the date of its manufacture as April, 1906, two months later than Conway had sworn he purchased them. Mr. Swackhamer did not cross examine and no other witness was sworn.

Mr. Swackhamer asked the court to suspend action and save his client from the stigma attached to being held for the grand jury, stating that Conway had told him he could not be sure of the date on which he purchased the tires, and arguing that the evidence was too frail on which to base action that would affect the defendant's reputation. Counsellor Francis J. Blatz, for the prosecution, opposed the motion. Judge Runyon said he felt he could do nothing else, in view of the testimony, but hold the defendant for the grand jury.

LUNCHEON FOR MRS. MOORE.

Mrs. Percy H. Stewart Hostess at Charming Social Function.

Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, of West Eighth street, gave a charming luncheon yesterday in honor of Mrs. Eugene Moore, of California. It was a pink luncheon and the table was lavishly decorated with pink roses and carnations and the favor cards were exceptionally attractive.

Those present were Mrs. Eugene Moore, Mrs. Alfred Streuli, Mrs. Ernest R. Ackerman, Mrs. Julius E. Erickson, Mrs. Harry Johnson, Mrs. Howard Beebe, Mrs. R. S. Rowland, Mrs. J. P. Truitt, Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, Miss Moore, Miss Stewart.

RAILROAD AGENT PROMOTED.

Pastorious, of Somerville, Goes to Higher Position in Easton.

Harry C. Pastorious, who has been agent for the New Jersey Central Railroad at Somerville for five years, was agreeably surprised yesterday when he received official notice from the company that he had been promoted to the position of general agent for the road at Easton, Pa.

T. P. Cady, of Cranford, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Pastorious at Somerville. The transfer will be made this week.

Rubbish Heap Fired Fence.

A pile of rubbish in the rear of Charles H. Hand's building at Second street and Watchung avenue, caught fire in some way this morning at 10:45 and the flames spread to a board fence. A still alarm was sent to fire headquarters and a hose wagon was quickly on the scene. The blaze was extinguished before any serious damage had resulted.

EPISCOPAL WOMEN MEET

200 DELEGATES PRESENT

72 Parishes Represented, Including Grace Church, Of This City—Reports Encouraging.

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions of the Episcopal diocese of New Jersey was held yesterday in St. Michael's P. E. church, Trenton. Addresses of welcome were made by the rector, the Rev. Dr. W. Strother Jones, and by Bishop John Scarborough.

The following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. S. A. Clark, of Elizabeth; secretary, Mrs. Charles J. Taggart, of Plainfield; treasurer, Miss Isabelle Tweedy, of Plainfield; treasurer of United Offering, Mrs. John N. Carpenter, of New Brunswick; vice presidents, Mrs. Thomas R. White, Miss Harriet Townsend, Miss Lucile E. Caplin, all of Elizabeth; Mrs. S. K. Monroe, of Plainfield; Miss E. T. Runk, of Lambertville; Mrs. William B. Abbey, of Mount Holly; Mrs. Charles N. Perkins, of Vineland; Mrs. W. Strother Jones, of Trenton; Miss Elsie Edwards, of Atlantic City; Miss H. B. Driggs and Miss Mary T. Kingdom, of Burlington.

It was reported that the mission cause was flourishing in all parts of the diocese.

The 200 delegates in attendance, representing 72 New Jersey parishes, listened with pleasure to the reports of each branch, as they told of the increased financial stability of the organization.

The united offering thus far amounts to $2,200, which will be taken, together with whatever other sums are raised, to the general convention to be held in the fall. It is hoped to make the sum $4,000 before that date.

One hundred and seventy dollars was also reported from the babies' fund. This unique institution, which is in charge of Vice-President Mrs. W. Strother Jones, presents each baby in the congregation with a box, in which they store their pennies, the whole amount afterwards being turned into the general fund. The children belong to this department until they become 5 years old, when they enter the Sunday-schools.

Mrs. William B. Abbey, of Mt. Holly, in charge of the Mexican mission, showed that affairs in her department were progressing finely. She read a letter written in English by a Mexican girl, a student for two years in the school in Mexico City, and the members were surprised at the correctness with which it was written. Mrs. Hooker's school in the vicinity of the City of Mexico was also shown to be in good condition.

Because of the good work shown in the management of the Mexican missions, there were added to Mrs. Abbey's department the mission in Puerto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines.

Reports weer also read from the missions of China and Japan and from the negro, Indian and Mission departments.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Board of Missions was founded in 1876 and during the thirty-one years of its existence has had but one president, Mrs. S. A. Clark, of Elizabeth.

A Rare Chance to See Europe.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss has had submitted to him a very attractive programme for a European tour this summer at a remarkably low cost. It is somewhat on the co-operative plan, the older members of the party being chiefly professional men and women, not seeking gain but enjoyment and instruction. Dr. Chambliss has consented to take charge of a small group, of not more than ten, who will do all sight-seeing with him apart from the others who may take the same tour. Care of baggage, hotel and transportation accommodations will be arranged throughout by the general manager of the tour. If a few young people or others in Plainfield would like to go in his charge, a line addressed to Dr. Chambliss will bring full particulars.

Miss Crosson in Grand Opera.

Miss Lou Crosson, formerly of Plainfield, but now of New York, just completed a successful season in grand opera at Hammerstein's Opera House, where she has had one of the minor parts. Prior to singing in grand opera, she was a soloist at one of the metropolitan churches, where her voice attracted considerable attention.

—Neuman Brothers place their personal guarantee on the olive oil sold by them. It is imported direct from France and is of a superior quality.

ELKS WILL INVADE SOMERVILLE TONIGHT

PLAINFIELDERS TO ASSIST IN INSTITUTION OF NEW LODGE.

Elks from all parts of the State will flock to Somerville this afternoon and evening to participate in the institution of Somerville Lodge, No. 1068, B. P. O. E., the first of the order in Somerset county. Plainfield will send a big delegation, leaving here on the 5:28 train, as some of the members will take an active part in the exercises scheduled to begin at 6 o'clock. The Somervillians have made arrangements to entertain 400 guests, most of them from New Brunswick, Dover, Easton and this city. The New Brunswick lodge will have charge of the institution and District Deputy Exalted Ruler Thos. Fay, of Long Branch, will be the installing officer.

The exercises are to take place in Somerset hall and the committee on arrangements consists of William E. Maxwell, William S. Stryker, Chester A. Cawley, Charles Wink and H. W. Reusswig. Twenty-nine charter members will receive the initiatory degree. At the present time there are several Somerville residents who are members of the Plainfield lodge.

ILLNESS HIS PLEA FOR HIS FREEDOM

JUDGE ATWATER, HOWEVER, COULD NOT OVERLOOK SHERIDAN'S CRIME.

In Court of Quarter Sessions yesterday, Judge Atwater sentenced to one year in State prison Thomas Sheridan, who in October last committed an assault on two little girls who were at play on a dock in the lower section of the city.

Sheridan was committed to jail on October 9, at which time he was a strong, robust-looking man. Since then he has become a wreck, having been a patient at the General Hospital, Elizabeth, suffering with Bright's disease, and at the present time greatly swollen with dropsy and scarcely able to walk.

Lawyer W. R. Wilson pleaded with the court not to send Sheridan to jail, representing him as a dying man, and offering to have him examined by Dr. Green at his own expense. This the court declined to have done, and also refused to entertain a motion that he be permitted to withdraw his former plea of non vult so that he might be given a trial, the motion having been opposed by the assistant prosecutor.

In passing sentence the court said that while it felt sorry for Sheridan's condition, yet the offense was one that was deserving of a State Prison sentence. The court contended that the State was able to take care of him in illness.

Henry Kelly, charged with the larceny of shoes and jewelry belonging to Wiliam Stroy, of Elizabeth, pleaded guilty.

Henry F. Connors, who robbed the office of the Fulton Rubber Company on Fulton street and was afterward arrested in Pennsylvania and brought back here on requisition, pleaded non vult.

On motion of Assistant Prosecutor John K. English, the indictment for assault and battery found against Leslie M. Cobb in January last, was nolle prossed. Mr. English stating that the difference had been settled and that Cobb was now employed by his accuser.

GARRETSON—KUHN NUPTIALS.

After Brief Trip Mr. and Mrs. Garretson Will Reside in Somerville.

A social event last night at Somerville was the wedding of Miss Edith Clara Kuhn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kuhn, and Charles Henry Garretson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Garretson.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, the Waldorf, by the Rev. Dr. William S. Cranmer, pastor of the First Reformed church. Guests were present from Newark, Plainfield and Elizabeth, besides the immediate relatives. After a brief honeymoon trip the couple will reside in this city.

Odd Fellows to Visit Rahway.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, and Queen City, No. 226, I. O. O. F., will visit Essex County Lodge, of Rahway, tomorrow night and present that lodge with the three links. The local Odd Fellows will leave here on the 7:30 o'clock trolley from the North avenue stand.

Hospital Governors' Election.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital will hold its regular meeting on Monday night, May 13, when several governors will be elected to take the places of those whose terms expire.

LINZER AND ROSS PLACED ON PAROLE

Pardon Board Releases From Prison Two Men Serving Time For Assault on Little Girls.

GALBRAITH REFUSED

His Application Laid Over—Conviction Obtained Through Evidence Gathered By Father Bogan.

After serving one year and nearly two months of a two year sentence, William Ross and Peter Linzer, of Plainfield, were paroled at the State prison, Trenton, yesterday by the Court of Pardons. Repeated attempts have been made to secure the pardon not only of Linzer and Ross, but the application of John Galbraith, who received a three year sentence at the same time the other two Plainfielders were sentenced, was denied, his application being laid over for the present.

The arrest and conviction of the three Plainfielders on a charge of assault on young girls created a sensation at the time and heavy sentences were predicted. Their conviction was secured largely through the confessions of the girls, which was obtained by Father Bogan, of St. Mary's church, to which parish the girls belonged, and Chief Kiely, who was at work on the case with the pastor.

Ross, Linzer and Galbraith were sentenced in February, 1906, and immediately began serving time. Since then several petitions have been circulated in behalf of the prisoners, and special effort was made to secure the release of Ross. It is said that during their confinement at Trenton all three prisoners have conducted themselves in an exemplary manner.

It is probable that further efforts will be made in behalf of Galbraith, as he is an old man.

PLAINFIELDERS FORM A $100,000 CONCERN.

Articles of Incorporation Filed by Brock Construction Co. With County Clerk This Morning.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the county clerk at Elizabeth today by the Brock Construction Company, of this city. The incorporators named are William E. Brock, Josephine Brock and Frederick W. Hand, all of Plainfield. The objects of the company are set forth in the following statement: "To purchase, lease or otherwise acquire land and buildings in Plainfield or elsewhere for the erection and establishment of the manufactury or manufacturing and workshops with suitable plans, engines, machinery, etc., with a view to manufacturing, purchasing and otherwise dealing in woodworking; and the cutting and dressing of lumber for the manufacture of house and structures; and also to manufacture a special kind of lath, plaster board and veneer."

The capital stock is placed at $100,000, divided into shares of $100 each.

No Pardon For MacQueen.

The Court of Pardons met at the State House at Trenton yesterday and considered a big list of cases, the most important being that of William MacQueen, of Paterson, who is serving five years for inciting riots and malicious mischief, and George J. Kerr, of Paterson, who is serving a 15 years' term. In all, the court considered nearly 100 cases. The MacQueen case was laid over.

Combination Competition.

A gymnastic and handicap athletic meet will be held at the Y. M. C. A. tonight. The athletic events will be standing broad jump, three standing broad jumps, standing hop-step-and-jump, and standing high jump. There are gold, silver and bronze medals up in the gymnastic competition, and bronze medal and badges in the athletic events.

Told of Work for Children.

Mrs. M. E. Kimball, president of the Children's Home, gave a brief talk before the members of the Women's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, yesterday afternoon. She informally told of the work at the Home.

Mrs. William Barlow, of Prospect avenue, is a guest at the Marlborough-Blenheim, Atlantic City, for two weeks.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

NORTH BRANCH.

The following have been elected members of the consistory of the Reformed church at Bedminster: Elders, John W. Tuttle and Peter D. Lane; deacons, A. Layton Nevins and Mark Osborn.

Mrs. William E. DuMont and son, Edgar, have returned to their home at North Branch Depot after a visit to relatives in Brooklyn and Highwood.

The Christian Endeavor meeting at Pluckemin last night was led by Stewart Brown. The topic was "Wise Ways to Read Wise Books."

Misses Libbie and Susie Teeple, for many years residents of Pluckemin, have gone to Morristown to make their home.

John Stryker, of New York, has been a guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stryker, near North Branch Depot.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Vail have been entertaining John G. Dumont and family, of Dunellen, for a few days.

Mrs. Lizzie Amerman, of Pluckemin, is a guest for a few days of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Huff, in Newark.

WESTFIELD.

Westfield business men have entered into an agreement not to advertise in programmes or other transient publications, but to advertise only in newspapers.

Mrs. J. S. Ferris will entertain the Literary Society of the Westfield Methodist church at her home, Embree Crescent, this evening.

The committee in charge of the Westfield Firemen's Fair met last night at fire headquarters to settle up matters.

An investigation is being made into the burning of the Red Star Hotel, near the Westfield golf links.

Charles C. Dits, of Westfield, is seriously ill at his home from typhoid fever.

BASKING RIDGE:

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. John C. Rankin at her home on Main street. The meeting was led by the president, Mrs. John T. Reeve.

Mrs. James Freeman and daughter entertained a few friends at tea Tuesday evening at their home on the Morristown road.

Frank Dunster has removed from Somerville to Basking Ridge and will reside on the John J. Allen property on Main street.

Miss A. M. Alward and Lois Childs are spending several weeks in Atlantic City.

ELIZABETH.

Valentine Ruby was arrested Tuesday night, on complaint of Mrs. Anna Powers, with whom he boarded. The woman said he had threatened to kill her with a knife and smashed a lot of dishes, besides breaking the doors in her residence. The prisoner fought when taken into custody and it took three policemen to land him in a cell. Yesterday morning, in police court, he was fined $7.85.

Stephen Latawitz, of 136 Inslee place, Elizabethport, was arrested Tuesday night, on complaint of Margarita Patruch, who charged him with slapping her face. In police court here yesterday the prisoner was fined $7.85.

James Lindner, who says he belongs in Newark, was arrested here late Tuesday afternoon, on Broad street, by Detective-Sergeant Murphy, on suspicion. He is being held for a further examination.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Mrs. Zilla P. Osmun entertained the newly organized Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church yesterday. When the new pastor comes he will find a vigorous and well-conducted aid organization to help him upbuild the charge.

The official board of the Methodist church is working to reduce the church expense account to such a basis that all collections other than the regular basket collections be done away with.

No choice of minister has yet even been hinted by the deacons of the Baptist church. They are moving slowly and making sure to get the right pastor.

Mrs. Lloyd B. Nelson has been suffering at her home in Roselle from painful bruises and shock, the result of a fall downstairs.

Mrs. Henry S. Garretson has returned from a week's stay in Piscataway, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Benward.

T. J. Ronayne is still crippled by the injury to his foot received while answering the fire alarm for the Coriell chicken coop.

Miss Frances Caldwell, of Bridgeport, Conn., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. E. V. Camp, of Piscataway.

A. H. Hardy and family are to occupy the house on Prospect avenue, where Mr. Campbell lives.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"I always was a lucky dog," says Happy Holmes, the tramp, in Broadhurst and Currie's latest musical comedy, "A Lucky Dog," in which the jolly tramp comedian, Nat M. Wills, is being starred. The worst thing that can be said of the gentleman is that he's the best tramp that was ever heard of, and a most entertaining fellow despite the fact that he is of that Grand and Glorious Fraternity of Non-Working Males—called aristocrats in Europe. Last season he was "The Duke of Duluth" but this season he's just a plain tramp and as the title of the play suggests, "A Lucky Dog," and the fun and music and dances chase each other in rapid succession through three acts of scenic splendor. The music is catchy and many of the new songs are sure to be whistled and played and sung at home for many a day. Come to the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon or night and judge for yourself. Nattie will expect you.

The attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night will be the "Joshua Simpkins" company. It is a strong rural comedy drama, opening with a realistic scene of rural home life, showing Skinner Tavern with Uncle Josh's Briar farm in the distance. The play progresses, abounding with interesting situations, until the climax is reached, in the third act, when a human being is helplessly bound to a log to be cut in twain by a mammoth buzz saw, and is only saved by the timely arrival of Uncle Josh. "Joshua Simpkins" was written with a view of keeping an audience thoroughly amused, and it fully carries out the author's intention. The plot is not allowed to interfere with the comedy parts to any extent, thus producing a play that is thrilling, interesting and said to contain many laughs. The company carries a fine orchestra and the laughable burlesque band.

Chauncey Olcott, the popular Irish comedian, went into New York a few weeks ago with his new play, "Eileen Asthore." To his friends he confided the fact that he had the best drama of his career, but he made no particular noice about it and the first apprisal of the public was the day following the first production when every New York dramatic critic, writing as in unison, declared that Mr. Olcott had presented the best romantic Irish play seen in New York in generations. There was not one dissenting voice. The crowds flocked to the great New York theatre which holds as many people as half a dozen ordinary theatres, and in another day not a seat could be purchased for his entire engagement. So great was his success that he could have remained at the New York for the entire season. Its appearance at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night should be a source of satisfaction to the playgoers of Plainfield who appreciate the best. Mr. Olcott sings four new love songs in "Eileen Asthore," all written and composed by himself.

One of the strongest features of "The Old Homestead" has always been the double quartette of farm hands. We are told that several changes have been made in the singers and that this season the double quartette is a great improvement on that of former years. This is saying a great deal, for in the past the beautiful singing around the well in the first act of the play has been one of the most enjoyable treats of the entire evening. "The Palms" is to be given, as usual, in the Grace church scene, assisted by "The Old Homstead" choir, the accompaniment being played on the grand organ carried by the company. The twentieth anniversary of "The Old Homestead" finishes a fifth of a century of one of this country's most remarkable dramatic successes. The play will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday afternoon and night.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will meet at the home of Mrs. M. Reunlin, 912 West Front street, this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

In the interest of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, a parlor meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George A. Chapman, of Stelle avenue, Saturday afternoon, May 4.

One of the most impressive celebrations which has taken place in the Roman Catholic church in Clinton for several years was held last Tuesday morning, when the Rev. J. J. Kerr, son of the late Bernard Kerr, celebrated a solemn high mass of requiem in memory of his brother, the Rev. R. G. Kerr, former pastor of Dunellen. Father Kerr was assisted by the Rev. C. P. Gillin, of Paterson, as deacon; Rev. M. J. Haggerty, M. D., of Bridgeton, as sub-deacon, and Rev. J. E. Murray, pastor, as master of ceremonies. The choir was from Junction, assisted by Rev. M. Detrich, of Bound Brook, and the Rev. C. Allen, of Junction. Rev. M. J. Haggerty, D. D., delivered a very eloquent sermon, after which the participants returned to the home of Father Kerr's brother, where dinner was served, the visiting priests and Miss Gillen, of Newark, Miss Kerr, of New York, and the Misses Dineen, of Dunellen.

There was plenty of genuine fun in the sociable under the auspices of the Bible Class of the First Presbyterian church, Tuesday night. The class, composed of both the fair and unfair sex, was largely represented. Mrs. Poynnier presided at the piano, accompanied by Rev. C. B. Herring, violin, rendered several selections, instrumental and vocal, which were well received. Guessing pictorial advertisement from which the names were erased, was an interesting form of entertainment. In this contest S. W. Dunning was the winner. The mock trial of Isaac B. Hill, accused of stealing a black Leghorn rooster, 9 7-12 years old, from Joseph Allen, was a side-splitting affair. The jury, composed chiefly of women, returned a verdict of guilty and suggested imprisonment for nine hours and seven minutes, which a lenient judge reduced to nine minutes and seven seconds solitary confinement at a well-ladened refreshment table. Charles Hummer and G. F. Hinman are teachers of the class which has outgrown its quarters and is soon to have a larger room.

Gross Negligence.

First Senator—Grafton intends getting out of politics.

Second Senator—Said anything to that effect?

First Senator—Not to me; but during the last week of the session three bills went through without a single amendment from him.—Puck.

—Frank Story has taken a position with Dudley S. Miller, the Park avenue druggist.

—The Union County Board of Freeholders will hold its May meeting at Elizabeth on Thursday, May 2.

Isaac Houston, of West Front street, has been discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital, where he has been under treatment.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

One of the most important improvements being made on the course at the Plainfield Country Club by the golf committee, is at the new eighth but old fourteenth hole, which is 420 yards long. The idea is that of Leighton Calkins. Instead of the green being perfectly smooth, it is covered with knobs about a foot in height, making it exceedingly difficult for a player to reach the hole. It is the intention of the committee to make all the greens the same way, and it will have a tendency to produce larger scores in the future. Mr. Calkins is spending a great deal of time in putting the course in condition for the season. Sixty loads of fine loam have been taken to the grounds and this will be used in the improvements. The idea of having undulating greens is an old one abroad and has been used at Garden City, where some of the obstacles about the greens are four feet high.

The opening competitions at the Plainfield Country Club, on Saturday will be marked by play for the Opening Day, Greens Committee and Golf Committee cups. The Golf Committee cup will be a weekly competition throughout the season.

A partial schedule has been issued by the golf committee of the Nassau Country Club. Beginning on Saturday competitions of one form or another will follow in rapid succession. The first contest will be a monthly handicap at eighteen holes, medal play. Saturday, June 15, has been reserved for a team match, and it is expected that others will be arranged in the fall. The ninth annual championship tournament of the Metropolitan Golf Association, May 22 to 25, will be the club's chief attraction this season.

Mrs. Cuthell, nee Adair, who competed in this country four years ago, has returned to the game. She is expected to be a competitor in the women's championship tournament at Newcastle next month. During her visit to this country Mrs. Cuthell defeated Miss Margaret Curtis in a 20-hole match over the links of the Merion Cricket Club, near Philadelphia. They may meet again, as both Miss Margaret and Miss Harriet Curtis, the present American champion, have sent their entries to Newcastle.

Leighton Calkins, secretary of the Metropolitan Golf Association, has received word that the Central New York Golf League has voted to adopt the par system of handicapping. With the exception of the Massachusetts Golf Association, which continues to base handicaps on the scratch score, practically all the other associations have adopted the Calkins system. They include the New Jersey, Connecticut, Western, Philadelphia and women's associations.

It is said that the New Haven Country Club will hold a three days' invitation tournament for women on May 14, 15 and 16. This is practically the postponed tournament from last fall, which had to be called off on account of the weather. Well known players are expected to enter from the New York and Boston districts.

The Women's Metropolitan Golf Association has changed the date of its first district team match. It will be decided over the links of the Knollwood Country Club on June 17, instead of on June 14.

The question of playing golf on Sunday came up at a meeting of the Montclair Golf Club recently. By a vote of 75 per cent. of the members the links will be closed on that day.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball squad will go out for practise this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

According to a report from Springfield, "Willie" Deegan, pitching for Jersey City against Holyoke, on Thursday, April 18, had the goods and shut out the home team by a score of 3 to 0. Deegan had everything with which to fool the opposing batsmen and let them down with four hits. He also kept up a steady fanning bee, six of the "Paper-makers" slamming the air in attempts to connect with the silent one's curves.

Thus far this season Sy Seymour has hit the ball for six singles, three two baggers, two triples and one home run.

Bresnahan's work behind the bat for the Giants is the sort that he did in the world's series against the Athletics.

Frank Burke, released by the New Yorks, has joined the Bostons, who refused to give up their claim.

Sam Mertes, formerly of the Giants, is playing left field on the Minneapolis team.

Of course, it is expected that Mayor C. J. Fisk will open the Inter-City Amateur League season at Crescent Oval, May 11, by throwing the first ball.

The New York Americans have released Pitchers Hughes and Castleton to Montreal and Atlanta respectively.

"The season is young," says George Stone. "I will hit with the leaders before the season closes." No superfluous explanation. None of the pitchers are pluming themselves on having a snap when Stone comes to bat. Nor are the twirlers growing careless when Keeler faces them.

The first triple play of the season came to light in the Virginia League. It was made by Martin, Butman and Burns, of the Richmond team.

Boston does not appear to have anything on the Giants, judging by the result of the recent series in Bean Town.

McGraw predicts that "Christy" Mathewson will pitch the best ball of his career during the coming season.

Wins Third Race.

New York, April 25.—That stout, true running all winter campaigner, W. H. Carey, won his third race in succession at the current meeting when he practically cantered home yesterday at Aqueduct in the mile handicap, carrying 123 pounds and running the distance in 1:42 4-5. The track was slow, though not muddy, except for about fifteen feet out from the rail, and any horse which ran on that part of the oval undoubtedly had the worst of it. W. H. Carey was steered to the best going by Mountain, however, and after Avauntee had shown the way for five furlongs at no fast pace the Carman colors were seen to be gradually moving up from the rear, and in the stretch his steady course to the front was cheered enthusiastically by six thousand fielders and four thousand grandstand occupants.

PERSONAL.

Miss Annie Anderson, of Trenton, has been spending the past week with relatives in this city.

Mrs. W. S. Decker, of West Fourth street, has returned from a visit with Staten Island relatives.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley is in Boston for a few days looking after some business interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Cruikshank, formerly of Truell Inn, are at Haddon Hall, Atlantic City.

Miss Anna Smith, of Elizabeth, who has been visiting in town for a few days, has returned home.

Miss Elizabeth VanDuyne, of the borough, has returned from a visit with relatives in Somerset county.

Mrs. J. W. Yates, of East Seventh street, left for Washington, today, where she will remain for about ten days.

Mrs. Burrell, of New York, has returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Linbarger, of the New Madison.

Miss Myra Dunavan, of East Second street, who was taken ill at the Plainfield High School, on Monday, being overcome by an over-heated room, is slowly recovering.

Thomas H. Keller, formerly of Plainfield, but now of New York, is spending a few days in town with friends. Mr. Keller is connected with the Peters Cartridge Company.

—James C. Manning has the contract for erecting a handsome new dwelling on West Front street for the Misses Harriett and Sarah Manning. Ground will be broken soon.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Martha Washington Council, Daughters of America, will enjoy a fraternal visit from Golden Rod Council, of New Brunswick, Saturday night and initiate several candidates.

Plainfield Council, No. 249, Jr. O. U. A. M., is steadily increasing in membership. On Monday night five candidates were initiated and a like number will learn the mysteries of the order next Monday night.

Within ten days of the time of his death, and six days from the filing of the necessary proofs, the insurance policy on the life of George F. Odiorne was paid by the Ancient Order United Workmen, of which he was a member. There is no organization which is more prompt in paying its claims than is this well-known order.

MOLLYISMS.

There may be as good fish in the sea as ever was caught, but what's the use of knowing they're there unless you are sure you can catch them?

We make friends of some people because we like them, and we make friends of others because we would not care to have them for enemies.

A girl does not wear a heavy chiffon veil on a warm day for the fun of it; probably there is a pimple or blotch which she does nat care to have you notice.

The devotee of the rainy day skirt is generally the girl with the pretty foot. The "others" consider it immodest.

Be nice to a girl and you'll bore her to death. Be nice to some other girl and the first will do her utmost to gain your attention, and then, when she has gained it, good-by to you. A woman could "die" getting even.

MOLLIE.

A camel can easily carry a weight of 1,000 pounds on its back, about four times as much as a horse can carry.

SOUTH PLAINFIELDERS ATTEND ENTERTAINMENT

PIANO PRESENTED TO THE VILLAGE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, a successful entertainment was given in the South Plainfield Baptist church, last night, consisting of vocal and instrumental selections, recitations, male quartette and duet selections and orchestral music.

The programme opened with vocal solos, "You're As Welcome As the Birds in May," by Mrs. Charles Jackson; "That's What the Daisy Said," Miss Grace Norman; "Love Me and the World Is Mine," Mrs. T. A. Linaberry; "When the Sunset Turns the Ocean's Blue to Gold," Alfred Springer; duet, "Some Day You'll Know I Loved You," the Misses F. Mundy and Emma Faulks; solo, "When the Morning Glory Twines Around the Door," Alfred Springer; recitations, "Firemen's Christmas," Mrs. C. W. F. Attlee; "Scott of Arden," Rev. C. W. F. Attlee; "My Briar Rose," Mrs. David Bigler; male quartette, "When the Sun Goes Down In Splendor In the Golden West," Alfred Springer T. A. Linaberry, J. M. Boss and H. J. Manning. The orchestra selections were by Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Blackford, David Lawson, Whitney Frazee. The pianists were Miss Nellie Manning, Mrs. Ida Harris and Miss Grace Norman.

A pleasant surprise was the presentation of a piano to the church by Mrs. Alfred Springer. Refreshments were served after the entertainment by a committee from the Ladies' Aid Society.

PROBE ASSESSORS.

Elizabeth Council Finance Committee to Investigate Their Work.

The finance committee of the Elizabeth Council is to meet tomorrow in the City Hall in that city. One of the principal subjects of discussion will probably be the work of the local assessors. A special consideration of their work with a view to the formulation of some plan for its improvement has been under consideration for some time, and it was learned yesterday that the committee would take some action in the matter tomorrow night.

Owing to the dissatisfaction manifested in many instances over alleged undervaulations or overvaluations of property, the Mayor in his message at the beginning of the year recommended the appointment of a commission for the control of the tax department. Under the present law, however, this suggestion could not be acted upon unless a referendum vote was taken.

It is expected that an effort will be made to have an ordinance, clearly defining the duties of assessors, passed, and a rough draft of this ordinance will be presented for the consideration of the committee tomorrow night.

A set of rules and regulations for the guidance of the assessors is also to be arranged at a later date. These rules will be calculated to prevent the making of mistakes in valuations and thereby prevent many of the squabbles, bickerings and appeals that followed the completion of the work of assessments last year.

Won His Freedom.

A white man describing himself as Thomas Keeney, of Bayonne, was arrested by Patrolman Tobias Nolan at Berckman street and South avenue, at 4:20 o'clock this morning, as a vagrant. He told Judge Runyon in court that he was on his way to Northampton, Pa., and spoke with an air of cander that won him a suspended sentence.

BISHOP TO CONFIRM A CLASS OF TWENTY-TWO

RT. REV. DR. SCARBOROUGH TO VISIT HOLY CROSS, ON SUNDAY.

The Rt. Rev. Dr. John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey, will administer confirmation at the Church of the Holy Cross Sunday morning, at the 11 o'clock service. A class of twenty-two candidates will be presented by the rector, Rev. George A. Warner, who has given the members systematic instruction for several weeks past.

An unusual feature of the class is that two-thirds of it is made up of youths and men. Five of the boys, members of the choir, will be confirmed in their choir vestments. Members who have sittings assigned and relatives and friends of the persons to be confirmed are requested to be at the church some few minutes earlier than the hour set for service. The offering for this Sunday will be for "the Bishop's purse."

It is understood that the Bishop will be the guest of the rector and Mrs. Warner at the rectory Saturday night and Sunday. Parishoners who desire to see the prelate informally will be made welcome. Preceding the confirmation service on Sunday will be a service Saturday when six persons will be baptized. Only relatives and friends will be present at the Saturday service.

SELECT COMPLETE CAST FOR OPERATIC PRODUCTION.

"Pinafore" to Be Presented at Casino On May 2 and 3 By Local Talent.

The tuneful and catchy comic opera, "Pinafore," will be given at the Casino Thursday and Friday nights, May 2 and 3, by the Plainfield Operatic Association. There will be a chorus of forty voices, well trained and a cast of exceptional merit. Much interest is shown in the fact that William Holmes will take the part of "Sir Joseph Porter," and this will assure patrons much pleasure.

The complete cast is as follows:

"Sir Joseph Porter," William Holmes; "Captain Corcoran," Arthur Chamberlain; "Ralph Rackstraw," William J. Tallamy; "Dick Deadeye," William N. Runyon; "Boatswain," Joseph C. Martin; "The Middy," Carlton Dunham; "Josephine," Miss Hortense Marie Sheldon; "Hebe," Miss Elizabeth V. Day; "Buttercup," Mrs. Ferdinand M. Ward. A feature of the opera will be the appearance of a professional who will dance the "Sailor's Hornpipe." She is a young woman who has been in several New York productions. Glueckner's orchestra, of Elizabeth, will furnish the music and Mr. Gloeckner will conduct.

THIRTY-TWO THOUSAND TO SPEND ON STREETS.

How Commissioner Gavett and the Committee Will Use the Appropriation.

Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett will have $32,756 to spend on street work during the present fiscal year. The council appropriated $35,000 for street work, but $2,244 has been paid to the city collector as the municipality's share of the cost of macadamizing work in 1906.

The money is to be expended on street cleaning, repairs, sprinkling, and storm sewer work. New macadamizing work is paid for out of special appropriations.

The street sprinkling will cost about $1,000. For the completion of the Plainfield avenue storm sewer will take $5,000 more. For street cleaning the city will pay $4,500, and for the removal of snow about $1,000. The city's share of the cost of new macadamizing now in progress will amount to $1,500.

Those are the principal items of expense. The balance of the fund will be applied to culverts, crosswalks and repair work generally.

The street force of the city, at present, including the foreman, includes 19 men, three teams and four single carts. This force is not always necessary.

Obituary Saved His Life.

Greenwich, Conn., April 25.—Charles Beisinger, connected with the New York Telephone Company, did not commit suicide yesterday as he had planned. His anxiety to let his wife, who left him two weeks ago, know he had been a good husband and died because of misery caused by her desertion saved his life. Beisinger is thirty-three and his wife twenty-five. She left home after a family discussion two weeks ago last Saturday, taking her daughter, aged six, and leaving a son, aged three, behind. Her husband became disconsolate, and so wrote his obituary notice, took it to a newspaper office and asked to have it inserted in the New York newspapers. He was a stranger to the newspaper publisher, so the police, undertakers and physicians were questioned as to the death, with no result. A description of the man was obtained, and Beisinger was found alive, though in a fit of despondency. He admitted that his love for his wife had prompted him to prepare for ending his life. He was induced to postpone the event for a few days, at least, to see if his wife could not be found.

New Summer Carpets, Rugs and Matting.

We import our own mattings direct from China and Japan, and this year the stocks are larger than ever, making a display of surpassing interest to any housekeeper. In Rugs and Carpets we have never had a finer line, our policy being to exclude rigidly everything not up to the highest standard. We make, lay and line all carpets free of charge.

Laces and Embroideries.

The most complete stocks in the city. In the face of high prices we are quoting many bargains, because we bought when prices were low.

Women's White Shirt Waists.

There has never been a time in the history of this store when we have sold so many Shirt Waists, and there's good reason for it. Buying as we do, direct from the best makers, and for our Atlantic City and Lakewood stores as well as this, enables us to buy in such quantities that we get all that there is in it, and what we save you also save. Herein lies the secret of our immense shirt waist business.

It's Time To Use

JAP-A-LAC.

"Jap-a-Lac" is stain and varnish combined; it is the most durable floor finish on the market. It is a great reviver of old woodwork, as it covers up all marks and scratches. J. V. D. Fields a Benedict.

Joseph V. D. Fields, whose home is in Bound Brook but whose acquaintance in Plainfield is very wide, was married yesterday afternoon to Miss Marian Spaight, of Fishkill, N. Y. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents and was witnessed only by relatives of the two families. Following a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Fields will make their home at Bound Brook. The groom is a member of the Plainfield lodge of Elks and is identified with other local organizations.

Suspicious Characters Jailed.

Two colored men who gave their names as John McCullough and Henry Redmond were arrested as suspicious characters, early this morning, on East Ninth street, by Patrolman Cornelius McCarthy. They said they belonged in Coatsville, Pa., but could give no clear idea of where they intended to go. Judge Runyon sentenced each of them to ten days in jail.

SOON TO NAME PROBERS OF STATE DEPARTMENTS.

Speaker, It Is Believed, Will Appoint Assemblyman Wright, of Essex, as Chairman.

Trenton, April 25.—Speaker Lethbridge came to the State house Tuesday and had a conference with the Governor. Later in the afternoon he said that he intended to appoint this week the committee to investigate alleged extravagance in the different departments of the State government, authorized by the Assembly. Although he gave no intimation as to whom he would appoint it is believed that the chairman will be Assemblyman Wright, of Essex, who offered the resolution under which the committee was appointed.

There has been some comment upon the delay there has been in getting this commission under way. The resolution directs that the committee shall report to the House when the Legislature reconvenes on June 18, and it is pointed out that valuable time is being wasted in postponing the naming of these inquisitors.

It will take some time, it is said, for the counsel which the committee will appoint to go over the ground and prepare a plan for the investigation and if the work is not begun soon there will not be time enough before June 18 for the thorough investigation of the subject which was contemplated when the resolution was passed. In connection with this, it has been urged that the committee would do well to appoint a Trenton lawyer as counsel, as he would be upon the ground, and the name of a prominent counselor, who is a Democrat, has been suggested for the work.

Horned Horse at Central Park.

New York, pril 25.—From South Africa a specimen of a gnu or horned horse arrived at the Central Park menagerie yesterday. The little horse has a head like a buffalo, with upright mane, a muzzle like a bull dog, threatening horns, and is so wild that it cannot be turned into the opening for some time.

High Finance Loot Plot.

New York, April 25.—Developments of yesterday laid bare the details of the raid on the securities of the Trust Company of America and disclosed the identity of the Boston man who engineered the scheme. He had arranged that Douglass, the loan clerk, was to steal a million dollars at the proper time. That he will be arrested within a short time is the confident prediction of the officials of the company, although they admit that he has covered his tracks well. When he is finally arrested, it is declared, there will be told in full the most amazing story—financial romance, it is called by one of the directors—that Wall street has heard in many years.

She Bit Wrong Man's Ear.

New York, April 25.—Seeing her husband rummaging in a bureau drawer of the bedroom in her house, No. 2,102 Amsterdam avenue, just before noon on Tuesday, Mrs. Matilda Strouch crept up behind him and playfully bit his ear. With a shout he wheeled and Mrs. Strouch saw it was not her husband. The man said he was a delivery man in the employ of a downtown store, and that he had got into the wrong flat. He was arrested, charged with the theft of rings belonging to Mrs. Srtouch. He gave his name as Benjamin Newman, of No. 734 East Ninth street.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

April 28: "Open Doors." (Missions.)
"A great and effectual door is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries."

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

Passages for reference—Luke xiv. 21-23; Acts viii. 4-6; xiv. 27; Phil. i. 12-18.

For years Paul had wished to reach Ephesus and preach the gospel there. It was the metropolis of the Greek world—wealthy, luxurious, superstitious, the center of the most powerful heathen worship of the age. It was here that the great goddess Diana had her temple, which was so magnificent as to be reckoned one of the seven great sights of the world.

More than once he had made plans to visit the city for the purpose of opening Christian work, but every time some circumstance or providential indication had prevented him carrying out the plan. Now he has reached the great city and has found the opportunity for preaching the gospel equal to his anticipations, and so he purposes to stay for awhile.

This is a good illustration of the method by which Paul did his work when he had opportunity to select the places where he would go. He chose the great centers of population and influence where the tides of life and trade set the strongest. Here would be the chance to make the most headway with the kingdom of Christ and the gospel message, and also in such places he would be certain to encounter the fiercest opposition and greatest personal danger. So he says of Ephesus he had found a splendid opportunity, "a great and effectual door open" and also many adversaries.

It has always been the case that the gospel has had the best opportunity where the opposition is likely to be the strongest. But the true soldier of Jesus Christ has never shrunk from the test.

At the present time as never before in all the Christian centuries there is opened for the church and her message doors, effectual and great, in many parts of the world. It is not long since many and large areas were completely closed to Christian missionaries. Now there is scarcely a land where our missions are not planted and doing effective service.

The greatest openings and most hopeful work are at the present in the far east. The recent war between Japan and Russia has radically changed the condition of affairs in those regions. Japan has entered on a new era religiously as well as politically and in a military sense. The old forms of religion no longer have the hold on the masses which they have for long ages had. The more advanced minds are well acquainted with the foremost thought and literature of Europe and America. They are students of religion as well as of civil and industrial matters. But in the transition it is by no means clear that they will exchange their old forms and beliefs for those of the Bible. The grave danger is a swinging of the best minds away from evangelical truth into various forms of Pantheism. Their old Buddhistic faith makes them specially prone to this. It is a crisis not only for that nation, but for the cause of Christ throughout the orient. As goes Japan, so is China likely to go in the near future. China is arousing as never before in millenniums and is likely to emerge from her lethargy as a giant among the nations of the earth. It looks likely that Japan is to be the leader in all those countries.

But the leaders in new Japan are now favorable to America and our missionaries. Now is our great door open. Shall we enter it? To capture all the great orient for Christ would be an achievement as influential as the conquest of the Roman empire in the days of Constantine. Are you by prayer, speech and gift doing all in your power to preach the gospel in all those parts of the world?

As Dew.

The dew, formed in the silence of the darkness while men sleep, falling as willingly on a bit of dead wood as anywhere, hanging its pearls on every poor spike of grass and dressing everything on which it lies with strange beauty, each separate globule, tiny and evanescent, but each as flashing back the light and each a perfect sphere, feeble one by one, but united mighty to make the pastures of the wilderness rejoice—so created in silence by an unseen influence, feeble when taken in detail, but strong in their myriads, glad to occupy the lowliest place and each "bright with something of celestial light," Christian men and women are to be "in the midst of many people as a dew from the Lord."—Alexander McLaren, D. D.

Looking to God.

To learn to look to God in trouble is a great help to the soul. There is no disputing that or the further fact that it is better to have trouble bring us to God than never to come at all. But to learn to look to God in joy, before trouble comes, is surely a more loving and obedient thing for young hearts to do than to wait till the sun goes and the storm comes.—Forward.

Why Do We Worry?

Why do we worry about the nest?
We only stay for a day
Or a month or a year at the Lord's behest
In this habitat of clay.

Why do we worry about the road,
With its hills or deep ravine?
In a dismal path or a heavy load
We are helped by hands unseen.

Why do we worry about the years
That our feet have not yet trod?
Who labors with courage and trust, not fears,
Has fellowship with God.

The best will come in the great "to be!"
It is ours to serve and wait.
And the wonderful future we soon shall see,
For death is but the gate.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning April 28.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Foreign missions. Christ in the continent of Asia.—Isa. xlix. 6-13.

The continent of Asia forms the largest missionary field in the world. It contains one-half of the world's population. In China alone is to be found one-fourth of the entire human race. India seems with an immense population, and indeed Asia throughout is most densely populated. This continent has also been the scene of some of the world's greatest events. Eastern Asia, embracing China and surrounding kingdoms, has a very ancient civilization and, cut off from other countries for centuries, was undoubtedly the scene of many stirring events. The history of western Asia, however, is more familiar to us, and every student of history has some knowledge of the great events that transpired there centuries ago. Until a little more than three centuries before Christ, when Alexander made Greece the chief world power, the great kingdoms of the world, with the single exception of Egypt, had had their homes in Asia, and there the greatest events of the world had transpired. The history of man undoubtedly began in southwestern Asia somewhere near the point where the Euphrates and Tigris rivers unite just before they empty their waters into the Persian gulf, where it is generally supposed that the garden of Eden was located. This part of Asia was the scene of the flood, the destruction of the tower of Babel and the dispersion of mankind by the confusion of tongues. From that point, when tribes began to wander about the land in search of water and pasture for their flocks, civilization advanced until great cities, mighty kingdoms and mighty kings existed, the greatest of all the empire of Babylon, and its list of great kings. And during all this time on the same continent God was raising up a chosen race and people through whom the Saviour of the world was to come. But the Asiatic kingdoms waxed and waned, and it is a most interesting fact that from beneath its ruined cities the religious and scientific world of today is unearthing the secrets of these ancient civilizations hidden from the gaze of man for centuries.

The people of Asia have always been religiously inclined. For many years the early religious traditions of the land remained in the minds of men, and until near the time of Abraham at least many had some conception of the one God, who had created the world and man. Then idolatry began to exist and in some form or other has had complete sway over the minds of the vast majority of Asia's people east and west until the present day. In Asia all the great religions of the world have had their birth. Here idolatry in the form of the worship of the sun, moon, plants and stars began. Confucianism sprang up in China, Brahmanism and Buddhism in India, Shintoism in Japan and Mohammedanism in Arabia. And here also Judaism and Christianity had their birth. And of them all Christianity alone grew away from the continent and influenced mostly the true civilization of the present day, one of the proofs of its divine origin and worldwide mission.

The great need of Asia today is the religion of Jesus Christ, which came from it and which the Christian world should send back to it. Every possible argument appeals to Christian people to send the gospel to Asia. The sentiment surrounding the early scenes of our religion appeals to us. God has commanded us to send the gospel to all nations. The land in which Christ was born and where John and Peter and Paul first preached the gospel should appeal to us. In Antioch, in Asia, the first missionary movement by which the gospel was brought to us originated, and for what Asia has done for us we should feel indebted to them, and the thought of those teeming millions, many of whom die for want of bread and without the Bread of Life, should stir our hearts to the depths and lead us to determine that so far as in us lies Asia shall be won for Christ.

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. xlix. 20-23; lii. 1-7; lx. 1-22; Matt. xxviii. 19, 20; Luke xv. 1-10; Acts i. 1-8; xiii. 1-3; xvi. 8-10; Rom. x. 14, 15; Rev. ii. 9, 10; xxii. 17.

Some New Plans.

Here is a group of new plans worth trying suggested by the Rocky Mountain Endeavorer:

A "letter evening," largely made up of letters from former members.

A sunrise meeting—yes, right in your own church.

A "biographical meeting," the topic illustrated solely from men's and women's lives.

A "question meeting," to which each brings a question on the topic to be answered by some one else.

An associate members' meeting, devoted to getting new associates and winning the old associate members to active membership.

No "Pause Committee" Needed.

The Christian Endeavor member of the British parliament, George Nicolls, expressed recently the desire that the same eagerness to speak that is found in the house of commons might be found in all Christian Endeavor prayer meetings. "We never have this speaker in the house of commons," he says, "wishing for a pause committee."

A Unique Topic Card.

The Christian Endeavor society of the First Baptist church, Malone, N. Y., issues its topics for 1907 on a wide satin ribbon, and on the reverse side prints a list of the society officers and committees. The ribbon serves as a bookmark and makes itself useful in a variety of ways.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

AUTHOR OF THE COST, THE DELUGE, Etc.

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

He drew in his breath hard and leaned back into the corner where the shadow hid him. At last he said in a quiet earnest voice: "You've given me self-respect, senator. I can only say: I'll see that you never regret it."

I was hissed roundly at the hotel entrance, between cheers for Creffut and Berwick, and even for Woodruff. But I went to bed in the most cheerful humor I had known since the day Scarborough was nominated. "At any rate"—so I was thinking—"my president, with my help, will be a man."

CHAPTER XXVI.

"Only an Old Joke."

On the train going home, I was nearer to castle-building than at any time since my boyhood castles collapsed under the rude blows of practical life.

My paths have not always been straight and open, said I to myself; like all others who have won in the conditions of this world of men till thrall to the brute, I have had to use the code of the jungle. In climbing I have had to stoop, at times to crawl. But, now that I have reached the top, I shall stand erect. I shall show that the sordidness of the struggle has not unfitted me to use the victory. (True, there are the many and heavy political debts I've had to contract in getting Burbank the presidency; and as we must have a second term to round out our work, we shall be compelled to make some further compromises. We must still deal with men on the terms which human nature exacts, but in the main we can and we will do what is just and right, what helps to realize the dreams of the men and women who founded our country—the men and women like my father and mother.

And my mother's grave, beside my father's and among the graves of my sisters and my grandparents, rose before me. And I recalled the pledge I had made there in the boyish beginnings of my manhood and my career. "My chance and Burbank's," said I, "comes just in time. We are now at the age where reputation is fixed; and our children are growing up and will soon begin to judge us and be judged from us."

Years of patient sowing, thought I, and at last the harvest! And what a harvest it will be! For under the teachings of experience I have sown not starlight and moonlight, but seeds.

The next morning I could not rise; it was six weeks before I was able to leave my bed. During that savage illness I met each and every one of the reckless drafts I had been drawing against my reserve vitality. Four times the doctors gave me up; once even Frances lost hope. When I was getting well she confessed to me how she had warned God that he need never expect to hear from her again if her prayer for me were not answered—and I saw she rather suspected that her threat was not unassociated with my recovery.

Eight weeks out of touch with affairs, and they the crucial eight weeks of all my years of thought and action! At last the harvest, indeed; and I was reaping what I had sown.

In the second week of January I revolted against the doctors and nurses and had my political secretary, Wheelock, telephone for Woodruff—the legislature had elected him to the senate three days before. When he had sat with me long enough to realize that I could bear bad news, he said: "Goodrich and Burbank have formed a combination against you."

"How do you know?" said I, showing no surprise, and feeling none.

"Because"—he laughed—"I was in it. At least, they thought so until they had let me be safely elected. As nearly as I can make out, they began the plot about ten days after you fell sick. At first they had it on the slate to do me up, too. But—the day after Christmas—Burbank sent for me—"

"Wait a minute," I interrupted. And I began to think. It was on Christmas day that Burbank telephoned for the first time in nearly three weeks, inquiring about my condition. I remembered their telling me how minute his questionings were. And I had thought his solicitude was proof of his friendship! Instead, he had been inquiring to make sure about the reports in the papers that I was certain to recover, in order that he might shift the factors in his plot accordingly. "When did you say Burbank sent for you?" I asked.

"On Christmas day," Woodruff replied.

I laughed; he looked at me inquiringly. "Nothing," said I. "Only an old joke—as old as human nature. Go on."

"Christmas day," he continued; "I didn't get to him until next morning. I can't figure out just why they invited me into their combine."

But I could figure it out, easily. If I had died, my power would have disintegrated and Woodruff would have been no use to them. When they were sure I was going to live, they had to have him because he might be able to assassinate me, certainly could so cripple me that I would—as they reasoned—be helpless under their assaults. But it wasn't necessary to tell Woodruff this, I thought.

"Well," said I, "and what happened?"

"Burbank gave me a dose of his 'great and gracious way'—you ought to see the 'side' he puts on now!—and turned me over to Goodrich. He had been mighty careful not to give himself away any further than that. Then Goodrich talked to me for three solid hours, showing me it was my duty to the party as well as to myself to join him and Burbank in eliminating the one disturber of harmony—that meant you."

"And did they tell you they'd destroy you if you didn't?"

"Oh, that of course," he answered, indifferently.

"Well, what did you do?"

"Played with 'em till I was elected. Then I dropped Goodrich a line. 'You go to hell,' I wrote. 'I travel with men.'"

"Very imprudent," was my comment.

"Yes," he admitted, "but I had to do something to get the dirt off my hands."

"So Burbank has gone over to Goodrich?" I went on, presently, as much to myself as to him.

"I always knew he was one of those chaps you have to keep scared to keep straight," said Woodruff. "They think your politeness indicates fear, and your friendship fright. Besides, he's got a delusion that his popularity carried the west for him and that you and I did him only damage." Woodruff interrupted himself with a laugh. "A friend of mine," he resumed, "was on the train with Scarborough when he went east to the meeting of congress last month. He tells me it was like a president-elect on the way to be inaugurated. The people turned out at every cross-roads, even beyond the Alleghanies. And Burbank knows it. If he wasn't clean daft about himself he'd realize that if it hadn't been for you—well, I'd hate to say how badly he'd have got left. But then, if it hadn't been for you, he'd never have been governor. He was a dead one, and you hauled him out of the tomb."

True enough. But what did it matter now?

"He's going to get a horrible jolt before many months," Woodruff went on. "I can see you after him."

"You forget. He's president," I answered. "He's beyond our reach."

"Not when he wants a renomination," insisted Woodruff.

"He can get that without us—if," I said. "You must remember we've made him a fetish with our rank and file. And he's something of a fetish with the country now that he's president. No, we can't destroy him—can't even injure him. He'll have to do that himself, if it's done. Besides—"

I did not finish. I did not care to confess that since Frances and I saw Granby swinging from that tree in my grounds I had neither heart nor stomach for the relentless side of the game. Indeed, whether from calculation or from sentimentality or from both—or, from a certain sympathy and fellow feeling for all kinds of weakness—I have never pursued those who have played me false, except when exemplary punishment was imperative.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

When you buy coal, you want good coal. Order of L. A. Rneaume, East Fourth street, and get the best.

Art works and artists' materials are always to be found at the Plainfield Art Store in the Y. M. C. A. building. Prices reasonable.

William Hall & Son, of East Second street, will move your goods to any part of the country, safely, quickly and at moderate prices.

No painting or decorating work is better than that done by Woolston & Buckle, North avenue, and there is much that is inferior. Estimates promptly furnished.

There is a wealth of suggestion for furnishing the china closet, the mantel or bureau at the store of J. W. Gavett, West Front street. Visitors are always welcome.

Useful articles for the household; also garden tools, farming implements and a full line of hardware and builders' materials are some of the features at A. M. Griffen's hardware store.

An Edison phonograph or a Victor talking-machine is a pleasure in the home and H. K. Lister has a full line of both machines; also the latest records for each. Drop in and hear the machines any time.

With indications of seasonable weather everyone will be interested in the fine showing of summer goods at the Woodhull & Martin Company store. Seldom has there been seen such an attractive line of women's dress goods in all the popular shades, weights and prices. The men's furnishing department is also one of the many attractions and if you need anything in the house furnishing line visit that department and you will be surprised at the great bargains offered.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MacGRRAY, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., April 9, 1907.

AN ORDINANCE

To Provide for the Further Issue of Sewer Bonds Under Chapter CXXXI of the Laws of 1890 and Acts Amendatory Thereof and Supplemental Thereto:

Whereas the difference between the costs and expenses of the construction of that portion of the system of sewerage in the City of Plainfield not covered by sewer bonds heretofore issued, and not including improvements concerning which there was no assessment for benefits or the sum of Two Thousand Seventy Dollars and Seventy-three Cents ($2,070.73) of interest paid by general tax; under and by virtue of the Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to provide for drainage and sewerage in cities of this State," Approved April 7, 1890, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, including all incidental expenses, and the amount of the assessment for benefits has been ascertained and determined by the Common Council, and the Common Council doth hereby ascertain and determine the same to be the sum of Nine Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($9,500); and

Whereas the Common Council hath ascertained and determined, and doth hereby ascertain and determine that the whole amount of the costs, damages and expenses of making and constructing the improvement of sewage disposal works, beds and appurtenances under and by virtue of said Act of the Legislature and the Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the improvement of sewage disposal works, beds and appurtenances of the City of Plainfield," approved August 8, 1905, including all incidental expenses, to be the sum of Fifty-eight Thousand Five Hundred Dollars, and the said improvements such that under the statute in such case made and provided there can be no assessment for benefits to pay the cost thereof, but the whole cost thereof is required to be paid by the City, and the said statute further provides that to defray the costs and expenses thereof, registered or coupon bonds of the City may be issued; and

Whereas the Common Council desires to issue the coupon bonds of the City to the amount of said sum of Nine Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($9,500) to provide for the said difference between the cost and expenses of said improvement, including all incidental expenses and the amount of the assessment for benefits as aforesaid, the said bonds to be used (1) to discharge the notes or temporary obligations of the City issued under said acts of the Legislature so far as they exceed the amount the assessments for benefits, and (2) to satisfy and discharge whatever may remain due on the cost and expenses of the work; and to issue the coupon bonds of the City to the amount of Fifty-eight Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($58,500) to defray the costs and expenses of the improvement concerning which there was no assessment for benefits as aforesaid, the whole amount of the coupon bonds which it desires to issue as aforesaid, being the sum of Sixty-eight Thousand Dollars, all as provided in said acts of the Legislature; and,

Whereas the Common Council by resolution adopted April 9th, 1907, did authorize the issue of bonds and coupons in the premises in the form annexed to said resolution, which said resolution together with the forms therein referred to are on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Plainfield and are hereby referred to for greater certainty;

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

Section 1. That pursuant to the statutes in such cases made and provided, and in accordance with said resolution of the Common Council adopted April 9th, 1907, there be issued in the form annexed to said resolution on file in the City Clerk's Office coupon bonds of the city to the said amount of Sixty-eight Thousand Dollars ($68,000); the said bonds to be used for the purposes aforesaid, and the said bonds to be in denominations of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) each, to bear date the first day of May, nineteen hundred and seven, and to be payable as follows: May first, nineteen hundred and eight, two bonds of one thousand dollars each, and on the first days of May in each and every year thereafter, down to and including May first, nineteen hundred and forty-one, two bonds of one thousand dollars each, said bonds to bear interest at the rate of four and one-half per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and the semi-annual coupons to be annexed to said bonds to be for the sum of Twenty-two Dollars and Fifty Cents ($22.50) each, and said bonds and coupons respectively to be in the form annexed to said resolution, the said bonds all to be impressed with the corporate seal of the City, and to be signed by the Mayor and attested by the City Clerk, and the coupons to bear the engraved or lithographed fac-simile of the signature of the City Clerk.

WILL TAKE PART IN A BIG INDOOR MEET.

Plainfield Athletes Entered In the 22d Regiment Games.

Plainfield will be presented in the annual games of the 22d Regiment, New York, Saturday night. The entrants from this city number eight and are all members of the Y. M. C. A.

Banks, Burgess, Douglass and Odell are entered in the mile relay race; Lueder and Steiner will take part in the high jump; and Jere Manning and A. W. Spear will go in the 60-yard dash for novices. All of them have been hardened to competitions in meets at the local and other Y. M. C. A. gymnasiums.

The games of the 22d Regiment are the biggest things of their kind in New York city, and places won in them mean something. Some idea of the number of entries may be judged by the entrance numbers assigned to the local entrants. They run up to 400. There is no telling how far beyond that the number of entries goes.

Besides representation in the events, Plainfield will figure in the officials. G. L. Listman, the Y. M. C. A. physical director, will judge at the horizontal bar. He has judged that event at the 22d Regiment games ever since they were instituted.

Why the Lights Were Out.

A part of the machinery at the Public Service electric light station, which takes care of the street lights, broke down Monday night and as a result several districts in the city were in darkness for two nights. It was an accident that is likely to happen at any time and one that could not very well be avoided. Another paper related with great detail how an unknown woman had fallen over an obstruction she did not see. The police have been unable to locate any such person and are inclined to believe the fall was manufactured to color the story. The lights were burning as usual last night.

Councilman In Accident.

A wagon driven by William Kruse, colored, collided with a carriage in which Councilman R. I. Tolles was riding, on Richmond street, at 6:30 o'clock last night. The wheels of the two vehicles locked, and both of them were badly damaged. Kruse and the Councilman were thrown out, but escaped injury.

Colby Man Gets Newspaper.

Charles A. Bloomfield, of Metuchen, has purchased practically a controlling interest in the Daily Morning Press, of New Brunswick, it is stated. Mr. Bloomfield was one of the leaders of the Colby movement in Middlesex county last fall.

W. C. Deyckywick and family, of New York, have removed to Plainfield and are located at 137 Crescent avenue. Mr. Deyckywick is connected with the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

John Gunn, Sr., of Watchung, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of undergoing an operation. It was performed by Dr. Pittis and this morning the patient was resting easily.

DEMOCRATIC BOOMS FOR GOVERNORSHIP

MERCER DEMOCRATS SUGGEST JUDGE VROOM AND MAYOR KATZENBACH.

Mercer county Democrats have two names for the consideration of their party as possible gubernatorial nominees, Judge G. D. W. Vroom and Mayor Katzenbach.

Judge Vroom was in years gone by one of the Democratic leaders of the State. He was mayor of Trenton from 1881 to 1884 and at that time recognized as one of the strong men of New Jersey. He has not been politically active in recent years, devoting his time chiefly to the law, his duties as a lay judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals and various other governmental affairs with which by gubernatorial appointment he is connected.

Former Mayor Katzenbach, of Trneton, has been in the limelight more recently. He is a member of the State committee and one of the few committee and one of the few active men on that committee. He has been three times victor and never vanquished in political contests in Trneton.

Judge Vroom, the older of the two men, numbers among his most devoted friends some of the men who have allied themselves with the advocates of Mr. Katzenbach's candidacy. It is stated by some of these gentlemn that their course is the result of Judge Vroom's assurances that he does not want the nomination.

On the other hand, some of the Vroom advocates are certain that Judge Vroom will accept the nomination if it shall be tendered to him.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

A meeting of the Sewing Circle of the Christian church will be held tonight at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is asked.

The monthly missionary meeting will be held at Hope chapel, tonight, and G. Stuart Simons will lead. The subject will be "The Home Mission Problem of the Indians and Negroes." An offering will be received for home missions.

The Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will hold its monthly meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. B. Probasco on East Front street. Each member is requested to bring some item of interest about the Chinese. There will be a general discussion of the subject.

The friends of Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck will be pleased to learn of the steady improvement in his condition. A guest at Galen Hall, Atlantic City, where Dr. and Mrs. Schenck are stopping, in writing to a Plainfielder, has the following to say about Dr. Schenck: "I am very much surprised to find how Dr. Schenck has improved. He is fast regaining his powers and I certainly think it looks very lopeful for an almost, if not quite full recovery. Compared with three weeks and a month ago, his recovery has been very marked. Every few days he finds he can do something he could not do shortly before."

JUDGE WON'T STAND FOR JOKES

Holds Two Princeton Students in $200 Bail on Larceny Charge.

Joseph Gish and James McClure, Princeton University students, were held in $200 bail each yesterday by Police Justice Harris, of Trenton, on the charge of larceny. They confessed to the theft of an umbrella stand from the vestibule of a Trenton residence, but pleaded that it was only taken for a joke.

They expressed their willingness to pay any fines that might be imposed and to make any settlement desired for their lark, declaring that they had been drinking and were not aware of their offense.

The justice, however, would take no excuses, asserting that he intended to put a stop to students' larks in this city. Bail was secured for the young men after they had been locked up for twelve hours.

Julian Kean's Birthday.

Julian H. Kean, vice-president of the National State Bank of Elizabeth, and also of the Elizabethtown Water Company, and treasurer of the Elizabeth Gas Company, celebrated yesterday his fifty-third birthday anniversary. He was born at "Ursino," the old homestead of the Kean family, which place during the Revolutionary War was the residence of New Jersey's Chief Executive, Governor Livingston. Julian Kean is a younger brother of United States Senator John Kean.

S. P. C. A. Accuses Negro.

Elizabeth, April 24.—Jas. Pierce, a negro, was a prisoner in Police Court here yesterday, charged with cruelty to animals. The complaint against him was made by E. P. Edwards, agent of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. It was charged that Pierce knocked out the eye of a horse with a blow from a club. He was committed to the county jail in default of $500 bail to await the grand jury's action.

BRIDGES COST HALF-MILLION

will also call for some means of draining surface water from the tracks, a condition to be met by the installation of gutters.

In connection with these improvements, a switch tower of the latest type and equipment is being built near Berckman street. It will be the first one on the road to be operated by the electro-pneumatic system. The operator by the simple pressing of a button will throw a signal and a switch and the system is such that it will not permit the operator to interfere with it and change it from its intended purpose. The power for operating this tower will be obtained from the air signal pipe, which carries a ninety pound pressure. With the installation of this interlocking switch tower, all the hand switches will be removed. It will cost about $40,000 to build this interlocking plant at Berckman street. It is expected that the bridge work in Plainfield will be completed within the next twelve months.

OBITUARY.

Peter Wahl.

Peter Wahl, a well-known mason, died yesterday noon at his home on Johnston avenue after a short illness with rheumatism. He was in his fifty-seventh year and leaves a wife and family. The funeral will be held at the house Saturday morning at 8:15 and from St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Samuel Thomas.

Samuel Thomas, who had been employed for many years at the Scott Press Works as a machinist, died yesterday at Muhlenberg Hospital. He was taken to the institution a week ago to be operated upon for a growth on the tongue but he failed to rally after its completion. Mr. Thomas was about sity years old and came to Plainfield from Rahway. He leaves a wife. The funeral will be held at his late home on Jackson avenue, Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

Mrs. Madison Williams.

Mrs. Lucy Williams, wife of Madison Williams, colored, died at her home on East Second street this morning. She was in her forty-sixth year. The funeral will be held at the late residence, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

BREAKS THREE RECORDS

More Noteworthy Performances by Lawrence in Athletic Meet.

GREAT BROAD JUMPING

He Betters Interscholastic Record by More Than a Foot—Viebrock Wins Y. M. C. A. Gymnastic Championship.

Three Y. M. C. A. athletic records, and, incidentally, an interscholastic record, were broken at the Y. M. C. A., last night, when the gymnastic competition for the association championship and handicap athletic events were conducted. Lawrence, the Leal's school boy, did all the smashing, as usual.

In the jumps for records in the three standing broad jumps event, Lawrence covered 30 feet 11 inches, passing the Y. M. C. A. mark set by F. O. Bristol in 1898 by 17 inches. The interscholastic record for three standing broad jumps is 29 feet 10 inches. Lawrence's jump will not knock it down, because the event was not part of a regularly conducted school affair.

In the jump for records in the standing broad jump Lawrence made 10 feet 1¼ inches, passing the Y. M. C. A. mark made by Banks in 1906 by 7¾ inches. Banks and Lueder, in the dry, jumped 9 feet 7 inches. Lawrence's jump equals the record for the Eastern A. L. N. A. Lawrence's distance in the standing hop, step and jump, 27 feet 11 inches, bettered the Y. M. C. A. mark, made by Harry Scull, in 1905, by 8 inches.

The competition for the gymnastic championship of the association, which included moves on the horizontal bar, parallel bars and horse, was won by Viebrock, with a score of 77.7-10. Charles Line was second, 75.7½. Stryker Hoagland was third, 79.8 2-3.

First, second and third in each of the gymnastic events were as follows:

Horizontal bar—Line, 25; Hoagland, 24.7 1-3; Banks, 24.6 2-3.

Parallel bars—Viebrock, 26.6 2-3; Line, 25.8 13; Hoagland, 24.6 2-3.

Horse—Viebrock, 25.7 2-3; Rumsey, 25.2; Line, 24.8 2-3.

The handicap athletic events were won as follows:

Standing broad jump—Won by Lueder, 11 feet 2½ inches; actual, 9 feet 7½ inches; second, Banks, 10 feet ½ inch; actual, 9 feet 4½ inches; third, Lawrence, scratch, 9 feet 10½ inches.

Three standing broad jumps—Won by Banks, 30 feet, 11 inches; actual, 28 feet 5 inches; second, Lueder, 30 feet 7 inches; actual, 27 feet 8 inches; third, Lawrence, scratch, 30 feet 2½ inches.

Standing hop-step-and-jump—Won by Lawrence, 28 feet 1 inch; actual, 27 feet 11 inches; second, Lueder, Rumsey, tie, 27 feet 8 inches; jump off won by Lueder.

Standing high jump—Won by Rumsey, 4 feet 6 inches; actual jump, 4 feet 2 inches; second, Lawrence, scratch, 4 feet 5 inches; third, Lueder, Steiner, Odell, tie; actual jumps, Lueder, 4 feet 4 inches; Steiner, 4 feet 1 inch; Odell, 3 feet 10 inches.

Gold, silver and bronze medals were up, in the gymnastic competition. Bronze buttons rewarded the winners in the athletic events.

Y. M. C. A. NINE WAKES UP.

Hot Practise On the Oval Yesterday Afternoon—Game Tomorrow.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball squad had a redhot practise yesterday afternoon. With Craig, Tracy Howard, Ralph Schoonmaker, Trotter and Gilmore in action, the infield sizzled with fast plays. Manager Listman, who batted hot ones at his mettlesome colts, was tickled over the way they ate 'em up and threw to bases. More than a few flashes of top midseason form warmed his expectations to a pitch that scorched a picture of the pennant, resting snugly against the wall of the Y. M. C. A. trophy room (poetic license), on his mind's eye. Banks, Percy Phillips and Charley Smith, seasoned players all, pulled down flies in great shape in the outfield. They had the eye, the footwork and the clutch of the sure fielder.

The team will play its first practise game tomorrow afternoon, against the High School nine. Minford or George Dupee will pitch. Both may be sent in to perform.

Lindzer and Ross Return Home.

Peter Linzer and William Ross, who were paroled at State prison yesterday by the Court of Pardons, reached their homes in Plainfield last night and joined their families. It is understood that Lindzer will return to his trade, that of carpenter, but Ross has made no plans for the future.

AGREE ON TRUSTEE PLAN

The Stockholders of Wabbling Building and Loan Association Meet.

THREE ARE SELECTED

Vice Chancellor Leaming Will Decide On Monday Whether Receiver Shall Be Appointed.

More than 600 stockholders of the State Mutual and Loan Association of New Jersey, from all parts of the State, met at Camden, yesterday, to decide the question of winding up its affairs or allowing the application of the attorney-general in behalf of the State Banking Department, for the appointment of a receiver, to go through unopposed.

Of the 27,000 stockholders in the State, there are about fifty in Plainfield, Scotch Plains and Fanwood. It is said that there are about twenty in this city. V. W. Nash, Jr., attended the meeting, representing about fifteen of these stockholders.

The plan to appoint three trustees to wind up the affairs was adopted, those appointed being Addison D. Mulford, of Elizabeth; B. F. Fowler and S. Stanger Izzard, of Woodbury. Each furnished a bond for $25,000.

E. A. Embury, president of the association, presented a report, showing the assets to be $1,202.65 and the liabilities $150,000 in excess of the assets.

The trustee plan was strongly opposed, but subsequently the vote was almost unanimous for it. On Monday next Vice Chancellor Leaming will decide whether the trustee plan shall stand or a receiver be appointed to wind up the affairs of the company. The bonds of the trustees were suggested at anywhere from $7,000 to $50,000 each, but finally decided upon as $25,000 each. There seemed to be general satisfaction over the selection.

FORMAL RECOGNITION OF ORGANIST'S WORK

TRINITY TO OBSERVE MR. TITSWORTH'S 25 YEARS OF SERVICE.

In recognition of the services of Arthur L. Titsworth, as organist of Trinity Reformed church for twenty-five consecutive years, a musical praise service will be held at the church Sunday night, when the quartette choir, under Mr. Titsworth's direction, will render an especially attractive programme of music. Features will be a sermon "Music in the Church," by Rev. Dr. E. P. Johnson, the acting-pastor, and special music by the choir. Mr. Titsworth has served the church faithfully during the past quarter of a century, and no doubt there will be a large attendance of members of the church and congregation at the anniversary service.

The musical programme will be as follows:

Organ prelude, "At Evening" (by request), Dudley Buck; Ascription, Heber-Dykes; anthem, "Bonum est Confiteri," Geo. William Warren; "Gloria Patri," Juan Alzamora; duet, "The Lord Is My Light," Dudley Buck, Miss Winifred C. Carroll and Fred S. Cutter; solo, "O Lord Be Merciful," Homer N. Bartlett, Miss Ethel M. Moore; quartette, "The Lord's Prayer," Charles H. Hoyt; offertory solo, "Fear Not Ye, O Israel," Dudley Buck, Miss Carroll; trio, "Praise Ye," Verdi, Miss Moore, E. D. Young, F. S. Cutter; anthem, "The Day Is Past and Over," J. Christopher Marks, quartette; doxology, Ken-Bourgeois; organ postlude, "Festal March In C," J. Baptiste Calkin.

The quartette is composed of Miss Ethel M. Moore, soprano; Miss Winifred C. Carroll, contralto; E. D. Young, tenor; Fred. S. Cutter, bass.

Mrs. Bostwick Entertains.

Mrs. Frank Bostwick, of Gibraltar, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Goff, of Crescent avenue, for a few months, entertained the whist club, of which she was formerly a member, at her home, yesterday afternoon, and the occasion was a delightful one. There were sixteen guests. Miss Helen Hassell won the first prize, a sandal wood fan; Miss Marie Kampman the second prize, a lace handkerchief, while Mrs. Hugh C. Pierce received the booby prize, a fancy umbrella handle. Refreshments were served after the play.

Plainfielders At Atlantic City.

The following Plainfielders are stopping at Atlantic City this week: Hotel Dennis, C. W. Goff; Hotel Holmhurst, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lyon, Master Lyon; Hotel Iroquois, Rev. W. H. Neilson, Miss C. J. Reed; The St. Clare, G. S. Williams.

M. A. C. ENTERTAINMENT

Annual Reception of Monday Afternoon Club a Delightful Affair.

A COMEDY PRESENTED

Miss Katharine Everts Impersonating Eight Different Characters, Wins Applause.

One of the most brilliant entertainments of the season was given last night at the Casino, when the Monday Afternoon Club held its annual merry-making under most favorable auspices. The Casino itself was a charming setting for the beautiful entertainment, the hall being seated with the easy grace of a large salon, and a profusion of rugs giving the effect of luxurious furnishings. The stage was beautifully decorated with a setting of spring-time green, made rich with the darker tints of palms and ferns. Baskets of green were suspended from the lights, shaded with flower like coverings of green and white. Into this beautiful hall about 300 guests were received by the club president, Mrs. Robert Lowry, the former president, Mrs. Frank O. Herring, whose unexpired term of office Mrs. Lowry is filling, and two of the vice presidents, Mrs. James R. Joy and Mrs. Gates Willard.

The entertainment of the evening was a three act play written by Miss Alice Brown for Miss Katharine Jewett Everts, who was introduced by the president in a few graceful words.

Miss Everts' personality is charming, and her skill in impersonating eight different characters without change of costume, was remarkable. The comedy, "My Lady's Ring," was an interesting story of a jealous husband and a jealous lover, who imagined all sorts of female transgressions when a turquoise ring belonging to the heroine was put by her on the finger of a sleeping peasant girl which led to a variety of unexplainable complications. With many amusing situations, the play interpreted by Miss Everts charms the audience until the closing act, when the lost ring is found and the estranged husband and wife as well as the parted lovers are all made happy with a general promise of better behavior in the future.

An hour of pleasant chat followed, when refreshments were served. Much praise is due the entertainment committee which worked so assiduously and with such marked success to make the hall a scene of beauty. The chairman of the committee was Mrs. J. P. Stevens and her assistants were Mrs. Edward V. Cox, Mrs. Maybury B. Mellor, Mrs. Eugene Hatch, Mrs. Olaf Saugstad, Mrs. Charles H. Tomkins, Mrs. William M. Wherry, Mrs. George S. Ring and Mrs. Fred W. Yates.

ODD RELIC OF WAR TIMES TO BE SHOWN

CANNON BALL IMBEDDED IN PINE TREE TO BE EXHIBITED HERE.

When the veterans of the 11th Regiment, N. J. Vols., hold their reunion at Truell Hall, on Saturday, May 11, there will be exhibited a relic of the Civil War of more than usual interest. It is a portion of the trunk of a Southern pine tree, three feet long and two feet round, imbedded in which is a cannon ball weighing about twelve pounds.

It came from the battefield at Spottsylvania, and is now in possession of Captain William Hand. The relic is owned by J. Frank Lindsley, formerly of Summit, but now of Compton avenue. His father, Ira J. Lindsley, was a captain in Co. C, 15th Regiment, N. J. Vols, and was killed at Fredericksburg, Va., the year before. Some years later the son was visiting the battlefield and he discovered the tree with the ball in it. He immediately hunted up the owner of the land and secured permission to cut it down and bring it home, and it has been in his possession ever since.

When Mr. Lindsley came to Plainfield, Captain Hand was engaged to move his funiture. In this way he saw the war relic and he asked Mr. Lindsley to loan it to him for the reunion to be held here. He willingly consented and Captain Hand is guarding the treasure. From the known position of the soldiers on the battlefield it is practically a certainty that the ball was fired from the Union side.

Bishop at Heavenly Rest.

Bishop Scarborough will make his annual visit to the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Clinton avenue, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when he will preach.

DEMOCRATS FORM CLUB

City Committee Outlines Plan For an Organization for Party Workers.

TO INFUSE NEW LIFE

Committee Chooses Officers and Arranges For Another Meeting—Charter Members Wanted.

Plans for the organization of a permanent Democratic Club were outlined by the Democratic City Committee, last night, when the body met for the election of officers. The club is to be formed early next fall, and will have a prominent part in the campaign for governor.

Club rooms will be provided. One of them will be a reading room, completely and attractively equipped. Pool tables, games and other features of club social life will be provided. A committee made up of J. V. Dilts, Edward J. McCue and Joseph M. Sheppard, was appointed to secure permanent quarters for the organization.

The leaders of the Democracy here feel that the party never had a better chance to rehabilitate itself and wrest back its old-time power from the Republicans, and every effort is to be made to accomplish the resuscitation. It is in accord with this feeling that the plans for the club are made. The organization is counted upon to do much to weld the party together and boom its doctrines and membership. The club will not be merely an incorporated combination of hurrahs and literature," but will be conducted on lines that will draw the best elements of Plainfield Democracy into its fold, and keep them interested in its welfare all the year 'round.

The committee met in the law offices of Walter L. Hetfield, Sr. Seven of the nine members were present. After Temporary Chairman Joseph M. Sheppard called the meeting to order, the following permanent officers were elected:

Chairman, Walter L. Hetfield, Sr.; secretary, George E. First Cook; treasurer, Stephen Schlief.

Those desirous of joining the proposed club may send their names to any of these officers. The committee will meet again Saturday, June 1.

PRESIDENT OPENS JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION

ROOSEVELT MAKES A STIRRING SPEECH BEFORE GREAT CROWD.

President Roosevelt formally opened the Jamestown Exposition this morning, delivering a speech that electrified the vast audience representing all the nations of the earth, that had gathered for the auspicious occasion. The New Jersey building has been thrown open to the public and it is one of the finest on the grounds. James T. MacMurray was among the commissioners from this State present. This building will be in charge of Miss Edith Little of this city, as hostess.

A dispatch to Mills Brothers, brokers contains this part of the President's speech:

"The surest way to avoid war is to prepare to meet it. The things that most concerns us of the present generation are not military but social and industrial. It behooves us to remember that none can ever escape from being governed, either they must govern themselves or submit to being governed by others.

"The greatest problem before us is how to exercise such control over the business use of vast wealth as will insure its not being used against the interests of the public, while yet permitting such ample legitimate profits as will encourage individualism.

A great naval review of sixteen battleships was a feature of the exposition.

Governor Stokes issued a proclamation yesterday setting aside Monday, May 13, for the observance in the public, private and State schools and colleges of the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of Jamestown, Va., the first permanent English senttlement of the American continent.

Hope Held Without Bail

Charles Hope, arrested yesterday on complaint of his wife, for an alleged attempt at a serious crime, was held to await the action of the grand jury this morning by Judge Runyon without bail. He waived examination. The daughter, who is said to have been in danger of maltreatment at Hope's hands is only fourteen years old.

INSTITUTE ELKS' LODGE

Plainfield's Antlered Host had Charge of Elaborate Ceremonies at Somerville.

30 CHARTER MEMBERS

300 Elks In Attendance—District Deputy Supervises Work—A "Spread" Follows.

Plainfield Elks stood out prominently in the institution of the new lodge of the order at Somerville, last night. The officers from the lodge in this city had full charge of the ceremonies and conducted them in a manner that elicited unstinted praise from the big gathering on hand. There were fully 300 of the antlered host in attendance from all parts of the State, while more than a few came from New York city and Pennsylvania towns.

The new branch of the order will be known as Somerville Lodge, No. 1068, and it was cradled in Somerset Hall. The officers from Plainfield Lodge who assumed stations during the work of institution were Exalted Ruler George D. Stevens; Esteemed Leading Knight Clarence E. Teel; Esteemed Loyal Knight A. D. Findlay, Esteemed Lecturing Knight Joseph Noonan, Secretary William Townsend, Treasurer L. A. Bellis, Inner Guard John Bowman and Tyler E. C. Searing. Mr. Findlay and Mr. Bellis acted respectively in the places of Maze Edwards and Harry MacDonold, who were unable to be present.

The Plainfield degree team also conferred the initiation on the thirty charter members, the work being supervised by District Deputy Thomas Fay and staff, of Long Branch. Following the ceremonies, the Somerville Elks served lunch to the guests and a social time was enjoyed. Most of the Plainfielders returned home on the 11:28 train.

The following members were initiated: H. W. Reusswig, Chester A. Cawley, A. M. Beekman, A. W. Mack, J. H. Woodruff, W. P. Suyder, F. Wink, William S. Stryker, E. F. Brown, Charles Wink, C. D. Nolan, A. Rindskopf, Walter Durling, John Zulauf, Fred A. Pope, W. H. Cawley, Sr.

These officers were installed: Exalted ruler, F. Wink; esteemed leading knight, A. W. Mack; esteemed loyal knight, F. A. Pope; esteemed lecturing knight, B. T. Conkling; secretary, A. M. Beekman; treasurer, C. D. McMurtry; esquire, Charles Wink; inner guard, William S. Stryker; tyler, James A. Mets, Jr.; trustees, N. Y. Dungan, C. A. Cawley, J. W. Baldwin.

SESAME CLUB OBSERVES SHAKESPEAR'S BIRTHDAY.

"The Merchant of Venice" the Programme for Annual Celebration.

The Sesame Club yesterday afternoon celebrated Shakespeare's birthday at the home of Mrs. Louis Ross on Seventh street. This is the third year the club has given a Shakespearean play. "The Merchant of Venice" was selected this time, as the programme for this year has been "A Winter in Northern Italy." The guests were received by Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Tennant, president of the club.

Mrs. J. Hervey Doane read a paper giving the synopsis and venetian setting of the play. A comprehensive article reviewing the actors who have become famous in portraying the characters of Portia and Shylock was given by Mrs. Chase.

The different characters in the play were taken by members of the club, and the reading ended with a dramatic rendering of the trial scene given by Mrs. Stuart Simons, who has made a special study of Shakespearean plays.

A feature of the afternoon was music by Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. Harry Johnson, Miss Biglow and Mrs. Gates. The selections were nearly all Italian in character, and were rendered in a charming manner.

At the close of the entertainment refreshments were served. Those presiding at the table were Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Voorhees, Mrs. Cone and Mrs. Foster.

Delightful Entertainment.

Mrs. H. C. VanEmburgh, of East Second street, delightfully entertained a company of friends at whist at her home, yesterday afternoon. There were six tables and the twenty-four players enjoyed the game exceedingly. Mrs. Fred Sandford received the first prize, Mrs. William Starr Bullock the second and Miss Lillie Coward the third. After the play pleasing refreshments were served, and a social timhe followed.

POLICE RAID A "JOINT"

Seven Prisoners Bagged at Colored Woman's "Party" at 4 in the Morning.

VIOLATE EXCISE LAW

Hostess Sentenced to 50 Days and $50 Fine—Four "Guests" Also Punished.

After a week of sleuthing, Roundsman Maurice Higgins decided, last night, that the time had come to break up the activities of Mrs. Lucy Carman, colored, of 836 South Second street. With Patrolmen Arthur McGinley and Daniel McDonald, he raided the house at 4 o'clock this morning, and bagged seven prisoners, the remains of two cases of beer and a big bottle full of the memory of ardent spirits.

The police had been waiting for a chance at Mrs. Carman's place for two weeks. Ed. Carman, her husband, complained to the authorities that his wife was running a combination of perpetual pink tea and speakeasy, in defiance of his wishes, for which she didn't even pretend to have any regard. Higgins heard a week ago that she was to have a "party" and made arrangements then to break it on it, but somebody tipped her off and the party was postponed. Higgins continued to sleuth, and got a tip on his own account, last night that the party was due. The raid followed.

Besides Carman and his wife, the officers arrested Mary Hurling, Belle Peterson, Henry Vanderveer, John Little and John Burgess, all colored. They found what remained of two boxes of beer and a big bottle of whiskey in the room.

The testimony of Carman and Mary Murling in the city court, this morning, when all the prisoners were arraigned under charges of disorderly conduct established the fact that Mrs. Carman has been selling beer and whiskey. Before the officers got to the house a fight between Carman, Little and Mrs. Carman had destroyed the harmony of the party.

Mrs. Carman, who made no attempt at defense and presented a sullen mien to the court, was sentenced to jail for fifty days and fined $50. Belle Peterson, whose case was aggravated by her relations with Vanderveer, was sentenced to forty days in jail. Vanderveer was fined $10 or twenty days, and a similar sentence was passed on Burgess, whose female companion was prudent enough to slip away when the row started. Little escaped with a fine of $5 or twenty days in jail. For having assisted the law with engaging willingness Carman and Mary Hurling were released under suspended sentence.

TABERNACLE BENEFIT WAS WELL RECEIVED.

Vocal Soloists and Orchestra Furnished An Exceptionally Fine Programme.

An orchestral and vocal concert for the benefit of the Hunter Avenue Tabernacle, was given in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, last night, before an audience that almost half filled the auditorium. Martin A. Korff was in charge of the entertainment and his orchestra was assisted by Miss Etta Raybert, soprano soloist; Miss Anna D. Coopér, dramatic reader, and Miss Lilyan M. Teeter. Miss Charlotte Conger accompanied Miss Raybert on the piano.

Miss Raybert sang two numbers and she was well received, as was also Miss Cooper, whose work was meritorius. Miss Teeter received hearty applause, while the selections by the orchestra were up to the usual standard of excellence.

The programme follows:

March, "Parade of the Humming Birds," Losey; overture, "Comedy," Keler Bela, orchestra; piano solo, "Das Mailuftchen," Lange, Miss Teeter; intermezzo, "Cherry," Alberti; gavotte, "Dainty Dames," Blake; Miss Teeter; reading, Miss Cooper; novelette, "A Stray Sunbeam," Hatfield, orchestra; "Youth and Riches," Whiting, orchestra; "Grand Polka de Concert," Barnett, Miss Teeter; meditation, "Autumn," Neil Moret, Miss Teeter; reading, Miss Cooper; Valse di Concert, "Gloriana," Brewer, orchestra; soprano solo, "A Song of Thanksgiving," Frances Allitsen, Miss Raybert; march, "Triumphant America," Losey, orchestra.

Veteran Ball Player Here.

"Al." Williams, the veteran baseball player, formerly a member of the Chicago team, during the captaincy of "Pop" Anderson, was in town on Wednesday calling on friends. He was one of the players "blacklisted" during the period that some of the members were accused of throwing games.

These suits will not cost you a penny more than they usually cost us, the prices being just the usual wholesale cost. There are three splendid lots to choose from.

Prince Chap Suits for misses in double-breasted and cutaway styles; skirts nicely plaited; coats satin lined thruout; made of all wool cloths in the newest striped and checked effects; all handsome indeed; suits that we have to sell regularly at $18, to go at only $10.50

Fashionable Cutaway Suits with handsome plaited skirts, made of the newest striped effects in imported worsteds, in grays and tans and black and white; coats lined with taffeta silk; elegant garments in every particular, of a character that would merit a $25.00 price ticket, to be sold at $15.00

Handsome Prince Chap Suits in cutaway effects with silk collar and cuffs inlaid with white piqué; coats lined with striped taffeta; skirts full plaited; made of imported serges and chiffon panama in navy, russet, brown and black; superb $30 suits, only $19.50

Beautiful Hats at $4.75.

Full of style, full of beauty, and looking for all the world like a hat that might cost $12 or $15 yet it represents the splendid styles we produce to sell for only $4.75. Practically every hat we make for this low-priced collection is of different design or in different color combination. The variety is tremendous and new things are coming out every day.

In our $7.75 and $9.75 collection are also many beautiful hats made of materials somewhat better than those employed in the $4.75, and meeting the demand for a hat of medium price.

White Imitation Hair Flats, worth $1.49, at 95c.

Mushroom Shaped Hats, with pyroxylin crown and chiffon facing, on wire frames; black and white; $2.49 value at $1.95.

Ready-to-Wear Sailors for misses, trimmed with quills and satin ribbons; various colors; worth $1.87, at $1.25.

Full Blown Roses, worth 35c, at 25c.

Daisy Wreaths, worth 50c, at 39c.

How About Your Spring Suit?

If you have not got it yet drop in and see our line—no trouble to show you through. We can certainly please you. Our stock is larger than ever; as for prices, they are always lower than elsewhere for the quality; as for fit, they are perfect. We do not quote prices here as it would take up too much space. Full line of the new fads in Shirts, Hats and Gents' Furnishings. Clothing Made to Your Order.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

MEDICINE.

It's curious what some people believe a medicine will do. They seem to think because I advertise my preparations I claim they will cure anything and everything. Well, I don't.

MISS ISAACSON.

The other day I got a letter from a woman who said her husband had been in bed eighteen years with paralysis. She had bought seven bottles of the Cooper medicines and her husband was still in bed. She stated that I was a scoundrel, a robber and various other pleasant things.

Now the only thing I claim for Cooper's New Discovery is that it will put the stomach in working order. I know that if this is done, rheumatism, constipation, kidney and liver troubles, nervousness, and the general tired out, despondent feeling will disappear in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred. I know this medicine to be a fine tonic which used twice a year will throw off impurities and add flesh, strength and tone to the entire system. But it will not do the impossible. No medicine on earth will do more than help nature. Certain diseases are beyond all medicine, although God in his wisdom may some day give us frail humans a knowledge of how to cure them. At present I know Cooper's New Discovery to be as thoroughly efficient a medicine as was ever on the market, and people who will take it for the common ills to which flesh is heir will be more than satisfied.

Here is a letter from one who has tried:

"For a long time I have suffered from severe headaches, weakness, and pains in my back and sides."

"Nothing I tried gave me relief, and a friend advised me to try your medicine. I improved from the first week. My backache and headache left me and I felt myself growing stronger. My appetite increased and I felt greatly improved in every way. I am indeed thankful for the benefit I have received." Miss Jennie Isaacson, No. 18 15th Avenue, West, Duluth, Minn.

We have sold and are selling great quantities of these famous medicines.

T. S. ARMSTRONG

—While Contractor Arthur E. Smith has until July 1 to complete the building of the four wing walls on the West End avenue bridge, it is believed that he will finish the work within the next four weeks. He is making exceptional progress with the construction of the walls.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Fred VanAsken, pitching for the Naval Academy team, defeated University of Georgia on Wednesday by a score of 4 to 1. Each team secured six hits.

"Billy" Gilbert has made a hit in Trenton, where he is pitching for the Tri-State team. He covers the middle station.

Doyle, of the pitching staff of the Highlanders, showed that he is of major league material on Wednesday, when he faced the Washingtons. It was not his fault that his team lost by a score of 5 to 1.

Minford, who will twirl for the Y. M. C. A. team this season, is one of the most promising of the young players. His work last year attracted considerable attention and his record this season is sure to outshine that.

Mahoney, who is doing the pitching for Fordham College, may be secured by Manager Daab to join the Hobokens after the college season closes.

Jack O'Neil will again be at the receiving end for the Hobokens this year. The team will meet the Cuban Stars at Hoboken on Sunday.

The Plainfield High School team will play Rutgers Prep at Crescent Oval Saturday morning. Both teams are evenly matched and a good game should result.

One of the difficult problems to be solved by the officials of the Inter-City Amateur League is the selection of umpires. Several well-known experts in the game are now being considered.

The series of games this season between Somerville and Flemington promises to be of the red-hot variety. Both teams will stregnthen to the limit to secure a victory. Somerville believes that its team will be the strongest in years.

Crescent Oval is rapidly being put in condition for the opening of the league season on Saturday, May 18. A record-breaking crowd is expected at the first game when the Y. M. C. A. will meet Bound Brook. The same day Clinton Avenue will play Scotch Plains, while Dunellen will have an open date.

BOWLING

On Thursday night, May 2, at the Park Club the cocked-hat bowling tournament will be concluded at which time the Myrtle avenue team will challenge to roll any other aggregation. The wind-up of the tournament is expected to be a glorious one.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The monthly musical service will be held at the First M. E. church Sunday night by the vested choir.

There will be a socal and business meeting of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church in Vincent chapel tonight.

The probationers' class of the First M. E. church will meet this afternoon at the home of the pastor, Rev. A. C. McCrea, 610 Central avenue.

The Junior Society of the Congregation church held an interesting meeting yesterday afternoon, when a special programme was presented.

The Young People's Association of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will meet tonight and continue the study of the question, "How We Got Our Bible."

The repairs at the First Baptist church are progressing favorably and the contractors expect to complete the same by tomorrow night, so that the usual services will be held on Sunday.

On Friday night, May 17, the Epworth League of the First M. E. church will entertain the chapters from Grace M. E. and Monroe Avenue M. E. churches. There will be a musical and literary programme and refreshments.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First M. E. church is studying questions about the missions in China and the meeting of the society this week was one of special interest, each member bringing some item about China.

The Men's Club of the Congregational church will hold its last entertainment of the season on Tuesday night, May 7, when the members will entertain the women of the church and congregation. The programme will be presented by professional talent.

The Rev. Dr. John Fulton, editor of "The Churchman Standard" and professor of canon law at the Philadelphia Divinity School, died there yesterday from heart disease. Dr. Fulton was seventy-two years old, and was born in Scotland. His early work was done in St. Louis, where he was rector of St. George's Protestant Episcopal church. From St. Louis Dr. Fulton went to New York, where he held an editorial post on "The Churchman." Dr. Fulton went to Philadelphia in 1892. He was recognized as an authority on canon law.

PLAINFIELD LEGION, N. P. L., HOLDS ENTERTAINMENT.

The Misses Emmons and Moore and Four H Quartette Furnish Programme.

Plainfield Legion, No. 1495, National Protective Legion, celebrated its first anniversary last night, by giving an entertainment to members and their friends in Coward's hall on Park avenue. The attendance was large and the affair was thoroughly enjoyed, marking in a fitting way the close of the organization's initial year.

Horace J. Martin, who is worthy president of the legion, was master of ceremonies and delivered an opening address in which he referred to the success of the organization since it was started. He was followed by the Four H Quartette, in songs, choruses and character work; Miss Amy Emmons, who delighted everyone with her chacacter readings and recitations, and Miss Ethel Moore, of Cranford, a soloist of note. An address dealing with the aims and objects of the National Protective Legion was given by District Deputy S. A. Meeker, of Paterson. The Plainfield legion started with a membership of forty and has more than doubled in the first twelve months. It is open to both men and women.

Last night's anniversary was arranged by a committee of which Horace J. Martin was chairman.

MR. SWACKHAMER GIVES SOME THOUGHTS ON LIFE.

Former Legislator Addresses Monroe Avenue Men's Association.

"Some Passing Thoughts," was the subject of a highly interesting address given by S. S. Swackhamer before the Men's Association of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church last night. His chief thought was a plea to men to practice helping each other. He deplored the fact that some men are so selfish that give little heed or thought to their fellow-men in the constant rush for position and wealth.

Mr. Swackhamer emphasized the importance of men of the church being helpful to each other and thus by example attract others to the church and its helpful influences. He had a good word for men's associations in the church and said he believed that they are an excellent means to right living.

THE WHITE RIBBONERS ARE IN CONVENTION.

Somerset W. C. T. U. Observing Its Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Today.

The twenty-first anniversary of the Somerset County W. C. T. U. was celebrated in the chapel of the Reformed church, Somerville, today, in connection with the spring institute of the association. Mrs. Deborah P. Peake, of East Millstone, widely known throughout the State as a temperance worker, and who is the county president, presided. She conducted a symposium on "Peace and Arbitration," this morning. Mrs. Emma Bourne, of Newark, was in charge of the prayer service.

The afternoon session was led by Miss Carrie Melick, of Peapack.

SWINDLER GETS $10 FROM PARK PLACE WOMAN.

Tells the Borough Police About it But Shrinks From Getting Her Name in Print.

A Park place woman informed Chief Marshal Weiss, of the borough police force, last night, that she had been swindled out of $10 by a man who had called at her home yesterday afternoon. She stated that the fellow represented himself as "T. Kelly," a coal dealer, and said that her husband had placed on order with him in the morning. It amounted to $16, he said, but as he needed some money immediately he asked if she could let him have $10 on account. The money was given him and when the husband came home last night, it was learned he had given no order for coal.

The woman, who asked the chief to be sure and not give her name to the newspapermen, described the swindler as a short, stout fellow, with a smooth face and about five feet eight inches in height. He wore a black suit and a black derby hat. The chief and his men, together with the husband of the unknown victim, are after the man and the ten spot.

INJURED BY FALLING SIGN IN NEW YORK.

Dunellenite Rendered Unconscious In Peculiar Accident On Broadway.

Harry Titsworth, of Dunellen, was severely injured by a falling sign in New York, Wednesday afternoon. He was walking along Broadway when the sign, which swung from one of the windows of an office biulding, fell as a gust of wind struck it.

Mr. Titsworth was struck on the head, and rendered unconscious. He was carried to a nearby drug store, where an ambulance surgeon worked over him for nearly an hour before he regained consciousness. He was allowed to go home without a journey to the hospital.

He was cut about the head and face, but his injuries are not serious. He will be detained from business for some time.

NO MORE GALLOWS.

Executions by Electricity Will Be Held at Trenton.

Governor Stokes affixed his signature yesterday to the bill of Senator Wakelee making it the duty of the State Prison Inspectors to provide a suitable deathhouse in the State prison grounds here, to be used in putting murders to death by electricity.

"New Idea" Dinner.

Grand View Hall, in Jersey City, was thronged last night at a dollar dinner given by the Central Republican Committee of Hudson county. More than one thousand men pledged to the "new idea" were there. Senator Colby said: "If my judgment does not fail me we should have no candidate for Governor, but strike for the members of the Assembly on a progressive and sound platform."

Marshall & Ball Clothing
The Highest Type of Ready-to-Wear.

Refined Spring Clothes

That Never Arouse Sympathy.

There are a whole lot of garments that, after doing service for a month or so, are objects of pity. The sagging collars and broken fronts of the coats present a sorry sight.

Marshall & Ball Garments never excite sympathy. Shapeliness and individuality are permanent features. That's because M. & B. Clothes are not just pressed into shape. Their shapeliness is built in—they are tailored so they stay that way by men who find pleasure in producing something a little better than their fellow-craftsmen.

The new coats are long, with slightly shaped backs and no vents. Overcoats are also long; some have black velvet collars. The new grays are the popular shades.

Spring Suits, Overcoats, and Raincoats, $12 to $35.

Men's $5, $6, $7 and $8 Sample Oxfords $3.85.

They're Salesmen's Samples of Spring and Summer Oxfords made by the Boyden Shoe Co. Button and lace. Your pick at $3.85. Can't afford to spend much time thinking it over.

Women's $5 and $6 Sample Oxfords $3.85.

Made over M. & B. Tru-Tred lasts to sell regularly at $5 and $6. Sample sizes, mostly 4-B. Only about 100 pairs. Won't last long.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Nat M. Wills, the happy tramp, will be here this afternoon and evening in Broadhurst and Currie's latest musical play, "A Lucky Dog," with an ensemble of fifty and a lot of new song hits. The night performance will be for the benefit of the local firemen's association.

"Joshua Simpkins," a story of farm life, will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night. It is said to abound in novel features, wonderful mechanical effects, excellent singing and dancing and plenty of refined, wholesome fun, and brings to light in the third act a real saw-mill in full operation. The fine band carried by the company will make a burlesque parade at noon.

Chauncey Olcott, who will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night, will present for the first time in Plainfield "Eileen Ashore," his new romantic drama from the pen of Theodore Burt Sayre, which has just passed through the fiery ordeal of the New York critics without receiving an adverse word. It is conceded to be the best romantic play of the day and, after fulfilling outstanding engagements previously contracted for, Mr. Olcott will take his production to one of the Broadway theatres for an extended run. During its recent New York engagements seats were held at a premium from the opening night. The play deals with a most picturesque period in history—that immediately following the opening of the last century. Dublin and its environs are the scenes of its action and while there is suspense from the start, the theme is not political. Richard Temple, Mr. Olcott's role, is a dashing young Irishman who has had his fling, ruined himself through dissolute habits and drink, and is about to flee his country to enlist under Napoleon when chance throws him in the way of Eileen O'Donnell and he falls into love at first sight. He opens a desperate siege of her heart, but she will have none of him, his name is a reproach to decency. How he builds up a new name, conquers his enemies, drink and cards, and baffles a titled aspirant to Eileen's hand, is the dramatist's theme. Mr. Olcott is given the opportunity not alone to sing four exquisite new songs, all written and composed by himself, but to do some histrionic work which amazes his warmest admirers.

It is a pleasure to announce that Denman Thompson's quaint chronicle of rustic life in the New Hampshire fields and valleys, "The Old Homestead," is booked to appear at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday afternoon and night. The twenty-one years of life that this remarkable play has had is a striking tribute to its power to please a large class of theatregoers, who find in its homely sentiment, flashes of wit, lovable characters and meadow-tinted atmosphere, a refreshing change from the glare and tinsel of the spectacular. The cast and scenic embellishment in the coming engagement are promised to be of the same high order of excellence which Mr. Thompson has always provided. The special musical features, the double quartette and the grand choir in the Grace church scene, are said to be as effective as in previous years.

Bricklayers Scrap.

Nicholas Kelly and John Brown, bricklayers, paused in their work on the foundations of a building on East Front street, near Watchung avenue, this morning, to pummel one another. The fight started over a question as to their respective merits as mechanics. Before the question could be properly settled, Detective-Sergeant Flynn and Roundsman Maurice Higgins applied the strong-arm gag-rule. They were brought didectly before City Judge Runyon, and each of them paid $5 to get away.

YALE MEN MAKE MERRY

Old Eli's Glee, Banjo and Mandolin Clubs Delights Large and Select Audience.

A DANCE AFTERWARDS

Society Folk as Patronesses—Sixty Undergraduates in Several Clubs at the Casino.

The Yale Glee, Banjo and Mandolin Clubs, sixty strong, delighted a large audience at the Casino, last night, and the reception given the musical organization from "Old Eli" was a flattering one, indeed. The true college spirit was shown in the programme presented and the frequent bursts of applause on the part of the audience. The clubs are exceptionally strong this year and there was not a disappointing number on the programme. Special mention is due the mandolin and banjo clubs. The selections and execution were of the highest order. They were repeatedly re-called and generously responded.

The vocal numbers aroused the audience to great enthusiasm. While the programme was of the popular order, including many new and original numbers, there was a noticeable absence of the time-worn college songs. The glee club is exceptionally well balanced and the members sang in perfect harmony. Perhaps, the greatest hit of the evening was by the quartette composed of Messrs. Bull, Fowler, Howard and Carter. They introduced several specialties which produced a storm of applause. The special numbers by Mr. Carter, Mr. Fowler and Mr. Collins, accompanied by the glee, banjo and mandolin clubs, were also features of the concert.

Following the concert, which lasted until 10:30, an informal dance was held which proved to be an enjoyable windup to the affair.

The programme follows:

"Alma Mater," Shepard, glee club; "Razzazza Mazzazza," Pryor, banjo club; "Mr. Verdant Green," Mason-Bartholomew, glee club; "Bells of Yale," Ives, P. H. Collins, glee and banjo clubs; "Stars of the Summer Night," Goodale, glee club; "Eternelle Ivresse," Ganne, mandolin club; "Once in a Purple Twilight," Cowles, W. L. Carter and glee club; "Guardmont Patrol," Eilenberg, banjo club; "College Medley," Carmina Yalensis, glee club; quartette, L. S. Bull, T. C. Fowler, J. M. Howard, W. L. Carter; "Tutti Fruitti," glee and banjo clubs; "Interger Vitae," "Matin Bells," Carmen Yalensis, glee club yodel by M. L. Mitchell; "Punchinello," Herbert, mandolin club; "A Long Way Down," B. Hooker, 1902, T. C. Fowler and glee club; "Bright College Years," Durand, 1881, glee club.

These were the patronesses for the concert and dance: Mrs. Charles F. Abbott, Mrs. Albert H. Atterbury, Mrs. Philip H. Bailey, Mrs. Howard W. Beebe, Mrs. James R. Blake, Mrs. Henry E. Butler, Mrs. Leighton Calkins, Mrs. Edward V. Cox, Mrs. Geo. P. Dupee, Mrs. George W. English, Mrs. Charles J. Fisk, Mrs. Howard C. Fleming, Mrs. Henry L. Hall, Mrs. B. VanD. Hedges, Mrs. Lemuel R. URGE COLBY TO STAND

New Idea People Believe He Should be a Candidate for Gubernatorial Nomination.

FAGAN BOOMING HIM

Jersey City Dollar Dinner Furnished An Exhibition of the Great Zeal and Ardor of the Colbyites.

Senator Everett Colby may be the nominee of the New Idea party for Governor, despite his opinion that they should not organize as a political party, but as minute men to be at call to fight for good government. Mayor Fagan entertains a different view. He believes the only practical way to accomplish the desired reforms is through political activity and the election of men identified with the New Idea, especially those who have taken an active interest and brought about the development of the movement. Mayor Fagan maintains that they must keep up their activity and be aggressive and the leaders must assume their share of responsibility in the cause, and when called on to act in their interest of the people, even to accept a nomination, it is their duty to accept. What has been achieved in the way of legislation for the people he says has been grudgingly given through fear; that if the New Idea movement becomes of the passive sort the old machine men will continue their methods and work for the corporations, halting only when the reformers rally to wage war openly on them.

Mayor Fagan has no confidence in the machine politicians and says the only way to secure the rights of the people is to fight on until the machine politicians are retired to private life, and that the ultimate success of the New Idea movement is assured. He was emphatic on that point at the close of the dinner in Jersey City, which did not end until long after 1 o'clock yesterday morning. He told Senator Colby he had no right to consult his own wishes in the matter; that when the people demanded that he run he should be a candidate for the nomination. Senator Colby announced that he would be a candidate again for State Senator, but Mayor Fagan was persistent in his contention that Senator Colby should step forth as the nominee.

Senator Colby is sure of twelve hundred votes in Hudson, for every man at the dinner is an enthusiastic admirer of the Essex Senator and would work zealously for his nomination. The dinner has infused the New Idea men with renewed ardor. The committee in charge had made a careful calculation based on the reports and had supposed they had made a liberal provision when they ordered six hundred places. The outpouring of those interested in the movement had exceeded the most sanguine expectations, but when the unexpected participants came to the door of the hall they could not be well turned away, and many had to take pot luck. But the situation was understood. They had come to hear and cheer the spakers, and no fault was found with the service, as they had ample opportunity to unloosen their enthusiasm and did it. The leaders of the New Idea movement are jubilant and they are inspired to keep up the battle with increased confidence. No political dinner ever given in the State of New Jersey has equalled in attendance that of the Faganites nor has any similar gathering approximated it in zeal and ardor.

Raising Funds for New Carpet.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild, of the church of the Heavenly Rest, an entertainment and social was held in the parish house, Wednesday night for the benefit of the carpet fund. The entertainment consisted of violin and piano selections by Miss Violet Hallard and Miss Clara Hallard; vocal selections by Miss Elizabeth Forster, and readings by Mrs. W. B. Grannatt. A social time followed and refreshments were served.

Foreign Missionary Society to Meet.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Elizabeth District of the Newark Conference will meet in St. Mark's church, Princess Bay, S. I., Friday, May 3, with morning and afternoon sessions. Mrs. A. C. McCrea, of the First M. E. church, the president of the society, will preside and it is expected that there will be a large representation from the local societies. Miss Jennie V. Hughes will be one of the speakers.

Miss Matthews Will Speak.

Instead of the regular mid-week prayer meeting at the First M. E. church on Wednesday night of next week, the Women's Home Missionary Society of the church will have charge. Miss Matthews, who is in charge of the bureau of immigration for the Methodist church at Ellis Island, will be the speaker.

FEATURES OF PLAINFIELD

Attractions that Combine to Make Queen City an Ideal Place of Residence.

UP-TO-DATE COMMUNITY

All Modern Improvements and Fully Abreast of the Times—What It Has to Offer.

Inaugurating its campaign of publicity, the Board of Trade has issued a neat folder setting forth in a nutshell the attractive features of the community as an ideal city of homes. Combined with it are a number of handsome reproductions of scenes in and about the place.

In outlining the striking features of the city, the pamphlet states:

Plainfield, and under this head is included North Plainfield which adjoins it, at the base of the Watchung Mountains, twenty-four miles from New York, one the Central Railroad of New Jersey, is an ideal city of homes for those seeking life in the suburbs, affording all the conveniences and advantages of the city, with none of its inconveniences and disadvantages.

Plainfield is not a community that has sprung up in a night. On the contrary, it has been incorporated as a city for thirty-nine years. Its age is attested by the fine old shade trees that line the streets everywhere, standing as monuments to the thought of those who, in years gone by, caused them to be planted.

Plainfield has a population of twenty-five thousand; its homes are supplied with both gas and electric light; it has a complete sewer system; it has 43 miles of macadamized streets, with flagged side walks; excellent water; nine schools and two high schools, valued at $547,000, beside a number of private schools; a public library, standing fourth in size in the State; a splendid hospital; churches of all denominations; a paid fire department equipped with apparatus of the most modern type; an efficient public department; a country club and at own club; a theatre in which the leading New York attractions appear during the season; a casino, etc.

Plainfield has a Trust Company, two National Banks and a Savings Bank, with combined deposits of more than six million of dollars. Two daily newspapers and department stores that compare favorably with those of New York.

Plainfield has four railway stations within the corporate limits and enjoys a splendid train service, upwards of one hundred trains stopping daily. The commutation rate to New York is $7.60 a month, about 25 cents for the round trip. Commuters' trains bring one to Plainfield in forty-five minutes. This includes the time spent on the ferry from Liberty street to the New Jersey terminus.

Upon going about Plainfield, one is impressed by the appearance of the lawns and well-kept grounds that meet the eye everywhere. It is truly a garden spot and one must visit it to appreciate its many beauties and advantages. To one who appreciates life in the country, Plainfield, with its urban conveniences, must commend itself.

Copies of the folder may be obtained free by applying to Edward F. Feickert at the Plainfield Trust Company building.

Fred Peterson Asks That Amount to Pay For Three Fingers.

Fred Peterson, a former employe of the Quincey-Manchester-Sergeant Company, West Front street, seeks $5,000 as compensation for the loss of three fingers in an accident at the company's plant.

He was hurt on December 24. The thumb and two fingers of his right hand were taken off, and his hand has been left so crippled as to be practically useless. He has retained Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., to look after his interests, and the claim has been presented to the insurance company that handles the accident cases of the Quincey-Manchester-Sergeant Company. If the company does not settle at a figure satisfactory to his client, Mr. Hetfield will bring suit.

Spent Their Fare.

Roundsman Maurice Higgins arrested William Stevens and Howard Morris, Newark boys, for trying to steal a ride on a freight train at 10 o'clock last night. They said they pooled their pocket money yesterday and rode here for fun. They spent all they had, and thought it would be easy enough to get home on a freight train. Their fathers were notified, and the boys were taken back home this morning.

—Young man, with some experience, can secure a steady and desirable position in the press room by applying immediately at The Daily Press office.

STOKES AND FOWLER ADDRESS BANKERS

BECK ALSO A SPEAKER AT SESSIONS HELD AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Governor Stokes and former Assistant U. S. Attorney-General Beck were the principal speakers at a banquet given by the New Jersey Bankers' Association, at the Chelsea, Atlantic City, last night, in connection with the two days' convention of the association. Several hundred bankers from all over the State attended the business session yesterday afternoon at which Representative Fowler delivered an address on currency expansion. He declares that bank reserves and credits must be changed to allow a more elastic credit with which to do banking business.

Today's session will be devoted largely to a discussion of the tax on bank stocks. Delegates will also be chosen to attend the National Bankers' convention. President B. H. Minch, of the New Jersey Association, was among those who spoke at yesterday's session.

Carlton Godfrey, head of the Guarantee Trust Company, of Atlantic City, presided at the business session. Mayor Francis P. Stoy delivered the address of welcome, and the response was made by Senator Bloomfield H. Minch, of the Bridgeton National Bank.

"The Taxation of National Bank Stock in New Jersey," was the subject of an address by State Senator George E. Silzer.

NO EXPOSITION STAMPS ON SALE AT POSTOFFICE

POSTMASTER BIRD HAS RECEIVED NONE FROM THE GOVERNMENT.

In accordance with an order issued by the postal authorities at Washington, yesterday was fixed as the time when, in connection with the opening of the Jamestown Expositioon, there should go on sale at all postoffices a special series of exposition postage stamps. It is said that the stamps have been received at some of the larger officers, but Postmaster E. H. Bird has thus far failed to obtain any.

Mr. Bird made a requisition for the stamps in denominations of one, two and five, on April 10, and the instructions informed him that they would be issued a week later, but they have not reached Plainfield yet. They were to be put on sale yesterday and continued until November 30, during the time of the exposition. They will be sold in connection with the regular issue of stamps.

These stamps consist of three denominations. The one-cent stamp, green in color, bears a cut of Captain John Smith. The red two-cent stamp has a landing scene, while the blue five-cent stamp, designed principally for letters to foreign countries, shows a picture of Pocohontas.

Special Musical Service.

Under the direction of J. Edmund Skiff, organist and choir-master, the vested choir of the First M. E. church will give this programme at a special musical service tomorrow night: "Unfold Ye Portals," (Redemption), Gounod; "O Gladsome Light," (Light of the World) Sullivan; "Dawn of Earth's New Sabbath," Burdett; "Sing Allelulia Forth," Buck; solo, "But the Lord is Mindful of His Own," (Elijah) Miss Suzanne Zimmerman; solo, "I Will Extol Thee, O Lord," (Eli) Costa, Miss Laura Gesswein; solo, "Tarry With Me, O My Saviour," Shackley, Carlos C. Gallup.

Fred J. Leary Resigns.

Fred J. Leary, who has been instructor in languages at John Leal's School during the past few years, will sever his connection with the institution in June. He has not decided upon his plans, but it is likely that he will take up a special line of study. During his stay in Plainfield he has made many friends and has been successful as a teacher. He has also taken an active part in Y. M. C. A. athletics, being one of the strongest players on the basketball team.

Evangelistic Services.

Special religious services are being held today at the Plainfield Rescue Mission, in the W. C. T. U. under the direction of Rev. E. J. Richards, evangelist. Miss Mary Compton, a returned missionary from India, is assisting and Miss Cromwell, of Cranford, is in charge of the singing. Similar services will be held at the same place tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the afternoon and 7:30 o'clock at night.

—For tomorrow's dinner you need fresh vegetables. Neuman Brothers have an assortment they received this morning that will aid you in making selections.

SEEK TO RAISE $16,000

Rev. A. C. McCrea Chairman of Newark Conference Committee for Seminary Fund.

TOTAL TO BE $400,000

130 Alumni In Conference and Friends of Institution Are Asked to Contribute to the Fund.

In an effort to secure $400,000 which has been promised Drew Theological Seminary, provided the alumni and friends of the seminary raise an additional $400,000, the alumni of the Newark Conference have undertaken to get $16,000 of the amount. Plans have been formulated and active steps are being taken at once with Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, of this city, acting as chairman of the Newark conference general committee. He and his associates will co-operate with the general committee as they proceed and they have hopes of great success.

Drew Seminary has 130 alumni in the Newark Conference, the largest number in any conference in the Methodist connection. Of the $16,000 which they are to raise, several thousand have already been pledged and Dr. McCrea has every assurance that the entire sum will be forthcoming in proper time.

The effort to raise the $400,000 among the alumni and friends of the seminary came about through the offer of Samuel W. Bowne, president of the Board of Trustees, to give $100,000 for endowment, provided the former amount was forthcoming. No particular time limit has been set for the completion of the task, but the alumni are trying to have it in hand by November of this year, when the seminary completes its fiftieth year. The fund will be known as the "Henry A. Buttz Professorship," in honor of the man who has given his entire life to the work of the institution. The plan to get the $100,000 among the alumni is to apportion the amount equally among the annual conferences in which there are alumni, and on the basis of the number of alumni in each conference.

Since its establishment at Madison forty years ago, Drew Seminary has been steadily growing and at the present time it stands among the foremost of American theological institutions. The work has been continualy enlarged and at times the income has been severely taxed. The securing of Mr. Bowne's $100,000 and the Buttz Professorship fund will provide for the work for years to come.

ODDFELLOWS VISIT RAHWAY.

Assist Lodge at That Place In Observing Anniversary of the Order.

A big delegation of members from Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., journeyed to Rahway by special trolley last night to present the three links, the emblem of the order, to Essex lodge, of that place. The trip was in the nature of a fraternal visit and also to assist the Rahwegians in celebrating the eighty-eighth anniversary of Oddfellowship, which occurred yesterday. A number of members from Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, were also in attendance.

The Plainfield end of the affair was in charge of Noble Grand William H. Harper and the links were presented in behalf of Queen City by David Crowell. Vocal and instrumental music and speeches were features of the programme and in conclusion supper was served. The return to this city was made at 1 o'clock.

Bridge Site Inspected.

A visit was made to the new Church street crossing, Rahway, Thursday by several members of the Board of Freeholders and Engineer Bates to inspect the property and take measurements for the new bridge across the Robinson branch of the Rahway River. The general opinion seemed to be that a structure sixty feet wide and seventy-five feet long, of concrete, will fill the bill. Reports and figures are to be submitted at the next meeting of the board. Councilman James Mershon was chairman of the committee, representing the City Council of Rahway.

Local Contractors Are Busy.

Local contractors all report great activity in the building line, both in the matter of new construction work and in repairing. Several carpenters are rushed with repairs in various parts of the city, and a majority of the contractors have enough work to keep them busy all summer.

—Dr. Ralph M. Crane, osteopathist, of 220 Central Park South, New York city, will visit Plainfield Tuesdays and Saturdays. Those desiring appointments for consultation and osteopathic treatment, address care of Rev. A. C. Nickerson, 768 Kensington avenue. 3 2 tf s m ***

TAFT BOOM IS LAUNCHED

Amid Roars of Cheers Burton Mentions His Name for the Presidency.

AT TRENTON DINNER

Three Hundred Republicans Wildly Applaud When Secretary's Name Is Announced.

Congressman Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, launched Secretary William H. Taft's boom for President in New Jersey at the annual dinner of the Republican Club at Trenton last night and it started off with a shout.

There were 300 Republicans from all parts of the State around the banquet board. Burton was the chief speaker. He dealt with the issues of the day as laid down by President Roosevelt and paid Secretary Taft a glowing tribute without mentioning his name until the close, when he declared:

"My choice for President in 1908 is a son of Ohio, William H.——"

The assembled multitude took the word out of his mouth, and the roar of "Taft" was heard blocks away from Masonic Temple, where the dinner was being served.

When order was again restored Mr. Burton was allowed to conclude:

"I recognize in him an efficient officer who has been proficient in any position he has held. It will hardly be necessary to count in the convention the minority votes."

Prolonged cheers rent the air, and New Jersey's first step into the Taft column had been taken.

The nomination was seconded by Congressman J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia.

Burton's references to Senator Foraker were mild, his greatest severity being a characterization of him as "a man who is frequently said to be of the fire-eating brand."

Mr. Burton was expected to speak on the political situation in Ohio, but failed to do so, except in a general way to say the situation there was common in all the States. He pleaded for participation in politics by the better class of American men, declaring that without this there could be no real political reform. He urged that political events of all kinds be curbed, but advised care lest unwarranted crusades be made against honest wealth or corporations doing a legitimate business without oppressing the people.

Mr. Burton was enthusiastically received on his own account because of his work as chairman of the House committee on rivers and harbors in securing a $50,000 appropriation for the improvement of the Delaware river at this point.

PLAINFIELD STOCKHOLDERS WANT REPRESENTATION.

W. A. Woodruff Their Candidate for Trustee For B. and L. Association.

In the matter of the appointment of trustees to wind-up the affairs of the State Mutual and Loan Association, of Camden, it was hoped by the Plainfield share-holders that William A. Woodruff, of this city, would receive appointment as a member of the body, on account of his large experience in real estate matters and also from the fact that he has acted as treasurer for the Plainfield branch for many years gratutiously. Should there be any changes in the trustees the local stockholders say they trust Mr. Woodruff will be appointed, as he is particularly well qualified, and it is believed he would get all possible out of the concern for the policyholders.

The fifteenth annual statement of the association was presented by President E. A. Armstrong at the meeting on Wednesday. This showed the assets to be $1,202,065.54 and the liabilities to be about $150,000 in excess of the assets. The total disbursements for the past year amounted to $645,814.69 and the total amount repaid to members by matured shares, withdrawals, etc., to date is $3,799,919.

Hackmen Suspended.

William Willis and Ray Hall, colored, charged with violating the hack ordinance by soliciting passengers at the North avenue station, were arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning. They were convicted on the testimony of President Leslie M. Daniel, of the Common Council, whom they had hailed as he left the train. Judge Runyon ordered them to suspend their work as hack drivers at the station for three months, under penalty of a sentence suspended over their heads to enforce the judgment.

Fined Eight Dollars.

Lud Frazee, more or less regular in his appearances at the city court, was arraigned again this morning on a charge of drunkenness. It cost Lud $8 to square up.

WORK OF SNEAK THIEF

Jewelry Valued at $300 taken From Ivamy's Flat in Broad Daylight.

ONLY A SLIGHT CLUE

Strange Man Seen On Porch Of Flat About Noon Time By Wife of a Clerk.

Jewelry valued at $300 was stolen from the flat of Fred Ivamy, on East Second street, yesterday afternoon. The thief worked swiftly and escaped without leaving much more than a trace of his identity.

The robbery was discovered by Mrs. Ivamy at 5 o'clock, when she went upstairs from Ivamy's store, over which the flat is situated. All the pieces of jewelry in the couple's bedroom, most of which were in an antique silver jewel case in a bureau drawer, were missing. The room and the drawer were not upset, the thief evidently having looked merely for jewelry in plain sight and not spending any time in search. The list of missing articles furnished to the police includes gold cuff buttons, gold-filled watch, watch chain, gold pencil, two pearl stickpins, opal and diamond ring, diamond and sapphire ring, turquoise ring, sunburst breastpin, pearl breastpin, diamond ring and a pocketbook containing keepsakes.

Mrs. Walter Kettenring, wife of one of Ivamy's clerks, saw a man, wearing a light spring overcoat, on the back porch of the flat at 12:30 o'clock, when she brought her husband's lunch. At about that time, Miss Leona Walters, Ivamy's bookkeeper, who had gone upstairs to prepare her lunch, was in the bathroom arranging her hair. She was in the bathroom about fifteen minutes, and during that time the rest of the flat was unguarded, with the door open. Mr. Ivamy was in the store. That is the only clue the police have to the thief and they are working on it.

Kenneth Robison, who has been visiting friends in the borough, has returned to his home in Brooklyn.

The roadbed on Park avenue, in the borough, has been treated to a covering of crushed stone.

Miss Myrtle Shackleton is spending a week with relatives at Oxford Furnace, N. J.

The local ball game this afternoon with the Bayonne A. C. team will be called at 3:30.

Miss Susie Parse was the guest yesterday of Mrs. Sarah Hart, of Bound Brook.

The Bible Study Class of the Methodist church met last night.

Miss Anna Case, soprano, and Miss Jessamine Burd, contralto, who are pupils of Mme. Renaud, of New York, were soloists at the annual recital given in Aeolian Hall, New York, this week. Several Plainfielders attended.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The women of the Church of the Heavenly Rest are preparing for a fair to be held in the parish house early in June.

At the next regular communion service at the First M. E. church a large class of probationers will be received by the pastor, Rev. A. C. McCrea.

At the monthly musical service at the First M. E. church tomorrow night, the pastor, Rev. A. C. McCrea, will deliver a short sermon appropriate to the occasion.

Commencing a week from tomorrow, Miss Jessamine Burd, of Somerville, will assume her new position as contralto in the quartette choir at the First Presbyterian church.

Following the monthly business meeting of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church, at Vincent chapel, last night, a social hour was enjoyed. A similar meeting will be held Friday night, May 3.

The Choral Festival which was to have been held under the auspices of the Church Choir Guild of Plainfield and vicinity, in Grace church, on the evening of Ascension Day, May 9, is unavoidably postponed.

Rev. A. C. McCrea, of the First M. E. church, and Rev. J. E. Robertson, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will exchange pulpits tomorrow morning and in the evening each pastor will preach in his own pulpit.

Owing to repairs which have been in progress at the First Baptist church this week, the Sunday-school Athletic League was unable to hold its weekly meeting in the church last night. It will be held next week Friday night.

PERSONAL.

Miss Sarah Smith, of Raritan, has been spending a few days with relatives in town.

Miss Irene Dunham, of West Front street, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gulick, of Raritan.

Mrs. Leonard VanCamp and son, Roseo, of the borough, have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter VanCamp, of South Branch.

Miss Myra Dunavan, of East Second street, has recovered from a recent illness and returned to her studies at the Plainfield High School.

Mrs. Lillie Wilson, of Califon, has returned home after a visit with her son, who is a patient at Muhlenberg Hospital, being under treatment for eye trouble.

Friends of Maurice McGrath, formerly of Plainfield, but now of South America, have received letters from him recently indicating that he is meeting with much success in his business venture in that country. He at one time was employed in the postoffice in New Brunswick.

Mrs. F. O. Herring, formerly of Park avenue, but now living in the Adirondacks, is visiting in town for a few days. Mr. Herring, for the benefit of whose health they are in the mountains, is greatly improved. He will remain away for at least another year to insure perfect restoration of health.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Carroll Runyon, of East Ninth street, formerly with the Manganese Steel Safe Works, has taken a position in New York.

—P. H. Latourette, auctioneer, will conduct an auction sale of household furniture at 403 East Fifth street, Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The list of articles to be sold include everything found in a well appointed home.

—There will be a rehearsal of "The Peasant Prince," under the direction of W. E. MacClymont, on Monday night. A number of the members of the Plainfield Operatic Association will appear in this production.

—Workmen are engaged in ploughing the field at West Front street and Grant avenue, and otherwise putting the land in shape for the carnival which is to be held there by Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus.

Will Leave Plainfield May 1.

Miss Edith B. Little, who has received the appointment of hostess at the New Jersey building at the Jamestown Exposition, will not leave for Jamestown until May 1. At first she thought she would be obliged to leave Plainfield yesterday, but some correspondence arranged the matter satisfactorily and she has been able to defer the trip, thus giving her time for preparation.

Where Is the Trolley Sprinkler.

While the time may not have arrived for the Public Service Corporation to put its trolley sprinkler in action, it has been suggested that it would be a wise policy for the company not to wait until the exact date. Riding in the trolley cars is a source of great discomfiture these days owing to the clouds of dust that constantly blows through them.

Public Hearing On Ordinances.

The Common Council will hold its regular meeting Monday night, May 6, when the brick paving ordinance, and the one providing for the installation of a storm sewer in Plainfield avenue will come up for a public hearing, for the ultimate purpose of adopting them. Other business of much importance will also be taken up.

P.C.C. TENNIS SCHEDULE

Thomas M. Day Announces Complete List of Season's Events on the Courts.

TROPHIES ARE OFFERED

Tournaments For Men and Women and Mixed Doubles—Special Contests For Boys.

The tennis committee of the Plainfield Country Club, of which Thomas M. Day is the chairman, issued the season schedule of events in tennis today, and a full list of competitions has been arranged. In addition to the regular events a continuous tournament to extend throughout the season has been planned. This is to stimulate play among tennis enthusiasts.

Entries should be made not later than 6 p. m., on the day preceding each tournament, to Miss Schuyler, 319 East Seventh street, in the women's and girls' events, and to Thomas M. Day, 740 Clarlton avenue, in the men's and boys' and mixed doubles events. The ranking established by last year's continuous tournament revised as may be necessary by the tennis committee, will furnish the basis of the original ranking. Players not ranked should communicate at once with the committee.

The tennis committee is composed of the following persons: Thomas M. Day, chairman; Henry J. Cochran, vice chairman; Frederick W. Goddard, Owen H. Fleming, Wylie Brown, Miss Sarah E. Schuyler and Miss Elsie Burke.

The schedule of events follow:

May 4, 10 a. m., Boys' Handicap singles. Boys under 16 years eligible. May 11, 10 a. m., Women's Handicap singles; 2:30 p. m., Men's doubles. May 18, 10 a. m., Girls' singles. Girls under 18 years eligible. May 25, 10 a. m., Women's singles tournament of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association begins. Cups offered by the association. 2:30 p. m., Men's doubles tournament of the East New Jersey Lawn Tennis Association begins. Cups offered by the association. May 30, 10 a. m., Women's singles and Men's doubles East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association continued. June 1, 2:30 p. m., senior mixed doubles. June 8, 10 a. m., Boys' doubles. Boys under 18 years are eligible. June 22, 2:30 p. m., Men's progressive doubles. Prizes for the two players making the most progression. June 29, 10 a. m., Boys' singles. Boy under 15 years are eligible. July 6, 10 a. m., Women's doubles. July 13, 2:30 p. m., Men's doubles. Open to the members of the clubs of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association, and to other players by invitation. July 20, 2:30 p. m., Men's doubles, open tournament continued. July 27, 2:30 p. m., Plainfield open championship, men's singles. Open to all players in Plainfield and North Plainfield. August 3, 2:30 p. m., Open championship continued. August 10, 2:30 p. m., team match with Elizabeth Town and Country Club. September 14, 10 a. m., Women's singles; club championship. September 14, 2:30 p. m., Men's singles, club championship. September 21, 10 a. m., Junior mixed doubles. September 21, 2:30 p. m., final rounds of women's and men's singles, club championship. In addition there will be a continuous tournament extending throughout the season to stimulate play.

SEASON'S EVENTS ON THE LINKS AS ANNOUNCED BY MRS. ROGERS.

The Women's committee from the Plainfield Country Club, Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers chairman, has issued its schedule of golf events for the season. It is as follows:

May 2, Patterson cup; May 4, Clock golf cup; May 9, Patterson cup; May 11, Clock golf cup; May 16, Patterson cup; May 18, Clock golf cup; May 23, Patterson cup; May 25, Clock golf cup; May 28, Metropolitan Golf Association one-day tournament; May 30, Clock golf cup, final round; June 13, Patterson cup; June 19, Handicap cup; June 20 and 27, Patterson cup; July 4 and September 2, Holiday clock golf cup; September 5, 12 and 19, Patterson cup; June 24, Championship cup, qualifying round; September 25, Championship cup, first round; September 26, Championship cup, semi-final round; Consolation cup, semi-final round; September 27, Championship and Consolation cups, final rounds; October 3, 10, 17, 24, 31, Patterson cup.

The Championship, Consolation, Handicap, Clock golf and Holiday clock golf cups are presented by the club, and the Patterson cup by Stuart H. Patterson.

The women's committee is as follows: Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, chairman; Miss Maude VanBoskerck, Miss Adelaide M. Elsberg, Miss Margaret Goddard and Miss Edith H. Tracy.

NO AMERICAN GOLF CODE NEEDED, HE SAYS

MR. CALKINS BELIEVES THIS COUNTRY SHOULD HAVE REPRESENTATION.

Leighton Calkins, chairman of the golf committee of the Plainfield Country Club, who is a member of the executive committee of the United States Golf Association, a close student of the game of golf, says that one of the greatest dangers which has ever assailed golf, is the present cry for an American code. He believes that the movement should be met with courtesy and consideration; also, that its dangers must be pointed out. In speaking on the subject, Mr. Calkins says:

"An American code has been drawn and presented to the golfers in this country. The maker has done this modestly, and he frankly states that his rues are meant as suggestions. He does not claim that his code is perfect, but he does show that he believes the time has come for an American set of rules.

"There is such well-merited dissatisfaction with the existing rules that there is danger than we shall fall over backward in the warmth of our reception of this code. The work has been well done. The author has gone too far; he has made too far-reaching, too strained a departure from existing rules and penalties, and he has injected with the rules a great many things which have absolutely no place there, such as the definition of professionalism and the classification of links according to their length. But he has shown intelligence and care in his work.

"Sooner or later the rules must be pruned—at least, rearranged. Sooner or later they must be written by some one who knows at least something of the principals of rhetoric. The 'English' of existing rules is abominable. Their arrangements is horrible. Nobody knows them. There are a hundred loopholes for 'construction,' 'interpretation.' In fact, at best all one can do is to 'interpret' the existing rules, for they are so badly drawn and expressed that one realizes far more often what they do not mean than what they do mean.

"I will concede everything which has been said, or which can be said against the authoritative rules of the game, and yet I firmly believe that we should continue to stand by them. One bad code is a hundred-fold better than three or four codes: one for us, one for England, another for France, and so on. As a game, golf is unique. The rules are unique. It is a game where much depends, regardless of rules, on personal honor and sportsmanship. If different countries or localities start to adopt rules of play for themselves, the game will not be recognized ten years hence. American players a dozen years from now will decline to try for the title abroad, and no British players will be tempted to make an American trip, because the game here and the game there will be wide apart in all fundamental elements.

"Let us, then, work heartily for an improvement in the rules, and savagely against any separate American code. Let our energy of thought and of expression be aimed at the real evil, i. e., the lack of American representation on the authoritative rules committee abroad. The whole matter should receive the immediate serious consideration of the United States Golf Association. That association should instruct its executive committee to work to secure representation on the committee abroad, which frames and amends the rules of the game. Our representation should be proportionate to our standing in golf in this country. If that is denied us, it will be time enough for us to makes rules for ourselves."

GOLF.

With favorable weather conditions there should be a large crowd at the Plainfield Country Club today, when the active season begins. There will be play for the opening day, Golf committee and Greens committee cup, while the social features will be an attraction. To night the first dinner-dance of the season will be held.

The active season at the Park Golf Club will begin Saturday, May 4, with the initial play for the Park Golf and President's cups, in addition to a special competition.

Among the enthusiastic golf players who is planning to resume play next week is Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, of the borough. He will be a familiar figure at the Park Golf Club this summer.

There has been an old-time golfing gathering at Lakewood this week when the open tournament was held. Although there are no entries from Plainfield, the Metropolitan district is well reprsented.

Dudley H. Barrows at Princeton and Robert Abbott at Yale are gradually regaining their old-time form and will soon be at the top of their game.

The new eighth which is the old fourteenth green at the Plainfield Country Club will be used today for the first. Contestants will find that it is not conducive to low scoring, owing to the undulating conditions.

Leighton Calkins, as chairman of the Greens committee, of the Plainfield Country Club, is giving much time and attention to improving the local course. It is now undoubtedly one of the best in the Metropolitan district.

"Marty" Offoughlin is losing no time in getting in championship form. He intends to enter a number of the big tournaments this summer and judging by his last season's play, he should be able to make a record.

Under the direction of Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, as chairman of the Women's golf committee at the Plainfield Country Club, will make special efforts this season to attract the women in large numbers to the course.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Clinton Avenue baseball team will journey to Raritan today and cross bats with the Raritan A. C. The Clinton Avenues will appear in their new uniforms for the first time and are determined not to disgrace them by suffering defeat.

The Mono Field Club will cross bats with the Dunellen team at Dunellen this afternoon. The Monos have a strong lineup and look for a sure victory.

The fans may expect to see a fast game at Scotch Plains this afternoon when the local team will play the nine from Bayonne. The teams are evenly matched. The lineup for the visitors will be as follows: Solomon, p; Hunter, c; Donnal, 1b; Dugan, 2b; Curran, 3b; Toolen, ss; Schmidt, lf; Swoody, rf; Scott, cf. Johnston, Perry and Alberts will do the battery work for the local aggregation.

George Dupee, who will be remembered as the fast boxman for the old Y. M. C. A. team and who with Minford is expected to divide the work of pitching for the association nine this year, will go to Travers Island today to try-out for a position on the New York Athletic Club team.

Laporte, of the Highlanders, is after the long distance hitting honors of the season. Doubles and triples are his daily diet.

It now looks as though Lave Cross never will go back. He is playing as well as he ever did and in all his long career he never has been other than good.

Bender, the Indian pitcher with the Athletics, seems to be just as good as ever. He held Boston to seven hits and two runs on Thursday.

The opening of the Eastern League season at Providence on Thursday, when Jersey City was the opposing team, was witnessed by Presidents Pat. Powers, of the Eastern League; President Harry Pulliam, of the National League; President Johnson, of the American League and President Murnene, of the New England League. There were 15,000 patrons at the game.

There is a well-founded rumor that the Suburban A. C. will represent Dunellen in the Inter-City Amateur League this season. It is no secret that Manager Jess Ayers has had his own troubles in organizing a team and after he signed his fifteen players some of them left the organization and signed with other aggregations. The Suburbans would be a strong acquisition to the league, and make the race an interesting one.

All the managers in the Inter-City Amateur League are obliged to post the names of their players fifteen days before the opening of the season on May 18. According to the rules each team must have fifteen players, and this has been a difficult thing to accomplish. As the season progresses it will be found that the extra players will not like the idea of sitting on the bench each week.

It is expected that "Ted" Overton, one of the most popular local players ever appearing on the diamond here, will cast his lot with the Y. M. C. A. nine. He is very fast and can catch or play a field position equally as well and his stick work is a thing to be desired.

Ponies Win Again.

The "sure and undefeated" Ponies, the bowling teams that has been downing all competitors in the past few weeks, administered defeat to Harry Radin's Trimmers Thursday night, taking two games out of a series of three. The Trimmers had several of the city's best rollers with them but despite this fact the Ponies kept ahead in all but the second game. High score for the night, a 42, was made by Dan Mack, of the Trimmers.

Bowling on the Green.

Work has again been resumed on the greens at the Park Club preparing them for the game of bowling which the enthusiastic members of the club hope to enjoy this summer. J. B. Betts is at the head of the bowling green contingent and is an expert at the game. He formerly was a member of the Middlesex Bowling Green Club and knows the game perfectly.

HIGH PRICE OF MEAT.

Never again will beef and other meats be quoted at the figures that they have in the past, if what men who study the conditions of the live stock market and the stockyards may be depended upon, for a new situation has been brought about largely through the attitude of the Government's new policy though more directly because of the unscrupulous machinations of the men who control the market. Beef, lamb, mutton and pork have all taken the upward course in prices where they will remain indefinitely. That is certain.

It is not a question of scarcity of beef or any other meat, it is explained. This country produces more and better cattle than any other country on the face of the globe. There is always enough live stock at the great yards at Chicago and other big cities to amply supply the needs of the entire country and that too at low prices. The great concerns that handle these cattle know that and it is because of this condition that they have successfully schemed to "do" the people by unscrupulous methods.

The scheme that they have agreed upon to make the demand greater than the supply, regardless of how many thousand head of cattle they may have on hand at one time, is to keep shipping their stock across the water. It is an acknowledged fact that cattle transported from America by these concerns are sold abroad at considerably lower figures than they would command right here in America. They are more than willing to lose on this venture in order to produce a condition which will make the demand here greater than the supply. To show to what extent these companies go to shove up the prices of meat, one has only to consider what is going on every day at the great shipping ports. On last Tuesday, for instance, 42,000 cattle were sent out of the country, leaving 8,000 at the great beef centres in this country to supply all domestic demands. This is the way a market is manipulated here, by which the stockyard people reap ill-gotten profits and by which the consumer is made to suffer.

Another thing that has forced up the price of meat, it is reliably reported, is the attitude of the Government as shown by the enactment of the pure food law and other similar legislation. Fully thirty per cent. of a single head of cattle is by-product. That is, it is such things as kidney, tripe and the like which were formerly used for profit. The by-product, before the passage of the pure food law, was put in preservatives and shipped to dealers throughout the country for sale, but now all this is a loss. Today, it is said, the by-product is sold as fertilizer. Consequently, the stockyard men make up for this loss in another way. This they do by adding on to the price of cattle. Here again, the "dear people" are made to suffer for they must assume the entire burden in the end.

These are the reasons, says a practical student of the cattle market, why the public can never expect to purchase beef, lamb, mutton or pork at the prices they have in the past, at least as long as these conditions are allowed to exist.

A negro in Plainfield has almost certainly made himself an opportunity to be the first one upon whom the sentence of life imprisonment for kidnapping may be pronounced. It is to be seriously hoped that he will be given the distinction.—Westfield Standard.

And if he does not spend the remainder of his days behind the bars, it won't be through any fault of the local authorities.

Mr. Taft's boom has been launched in this State following the programme mapped out by his chief at Washington, but New Jersey will not be satisfied for it wants no imitation. Only the real article, Theodore Roosevelt, the greatest executive of modern times, will be accepted by the people of this Republican State when it comes time to nominate the winning candidate for the Presidency.

The expense of running our State government under the last Democratic administration was under $1,700,000 a year. This year the expenses are $4,550,000. Reform comes high, remarks a state exchange.—Rahway Democrat.

But even at that it comes dirt cheap.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Lucy A. Benedict.

Mrs. Lucy A. Benedict, widow of George Benedict, died yesterday at her home on Summit avenue. The funeral will be held at her late home and will be private.

Benjamin Sutton.

Benjamin Sutton, colored, who had been in the employ of the late Stephen A. Ginna for thirty years and latterly with the family, died suddenly at his home on Webster place, yesterday afternoon. He had driven Mrs. Ginna to several places about the city during the morning and went home at noon feeling ill. He was stricken with apoplexy at 4 o'clock and died almost immediately. Mr. Sutton was sixty-one years old and entered Mr. Ginna's employ as coachman when a young man. He never left the position and was regarded highly by every member of the household. He was a member of Bethel chapel and for many years had been prominent in its work. Surviving him are a wife and a niece. The funeral will be held at his late home Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mrs. John Cashman.

Mrs. Margaret A. Cashman, wife of John Cashman, died this morning at her home on West Third street. She was about fifty years old and leaves several sons and daughters. She was a member of Hope chapel. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

COLLEGE WOMEN GRADS PRESENT JULIUS CAESAR.

Comic Opera Presented Before Audience of Seniors of Plainfield Schools.

Following a short business session of the Plainfield College Women's Club at the home of Miss Margaret McCutchen on Rockview avenue, yesterday afternoon, the club gave a delightful reception to this year's graduates from the Plainfield High School, the Hartridge School and the Seminary. There were about thirty graduates present in addition to forty-five members of the club.

An enjoyable feature of the reception was the presentation of a comic opera, entitled "Julius Ceasar," composed by Miss Ona Winants, of Smith College. The opera is a clever one and it was exceedingly well produced by Miss Ellen Cuming, Miss Maude Honeyman, Miss Elsie Goddard, Miss Eva Browne, Miss Elsie Burke, Miss Ethel Ferry, Miss Lena Bass, Miss Alida Lease, Miss Marguerite Walbridge, Miss Louise Curtis and Mrs. H. C. White. Miss Helene Pope was the accompanist.

After the reception and play there was a social time and refreshments were served.

FIREMEN NET $250.

Benefit Performance of "A Lucky Dog" Proves a Big Success.

The benefit performance given by Nat Wills and his company in the New Plainfield theatre, last night, for the local firemen's beneficial association, went way beyond the expectations of Chief Doane and his men. The house was sold out long before the curtain went up but several hundred people who came late preferred standing room to going back home. As a result of the heavy sale of tickets in advance, the firemen will net about $250 for their treasury. It is twice the amount Chief Doane had looked for and when spoken to about the result this morning, was profuse in his thanks to all who assisted in making the benefit such a big success.

The audience was well pleased with the show and Wills added to his local laurels by his work in "A Lucky Dog." His parodies and tramp monologue took better than ever before and in one act he responded to five encores, even then having to make a speech before he could get away.

Card of Thanks.

The Board of Managers of the Children's Home greatefully acknowledge receipted bill for drugs and medicines from T. S. Armstrong; for cleaning rugs from B. A. Mumford & Son, and discount on bill for lumber from J. D. Loizeaux & Co.

Church Team Wins Easily.

The Holy Cross church team defeated the Stillman School nine this morning on the Cricket Field by a score of 12 to 1. Ira Vail and Moran and Gray formed the winning side. The defeated team scored its run on an error.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

There will be a woman's day rally at the Ebenezer Baptist church tomorrow, when the pulpit will be occupied by a woman orator. The meeting will be held at Reform hall.

The seventh week of the evangelistic campaign being conducted by Messrs. Acomb and Ironsides begins Sunday night in the Y. M. C. A. hall. Meetings will be held there Wednesday and Friday inclusive. On Tuesday night Mr. Ironside will talk to Christians in the Front street meeting hall, corner of Bank place.

Services will be held at the First Baptist church tomorrow at the usual hours, the pastor, Dr. Chambliss, preaching both morning and evening. The repairs on the lecture room still in progress will make it necessary for the senior department of the Sunday-school to meet in the main audience room. The infant and junior departments and the Bible classes will be able to occupy their several rooms.

FIRE IN STRILING BUILDING.

Spontoneous Combustion in Oily Rags Threatened Serious Blaze.

Spoontaneous combustion set fire to a bunch of oily rags in a box beneath the main stairway of the Stirling building, this morning, and started a dangerous blaze. The tenants were alarmed by thick smoke pouring through the rooms and an alarm was turned in from box 13. With the arrival of the department apparatus, one of the men located the cause of the trouble and the box was carried to the sidewalk. There was no damage.

A still alarm was received at headquarters shortly before 10 o'clock this morning for a fence fire back of the Compton building on West Front street. It was started by children playing with matches and theratened to set fire to a frame barn nearby. The flames were extinguished in a moment and the damage was trifling.

More than one-fourth of all the English newspapers are published in London.

THE FORUM.

The Negro Question.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Inasmuch as my daily work as minister causes me to travel among my people, thus affording a practical opportunity to know their condition and to see their needs, I have thought it my duty to address them these lines in hope that some good may be done through the help of God especially at this time of unrest and anxiety.

First to honor womanhood and the marriage relation as the real basis of society and to draw a line in our social life applicable to both men and women, until this is done there is nothing before us but shame and sorrow. Protect the chastity of our daughters and the sacredness of our firesides and make this our first duty as great a necessity as existence itself.

Secondly to properly train the children and prepare them for life. Teach them honesty, industry, morality, and a proper conception of religion by precept and example. That our children will have a still harder battle to fight than ourselves every evidence goes to prove. The best way to solve the race problem is to prepare the children to do it. Above everything religiously train them and see to it that they know God's word, which is our chief hope both here and hereafter. See to it that they attend the day school and the Sunday-school, also the church and be sure to take them with you. Our ignorance is one of the causes of our weakness and helplessness. Knowledge is power and no people can prosper without it; seek more intelligence in your service and support the most intelligent ministers. Demand more brain and heart in the preacher instead of books and voice.

Third, to cultivate friendly relations with white people, this is the only right and wise course to pursue. Listen not to selfish and ignorant leaders who would array you against the best class of white people in North and South. Make them your fast friends and always assist them in making the community what it ought to be.

Fourth, always to be found on the side of law and order. Discourage any form of wrong-doing by members of our race. Where one of our race is arrested for violation of the law do not unwittingly endorse such crimes before the more ignorant of our race by insisting that he is only being persecuted. Keep from out the clutch of the law by doing right and let there be no excuse for him who does wrong; people in our condition have always had to submit to hard laws. You will find one of the problems that is going to press more seriously upon you for solution is that of employment for our people. Especially in the northern cities. Competition is becoming more and more severe. The negro who comes to Plainfield for example, from the South naturally finds more competition in the mater of industry, but he finds himself surrounded by temptations on every side, and between competition and the temptations a very large proportion of the race is very likely to go down unless they are guided carefully and wisely by the ministers.

Fifth, to co-operate in all good work with Christian white people, we are really not able to do the work for ourselves that is actually necessary to be done and by failing to co-operate the impression is made that we do not wish to improve ourselves. If we would rise to man and womanhood it can be done only by moral conduct. You cannot be expected to compete educationally with a race that have had for several hundred years intellectual advantages. But for ever do all there is in your power to build up true men and women of the race and the strong arm of God will bring help to the needy.

Thanking you for space, I am, yours,

(REV.) P. J. MORRIS.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

The great rural comedy drama, "Joshua Simpkins" will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight. The company is augmented by a full band and orchestra.

Chauncey Olcott has written and composed four new songs for "Eileen Asthore" (Ellen, my treasure), the play which he is presenting this season and which will be at the New Plainfield theatre Monday night. In the character of Richard Temple, which has been especially written for him by the dramatist, he will be seen as a reckless, warm-hearted Irish blade of the period of 1804 when France and England were at war and

Chauncey Olcott,
At New Plainfield Theatre Next Monday Night.

Ireland was over-run with English spies seeking evidence of insurrection. The play, while sparkling with comedy and relieved with tender love scenes, has a strong plot and sustained human interest. Manager Augustus Pitou has provided an exceptionally strong cast and equipment.

That Denman Thompson's idyllic play, "The Old Homestead," has perennial popularity is strongly evidenced by the fact that this is the twenty-first annual tour of the play, and their friends seem to increase in numbers instead of lessening. There are innumerable scenes in the play that come home to all, and anyone who has ever tasted the delights of rural life cannot fail to appreciate the remarkable touches of nature embodied in this New England idyl. Joshua Whitcomb himself is the epitome of honest, bucolic simplicity, confiding, sympathetic and brave, a character so cheery and wholesome that he brightens every shadow and lightens every other's burden. Then, too, there are the two "boys," Cy Prime, "nigh onto eighty," and Seth Perkins, who never grow old despite his years, both of whom are the exemplification of the adage applied by Joshua himself, "How true it is that once a man, twice a child." These characters, together with those of Aunt Matilda, Rickety Ann and the Ganzey boy, harmonize with each other and are as natural as life itself. Mr. Thompson promises a complete production of his play and a cast of unusual merit. The famous double quartette of farm hands will, as usual, entertain Uncle Josh's city visitors, and the grand choir in the Grace church scene is said to be as impressive as heretofore. The play will be at New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday afternoon and night.

PLANS FOR STATE ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT.

Plans were made for the encampment of the National Guard at Sea Girt, this summer, at a meeting of the State Military Board held in the office of the adjutant general at Trenton yesterday. The encampment will open July 6th, when the Fifth Regiment and Battery A of the First brigade will go into camp. The First Regiment and the First Troop will occupy the camp ground the week of July 13, and the Signal Corps will camp the week following.

No dates were assigned for the Second Brigade encampment, as Brigadier General Dennis Collins, commanding the brigade, was not able to be present at the meeting.

The board approved a plan by which the freeholders of Essex county may issue bonds for the construction of an armory for the First Troop.

Dead True.

Spend, and the world is with you;
Save, and you're let alone.
Each man's after a share of yours
And wants to keep all his own.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

"Well—" Woodruff looked bitterly disappointed. "I guess you're right." He brightened. "I forgot Goodrich for a minute. Burbank'll do himself up through that—I'd have to be in a saloon to feel free to use the language that describes him."

"I fear he will," I said. And it was not a hypocrisy—for I did not, and could not, feel anger toward him. Had I not cut this staff deliberately because it was crooked? What more natural than that it should give way under me as soon as I leaned upon it?

"Your sickness certainly couldn't have come at an unluckier time," Woodruff observed just before he left.

"I'm not sure of that," was my reply. "It would have been useless to have found him out sooner. And if he had hidden himself until later, he might have done us some serious mischief."

As he was the president-elect, to go to him uninvited would have been infringement of his dignity as well as of my pride. A few days later I wrote him, thanking him for his messages and inquiries during my illness and saying that I was once more taking part in affairs. He did not reply by calling me up on the telephone, as he would have done in his cordial, intimate years preceding his grandeur. Instead he sent a telegram of congratulation, following it with a note. He urged me to go south, as I had planned, and stay until I was fully restored. "I shall deny myself the pleasure of seeing you until you return." That sentence put off our meeting indefinitely—I could see him smiling at its adroitness as he wrote it.

But he made his state of mind even clearer. His custom had been to begin his notes: "Dear Harvey," or "Dear Sayler," and to end them "James" or "Burbank." This note began: "My Dear Senator:" it ended: "Yours sincerely, James E. Burbank." As I stared at these phrases my blood steamed to my brain. Had he spat in my face my fury would have been less. "So!" I thought in the first gust of anger, "you feel that you have been using me, that you have no further use for me. You have decided to take the advice of those idiotic independent newspapers and 'wash your hands of the corruptionist who almost defeated you.'"

To make war upon him was in wisdom impossible—even had I wished. And when anger flowed away and pity and contempt succeeded, I really did not wish to war upon him. But there was Goodrich—the real corruptionist, the wrecker of my plans and hopes, the menace to the future of the party. I sent for Woodruff, and together we mapped out a campaign against the senior senator from New Jersey in all the newspapers we could control or influence. I gave him a free hand to use—with his unfailing discretion, of course—all the facts we had accumulated to Goodrich's discredit. I put at his disposal a hundred thousand dollars. As every available dollar of the party fund had been used in the campaign, I advanced this money out of my own pocket.

And I went cheerfully away to Palm Beach, there to watch at my ease the rain of shot and shell upon my enemy.

CHAPTER XXVII.

A Domestic Discord.

After a month in the south, I was well again—younger in feeling, and in looks, than I had been for ten years. Carlotta and the children, except "Junior," who was in college, had gone to Washington when I went to Florida. I found her abed with a nervous attack from the double strain of the knowledge that Junior had eloped with an "impossible" woman he had met, I shall not say where, and of the effort of keeping the calamity from me until she was sure he had really entangled himself hopelessly.

She was now sitting among her pillows, telling the whole story. "If he hadn't married her!" she ended.

This struck me as ludicrous—a good woman citing to her son's discredit the fact that he had goodness' own ideals of honor.

"What are you laughing at?" she demanded.

"I was about to tell her I was hopeful of the boy chiefly because he had thus shown the splendid courage that more than redeems folly. But I refrained. I had never been able to make Carlotta understand me or my ideas, and I had long been weary of the resentful silence or angry tirades which mental and temperamental misunderstandings produce.

"What can be expected?" she went on, after trying in vain to connect my remark with our conversation. "A boy needs a father. You've been so busy with your infamous politics that you've given him scarcely a thought."

Painfully true, throughout; but it was one of those criticisms we can hardly endure even when we make it upon ourselves. I was silent.

"I've no patience with men!" she went on. "They're always meddling with things that would get along better without them, and letting their own patch run to weeds."

"One Would Think It Was Your Money."

Unanswerable. I held my peace.

"What are you going to do about it, Harvey? How can you be so calm? Isn't there anything that would rouse you?"

"I'm too busy thinking what to do to waste any energy in blowing off steam," was my answer in my consilatory tone.

"But there's nothing we can do," she retortetd, with increasing anger, which vented itself toward me because the true culprit, fate, was not within reach.

"Precisely," I agreed. "Nothing."

"That creature won't let him come to see me."

"And you mustn't see him when he sends for you," said I. "He'll come as soon as his money gives out. She'll see that he does."

"But you aren't going to cut him off!"

"Just that," said I.

A long silence, then I added in answer to her expression: "And you must not let him have a cent, either."

In a gust of anger, probably at my having read her thoughts, she blurted out: "One would think it was your money."

I had seen that thought in her eyes, had watched her hold it back behind her set teeth, many times in our married years. And I now thanked my stars I had had the prudence to get ready for the inevitable moment when she would speak it. But at the same time I could not restrain a flush of shame. "It is my money," I forced myself to say. "Ask your brother. He'll tell you what I've forbidden him to tell before—that I have twice rescued you and him from bankruptcy."

"With our own money," she retorted, hating herself for saying it, but goaded on by a devil that lived in her temper and had got control many a time, though never before when I happened to be the one with whom she was at outs.

"No—with my own," I replied tranquilly.

POSITIVE PROOF.

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Plainfield.

Because it's the evidence of a Plainfield citizen.

Testimony easily investigated.

The strongest endorsement of merit.

The best proof. Read it:

Mrs. John Driscoll, of 217 Grant avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I made a statement for publication regarding the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills, and said statement still holds good in every particular. If I were to make a single change in it, it would only be to make it stronger, for during the past few years I have known many people to use Doan's Kidney Pills, and have yet to hear of a case in which the remedy failed to do the work it is claimed to do. My own case was a dull aching pain in the small of the back and in the sides. It clung to me incessantly and hard work seemed to increase it. I was subject also to hard backaches, and spells of dizziness when stopping. I was generally weak and depress. I tried plasters and used many different remedies without finding relief, and being finally led to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's pharmacy, began using the remedy, finding, at length, the relief I have described in the testimonial I gave for publication in 1898."

TO HONOR THE NAME OF JERSEY'S "LITTLE MAC"

DEDICATION OF STATUE TO GEN. GEO. B. M'CLELLAN AT THE CAPITAL

Washington, April 27.—General J. Franklin Bell, chief of staff of the army, has issued general orders for the military and naval parade in connection with the dedication of the statue of Major-General George B. McClellan, at the intersection of Connecticut avenue and Columbia road, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. May 2 next. General Bell will have command of the parade, with Brigadier-General William P. Duvall, general staff corps, as chief of staff; Lieutenant-Colonel Benjamin Alvord, adjutant-general's department, as adjutant-general, and the following named aides-de-camp: Capt. W. M. Wright, general staff corps; Captain R. E. L. Michie, general staff corps; Capt. Stanley D. Embrick, artillery corps; Captain Frank Evans, United States Marine Corps; Captain C. Fred Cook, organized militia of the District of Columbia; Captain John M. Rogers, organized militia of New Jersey. These officers are ordered to report in full dress uniform at the Scott monument at 1:15 p. m. May 2, 1907.

The first division will be commanded by Colonel Charles A. P. Hatfield, Thirteenth Cavalry, and will consist of the following organizations: Twenty-third Regiment, United States Infantry; one company Fourth United States Infantry; Engineer Band; Seventeenth, Forty-fourth, One Hundred and Fourth and Forty-seventh companies, United States Coast Artillery; Fourth Battery, United States Field Artillery; headquarters band and second Squadron, Thirteenth United States Cavalry; Marine Band; six companies United States marines; Company C, Hospital Corps, U. S. A.

The second division will be commanded by Brigadier-General George H. Harries, District of Columbia militia, and consists of the following branches of that organization: Second Regiment Infantry, First Regiment Infantry, Fifth Separate Battalion, Signal Corps, First Battery, Field Artillery; Naval Battalion, Ambulance Corps.

The third division will be commanded by Brigadier-General Dennis F. Collins, National Guard of New Jersey, and will consist of the following organizations: Third, Infantry, National Guard, New Jersey; Battery A, Field Artillery, National Guard, New Jersey; Second Troop, Cavalry, National Guard, New Jersey.

The command will form in line on Sixteenth street, facing west, with the right of the first division at the junction of Sixteenth street and Columbia road northwest. The front of subdivisions in column will be for infantry, sixteen files; for artillery, column of sections; and for cavalry, three sets of fours.

The parade will start about two o'clock, and will march via Sixteenth street and Columbia road to the intersection of Kalorama street and Columbia road, where the column will be halted during the dedicatory exercises, upon the conclusion of which the march will be continued via Columbia road and Connecticut avenue to Dupont Circle, where the parade will be disbanded.

The Fourth Battery, Field Artillery, will fire a major-general's salute—thirteen guns—beginning at the moment of the unveiling of the statue.

The President of the United States will review the parade at the grandstand in front of the Highlands. He will be escorted from the White House and back by a troop of cavalry.

SAVE YOUR MONEY BOYS,
THE CIRCUS IS COMING!

Forepaugh & Sells' Greatest of All Shows, Will Be Here On May 18.

Advertising Car No. 1, of Adam Forepaugh & Sells Brothers' united shows arrived in the city yesterday morning, evidence of which fact may be found in the brilliant lithographs plastered over the city, proclaiming the news that the best of all shows is to exhibit here on Saturday, May 18.

Press Representative Frank J. O'Donnell, who travels on this car, is enthusiastic in praise of the organization he represents and says that it is much larger and better than ever, having spent considerable over a million dollars this season in devising a parade on new ideas and importing a hundred great European acts new to this country.

There are three other advertising cars, two of them following No. 1, at interval of a week apart, and the other going only to excursion towns. Each of these cars has a manager and a force of twenty-five bill-posters, every one of whom puts up a daily average of 5,000 sheets of paper. It may be seen that it costs money to advertise a circus like Forepaugh & Sells Brothers'. The paper comes in shipments from time to time, five tons of matter sometimes coming in one consignment. Five barrels of flour is made every day into paste, and about 50,000 running feet of billboard space are covered in each city, besides what is posted in the surrounding country.

A geat deal of American manufactures of wood are sold in Edinburg, Scotland.

Prudential Liberality Again Displayed

The Most Important Voluntary Benefit Ever Granted

By The Prudential, for the Protection of Old Policyholders is now announced.

All Industrial Policies now in Force under which the Insured have attained age 75, or under which the Insured may attain age 75 during 1907, will be made Paid-up Policies and the

Further Payment of Premiums Will Not be Required

after the Insured has reached the said age.

The Business of The Prudential is so large that, should the present plan be continued, it is estimated that the cost of this Concession alone, in ten years, would be over

Three and One-quarter Million Dollars

For years it has been the practice of The Prudential to add to the Benefits already accorded to those who insure with us, giving Policyholders more than their contracts called for when experience demonstrates that we can safely do so.

These VOLUNTARY CONCESSIONS to POLICYHOLDERS already aggregate more than

EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS

and every year adds to this amount.

The Company which deals with Policyholders in this spirit of Liberality and Fairness, combined with absolute Financial Security, is the Company you should insure in.

PLAINFIELD LADS EASY VICTIMS, THE SCORE BEING 7 TO 1.

The Plainfield High School baseball team was defeated by Rutgers "Prep.," at Crescent Oval, this morning, by a score of 7 to 1. The local team was not up to its usual standard in hitting or fielding. The only run made for P. H. S. was by Wilcox, who went to second on a sacrifice hit by Murphy, and came home on Loizeaux's drive. The visiting team showed up strong with the stick and in the field. NEW BRUNSWICK BOYS DEFEATED BY N.P.H.S

The North Plainfield High School team defeated the New Brunswick High School nine on Hope Common, this morning, by a score of 9 to 5. While the visiting players showed strength in some departments they were not evenly matched with the borough aggregation. The local team enjoyed a hitting bee in the fourth and eighth innings when eight runs in all were tallied.

Smith, who occupied the box for the borough team, held his opponents safe at all stages. In the fifth inning they succeeded in scoring three runs, but the brakes were quickly applied and this was stopped. The lineup of the borough nine follows:

IN ORGANIST'S HONOR

Special Services at Trinity Marks Silver Jubilee of A. L. Titsworth.

FINE MUSIC A FEATURE

Gift of Gold Moves Mr. Titsworth to Tears—Women Decorate Church In His Honor With Flowers.

Marking the twenty-fifth anniversary of Arthur L. Titsworth's connection with the church as organist, Trinity Reformed church held a praise service last night. The celebration was largely attended. After the service, Mr. Titsworth was presented with a purse of gold on behalf of a few friends among the older members of the church.

The musical numbers of the service were beautiful and splendidly rendered. The choir, composed of Miss Ethel M. Moore, soprano; Miss Winifred C. Carroll, contralto Edmund D. Young, tenor; and Fred S. Cutter, bass, sang at its best.

The order of service was as follows:

Organ prelude—"At Evening," (by request), Dudley Buck; ascription—(Congregation standing); invocation; anthem—"Bonum est Confiteri," George William Warren; Psalter—Psalm XCVIII; Gloria Patri, Juan Alzamora; duet—"The Lord Is My Light," Dudley Buck, Miss Carroll, Mr. Cutter; scripture lesson—Ephesians 5:8-21; hymn 838—"Mid Evening Shadows," Palmer-Mendelssohn; solo—"O Lord, Be Merciful," Homer N. Barlett, Miss Moore; prayer; quartette—"The Lord's Prayer," Charles H. Hoyt; announcements; hymn 61—"Now May He Who From the Dead," Newton-Gottschalk, 1st and 3d verses; offertory solo—"Fear Not Ye, O Israel," Dudley Buck, Miss Carroll; address—"Music in the Church," Rev. Dr. E. P. Johnson; trio—"Praise Ye," Verdi, Miss Moore, Mr. Young, Mr. Cutter; prayer; anthem—"The Day is Past and Over," J. Christopher Marks; doxology—"Praise God from Whom All Blessing Flow," Ken-Bourgeois; benediction; organ postlude—"Festal March in C," J. Baptiste Calkin.

The platform was handsomely decorated with flowers and plants. On the organ were two wreaths, surrounding the figures "1882" and "1907." Mr. Titsworth was surprised to see the decorations when he came to the church yesterday morning, and last night, Deacon Edgar F. Sheppard, clerk of the consistory, thanked the members of the Ladies' Church Work Society in his behalf, before the congregation. Mr. Titsworth's thanks for all those who helped to make the service a success were also expressed.

Dr. Johnson said, among many beautiful allusions to the power and sweetness of melody, that music enabled one to feel great emotions. He spoke of the vivid beauty of psalm-singing and of the antiquity and prominence of music in the Church. Sacred music, he said, sung with the spirit and the understanding, was the most effective of all.

Dr. Johnson said he had found music helpful and inspiring in his pastoral work. He thanked God for what measure of appreciation of music had been vouchsafed to him.

He urged all the congregation to join in the singing of hymns at services. One of the wisest provisions made by the consistory of Trinity was that at least three hymns for congregational singing be incorporated in the services. All congregational singing was good. The individual need have no fear of discord. Congregational singing was like the wind blowing through the forest; no matter how discordant the notes that entered into it the volume of sound always made harmony.

When Mr. Titsworth had finshed the postlude, he was called from the organ, and surrounded by a little group of church members who had waited to congratulate him, he was presented with the purse. The presentation was made by Robert Clark, Jr.

Mr. Clark referred to Mr. Titsworth's long service, and spoke of the pleasant recollections that entwined the retrospect. He said the organist must have helped to assuage many griefs, uplifted souls and, mayhap, brought numbers into the church. The speaker closed with an earnest hope that Mr. Titsworth continue to serve the church for many years.

The presentation was a complete surprise to Mr. Titsworth and it affected him deeply. He was moved to tears, and it was only after an effort that he was able to reply with a steady voice.

He expressed his deep appreciation of the manifestations of friendship and regard that marked the day. In his service, he said, his aim had been to interpret religious thought by

FINED FOR FIGHTING ON A TROLLEY CAR

THREE DISTURBERS OF THE PEACE PAY A TOTAL OF $32.

James Caulfield, his son, Thomas Caulfield, and James Horan were arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning, for fighting on a main line trolley car at Berckman and Second streets at 6:30 o'clock last night. They got into a dispute with the conductor and the motorman and blows were exchanged.

The dispute started after Caulfield and his companions had passed Johnston avenue, where he desired to get off. Horan rang the bell repeatedly, and that drew the motorman's attention to the row. Thomas O'Connell, the motorman, swore that young Caulfield strucg him, and although the prisoners and James Muldowney, who was with them, endeavored to make it appear as if O'Connell was the aggressor, Judge Runyon decided that the affair was one of the old-time trolley rows born of Sunday drinking.

Thomas Caulfield was fined $15, James Caulfied $12 and Horan $5. Judge Runyon scored the prisoners severely in passing sentence. The prisoners were represented by counsel and Claim Agent Church appeared for the P. S. C.

COMPETENT TEACHERS WILL CONDUCT A FIVE WEEKS' SESSION..

The educational classes of the Young Women's Christian Association will begin work for a short term, during the week of May 13 and continue five weeks. Competent teachers have been engaged to teach these classes and make the work interesting and profitable.

Miss Tapping, the secretary, will be at the office, 212 East Front street, tonight and tomorrow night from 7:30 until 9 and from 11 to 1 o'clock to receive registration. Those who desire to become members of the classes should register as early as possible. These classes will be formed and meet one evening each week: German, French, millinery, dressmaking for which a nominal charge will be made. The Bible, travel, plain sewing classes, walking club and basketball team will be free with membership.

RIDING CLUB ENGAGES NEW SUPERINTENDENT.

And at Meeting Tonight It Will Discuss Coming Horse Show.

James Gethin, who for ten years had charge of Butler Duncan's celebrated show horses, has been engaged as superintendent by the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club and will be in charge of the grounds. He is an expert whip. Under the auspices of the club he will condition and train any horses put in his charge. It is expected that a large number of saddle horses will be stabled at the new show grounds at Woodland avenue and Randolph road. Mr. Gethin will take charge on Wednesday.

The directors of the club will hold a meeting at the Casino tonight to decide questions connected with the coming show, the details of which have been already carefully planned under the direction of Robert Fairbairn, chairman of the horse show committee.

Smashed Big Window.

Someone who evidently holds a grudge against Henry Haurand, hurled a large stone through one of the big windows in his building at Somerset and Chatham streets at 3 o'clock this morning. The crash was heard by Marshal Pope, who was on the Somerset street bridge, and he ran to the spot but no one was in sight. The window was put in only a few weeks ago at a cost of $125.

Funeral of Elwood Staats.

The funeral of Elwood Staats, whose death occurred in Muhlenberg Hospital last week, was held in St. Mary's church this morning. The mass was conducted by Rev. Father Bogan in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery, the pall bearers being Stephen O. Staats, Peter C. Staats and Henry Staats and John Owens, Sr.

Richard Boyce Buys Property.

Richard Boyce, proprietor of the Somerset Hotel at Somerset street and Lincoln place, has purchased the property occupied by him from the owners, Jacob Cohen and Joseph Genisman.

BISHOP AT HOLY CROSS

Confirms a Class and Tells the Parishoners He Favors Higher Salary for Clergy.

COMPLIMENTS FLOCK

The Prelate Pleased With Progress of the Church Under Mr. Warner's Rectorship.

In the presence of a large congregation, Rt. Rev. Dr. John Scarborough, bishop of the diocese of New Jersey, administered the rite of confirmation to a class of twenty-two candidates at the morning service in the Church of the Holy Cross yesterday. It was composed mostly of men and boys who are members of the parish. One candidate was presented by Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace church, and another came from New Brunswick. In connection with the ceremony there was special music and a service of more than ordinary interest.

After administering the rite, Bishop Scarborough gave a stirring address on the Resurrection that was in reality an Easter sermon. He also took occasion to congratulate the members of the parish on the good work they have accomplished in the past year and expressed great satisfaction at hearing the report that they have cleared the church of every penny of indebtedness.

While speaking of this line of thought, the bishop called the attention of his hearers to the fact that in the past ten years, according to statistics furnished from Washington, thec ost of living had increased forty-two cents on the dollar and that it should be borne in mind when fixing the rector's salary. The bishop declared that he had given it serious consideration for some time and that he proposed bringing the question of increases before the next Diocesan convention. Before concluding, he addressed the class, speaking first to the women, then the men and finally the boys.

In the afternoon at 4 o'clock, the bishop paid his annual visit to the Church of the Heavenly Rest. He assumed charge of the service but there was no class for confirmation. The bishop preached a sermon and in honor of his visit special anthems were rendered by the choir. At night he visited St. Paul's church, Westfield.

The Bishop was the guest of Rev. and Mrs. George A. Warner over Sunday.

CLUB IN NEW HOME.

Dunellen's Lively Institution For Young Men Is Well Situated.

The Dunellen Athletic Club is installed in its rooms in the Dunellen bank building. The rooms run the entire length of the building and are divided in half; in the rear is a full sized pool table, with benches and chairs. In the front room is a long table on which may be found all the latest magazines, popular novels, and daily newspapers. In this room also there are several card tables for members enjoying games. Adjoining the front room is a spacious locker. The goat is kept there.

The moral tone of the club is what the members have wished for all along and the rules which have been made should improve the character of the young men interested. Citizens of the town may visit the rooms and see what has been done toward making it a place where young men can congregate and at the same time improve themselves in many ways.

The club expects to carry on the social work started, and intends to hold smokers and other affairs of that nature often in the future. When it is settled, a ladies' day will be set aside for friends of the members, and if the first day is a success, the club may make it a permanent feature.

Drew Revolver On Conductor.

Conductor Jeremiah Griffin, of the Netherwood trolley line, reported to the police last night, that an unidentified negro had threatened him with a revolver after refusing to pay his fare. Griffin said the negro boarded the car, which left the depot at 10 o'clock, on Fifth street. When the conductor asked for his fare he refused gruffly, and drew a revolver in reply to the conductor's repeated demand for the nickel. Then he jumped from the car and ran off. Griffin described the man and the police are looking for him.

City Court Cases.

Stephen H. Perrine and Patrick Cahill, arrested Saturday night for drunkenness, were arrigned in the city court this morning. They were released under suspended sentence. John C. Martin, arraigned on the same charge, fared worse. He was arrested at the North Avenue station yesterday morning. He was fined $5 or 20 days.

CROSSING THE OCEAN FOR HER WEDDING HERE

ROMANCE OF CHILDHOOD TO CULTIMATE IN CEREMONY ON MONDAY.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Robert Baillie, of this city, and Miss Agnes Lindsay Neil, who is due to arrive in New York on Sunday from her home in Scotland. The couple were playmates in Scotland, Mr. Baillie coming to this country several years ago, securing a position at the Pond Machine Tool Works.

Ever since the couple has continued to correspond. Finally the date for the wedding was set for Monday night, May 13, at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gailey, 619 John street, Keaney, N. J. A number of friends from this city will attend.

Mr. Baillie received word of the sailing of the steamer upon which his prospective bride is a passenger, and he is anxiously awaiting her arrival in New York on Sunday. After the wedding the couple will reside in Plainfield.

CORNELIUS J. ACKERMAN SUCCUMBS TO ILLNESS

PASSED AWAY AT HIS HOME ON CLINTON AVE EARLY YESTERDAY.

Following an illness of three weeks with a complication of troubles, Cornelius J. Ackerman, who lived over the city line on Clinton avenue, died at his home at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The original ailment was followed by heart trouble and also hiccoughs, from which he suffered constantly for eleven days previous to his death.

Mr. Ackerman was born in New York State seventy-four years ago, but he had lived in or near Plainfield the greater part of his life. He was chief of the city's police in the early seventies and twenty-four years ago he assumed the position of night watchman in the Market and Fulton Bank, of New York, of which former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, of this city, is president. He held the position until three years ago, when the condition of his health induced him to resign. Since then he had lived quietly at his place on Clinton avenue, just above the Maple Grove school.

Mr. Ackerman was a member of the First M. E. church for many years and attended regularly as long as his health permitted. He is survived by four daughters and two sons. They are: Mrs. Walter Manning, Mrs. John Thompson and Mrs. Edward Vail, of this city; Mrs. Frank Martin, who resides at the home; Archibald Ackerman, of Long Island, and William Ackerman, of New Market. He also leaves one brother, John Ackerman, of East Second street.

The funeral will be held at his late home tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and interment will be in the Methodist cemetery on Plainfield avenue.

Burial of Mrs. Williams.

The funeral of Mrs. Theresa Williams, who died at her home on Grove street, Friday morning, was held in St. Joseph's church this morning. The mass was conducted by Rev. Father Miller and interment followed in St. Mary's cemetery. Mrs. Williams was in her forty-second year and is survived by a husband and daughter.

Injured Driver Discharged.

Henry Howard, colored, driver for Newton O. Dunster, of Somerville, who was injured in a trolley accident on West Front street, last week, was discharged from the hospital yesterday and returned to his home. His injuries did not prove to be serious.

Miss Grant's Musical.

The third entertainment of a series of musicals was largely attended at the home of Miss F. May Grant in East Seventh street, Saturday evening. Every number was well rendered and the performers received hearty applause.

Little Miss Frelinghuysen.

Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen is unusually happy today. His rejoicing is not do to the Gubernatorial situation but something of far greater appreciation. The senator is a papa.

BANKERS HEAR FOWLER

Congressman Explains a Method of Expanding the Nation's Currency.

FAVORS CREDIT PLAN

Union County Man Declares Credit System Is Necessary If U. S. Would Compete With Europe.

As a method of expanding the currency Representative Charles N. Fowler, who was the principal speaker at the annual convention of the New Jersey Bankers' Association at the Hotel Chelsea, Atlantic City, Saturday, said that it was necessary for the banks and financial institutions of the country to induce the deposit of enormous sums now withheld from the banks.

Continuing he said:

"The banks of the country must have some system of credits which will permit of the use of currency for exchange instead of forcing them to draw on their reserves.

"Such a system would be necessary before the financial system of the United States would be in a position to compete with the financial system of Europe.

"The present banking power of the United States is sixteen thousand millions of dollars of credits, while that of the rest of the world is twenty-one thousand millions and while the banks outside of this country have four thousand millions of credits in the shape of bank notes the banks of the United States have not a single form of current credit with which to do daily business.

"If this country with a constant increase of banking power should adopt some regular form of currency credit that would direct more of a flow of the public money into the banks in exchange for bank notes, the United States would have a medium of exchange that would in a short time make it the financial center of the world and bills of exchange issued by American banks would come to be regarded as the best on earth."

Upwards of two hundred bankers, representing every financial institution in the State, were present at the opening session.

Changes in bank stock taxations were also discussed.

Over a year ago a law was passed to relieve the banks from what they consider too heavy and unjust State taxation. It was recently nullified by the courts. At the last session of the Legislature a bill passed the House, but failed to pass the Senate, to give the banks relief. It is now admitted that this bill was defective in that it gave banks that might be disposed to take advantage of certain of its provisions opportunity to swear off nearly all taxes.

What the bankers desire is a fair measure, one to place them on the same footing with individuals with reference to taxation, and to provide that the value of non-taxable securities, or securities otherwise taxed, can be deducted from the value of bank stock. The State and National banks in New Jersey now feel they are taxed in undue and unjust proportions, although the trust companies do not make the complaint.

Returns After Long Absence.

Walter Williams, formerly a practicing lawyer here, and who left Plainfield ten years ago, has been visiting relatives and friends in town during the past week. He is accompanied by Mrs. Williams. During his absence Mr. Williams has been employed by a large engineering company and has been superintending construction work in California. He will leave tomorrow for Birmingham, Ala., where he will take charge of another contract. While his face appeared familiar to many Plainfielders, but few could call him by name as he has changed considerable. An amusing incident occurred this morning, when Mr. Williams met Rev. W. C. O'Donnell, who married him, but the latter was unable to recall his name for a few minutes.

Charles F. Drake Improving.

Charles F. Drake, of West Third street, who has been critically ill with blood poisoning, was reported today as being considerably improved and having a good chance for recovery. He is at Muhlenberg Hospital, where he was taken two weeks ago. Mr. Drake has been an employe of the Commercial Mills for many years and the poisoning was contracted while at work in the building.

Rasores Club Meet.

The Rasores Club will meet tomorrow morning with Mrs. J. T. Baker, of Stelle avenue. There will be a roll call and readings from Robert Louis Stevenson.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., will initiate four candidates at its meeting Wednesday night.

BRYAN WILL SPEAK LAST ON PROGRAM

COMMITTEE IN CHARGE OF $ DINNER REARRANGES THE PROGRAMME.

William Jennings Bryan will be the last speaker on the list at the dollar dinner to be given in Krueger Auditorium, Newark, by the People's Lobby Wednesday evening. It was first arranged to have Mr. Bryan speak just before the dinner, but owing to a change of plans on the part of Colonel Bryan the People's Lobby committee in charge has had to rearrange its programme.

Mr. Bryan will speak before the New York Legislature at Albany Wednesday afternoon an din New York city early in the evening. Accompanied by three members of the arrangements committee, he will be whisked from New York to Newark in an automobile. His address there will be on initiative and referendum legislation, for which the People's Lobby has been working.

Sheriff Frank H. Sommer, Senator Everett Colby, James Martine, of Plainfield; Mayor Mark M. Fagan and Corporation Counsel George L. Record, of Jersey City, are down for addresses. Mr. Bryan will spend the night at the home of Alden Freeman in East Orange and leave for Chicago Thursday.

SLEEPING, NOT DEAD, BUT CROWD WOULDN'T BELIEVE

SHOE MAN MAKES EXCITEMENT BY TAKING MOB IN STORE.

F. A. Duttenhofer went into his shoe store on East Front street yesterday afternoon, to look over the stock. He sat on a chair to rest himself after a bit, and fell to nodding. His eyes closed and well into a deep sleep. Swaying in his slumber, he slipped from the chair to the floor, and lay stretched there.

The chair from which he slipped was one of a hollow square formed by a number of seats. All of his body excepting one hand was hidden from the passersby on the street. That hand showed pallidly from under a chair.

A passerby saw it and stopped. Others stopped and stared and shuddered, and in a few minutes a crowd began to form. The people who saw the hand were sure Duttenhofer was dead, and as the rumor spread the crowd grew. In a short while there were 200 people before the store.

Chief Kiely and Patrolman Kelly went to the rear of the store, and heard sounds that exploded the death rumor. Mr. Duttenhofer was snoring peacefully. The chief tried to tell the crowd about it, but they wouldn't be reassured. Seeing that there was no other way to quiet them, the chief broke in the rear door and woke the sleeper. Mr. Duttenhofer blinked sheepishly when the chief showed him the crowd.

MONSTER PYTHIAN INITIATION.

Plainfielders Will Assist In Conferring Degree On 1,000 Candidates.

The lodges of the Knights of Pythias in Philadelphia have combined their forces to hold a monster initiation of 1,000 candidates in the Academy of Music on May 20 and have invited lodges from all parts of New Jersey to participate. Perseverance Lodge, of this city, has been asked to assist in the work and twenty members have signified their willingness to do so. They will make the trip in charge of a committee composed of Asa D. Pope, Philip Jahn and Elmer D. Cutting.

In connection with the initiation, the knights will hold a monster parade, headed by the Uniformed Rank delegations. The Philadelphia lodges are making preparations to entertain at least 3,000 guests.

Miss Ethel Moore Scores.

"The Court of Hearts," a clever comic opera, was given in the Cranford Casino, Friday night, Saturday afternoon and night, and Miss Ethel Moore, a member of the Plainfield Operatic Association, who took a leading part in "The Pirates of Penzance," scored a hit as "Jack of Hearts." Several Plainfielders witnessed the performance Saturday night.

F. H. SMITH THEIR GUEST

Republican Leaders Toast the Silent One on the Eve of His Departure.

MAYOR FISK PRESIDES

Banquet at Get-together Club's Room—County Chairman Receives an Umbrella.

As a mark of esteem, the local Republican leaders on Saturday night gave a dinner in honor of County Chairman Frank H. Smith, who plans ta leave with his wife on Wednesday for a six weeks trip through the West. The affair took place in the Get-together Club parlors at the Hotel Waldorf in East Front street and was attended by thirty of the more prominent party workers. During the festivities a fine umbrella was presented to the guest of honor.

Mayor Charles J. Fisk acted as toastmaster and what he had to say about "Silent" Smith and his services to the party made the modest county chairman blush. The toastmaster declared that their guest enjoyed the reputation of always being true to his friends and for standing by them through thick and thin. Mr. Smith, he said, had done much to promote the interests of the party and to restore harmony within its ranks. He was a man of his word and could always be found on the firing line during the heat of a political campaign and there was no mistaking his color.

Others had some nice things to say about the county chairman, among them being former Mayor James F. Buckle, former Sheriff B. Frank Coriell, Councilman Frank deK. Randolph, Councilman William Gloak, Councilman Herbert F. Buxton, Councilman Francis Montgomery, County Election Board Member Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., District Court Judge William Newcorn and Chief MacDuff.

On behalf of the club, Mayor Fisk presented the umbrella in a happily worded little speech. Mr. Smith responded, thanking his fellow-workers for their kind words and deeds, adding that he did not know what a great man he was until he listened to the speeches. The menu prepared by Henry Windram, the proprietor of the hotel, was exceptionally fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith expect to spend their time principally on the Pacific slope and will be home again the latter part of June.

SEVEN YOUNG WOMEN TO BE GIVEN DIPLOMAS.

Annual Exercises of Muhlenberg Training School on May 23.

The annual graduation exercises of the Muhlenberg Hospital Training School will be held Thursday night, May 23, at the Casino, with the usual attractive programme, which is now being arranged by a joint committee of the Board of Governors and the Women's Auxiliary.

There will be seven graduates, the Misses H. M. Hewlett and M. L. Cranswick, of Toronto, Can.; C. A. Griffin, of London, Can.; M. S. Griggs, of Belle Mead; F. L. Jadwin, of Carbondale, Pa.; E. B. Quipp, of Cranford, and H. T. Wilson, of this city.

While the graduates have not announced their plans for the future, it is believed that most of them will return to their home and take up private nursing, as a majority have done heretofore.

Enjoyable Musical Service.

The monthly special musical service by the vested choir, attracted a large congregation to the First M. E. church, last night, and the different vocal selections were fully enjoyed. The programme as published on Saturday was given entire. The work of the soloists, Miss Laura Gesswein, soprano; Miss Suzanne Zimmerman, contralto; Carlos C. Gallup, bass, was pleasing, while the chorus was evenly balanced and showed great care in training. J. Edmund Skiff, organist and choirmaster, was at the organ and in charge of the music. During the service the pastor, Rev. A. C. McCrea, preached a short sermon appropriate to the occasion.

William Koeyer's Funeral.

The funeral of William E. Koeyer, who died at his home on East Third street, was held in the Christian church on Grove street Saturday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. Phil. A. Parsons in the presence of a large gathering of friends and interment followed in St. Mary's cemetery. Members of the Junior Order United American Mechanics acted as pall bearers.

Leal's Commencement.

The annual commencement exercises will be held at Leal's School on Thursday, June 6.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

CHATHAM.

During last week the new public library has been enriched by the addition of a number of new books; fifty-six of these were from the library of the defunct Men's League and seventy-eight were donated by W. S. Hunt.

Under the auspices of the Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's church a euchre and dance will be given in the Parish Hall next Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Anthony R. Jacobus entertained a number of young people at a musicale at her home on West Main street Friday evening.

Twenty-five new books have been purchased for the library of the public school.

NORTH BRANCH.

The funeral of Mrs. Jane Van Pelt, sixty-seven years old, was held the other day at her home, near Neshanic. Rev. A. J. Walter, of Harlingen, officiated, assisted by Rev. Francis M. Kip, of Neshanic Station.

Rev. Charles E. Corwin, of New Brunswick, who recently accepted a call to become pastor of the Reformed church in this place, is making arrangements to move into the parsonage this week.

Mrs. Leonard Van Camp and son, Roscoe, of Plainfield, have been visiting for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Van Camp at South Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Clark, of North Branch Depot, have been entertaining their grandson, Clark Kellam, of Somerville, for a few days.

SOMERVILLE.

The women of the Methodist church gave a reception to the new pastor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bliss, Thursday evening at the parsonage. The ministers of the town called during the evening and the guests included about 150 residents.

Mrs. George W. Sanborn, of North Bridge street, has returned from a trip to Egypt and the Holy Land.

The Wednesday afternoon euchre met last week at the home of Mrs. John Wehrly.

Miss Mabel Mundy is spending a few weeks with relatives in Newark.

The repairs in the main part of the First Baptist church were completed in time for yesterday's service, but it will require a few more days to finish the installation of the new separate class rooms in the lecture room. Yesterday the main school met in the auditorium of the church.

SCHOOL COURSE EXTENDED.

Only Those Who Have Studied Four Years Will Graduate in Elizabeth.

The graduating class at the Battin High School at Elizabeth this year will be much smaller than in recent years because of the rule that has gone into effect that only those who have completed a four years' course will receive a diploma.

Formerly there was a two years' commercial course, a three years' classical course. Now the commercial and classical courses are four years. The giving of diplomas had to be confined to those serving a four years' course to save a large amount of apportionment money for the schools.

There is on exhibition in Bronx Park, New York, a tortoise reputed to be aged 306 years.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The attraction at the New Plainfield theatre tonight will be Chauncey Olcott in his new play, "Eileen Asthore." The supporting company is the best Manager Pitou has ever given him.

"The Old Homestead" is a perfect transcript of life. Its characters are real people, whose troubles and joys are real as are their comedy and pathos, which invariably beget laughter and tears. The company this season is practically the same as that of last year, including the famous double quartette, which will be heard in the old favorites and also in some new and effective numbers. The production from a scenic point of view will be elaborate and characteristic. It will be at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night.

"At Piney Ridge," by David Higgins, is one of the solidly good attractions the New Plainfield theatre has to offer and it will be shown there next Saturday afternoon and night. The story of Jack Rose, with its under-current of the romance of 'Cindy Jane, has few equals in stage or book literature. The one vital thing about it is its power to entertain and hold the listener from first to last. There isn't any sort of doubt about this for it has been tried too long and too successfully to admit of question. Four stirring acts so well planned that each succeeding one augments the vivid interest of the story lead this play to a climax that is well near to greatness in the true sense of that much abused word. There is a charm too in this poetic Southern story that appeals and the public feels that it is a play for them in every sense. Its characters are of the people. A fine presentation will be given by a strong company.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Better than spring medicine—a Turkish bath. Get one at Brookside sanitarium, Somerset street.

John Winzenried, the trucker of Lee place, promptly attends to all orders. He employs only reliable help.

Brokaw's creamery on East Front street is the place to purchase fresh milk, cream, butter and eggs. The prices are low.

When you want sanitary plumbing work attended to consult A. H. Enander, of Watchung avenue, and it will be done right.

Promptness, carefulness, speed and intelligence mark the way in which A. E. Hoagland, the expressman, executes commissions.

When you purchase coal from Boice, Runyon & Co., of Park avenue, you get the best coal at the lowest prices. Place your order with this firm.

Everybody in the business isn't qualified to clean or dye clothes. To be sure the work will be done right take it to Mary A. Brown, West Second street.

Pasteurized milk is milk insured against the presence of harmful bacteria. That is the kind of milk Marchant Brothers, Watchung avenue, sell. Rich and the purest to be obtained.

Make your money work for you, while it is stored up against the rainy day or awaiting the golden opportunity for investment. Bank it with the Plainfield Trust Company. Interest on your daily balance allowed.

Believe what you may of other dry goods stores, never doubt that the treatment you receive at S. C. Peck's establishement, West Front street, is other than the best, the most liberal, and the squarest to be enjoyed anywhere.

Frank Neidig, the Somerset street butcher, solicits a trial order. He sells Jersey dressed beef, lamb, poultry and provisions, also all kinds of sea food. Orders given over the 'phone will be delivered promptly to any part of the city or borough.

W. H. Forrestel, the Bellevlew avenue nurseryman, has one of the largest stocks of trees, shrubbery and plants to be found in this part of the State. If you need anything of this kind place your order at once as the spring rush will soon be in full swing.

A. E. Force & Co., proprietors of "The White Store," are showing a fine line of spring and summer goods which is well worth your attention. Every department is filled with seasonable goods and the firm guarantees them to be just as represented. The prices are reasonable.

In all the years they have been in business in Plainfield, Neuman Brothers have made it a point to sell nothing but high grade goods and yet at prices that meet those charged by any other dealer. This is especially true to their olive oil which they import from France themselves and which they guarantee to be the very best. It can be had by the gallon, half gallon, quart or pint. The quart bottles contain eight ounces more of oil than is in the so-called quart bottles sold by other dealers.

—Harry Dreier, of West Front street, is among the latest to purchase an automobile. It is a touring car.

—Work was started Saturday digging the cellar for the extension to be erected by L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist, in the rear of his store.

MAYOR M'CLELLAN'S WIFE DISTRIBUTES GENERAL'S BELONGINGS.

Newark, April 29.—Mrs. George B. McClellan, Jr., wife of Mayor of New York, and daughter-in-law of George B. McClellan, general in the Civil War, Democratic candidate for President and later Governor of New Jersey, went to Orange this week and removed the general's personal effects, which had been stored in a warehouse in that city since soon after his death on October 29, 1885.

From time to time during the past twenty years the general's widow has visited Orange and taken out some of the articles and distributed them to friends and to men about the warehouse. Mrs. McClellan, Jr., yesterday gave away several things which had belonged to her father-in-law. Other articles, principally furniture, were ordered packed, and they will be sent to Princeton, where Mayor McClellan of New York, has a residence.

The contents of trunks and boxes were gone over and most of the articles were thrown away, among them old uniforms, which had become moth-eaten, as well as other clothing. From the uniforms the buttons were cut and these were impartially distributed among the men at the warehouse. Many Civil War relics were given away. One was a cane of black wood with a gold band surrounding a Dresden china handle. This cane was secured by a colored man while the goods were being stored, and Policeman Cronen was detailed to get it back again. He did so, and it was presented to him.

Patrick Reilly was given a number of historic pieces. One was a cutlas which had been borne as a side arm. It was embellished with silver and gold. This Mr. Reilly presented to Police Sergeant Daniel J. Leary. George Coach got a lot of letters, some from the general to his officers and others which he had received during the war. Chairs and other articles were given away to various people. Since the general's death a great many things have been sold. Mrs. George B. Higginbotham owns the black walnut dining-room table which was used at Maywood, the general's home on the Orange Mountain. It is four feet six inches wide and when all the leaves are placed in it the table is sixteen feet long. Mrs. McClellan, who spends most of her time in Europe, has been in the habit of distributing various articles whenever she returned to this country. It is now intended to dispose of all the goods, as the two rooms which have been used in the storage warehouse are now commanding a much higher rent than they did twenty years ago.

ROBERT L. STEVENS DIES AT ROSLYN, L. I.

Was Member of Distinguished Family of Castel Point, Hoboken.

Robert L. Stevens, brother of Col. E. A. Stevens, of Castle Point, Hoboken, died yesterday from typhoid fever at his spring residence, Roslyn, L. I. Mr. Stevens had been sick about two weeks. He attended April 10 a meeting of the executive committee of the Board of Directors of the Hoboken Land and Improvement Company. That was his last appearance outside the house. During his illness his brothers, Col. Stevens and Richard Stevens, were in constant attendance on him.

Mr. Stevens was 43 years old and like all the members of the family, except Richard, who is a Parisian by birth, was born at Castle Point, a section of which was his property. He also owned his handsome summer home at Bernardsville, N. J., and his Roslyn residence.

Educated partly by private tutors he also attended St. Paul's Collegiate School at Concord, N. H. In 1892 he became connected with the Hoboken Land and Improvement Co., and when his brother, John Stevens, died in March, 1895, succeeded him as first vice president of the company, an office which he held up to the time of his death. He was also interested in the Rockwall Plaster Co., and other big business enterprises in New York City.

Four years ago Mr. Stevens ran for Congress on the Democratic ticket against Ira Wood in the Fourth New Jersey District, but was defeated. Last fall strenuous efforts were made to induce him again to run but he declined.

Mr. Stevens was fond of outdoor sports, polo and skating being his favorite pastimes. About eleven years survives him. He left two children, one of whom was born last year.

Plainfield, N. J., April 29, 1907.

Col. Bryan promises to tell us all about it on Wednesday night.

There is nothing superstitious about Governor Stokes. May 13 has been designated by him as Jersey day at the Jamestown Exposition.

No significance can be attached to the fact that the Republican leaders have given County Chairman Smith an umbrella. "Silent" never did have to be told to come in out of the rain.

The boom for Joseph Frelinghuysen seems to have been well received in all parts of the State. The Somerset chairman is a man of attractive personality, exceptional ability, and is every inch a man.

The Democrats are determined to separte "Jim" Martine from his money. Probably if some of his loudest shouters had to bear a part of his campaign expenses they would not be so anxious for him to run for Governor.

Are you going to Herman Walker's show? He has the greatest combination of large-lunged and silver tongued political magicians ever seen about the same board, and it only costs one dollar to get within range of their oratorical thunder.

After fifty years or more of existence, during the greater part of which time it was considered a leading paper in New Jersey, the Newark Advertiser has passed through a state of metamorphosis and today makes its bow as the Newark Evening Star. But a mere change in name is not calculated to improve the paper which long since lost its field to the Newark Evening News, the best edited and most wisely conducted journal in the State.

It may be remarked here that South Plainfield has still been balked from becoming a borough, and the Democratic Assembly seems to be responsible. Assemblyman Drake's bill incorporating the borough was smothered. The substitute bill offered by Assemblyman Baker was also sidetracked.—New Brunswick Home-News.

It might also be added that when the Republicans had control of the House a year ago, the same thing happened. Why not be fair?

CITY AND STATE.

Washington, the capital of the United States, has the widest streets of any city in the world.

There is a movement in Maine to permit an open season for killing beavers because of the damage to standing timber caused by the little animals.

It has been proposed that the alfalfa plant be adopted as the floral emblem of Oklahoma. Mistletoe has been the emblem of the territory, but mistletoe is a parsite and is not appropriate to a rugged young state.

A visiting architect from Paris who sees New York city about once in a decade is authority for the statement that the city has improved architecturally more in the last ten years than in the preceding forty years.

A Successful Demonstration.

The pleasure of practicing medicine comes in when the family kowtows to the doctor and call his name blassed. If Aunt Susie bobs up, with "Science and Health," under arm, there's small joy left. With allopaths the pecuniary detriment rarely amounts to much; Eddyism gets is recruits chiefly from homeoeopathists; but even orthodox physicians get cross when you speak of it. They take revenge by yarn spinning, and here is their latest achievement:

"I've just had a triumph," cried the Scientist. "My little niece brought me five tiny kittens, every one of them born blind. I demonstrated over them, and in less than a week the poor dears received their sight!"—Boston Transcript.

AN ORGANIST'S HONOR

quiet music. No flippant or florid effects had been sought, but an expression of the spirit of worship. In keeping with that ideal, it had been his constant aim to prevent the bickerings that sometimes mar the musical side of a church. He was glad that no shadow of any such thing had darkened Trinity's choral work during his service.

Mr. Titsworth became organist of Trinity in May, '82. Before that, for five years, he was organist of the Park Avenue Baptist church. From 1877 until 1885 he was organist of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. He succeeded Joseph P. Howatt, who was organist there when it was the Congregational church. Before the organization of Trinity church, Mrs. W. A. Freeman and Harry Lindsley were organists there. The period of Mr. Titsworth's service covers the pastorate of Rev. Dr. A. V. V. Raymond, president of Union College, and Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, the present incumbent.

Among the singers who served in the choir under Mr. Titsworth are: Thomas B. Brown, Mrs. Nora Abel Leff, Mrs. Ella Staats Bird, Frank S. Lockwood, Mrs. Sheppard Stewart, Miss Gaston, Charles Naylor, Miss Blackman, Mr. Grote, Miss Emma Ward, D. J. Randall, Robert Gorton, George O. Stevens, Mrs. Ryder, Miss Mattison, Mrs. J. C. NEWS IN A NUTSHELL ALL OVER THE WORLD.

Doings of Nations and Men Condensed Into Terse Paragraphs.

King Alfonso of Spain has dissolved parliament and ordered the election of a new body, which will be opened May 13.

King Edward has approved the appointmen of Sydney Oliver to be Governor of Jamaica, succeeding Sir Alexander Swettenham.

A fire at the Palazzo del Drago, Ambassador Griscom's home at Rome, slightly injured Mr. Griscom and caused damage, estimated at $11,000, to the building.

All classes of Cubans are anxiously awaiting the arrival of Secretary of War Taft, believeing the fate of the island rests on his decisions in pending questions.

The Home Secretary announced in London that he would recommend to the King the commutation of Rayner's sentence to life imprisonment. The young man shot Merchant Whiteley.

It was announced that telegraph tolls would be raised on April 1 between certain points by both the Western Union and the Postal companies as a result of a process of adjustment.

ENGLISH ETCHINGS.

How do Americans pronounce the name of their country? The head master of a school in England says it is "Ummurruckugh."

In the east end of London it is now the fashion of men to wear an engagement button in the coat lapel bearing a portrait of the lady. It is called a "love button."

A sea captain named Wenlock has been elected mayor of Brightlingsea, Essex, England, the ceremony taking place in the church belfry, according to immemorial custom.

Since 1830 Liberal governments have been in office forty-two years and have created 232 peers. Conservative ministries have been in power thirty-four years and have created 181 peers.

A woman applied to the Eton union guardians in England recently for the wooden leg which was worn for years by her uncle, who died in the workhouse. Her request was granted, and the woman took the leg home with her.

The London Jewish Chronicle, the most influential of all the English publications of its class, has been acquired by L. J. Greenberg, a well known barrister of London. Mr. Greenberg is a prominent leader in the Zionist movement, and it is believed that the Chronicle will become the organ of English Zionism.

TRAIN AND TRACK.

The rails of the belt line road in Philadelphia are the heaviest in the world.

New South Wales railways have made large reductions in passenger fares and freight rates.

The Kansas City Terminal Railway Company, representing the leading railways entering Kansas City, proposes to build a new joint passenger and freight terminal. The city has agreed to give the railways a fifty year grant for the terminal.

The work of elevating the railroad tracks of the city of Chicago is proceeding rapidly, and when the entire 1,600 miles are placed overhead it is estimated that the improvement will be the means of saving 600 lives every year. This work will cost $15,000,000, and the expense will be borne entirely by the railroads.

CURRENT COMMENT.

To good roads and good streets must now be added the slogan "Good bridges."—Los Angeles Herald.

If there is a prejudice against wealth, ill gotten wealth is largely to blame for this condition. Mankind demands a square deal.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Criticism is reviving because no public monument marks the grave of Sam Houston, but the State of Texas ought to be monument enough for anybody.—Boston Transcript.

Marie Corelli admits that "brilliant, intellectual women are distinctly in the minority." They certainly and fortunately are. So are brilliant, intellectual men. Most of the world's work is done by just plain people earning a living.—New York World.

Plainfield Council, No. 249, Jr. O. U. A. M., will celebrate its second anniversary tonight with a special programme.

"The U. S. American," a monthly publication devoted to the interests of the Junior Order American Mechanics in general and the Plainfield Councils in particular, made its first appearance Saturday.

Fourteen members of Salaam Temple of the Mystic Shrine left Saturday for Los Angeles, Cal., where the annual convention of the imperial council will be held May 7 and 8. At Trenton members of Crescent Temple got aboard.

A report of the T. A. B. Society just issued shows that organization is one of the richest in Elizabeth. The financial statement gives the value of the society in cash and real estate at $18,000. Their clubhouse is valued at $4,500, which is considered conservative, and two lots held by the society are valued at $3,000, though they would bring much more than that in the open market. There is more than $11,000 in cash in the treasury. The society has decided to begin the erection of a new clubhouse a year from now.

HINTS OF VALUE.

Sugar of lead dissolved in water will "set" the color in dress goods.

Save pieces of matting to be placed under the carpet when cleaning house; it is much nicer than paper.

If grease is spilled on dress goods it can be cleaned by covering with pure alcohol. Place a blotter over the place and iron with a moderately warm iron.

If you cannot afford a new oilcloth or linoleum for the kitchen floor and it is not broken in places, paint with inside paint, making the centre mat of dark green with a cream border. The broken pieces can be cut out, any kind of good oilcloth placed beneath, the seams filled with glue and when painted the patch is not noticeable.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL.

Dr. R. J. James has been re-elected president of the University of Illinois for a term of two years.

Williams college has already received eighty-seven applications for rooms from men intending to enter in the class of 1911.

Morgan Park academy, maintained by the University of Chicago for preparatory instruction, has been forced to close its doors because of the general excellence of public schools.

Ground has been broken for the new library building of Radcliffe college. The building will be connected by a colonnade with Elizabeth Cary Agassia House, and it will correspond to the gymnasium in external appearance.

FAVORITE SLANG EXPRESSIONS.

The dyspeptic's—That's rich.
The minister's—Good Lord.
The lover's—I like your cheek.
The sportman's—Oh, shoot it.
The drummer's—Beat it.
The single taxer's—By George.
The doctor's—Dead easy.
The detective's—After you, my dear Alphonse.

RANDOLPH'S "Special Rheumatic Tablets"

The acute pain and suffering of rheumatism can be avoided if nature's warning is heeded in time. The great relief procured by using our "Special Rheumatic Tablets" calls forth an expression of delight. They banish pain so surely and promptly that we want every person who is troubled with rheumatism to avail himself or herself of this reliable remedy.

AWED BY CONVICT AUDIENCE.

Speaker Unable to Address Inmates of the Penitentiary.

As an illustration of the embarrassment that sometimes confronts public speakers Representative Charles T. Towne told of the experience of an Irishman who was a member of the Michigan state senate. The Irishman accepted an urgent invitation to deliver an address to the convicts in the Michigan penitentiary on Washington's birthday. The unusual situation had not occurred to the orator until he faced his audience of hard-faced men in stripes. He surveyed them hesitatingly for a moment before he uttered a word, and then said: "I confess that I do not know how to begin. I cannot say 'Gentlemen,' because none of you is a gentleman or you wouldn't be here in stripes. I can't call you 'fellow citizens' because the laws of this state have taken your citizenship away. I cannot call you 'friends' because if I did I would be suspected of being one of you. So I think I can't speak to you at all, though may God have mercy on your souls."

BOWL 600 FEET ACROSS.

Among the many natural curiosities of Arizona, but one that is not often visited by ordinary tourists, is the singular bowl-shaped depression in Yavapai county called Montezuma's well. It is nearly circular and between 500 and 600 feet in diameter at the brim. It lies in the midst of a nearly level area. The sides are vertical to a depth of 30 or 40 feet. Below that they merge into a sloping talus, which extends down to a circular pool of water, alleged by popular tradition, as are so many not deep areas of water, to be bottomless. This remarkable formation has usually been described as a "pit crater" of volcanic origin. But Professor William P. Blake believes it to be the result of the falling of the roof of a cavern formed in the limestone strata by running water. The water of the pool, he says, flows out through a subterranean channel into the valley of Beaver creek.

Hollander's Greatest Smokers.

Umustapha cigar! The latest figures are to hand showing the amount of tobacco used—and abused—annually in Europe and America. In the former continent the yearly consumption is estimated at something more than two and a quarter pounds to each inhabitant. Taking each country the position is thus: Holland smokes the comparatively enormous amount of seven pounds average per person, Austria-Hungary 3.8 pounds, Denmark 3.7, Switzerland 3.3, Belgium 3.2, Germany 3, Norway 2.3, France, 2.1, Sweden nearly 2, British Isles 1.34, Italy 1.25, Spain 1.7 and Russia 1.2. For the Balkans there are no returns. In the United States the proportion is greater than that of any European country except Holland, being no less than 4½ pounds to each inhabitant.

Very Useful.

"He's a very good horse, but thin," remarked the dealer who was trying to sell the animal. "I sometimes have to tie a knot in his tail to prevent him from slipping through his collar; but that's no matter. Occasionally, too, I have to hang a sack over him to keep the hay inside of him from getting sunburnt. He's a good horse, but thin. My wife and her mother took him for a drive the other day, and they foolishly let him trot. When he trotted the rattling of his bones so startled him that he bolted, pitched my wife and mother-in-law out, and killed the old woman. Oh, he's a good horse, if thin; but he's very useful!"—London Answers.

A Cure for Styes.

Styes are occasioned by the irritation of the hair follicle out of which an eyelash springs. They should be opened as soon as the pus is formed, for they will not get well as long as the pus remains. For inflammation of the follicles and scaliness add to an ounce of vaseline 15 grains of precipitated sulphur. In applying this ointment it is well to warm it a little, as it will not be so sticky then. A pomade to be rubbed on the lid and lashes to cure styes is: White vaseline, eight grams; white precipitate, ten centigrams; oil of birch, ten centigrams.

One Man's Theory.

A prospective tenant was interviewing the janitor of an apartment house—or was being interviewed by him.

"Are you a chess player?" asked the autocrat of the establishment.

"Why do you ask?" queried the other.

"The owner prefers to rent to chess players," explained the janitor, "because it is so seldom they move."—Chicago Daily News.

A Little O' the Same.

"You say you were in the saloon at the time of the assault referred to in the complaint?" questioned the lawyer.

"I was, sor," replied the witness.

"Did you take cognizance of the barkeeper at the time?"

"I don't know what he called it, sor, but I took what the rest did."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Superior to All Obstacles.

"That Russian author says he does not think Shakespeare was a great genius."

"Well," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes, "that doesn't prove anything except that neither geographic distance nor the lapse of time can prevent professional jealousy."—Washington Star.

THE MAN WHO HAS THE "SWAT."

This baseball is a curious game;
The catcher must be fine;
The pitcher first-class and the men
Who back him—all the nine—
Be "on their jobs" each instant from
The Spring until the Fall—
But he who gets my money is
The man who soaks the ball.

Base running is a feature of
A properly-played game;
The fellow who can second a steal
Has many claims on fame;
But in this one opinion
I know you'll join me, all—
The man who scores the tallies
Is the man who soaks the ball.

Fine fielding is a dainty thing
Which every "fan" enjoys,
And clean-cut pick-ups always make
The bleachers ring with noise
As each spectator shouts in glee;
But if you will recall
Who wins the games you'll say it is
The man who soaks the ball.

It thrills the heart to see old "Mid"
A three-base hit cut down;
It makes the rooters shout with joy
To see "Red" strike out Brown.
But if we need a run to tie
You bet that we must call
Upon the Old Reliable,
The man who soaks the ball.

It's fine to watch a fielder scoop
A hit out of the dust;
It fills my heart with happiness
To see it; but I must Confess I think the player who
Is king-pin of them all
Is he who wields the willow—
The man who soaks the ball.

So let us carve a statue
And set it in the park;
Of our fond approbation
Then let it be a mark.
We'd love to "sculp" a pitcher
Or catcher, but they pale
Beside the mighty prowess
Of the man who soaks the ball.

WHEN ABE LINCOLN RODE IN AN ENGINE CAB.

How President Was Conveyed to Scene of Dress Parade.

Jack Wheeler is probably the only engineer living who has had the honor of having a President of the United States as an almost daily passenger with him in his engine cab, says the Erie Railroad Employes' Magazine.

It was while the Army of the Potomac was forming that Wheeler had his first meeting with President Lincoln. Day after day "Honest Abe" would come to Aquia Creek and take a trip in the old locomotive down to Falmouth, Va.

There were no passenger cars on the trains that hauled the President back and forth, and so Lincoln and his two boys used the seat on the fireman's side during his run to the front. The trip was one of about ten miles, and President Lincoln's journeys were to see the dress parades that were held every afternoon.

Under such circumstances it was natural that Mr. Wheeler became quite intimately acquainted with the great President, and yet his principal impression of the famous man was that he wore "a shocking bad hat that always looked to be a long time out of date."

President Lincoln always greeted Wheeler with a warm handclasp and a few cheery words regarding the proposed trip of the day, and then he usually subsided into silence, save that he chatted with his two sons. With his long frock coat, his tall straight hat, and his gaunt figure, Wheeler remembers him as one of the most awkward men he ever saw.

But once in a while the President's face would light up when something pleased him, and this was the signal for a short story or a joke of some kind that Lincoln would tire across the cab at Wheeler.

"I did not think that any great honor was being conferred on me in those times by having the President ride in the cab with me," said Mr. Wheeler, as he sat in his handsome home in Meadville, and recalled the experience of his early railroading. "On the contrary, I thought I was doing 'Old Abe' a favor to let him ride in the cab with me."

LAW POINTS.

A quitclaim deed is held in Hall versus Waterson (Ill.), 4 L. R. A. (N. S.), 776, to be good color of title for adverse possession.

A dispatchers' record of the arrival and departure of trains is held in Louisville and N. R. company versus Daniel (Ky.), 3 L. R. A. (N. S.), 1190, to be admissible to show the location of a train at the time of an alleged accident.

The "legal heirs" of a member of a benefit society to whom the benefit is payable are held in Thomas versus Supreme Lodge, K. of P. (Wis.), 3 L. R. A. (N. S.), 904, to be the persons designated as distributees by the statutes for the distribution of personal property of intestates.

Postal Rates.

A parcel can be mailed from this country to the British colony of Bermuda for three-fourths the postage charged between any two postoffices in the United States, and the parcel to Bermuda may go as high as eleven pounds, while the domestic parcel is restricted to four pounds. Some queer things are found in the postal management of the United States.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

AUTHOR OF THE COST, THE DELUGE, Etc.

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

"Your own!" she sneered. "Every dollar you have has come through what you got by marrying me—through what you married me for. Where would you be if you hadn't married me? You know very well. You'd still be fighting poverty as a small lawyer in Pulaski, married to Betty Crosby or whatever her name was." And she burst into hysterical tears. At last she was showing me the secrets that had been tearing at her, was showing me her heart, where they had torn it.

"Probably," said I in my usual tone, when she was calm enough to hear me. "So that's what you brood over?"

"Yes," she sobbed. "I've hated you and myself. Why don't you tell me it isn't so? I'll believe it—I don't want to hear the truth. I know you don't love me, Harvey. But just say you don't love her."

"What kind of middle-aged maudlin moonoshine is this, anyway?" said I. "Let's go back to Junior. We've passed the time of life when people can talk sentimentality without being ridiculous."

"That's true of me, Harvey," she said miserably, "but not of you. You don't look a day over 40—you're still a young man, while I—"

She did not need to complete the sentence. I sat on the bed beside her and patted her vaguely. She took my hand and kissed it. And I said—I tried to say it gently, tenderly, sincerely: "People who've been together, as you and I have, see each other always as at first, they say."

She kissed my hand gratefully again. "Forgive me for what I said," she murmured. "You know I didn't think it, really. I've got such a nasty disposition and I felt so down, and—that was the only thing I could find to throw at you."

"Please—please!" I protested. "Forgive isn't a word that I'd have the right to use to any one."

"But I must—"

"Now, I've known for years," I went on, "that you were in love with that other man when I asked you to marry me. I might have taunted you with it, might have told you how I've saved him from going to jail for passing worthless checks."

This delighted her—this jealousy so long and so carefully hidden. Under cover of her delight I escaped from the witness stand. And the discovery that evening by Doc Woodruff that my son's ensnarer had a husband living put her in high good humor. "If he'd only come home," said she, adding: "Though, now I feel that he's perfectly safe with her."

"Yes—let them alone," I replied. "He has at least one kind of sense—a sense of honor. And I suspect and hope that he has at bottom common sense, too. Let him find her out for himself. Then he'll be done with her, and her kind, for good."

"I must marry him off as soon as possible," said Carlotta. "I'll look about for some nice, quiet young girl with character and looks and domestic tastes." She laughed a little bitterly. "You men can profit by experience and it ruins us—women."

"Unjust," said I, "but injustice and stupidity are the ground plan of life."

We had not long to wait. The lady, as soon as Junior reached the end of his cash, tried to open negotiations. Failing and becoming convinced that he had been cast off by his parents, she threw aside her mask. One straight look into her real countenance was enough for the boy. He fled shuddering—but not to me as I had expected. Instead, he got a place as a clerk in Chicago.

"Why not let him shift for himself for awhile?" suggested Woodruff, who couldn't have taken more trouble about the affair if the boy had been his own. "A man never knows whether his feet were made to stand on and walk with, unless he's been down to his uppers."

"I think the boy's got his grandmother in him," said I. "Let's give him a chance."

"He'll make a career for himself yet—like his father's," said Woodruff.

That, with the sincerest enthusiasm. But instinctively I looked at him for signs of sarcasm. And then I wondered how many "successful" men would, in the same circumstances, have had the same curiously significant instinct.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Under a Crayon Portrait.

It was not less than a month before inauguration. Daily the papers gave probable selections for the high posts under the approaching administration; and, while many of them were attributed to my influence, Roebuck's son as ambassador to Russia was the only one I ever approved of. His payments for the services of the plutocracy they were unnecessary and foolishly lavish; as preparation for a renomination and reelection, the two guiding factors in every plan of a president-elect, they were preposterous. They were first steps toward an administration that would make Scarborough's triumph inevitable, in spite of his handicap of idealism.

I sent Woodruff west to find out what Burbank was doing about the places I had pledged—all of them less "honorable," but more lucrative offices which party workers covet. He returned with the news that, according to the best information he could get through his spies in Burbank's entourage, all our pledges would be broken; the Sayler-Burbank machine was to be made over into a Goodrich-Burbank.

I saw that I could not much longer delay action. But I resolved to put it off until the very last minute, meanwhile trying to force Burbank to send for me. My cannonade upon Goodrich in 6,000 newspapers, great and small, throughout the west and south, had been reenforced by the bulk of the opposition press. I could not believe it was to be without influence upon the timid Burbank, even though he knew who was back of the attack, and precisely how I was directing it. I was relying—as I afterward learned, not in vain—upon my faithful De Milt to bring to Cousin James' attention the outburst of public sentiment against his guide, philosopher and friend, the Wall street fetch-and-carry.

I had fixed on February 15 as the date on which I would telegraph a formal demand for an interview. On February 11 he surrendered—he wired asking me to come. I took a chance; I wired back a polite request to be excused as I had urgent business in Chicago. And 24 hours later I passed within 30 miles of Rivington on my way to Chicago with Carlotta—we were going to see Junior, hugely proud of himself and his $27 a week. At the Auditorium a telegram waited from Burbank: He hoped I would come as soon as I could; the matters he wished to discuss were most important.

Toward noon of the third day thereafter we were greeting each other—he with an attempt at his old-time cordiality, I without concealment of at least the coldness I felt. But my manner apparently, and probably, escaped his notice. He was now blind and drunk with the incense that had been whirling about him in dense clouds for three months; he was incapable of doubting the bliss of any human being he was gracious to. He shut me in with him and began confiding the plans he and Goodrich had made—cabinet places, foreign posts, and so forth. His voice, lingering and luxuriating upon the titles—"my ambassador to his Brittanic majesty," "my ambassador to the German emperor," and so on—amused and a little, but only a little, astonished me; I had always known that he was a through-and-through snob. For nearly an hour I watched his ingenious, childish delight in bathing himself in himself, the wonderful fountain of all these honors. At last he finished, laid down his list, took off his nose-glasses. "Well, Harvey, what do you think?" he asked, and waited with sparkling eyes for my enthusiastic approval.

THINGS THEATRICAL.

The most beautiful horse in the world is said to be the one which Theresa Rentz used in the New York Hippodrome.

Henry E. Hoyt, one of the foremost stage scenic painters of his day, died in Philadelphia recently in the seventy-second year of his age.

Julian Edwardes has completed the score of a new musical comedy, "The Motor Girl," for which a New York production is now being arranged.

"The Other Girl," by Augustus Thomas, is to go on tour with Thos. Ross in the role of Kid Garvan, which was originally played by Lionel Barrymore.

James K. Hackett is to direct the production of "The Girl In White," the new comedy by Ramsey Morris, in which Pauline Fredericks is to be starred.

Zeffie Tilbury, who has a prominent role in "Love in Livery" with Viola Allen, is the daughter of Lydia Thompson, the celebrated English actress of a generation ago.

Raymond Hitchcock as the make believe war correspondent in "A Yankee Tourist," a new comic opera by Richard Harding Davis, Wallace Irwin and Alfred B. Robyn, wears a khaki uniform which was presented to him by Richard Harding Davis.

Sarah Cowell Le Moyne has been engaged by E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe as an addition to their company and will be cast for several important roles. She made her debut with the company at the Lyric theatre, New York, appearing in "The Sunken Bell."

Vera Michelena was engaged recently for one of the important roles in a new musical play by De Koven and Stange, entitled "The Snow Man."

Robert Hilliard's new one act sketch, "The Man Who Won the Pool," is to be expanded into a four act play after the fashion of "The Chorus Lady."

T. D. Frawley and his stock company, including Alice Johnson, are going to play a long engagement at the Lyceum theatre, Minneapolis, Minn.

Edna Wallace Hopper is to leave the Lew Fields company. Miss Wallace is to have a leading part in the production of "The White Chrysanthemum."

When Maxine Elliott completes her bookings for this year she will have covered approximately 25,000 miles, one of the longest tours on record for any star.

Thomas C. Seabrooke's suit against James S. Hackett over a matter of discipline connected with the production of "Alcalde" last summer has been amicably settled.

A New York mathematician estimates that it took the Supreme Court of New York just ten minutes by the watch to divorce Ethel Levy from George Cohan recently.

HOW TO BUY SHOES.

"I suppose not more than half the women know how to buy shoes properly," said a shoe dealer who has been in the business for some forty years.

"They take for the most part anything the clerk shows them, and because they are not familiar with the size they should wear, have corns, bunions and all the other foot troubles of a similar nature.

"If you would avoid ruining your feet with too short shoes buy the latter at least three sizes larger than the actual length of the foot.

"Insist on your foot being measured in the regular way, and then if the measurement indicates that your foot is one and a half sizes in length add three to that and get a four and a half shoe, and you'll never have any trouble.

"Most of the department stores try to sell you shoes two and a half sizes larger, but three is the correct size.

"As to the width, there must be sufficient treading space so that the foot will not be squeezed together, forming a hollow in the centre. This contraction not only injures the arch, but forms a sort of suction which holds perspiration and that overheats the foot.

"By following these simple rules one will save much discomfort and even suffering."

COLD BATHS.

We seldom pick up the magazines nowadays without reading of the wonderfully beneficial effect of cold bathing. It sounds mighty good, and really is splendid for the woman in excellent physical condition, serving to make her brighter and even more hardy; but let the nervous, slightly delicate woman try it and she is sure to finish with a good "pounding" headache or some other affliction caused by nerve strain.

If she would begin by taking warm baths, not hot, she would find them most helpful, without unpleasant after-effects. The shower should be of water just a trifle cooler than the plunge.

She should lead up to the cold baths by having the water a little cooler each day, and in a short time would find her plunge a daily luxury, and not a necessary horror.

Our nerves are delicate and very susceptible to shock, and it is our duty to protect and guard them always as best we can.

RARITAN SHUT OUT BY CLINTON AVENUE

RANDOLPH WELL SUPPORTED AND GAME IS CLINCHED FROM START.

The Clinton Avenue team defeated the Raritan nine, at Raritan, Saturday afternoon by a score of 8 to 0. The home team did not have a look in from start to finish, and was only able to secure three hits off Randolph, who pitched a strong game. The Clinton Avenues also showed up well with the stick. They piled up a total of ten singles off Hayle. Jack Martin at third made the only error for his team.

In the seventh inning Clinton Avenue touched Hayle in lively fashion, scoring four runs. Both teams fielded brilliantly and the contest was marked by sharp work all around. Only twenty-nine men faced Randolph throughout the game. The score:

SCOTCH PLAINS WINS FROM BAYONNE A. C.

VISITORS IN LEAD AT START—FINAL SCORE WAS 9 TO 4.

The Bayonne A. C. went down to defeat Saturday afternoon at Scotch Plains, when the latter's team scored a victory by the score of 9 to 4. The home aggregation found Snyder's delivery in the third inning and before being retired brought in seven runs. Up to the third inning the visitors were in the lead, the score being 3 to 0, due to loose infield playing, together with a two base hit off Johnston's delivery. After that both teams settled down and the fans enjoyed a good contest. The visitors were given another run in the seventh inning, when a wild throw by Perry assisted by a Texas leaguer brought a man across the plate. The locals scored two more runs in their half of this inning.

The game afforded Captain Frentz an opportunity to try out his pitching staff. Johnston occupied the box the first three innings, after which Perry, of last year's Gillette team, finished the contest. His work was fine, only two hits being made off his delivery.

TWELVE INNINGS AND RUSHMORE TEAM WINS

EXCITING CONTEST IN WHICH SCOTT'S MEN ARE BEATEN.

The Rushmore Dynamo Works' team defeated a nine from Scott's Press Works, Saturday afternoon, by a score of 12 to 11 in a twelve inning contest. The pitching of Boylan and Mullin, of the Rushmore team, was a feature, the former fanning eight men in seven innings and Mullin fanning seven in five innings. Compton was especialy strong behind the bat.

The line-up and score by innings follow:

MONO AGGREGATION WON IN AN 11 INNING GAME

LOCAL NINE DEFEATED DUNNELLEN BY SCORE OF 6 TO 5.

In a close and exciting game, the Mono Field Club, of this city, defeated the Dunellen nine at Dunellen, Saturday afternoon by the score of 6 to 5, eleven innings. Eugene MacLaughlin, Hub Conover and Mumford formed the battery for the winning side, while VanArsdale and G. Herman were in the points for the home team. Loose playing in the field lost the game for Dunellen, while the Plainfield boys put up an almost errorless contest.

The playing of Russell Randolph, the utility man, at first, Jack Hallard, C. Monitross in center field, and the battery, VanArsdale and Herman, were features. Every member of the Plainfield team played in mid-season form. Next Saturday the Dunellen team will play the Dunellen Field Club, at home, and several of the old St. Mary's players will be given a try-out.

P.C.C. GOLF OPENING POSTPONED A WEEK

THE GREENS NOT READY ON SATURDAY FOR REGULAR PLAY.

It was a great disappointmen to many enthusiasts that the regular schedule of golf events could not be started at the Plainfield Country Club Saturday. The committee decided, however, that because of the condition of the greens it would be unwise to begin the regular play. In another week they will be in fine shape, and in fact the whole course will be much improved. After a short conference on Saturday it was decided to postpone the initial competition for one week and a notice to that effect was posted.

During the past few weeks, Leighton Calkins, chairman of the greens committee, has put in much time with a large gang of laborers, making the necessary improvements and repairs to the course, and it is predicted that when completed it will be the equal of any in the Metropolitan district.

Although there was no regular play on the course, the social features at the clubhouse were enjoyed. A large number of members and guests visited there Saturday afternoon and several luncheons and dinners were served. Among the informal luncheons was one given for a small party of friends by Mrs. Francis DeLacy Hyde. All the improvements about the house are about completed and everything is in readiness for a busy season. It is hoped that during the summer the hot water heating system will be installed so that the house will have every modern convenience for the comfort of the members. On Saturday there will be the first play for the opening day, golf committee and greens committee cups.

The active season will begin at the Park Club and the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday, the opening being deferred because the greens were not in suitable condition before.

DIAMOND DUST.

Manager Smith, of the Westfield Lackawanna League team, has selected these players for the season: Catchers, Garvan and Field; pitchers, Scanlon, McKenna and Dangler; first base, Ortleb; second base, Fine; third base, Barry; short-stop, Kennedy; outfield, Smith, Alberts, Brown; substitute fielder, Mallon. The first game at Westfield will be played on Saturday.

How the mighty have fallen. George Mallon, once the idol of the Westfield fans, has been signed as a substitute fielder by Manager Smith, of Westfield.

Two weeks from Saturday, May 18, will witness the opening of the Inter-City Amateur League season in Plainfield, when the Y. M. C. A. will meet Bound Brook on Crescent Oval.

Judging by the weather this spring the officials of the amateur league made no mistake in fixing May 17 as the time to begin playing. However, the fans are getting hungry for baseball and it is expected that the initial game here will be largely attended.

"Phil." Smith reports to the Elizabeth Atlantic League on Wednesday, when he will take his regular turn in the box.

"Jimmie" Montross, the well-known twirler, has made no definite plans for the season. He would be a valuable acquisition to any of the minor teams. He is in fine condition at present.

The daily bulletin displayed in front of The Daily Press office giving the fans the final results of the big league games are popular. In this way the results are known at an early hour. The returns are also displayed at the Waldorf Hotel at the same time and they are eagerly awaited at both places.

Howard Craig, captain of the Y. M. C. A. team, is very popular not only with his players, but with the fans. He is a fast fielder, good with the stick and never gets rattled in a game.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball squad had lively practise Saturday afternoon. The team will play an exhibition game with the Mono Field Club May 11. An effort is being made to arrange a game with Raritan next Saturday.

BOWLING

The "Ponies" and the "Arm Rights" will have their second clash on McLaughlin's alleys tomorrow night. In the first match rolled two weeks ago, the "Ponies" took three straight and the "Arm Rights" are determined to even up matters. The "Ponies" will be made up of Joe Farlee, Louis Skelly, Will Skinner, Harry Ackor and V. W. Nash, Jr., while the "Arm Rights" will include John Conklin, D. E. Britton, Dan Mack, Charles F. Meyer, Jr., and Frank Blatz.

After an exciting series that has lasted several weeks, "Teedie" Smith has been declared the winner of a four-man tourney rolled on alleys No. 3 and 4 at McLaughlin's. The opposing bowlers were "Billy" Mahley, V. L. Frazee and Dive White and "Teedie" went so far ahead of them all he has refused to play with them any longer and has moved over among the cracks on Nos. 1 and 2. "Teedie's" average has been figured out at 154 and he had a high score of 186. "Vin" Frazee tried hard to win out but the pins stuck every time he hit for a strike and he ended with an average of 129.

OBITUARY.

Joseph Long.

Joseph Long, aged twenty-one years, of Johnston avenue, died Saturday in Muhlenberg hospital of rheumatism of the heart. He leaves a father and a brother. The funeral was held in St. Mary's church this morning in charge of Rev. Father Sciola. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Frank F. Demming.

Frank P. Demming, 54 years old, died at his home in Westfield last night. He was born in this city and spent the greater part of his life between this city and Westfield. He was a carpenter by trade and a member of the Exempt Firemen of Westfield. For several years he was janitor of the firehouse and had much to do with the remodeling of the house when the department became a paid one. A widow and four children survive him. The children are Edward Sheldon, Agnes and Grace Demming, all of Westfield. Funeral services will be held today n the First Methodist Episcopal church. The burial will be in the family plot in Fairview cemetery.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Large assortment of fresh vegetables at Neuman Brothers' store today and tomorrow. Prices low despite the lateness of the season.

—All bills against the city must be in the office of the City Clerk by tomorrow night to insure favorable action at the next Council meeting.

—A hand-bag, containing money, etc., was lost Saturday morning. It was advertised in The Daily Press. A. J. Smalley, of Craig place, found it and the owner is thankful that he advertised in Plainfield's leading paper.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church will send a barrel of clothing, jellies, canned goods, etc., next week to McKee, Ky., for the Mountain Whites.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of St. Peter's Lutheran church, will meet Thursday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Charles Holdenke. Carriages will be at the end of the Somerset street trolley to take friends to Watchung. The Young People's Society will meet at the church parsonage in the evening.

SHAPING MARTINE'S BOOM.

Elizabeth Democrats to Launch It at Dinner Next Month.

General D. F. Collins, chairman of the Union County Democratic Committee, has appointed the following members to serve as a committee to make arrangements for a reception and dinner some time next month to James E. Martine, of this city:

Charles H. Moore, John F. Kenah, Robert H. McAdams and Owen Farrelly, of Elizabeth; Leroy A. Gibby, of Summit; W. E. Tuttle, of Westfield; George W. Cladek, of Rahway; B. F. Wade, of Union, and John P. Owens, of Plainfield.

Prominent speakers from all parts of the State will be invited. It will result, it is said, in the launching of a well-defined Guberntorial boom for Mr. Martine.

Miss Galvin in Benefit Performances.

Stage Manager Fred Bennett and Janitor David Bush, of the New Plainfield Theatre, are to have a benefit at the house on May 20 and 21. The attraction will be Miss Ella Galvin, daughter of J. A. Galvin, of this city, in her big success, "The Little Outcast." The Galvin company has been on tour in repertoire for the past two years and the young actress will undoubtedly draw a large house in her home town, aside from the fact that Mr. Bennett and Mr. Bush are popular with the patrons of the theatre.

Injured Girl Improving.

Ruth Freeman, the seven-year-old daughter of Herbert Freeman, of Park avenue, who was seriously injured on that thoroughfare on Saturday, when a loaded stone wagon run over her, was reported at the hospital today to be improving. The child was running across the street at the time and failed to notice the stone wagon. She suffered a compound fracture of the left leg.

Communion at Marconnier Chapel.

Communion services were held at Marconnier chapel, yesterday, the pastor, Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale, receiving Miss Stella Keiderling, a member of the Sunday-school, on confession of faith. M. F. Gano and W. F. Oliver, deacons at Trinity Reformed church, assisted at the service by serving bread and wine.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Rogers and Dr. and Mrs. Marcus L. Clawson are spending several days at Atlantic City.

SHE TAUGHT SCHOOL FOR FORTY-EIGHT YEARS

MISS MULLISON HAS BEEN RETIRED AND WILL LIVE HERE.

Miss Harriet W. Mullison, clerk in the Seventh Avenue School, Newark, and who has taught forty-eight consecutive years in that city, is one of two veteran teachers retired last week by the Board of Education of Newark. Miss Mullison intends making her home in Plainfield after the present school year.

Miss Mullison has been in school since she was four years old, when she went to a kindergarten, has never had a furlough, and has not been assent for illness more than two months in all. She went to the primary and grammar schools of this city, graduated from a private academy in this city, and from the Normal and Training School.

While still at the Normal School, and a girl of seventeen, Miss Mullison taught in the Webster Street School, Newark, in the third grade grammar. From there she was promoted to the second grade grammar in the Market Street School, Newark, and upon her own request was put in charge of the female department of the Clover Street Industrial School, now out of existence. She has never had any but the grammar grades. After this she was made principal of the Clover Street School, where she remained for seven years, and until its closing, and then went to the Monmouth and Commerce Street schools in that city.

For the last five years Miss Mullison has been a special assistant in the Seventh Avenue School.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Clark, of Brooklyn, spent Sunday with Mr. Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr., of Jackson avenue.

Irving Weaver and family, of Somerville, are moving to Plainfield today. Mr. Weaver is a neprew of David R. Weaver and Peter V. Weaver, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clifton, of Braidentown, Florida, have returned to Plainfield and are living in the house at 315 Central avenue, formerly occupied by J. A. Smith.

A three-year-old daughter of John Barry, of Greenbrook road, fell from the porch at her parents' home this morning and broke an arm in two places. Physicians were called to the house and set the injured member.

Marion Linbarger, the young daughter of Mrs. John Linbarger, of Brooklyn, who was ill with scarlet fever at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Archibold Hacquer, East Front street, has recovered. The quarantine was removed yesterday morning.

Mrs. Frank T. Ostrom, of Carlton avenue, is in New York today, attending the opening of the New Broadway Savings Institution, of which her father, H. F. Hutchinson is the president. The new structure is considered one of the handsomest in New York. Mr. Hutchinson spent yesterday in town with his daughter.

N. O. Moore, Jr., business manager of the Recorder Press, who was called to Decateur, Arkansas, by the illness and death of his father, is expected to return to Plainfield next week. He reached Decateur a few days before his father passed away. During his stay in the west Mrs. Moore has been visiting relatives at Farina, Ill.

Women and Girls Taken In Charge By Her—Speaks At Vincent Chapel Tomorrow Night.

The mid-week prayer meeting to be held tomorrow night under the auspices of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the First M. E. church, in Vincent chapel, will be of unusual interest, Miss Alma Matthews, the denominational missionary at the Ellis Island Immigrant Station, having promised to speak of her work. Regarding her, The Sunday-school Times says, among other things:

"One who stands at the extreme southern end of Battery Park, New

Miss Alma Matthews.

York city, and looks towards the south, seems to himself to be looking around the world. The force of the waves is broken, to be sure, by the clustering islands, but yet they are parts of the long ocean swells out yonder—the swells that toss like playthings the floating palaces that ride so proudly in the harbor.

"But the world that is not to our manner born is not all across the sea. It has come to our door, it passes in ocean steamships from every European port, in sailing vessels redolent with the spices of tropical lands. Turks and Norwegians, swarthy Jews and stately Algerians, rosy-cheeked lasses who have not yet lost the fresh glow they brought from old Ireland or bonnie Scotland—all here. And, for weal or for woe, their friends and kinsmen will come in increasing numbers through the years to follow. What shall we do with them?

"It is fitting that a woman's form, bearing the signal-light of liberty, should sentinel the gateway to the land of the new hope; for to many a storm-tossed immigrant, ill in body and mind and soul, the touch of a woman's hand or the cheer of a woman's voice brings the first welcome on this side of the water.

"Of these Miss Alma E. Matthews, the representative of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, is a veteran in the service, having been in the work for almost a score of years. To occupy a position between the officials and the immigrants on one side, and the society supporting the work on the other, is not the easiest thing in the world. To do so in a way that commands respect and confidence of the officials, the grateful thanks of the immigrants and the abounding love and faith of the Women's Home Missionary Society, is to win a place of which any woman might well be proud.

"In addition to the direct work on the island, Miss Matthews has the privilege of saving many an innocent but ignorant girl, and of bringing courage and cheer to many an unfortunate woman, through the Immigrant Girls' Home, under the society she represents, situated about a block from the landing of the Ellis Island boat.

"I wish I might make you to know this stauch, true woman, too sure of the right to be frightened by difficulties, too clear-headed to be deceived or cajoled, too steadfast to be turned aside one step from the straightforward path of duty. The daily record of her work furnishes many a text for a 'preachment,' or theme for a romance, though written with no thought of its passing into type. One must know the long corridors of the immigrant station, the many flights of stairs and the wearisome retracing and crossing of one's steps, fully to appreciate this story."

Y. M. C. A. Secretary Resigns.

J. F. Billet, the first incumbent of the recently-created berth of office secretary at the Y. M. C. A., has resigned. He will enter the employ of the Vacuum Cleaner Co., tomorrow, as office man. His successor has not yet been picked.

GEORGE W. FENNO DEAD IN HIS 80TH YEAR

WALL PAPER MANUFACTURER PASSED AWAY AT SON'S HOME.

George W. Fenno, aged seventy-nine years, a resident of Plainfield for twenty years, died suddenly last night at the home of his son, R. F. Fenno, on Watchung avenue. He had been in failing health for six months and death was due to a general breakdown in health.

Mr. Fenno was born at Milton, Mass., and was a member of an old Massachusetts family. His business career in New York extended over a period of many years, having been engaged in the manufacture of wall-paper. He was the son of Jarvis Fenno and Susan Cristie. He married Miss Gertrude A. Male, a niece of the late Mayor Job Male. She died in 1900.

There are surviving two sons, G. M. Fenno, of New York, and R. F. Fenno, of this city; also one daughter, Miss Gertrude M. Fenno, and three grandsons, Harold C. and Fred L. Fenno, of this city, and George F. Fenno, of New York.

The funeral services will be held from the late home tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. A. C. McCrea, of the First M. E. church, will officiate. Interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

PREMIERE PERFORMANCE OF "THE PEASANT PRINCE."

Mr. MacClymont's Comic Opera Booked for Thursday, May 16.

"The Peasant Prince," a comic opera in three acts, will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre on Thursday night, May 16. For the first time Plainfield is to have the opportunity of witnessing an opera composed by one of her own citizens. William E. MacClymont, the organist and choirmaster, has written the entire score. The libretto is from the pen of Dr. Chas. A. Clinton, of New York city. Together they have produced a charming work, which will be rendered for the first time in this city, in a manner befitting its work.

The soloists will be Mrs. Theodore Mantz, Miss Etta Yaeger, Mrs. William J. Counihan and William J. Tallamy, Bayard Hawthorne, Joseph C. Martin, W. R. Hill, Lewis J. Geary, George O. Stevens and William N. Runyon, who will be supported by a chorus of sixty and full orchestral accompaniment. Together with Mr. MacClymont in the drilling of the company is associated H. Fletcher Rivers, the well known New York stage director, and no further assurance for a finished performance is needed.

Tickets will be placed on sale at the box office on Saturday morning next, at 9 o'clock.

LOOKING FOR WIFE.

Demented Man's Explanation of His Presence In Strange House.

An unidentified man, supposed to be demented, wandered into the home of Oscar Thorn, South Plainfield, yesterday afternoon, to look for his wife, he said. He said he was certain she was in the house.

Detective O'Reilly took him into custody. He acted queerly, and made odd motions with his hands and feet. He was taken before Judge Smith for examination. He insisted he was all right, and said he knew people in Plainfield. He was put in a carriage and taken to this city, but none of his supposed friends could be located. He said he came from Glenfield, Pa., and he was allowed to start for there.

His name was not learned. He was well-dressed and wore a Masonic pin and a gold watch.

Women Discuss the Home.

Interesting papers on "The House and the Home" were presented at the informal meeting of the Monday Afternoon Club held yesterday in the Casino. "Decoration and Furnishing" were treated in a paper written by Mrs. F. W. Wallace and read by Miss Emily Tracy. "The Sanitary Care of the House" was the subject of a paper by Mrs. James W. De Graff. General discussion followed. With the consent of the executive board, Miss Mabelle Philips, of this city, spent a few minutes in presenting the claims of the New Jersey Public Health Defense League, recently organized.

C. F. Abbott Sells His Residence.

Charles F. Abbott has sold his handsome residential property on Central avenue to A. A. Tilney, possession to be given about the middle of July. Mr. Abbott and family will spend the summer out of town, returning in the fall to continue his residence here. The consideration is not known.

Mrs. M. E. Blauvelt, of Jersey City, is entertaining Mrs. William Greer and Miss Blauvelt, of this city, for the week.

FOR A PUBLICITY FUND

Board of Trade Committee to Canvass Business Center Thoroughly.

WANTS AT LEAST $1,500

Could Use $5,000 and Make Every Cent Of It Tell in Results—What One Town Did.

The subscription committee of the Board of Trade met yesterday to arrange details of its plan to amass a good-sized fund for a campaign of publicity. These ten men were divided into five sub-committees of two each: Herman Schwed, Moses Roth, L. B. Wooston, J. J. Kenney, Elston M. French, J. Fred McDonald, Charles Connover, John Johnston, A. B. Laing and H. A. Todd.

They will divide the business center into five sections, and each section will be thoroughly canvassed. The committee is aiming to secure at least $1,500. Every business man and every professional man in business in Plainfield will be seen. While $1,500 is the minimum amount at which the committee aims, it will not strive simply for that. The committee could use $4,000 or $5,000 to advantage, making every dollar of it tell.

Plans for the publicity work will be discussed at the meeting of the Board Thursday night. The general scheme for publicity is not, at present, in any definite shape.

Speaking of the possibilities of publicity funds, this morning, President Harry M. Marshall referred to the money amassed by the Williamsport, Pa., Board of Trade. In 1900 it secured subscriptions amounting to $250,000, to be paid up in five years. In 1905 subscriptions amounting to $400,000 more, to be paid up by 1909 were secured. This great fund has been used mainly to purchase sites for desirable factories.

BOROUGH SCHOOL MEETING.

Little Beyond Routine Business Transacted at Monthly Meeting.

The Borough Board of Education held its monthly meeting last night, but transacted little beyond ordinary business. Dr. Fred J. Hughes was appointed school physician for another year and Messrs. Cooley and Woodruff were named as a committee to complete all arrangements for the annual commencement exercises in June. Contractor Uzzsinger reported that the rear of the Somerset school grounds had been graded and placed in condition according to his agreement.

Superintendent Krebs reported that a Chicago firm had made him an offer to place six lathes in the manual training department at a cost of $250; also that the Public Service Corporation had offered to install a motor to run them provided the board would pay all power charges. The matter was left in the hands of Mr. Lowe. As Mr. Krebs' request 77 was appropriated for immediate use in this department. Claims amounting to $2,406.23 were ordered paid.

To Manage Health Resort.

N. Douglass Drake, who spent nearly a year in the Adirondacks for the purpose of regaining his health, is now interested with Mrs. W. E. D. Scott, formerly of this city, in the work of establishing an industrial settlement near Saranac Lake. The idea is to furnish a suitable place where people suffering from tuberculosis or consumption may go and regain their health at a moderate expense. The plan is to erect cottages and other buildings whereby industries may be carried on by the members of the settlement who are able to work. Mrs. Scott was formerly Miss Shetter. Her father built the Netherwood Hotel, now Truell Hall, and her husband is at present a professor at Princeton. Associated with Mrs. Scott are a number of well-known philanthropists, who will lend their support to the scheme. Mr. Drake was so greatly benefited by his stay in the Adirondacks that he conceived the idea of establishing a settlement there.

Jamestown Stamps Here.

Postmaster E. H. Bird received his consignment of the special issue of Jamestown stamps, yesterday, there being 5,000 ones and 10,000 twos. The stamps were placed on sale soon after they arrived and there has been a steady demand for them ever since. The present supply will not last long at the present rate.

Borough Fireman Resigns.

The fire committee of the Borough Council held a special meeting last night to receive the resignation of Peter Dooley, one of the drivers in the department. It will take effect tomorrow but a permanent successor has not yet been secured. Mr. Dooley leaves the department in order to take a new position.

PEOPLE'S LOBBY DINNER WILL BE A BIG AFFAIR

SIX HUNDRED PERSONS HAVE SIGNIFIED INTENTION OF BEING PRESENT.

Members of the People's Lobby are enthusiastic over the prospects of success for the May Day dollar dinner at Krueger Auditorium, Newark, tomorrow night, at which William J. Bryan, Everett Colby, George L. Record, Mayor Mark M. Fagan, Sheriff Frank H. Sommer, "Farmer Orator" James E. Martine and others are to speak on reforms and the non-partizan work in which the lobby is interested.

Alden Freeman, of East Orange, chairman of the committee having the dinner in charge, announced this morning that more than 600 tickets had been sold, and applications were still coming in. The maximum number who can be accommodated at the dinner is 800.

Henrotin, president of the National League of Women's Trades Unions; Byron C. Mathews, professor of economics at the Newark High School; Peter Campbell, president of the Newark Board of Trade, and Mrs. Campbell; William A. Baker, William R. Ward, of East Orange; Absalom P. Bachman, of Orange; J. Albert Stowe, of Arlington; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Jenkins, of Llewellyn Park; A. W. McDouglass, Rev. and Mrs. Adolph Roeder, of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Colvin, of East Orange.

Former Assemblyman Henry C. Hines, Austen Colgate, William Fellowes Morgan and Gustavus F. Sommer, Assemblyman John C. Groel, Edward H. Wright, Jr., Gus L. Fake, Joseph P. Tumulty, James Baker and Charles E. Hendrickson, Jr., State Senators George S. Silzer and William C. Gebhardt, Under-Sheriff Charles M. Mason, R. D. Towne, editor of Judge; John A. Moffit, president of the United Hatters of North America; Congressmen Le Gage and William Hughes, former Congressman Allan Benny, Mayor Edward Kenny, of East Newark; Albridge C. Smith, chairman of the Orange Republican city committee; Miss Emily C. Richards, president of the Essex County Woman's Suffrage Association; Police Judge Charles F. Herr, Board of Works Commissioner George H. Lambert, William P. O'Rourke, Caleb Van H. Whitbeck, of Hackensack; Rev. Edmund B. Gearhart, Rev. W. R. Neff, Rev. Horace Porter, James A. Banister, Isaac H. Blanchard, James M. Trimble, Surrogate David C. Carter, Monmouth county; William S. Muchmore and Thomas F. Durning.

Funeral of Benjamin Sutton.

The funeral of Benjamin Sutton, colored, who died suddenly last week, was held at his late home on Webster place, yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. F. D. Tildon, pastor of Bethel chapel, and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery, the pall bearers being Abram Brown, Albert Brinkley, William Jeter, Hans Mitchell, Albert Shipley and George Van Blake.

Reception for Rector and Wife.

The entertainment committee of the Women's Guild of the parish is arranging a reception to be given in honor of Rev. and Mrs. George A. Warner, who recently returned from the wedding trip. The affair will take place in Holy Cross parish house on Monday night.

JR.O.U.A.M. CELEBRATION

Plainfield Council Appropriately Observes Its First Anniversary.

HIGH OFFICERS SPEAK

Addresses By State Councilor Frank Sharpe and Others—W. S. Angleman Presides.

The first anniversary of Plainfield Council, No. 293, Jr. O. A. U. M., celebrated in Junior Hall, last night, was marked by many pleasing features. There was a large representation of members from Franklin, Somerset and Benevolent Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M. In addition there were present State Councilor Frank Sharpe, of Newark; State Treasurer J. Morgan Reed, of Sea Bright, and State Council Secretary W. H. Miers.

Winfield S. Angleman, the first councilor of Plainfield Council, occupied the chair and acted as toastmaster. Excellent addresses of a patriotic nature were made by the State officers and Rev. E. E. Elberson, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, a prominent member of the order. The member of Plainfield Council were congratulated for the fine showing made during its first year, there being an increase of 171 per cent.

The council was organized by Daniel VanWinkle and instituted on April 30, by State Council Secretary W. H. Miers with thirty-five members. Last night it was reported that the membership had reached an even 200 and the financial status is first class. The present officers are: Councilor, R. D. Tomlinson; vice councilor, E. Tompson Smith; past councilor, George B. Cratsley; warden, Samuel Cratsley; conductor, Isaac Peck; recording secretary, F. E. Sebring; assistant, W. Giles; financial secretary, Joel Langborn; treasurer, Julius Williams.

A feature of the celebration was the presentation of a gold watch charm to Senior Past Councilor P. H. Bennett. Mr. Angleman presented the charm on behalf of the council for faithful services performed by Mr. Bennett.

During the evening there was patriotic selections by Martin Aldorff's orchestra, and a clever exhibition of sleight-of-hand by Henry W. Kakip, of this city. Afterward a collation was served by the good and welfare committee of Plainfield Council and a smoker was enjoyed.

TO INTEREST CHILDREN.

S. P. C. A. Want Young People to Join in Its Work.

Effort is to be made by the S. P. C. A. to interest children in humane aims and to draw them into membership. Future strength of the humane doctrine is assured by awakening interest in S. P. C. A. work among children, and for that reason the society will welcome young people to membership.

That interest is increasing in the society's work was made plain at a meeting held in W. A. Coddington's office yesterday, by the report of steady growth in the number of annual and life members. Those desirous of becoming members of the society, or of obtaining information regarding its aims, may apply to Mrs. George W. Bunnell, the treasurer, or Mrs. D. Rapalje, the secretary.

Macadamizing in Netherwood Park.

Denmark road, Dixie Land, and Ravine road, principal streets in that beautiful tract of the Netherwood section of Plainfield, known as Netherwood Park, are now being macadamized by C. M. Meeker, in accordance with an ordinance passed by the Common Council. This attractive site is owned by the Plainfield Loan and Building Company and contains many choice building lots. The property has already been sewered and when the macadamizing is finished everything will be in readiness for the building boom which is soon to follow. This land is high and the surroundings are attractive, making it a desirable place for a home.

Mrs. Benedict's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Lucy A. Benedict was held at her late home on Summit avenue, yesterday afternoon. The service was private and was conducted by Rev. George A. Warner, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross. Interment was at Hillside, the pall bearers being Thomas H. Snape, Corra Ryno, George A. Mellick and David N. Force.

P. H. S. Honor Students.

The honor students of this year's graduating class of the Plainfield High School were announced this morning by Principal I. W. Travell. Three pupils have equal standings and commencement honors will be shared equally between Miss Rose Siegal, Fred Smith and Edna Freeman.

RIVER STEAMER SINKS BIG FREIGHT BARGE

FRED BIRD ABOARD C.W. MORSE WHEN THE CRASH OCCURED.

With a crash that could be heard far up and down the river, the steamboat C. W. Morse, of the People's Line, rammed the propellor barge No. 4, of the New York Central Railroad, off the foot of West Thirty-third street, New York, shortly before 7 o'clock today. The barge sank within a few minutes and one man lost his life. He was John Keyes, the engineer. Fred Bird, of Plainfield, was one of the passengers aboard the Morse. Bird was on his way from New Orleans to his home in Plainfield. He was uninjured.

In the dense fog that hung over the river the Morse was making only a little better than half speed on her way from Albany to her pier at the foot of Canal street. She was hugging the eastern shore, and Capt. Keller was on the bridge.

Many of the passengers were on deck and their shouts were the first warning of the approach of the lighter, which was close on the bow of the big river boat before she could be seen in the fog.

The lighter was cutting diagonally across the river from the west shore.

Before either the Morse or the lighter could swerve from their course they were in collision. The Morse crashed into the Central boat, her bow cutting a wide gap in her side just forward of the smokestack.

As the crash came Capt. Holmes, of the Central boat, knew that his craft was certain to go down within a few minutes, and he ran to the forward companion and called to the engineer and fireman to come on deck.

Engineer Keyes stuck to his post and ordered the fireman, Mannie Anderson, to hurry up the companion and see what had happened.

"PINAFORE" TO BE SEEN AT CASINO THIS WEEK.

Gilbert and Sullivan's Comic Opera to Be Produced Thursday and Friday Nights.

The Plainfield Operatic Association, which will present the comic opera, "Pinafore," at the Casino Thursday and Friday nights, held one of its best rehearsals at the Casino last night. There will be a dress rehearsal tonight. This production will be especially noteworthy because of the extra features to be introduced, which will include dancing by Miss Violet Gray, formerly of the "Liberty Bells Company," of New York. She will dance the "Sailor's Hornpipe." Special scenery has also been made for the opera, one represents the "H. M. S. Pinafore."

This is the cast:

"Sir Joseph Porter," William Holmes; "Capt. Corcoran," Arthur Chamberlain; "Ralph Rackstraw," William J. Tallamy; "Dick Deadeye," William N. Runyon; "Boatswain," and "The Middy," Carlton Dunham; "Josephine," Miss Hortense Marie Sheldon; "Hebe," Miss Elizabeth V. Day, and "Buttercup," Mrs. Ferdinand M. Ward.

The chorus is considered one of the strongest and best ever heard in amateur productions here. It comprises about seventy well-trained voices and a finished performance is assured. Mr. Gloeckner's orchestra, of Elizabeth, will furnish the music and he will direct, thus giving Mr. Holmes an full opportunity to display his ability in the leading part.

Fresh Air Home Meetings.

The managers have commenced preparations for another summer's work at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, and are looking forward to a happy two months with the Mothers and children. They are planning to hold several parlor meetings in the interest of the work, during the next two months; the first one to take place at the home of Mrs. George A. Chapman, No. 443 Stelle avenue, Thursday afternoon, May 2, at 4 o'clock. Miss Sara Curry, manager of the home is to give a talk upon the work, and will bring with her several of the children to speak and sing. Rev. E. M. Rodam, president of the Board, will preside.

Consolidation Report Ready.

Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, as chairman of the Bi-municipal Consolidation Commission, announces that the commission has finished its investigations and will submit its report to the governing bodies of the two municipalities on Monday night. The Plainfield Common Council holds its regular monthly meeting on that night, and Mayor Smalley, of North Plainfield, has been requested to hold an adjourned meeting of the Borough Council at the same time. This he has consented to do and therefore the report will be received simultaneously in the two places.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ridley, of Weston, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cline, of Grant avenue.

LABORERS STRIKE AGAIN

Forty-Five Italians Quit Work Today on the Southside Sewer.

WANTED BETTER PAY

Contractor Was Giving Them $1.50 a Day, While $1.75, Which They Demanded, Is Customary Scale For Such Work.

The work on the Southside sanitary sewer was suddenly terminated this morning, when a gang of forty-five Italians employed in digging on Martine avenue struck for higher wages. They have been receiving $1.50 a day, but today they demanded an increase of twenty-five cents a day, which was refused by Thomas Cusick, acting for Contractor Peter Morgan. The word was passed among the men and soon afterward the whole gang left the job. This is the second time since the work was started that a strike has occurred.

Pat. Kane, sewer contractor, learned of the alleged grievance and offered the work to twenty of the men at $1.75 a day. They accepted the offer. In the meantime the leader of the gang telephoned to the walking delegate in New York, asking him to come to Plainfield and adjust matters for them. According to the leader the men have money coming to them from Mr. Morgan, but he says that payment was refused them until May 15, the customary pay day. Another request made was that the men receive their money every fifteen days instead of once a month, and this was denied.

Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett, when asked about the trouble, declared that he knew little about it, but stated that if the sewer work is delayed much by such strikes the city is likely to call the contractor to account. While Mr. Gavett said that he was not in a position to give definite information on the subject he was under the impression that $1.75 is about the present scale for such labor.

WANT POWER FARE.

Freeholders to Confer With S. I. Ferry Company.

The committee from the Union County Board of Freeholders, of which S. P. T. Wilbur is a member, will meet the officials of the Staten Island Ferry Company at Elizabeth, tomorrow, for the purpose of discussing a reduced fare across the ferry. The distance is much less than a quarter of a mile from the Port to Staten Island, yet five cents is the fare for foot passengers and ten cents for horses and wagons.

Many complaints have been received from time to time regarding what is considered an excessive fare and finally the matter was brought to the attention of the Freeholders, with the result that they have taken it up with the ferry company. It is probable that the company will re-adjust the rate to meet with the approval of people who travel that way.

Charles H. Green.

Charles H. Green, a life-long resident of Morristown, died at his home on Atno avenue on Sunday. He was fifty-eight years old. He was the oldest son of the late George Green, with whom he was associated in the business, to which he succeeded at his father's death. Mr. Green was an active member of the Republican party of Morris county, having at one time been chairman of the county executive committee. He was clerk of the Board of Aldermen of Morristown for a number of years and at the time of his death was secretary of the Board of Managers of the State Hospital for the Insane at Morris Plains. Mr. Green was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. He leaves a widow and four children.

Local Rig Stolen at Elizabeth.

A rig belonging to Michael Kennedy, of Watchung avenue, and which had been hired from him by a local young man, was stolen on Morris avenue, Elizabeth, Sunday night. The animal had been left in the street and was tied to a post but had disappeared when the young man returned for it after a call. The horse is described as a bay cob while the vehicle was a runabout with red running gear.

Walter Sherwin Returns Home.

Walter Sherwin, of Washington street, returned home today after a long season with "The Holy City" company, during which he has travelled across the continent and back. Mr. Sherwin will enjoy a brief vacation and will then enter upon a summer engagement.

—Charles Roy, a pitcher on the Newark baseball team, who has a number of friends in this city, won his first game yesterday. He pitched against Baltimore in the opening game of the Orioles at home.

Reliable Money Lenders

Forget Your Money Troubles—We Can Show You How

Start life afresh. Borrow from us to pay the several you owe and make payments in keeping with your income. By so doing you keep your credit good. Ease up the pressure on yourself and have a chance to "turn around" in other things needed for the family.

An Illustration

One of our clients owed $48 between four people, his salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

Preparatory services will be held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church Friday night and communion on Sunday morning with the reception of new members.

The proposed programme for the seventy-fourth meeting of the North Jersey Baptist Association, to be held May 8, at West Hoboken, has just been issued. There will be morning, afternoon and night sessions. The evening session will be a young people's meeting. Among the speakers during the sessions will be Rev. Samuel J. Skevington, of Newark.

Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur has returned from Albany, N. Y., where he attended the funeral of his cousin.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

Everything is in readiness for the commencement of the active season at the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday. The course and greens are in fine condition and the extensive improvements made at the clubhouse will be a great convenience to the members and their friends.

It is expected that the season schedule for the Park Golf Club will be announced within a few days. Charles B. Morse, chairman of the golf committee, has the matter in charge.

Atlantic City will be the popular mecca for prominent golfers from all parts of the country Thursday, Friday and Saturday, announced as dates for the annual spring golf tournament of the Atlantic City Country Club, an event which annually attracts a host of expert players and society folk to beach hotels. The latter are making elaborate preparations for the three days' carnival, and a variety of social functions will be arranged to please the golfers in the evening as they return from a day's sport on the links at Northfield. Among the trophies this year are the Governor's Cup, President's Cup, Atlantic City Cup and Northfield Cup, together with other suitable prizes, all costly and handsome. Philadelphia, Boston, Pittsburg and New York golfers will be especially well represented in the seashore tourney.

Fred Herrenhoff, of the Garden City Golf Club, captured the first division cup in the open tournament over the course of the Country Club, of Lakewood, Saturday, defeating H. M. Forrest, of Philadelphia, by 4 up and 3 to go. In the handicap H. W. Forrest made the best gross and net scores, namely, 82 and 76, respectively.

There was a handicap sweepstakes against bogie at the Forest Hill Field Club Saturday. There were twenty-three competitors. Floyd Spencer was second, Frown, and Herman J. Egner, William W. Lyons and Arthur V. Taylor finished third, each being 6 down.

There was a club handicap at the Montclair Golf Club Saturday, with prizes for the best gross and net scores. The winners were Marshall Whitlach and Clarence Place, respectively.

L. N. Olds, with a net score of 76, was the winner of the club handicap at the Glen Ridge Golf Club Saturday.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Plainfield High School team will meet the nine from the North Plainfield High School on Crescent Oval, tomorrow afternoon. As the rivalry between these teams is strong a fine contest may be expected.

Judging by the results of the numerous games played on Saturday by the local teams, the fans will see plenty of good sport this summer. A majority of the players are now in mid-season form.

The Pittsburgs made a big climb last week, from seventh to third place.

The New York Nationals are now at home for thirty-one consecutive games, while the Highlanders go away for thirty-two straight.

The two St. Louis teams were the first to reach double figures in number of defeats, the New York Nationals the first to do the trick in victories.

"Lou" Wilson has been playing first base for the Johnstown, Tri-State League team. He expects to make a record this year in the box.

Patten, of the Washington, and Flaherty, of the Boston Nationals, both left-handers, are the quick return pitchers of fast company.

The Hobokens were defeated by the Cuban Stars at Hoboken on Sunday, by the score of 3 to 2.

The Newark Atlantic League team will play its first league game in Brooklyn on Saturday.

Elizabeth, of the Atlantic League, has a battery named Weber and Fields. It is to be hoped that they will not make a show of themselves.

All does not appear to be peaches and cream among the Lackawanna League clubs. Several managers are having trouble in signing desirable players. Hopper, of Irvington, is in the air and that team will not open before May 8. Manager Murphy, of Summit, is having a hard time getting his team in trim and other managers are said to be just as uncertain.

Jim James will not join the Atlantic League forces, but instead will cover first base for Dover this season.

Harold Buck, the twirler released by the Newark Eastern League Club, has signed with Chatham. Saturday he defeated the Cuban Stars.

THE FRANCHISE TAX.

The tables compiled by the State Board of Assessors on the electric, cable and horse car companies reveal some interesting information concerning public utilities of that class in New Jersey. For instance it is shown that the total trackage is 1,000,962 miles. This is divided among sixty-three companies, whose combined capitalization is $98,377,880. Very few of them, indeed only nine, paid any dividend during last year. In this way less than $1,000,000 was expended, yet their aggregate gross receipts amounted to more than $12,000,000.

These concerns represent an enormous investment. Their original capitalization was above $98,000,000. The cost of roads and equipment figure up to more than $178,000,000, while the cost of repairs and operation for the year foot up to $7,200,000.

All these statistics have been gathered to serve as a basis for levying the annual franchise tax under the Act of 1906. This new law requires the companies to pay not only the two per cent. assessment on the gross receipts for the year as provided by the Voorhees franchise measure, but an additional one-half of one per cent. each year until the rate reaches five per cent. in 1912. Consequently the concerns must pay two and one-half per cent. this year. This tax will bring in a revenue of $305,343.47. The assessment, of course, is made by the State Board, but it is subsequently credited to the various municipalities, which are empowered to collect the amounts for their own benefits.

The Newark yellow has made the important discovery that United States Senator Kean is one of the anti-Roosevelt plotters. That dispatch must have been received by direct wireless route from some abnormally developed brain-storm centre.

Although Bryan, Martine and other "also rans" will be the drawing cards, it is positively announced that "crow" will not be served at the dollar dinner tonight.

No, Constant Reader, it is Herman Walker, not Hiram Walker, who has stirred up all this excitement.

NORTHFIELD CONFERENCES.

Plans for the Summer Work Nearing Completion.

East Northfield, Mass., April 30.—Plans for the twenty-fifth season of the Northfield conferences and summer schools are nearing completion. Four separate conferences and two summer schools are scheduled to be held, in addition to the work in the two Northfield schools.

During the summer session at Mt. Hermon strees will be laid upon the Bible study courses given Professor H. B. Wright, of Yale; Rev. F. B. Meyer and Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, of England. A new feature will be the classes in Y. M. C. A. work, led by Professor James McConaughy, A. E. Roberts and other teachers.

The first of the gatherings, the students' conference, will be held from June 28 to July 7.

After this conference there will be sessions of the two summer schools, one to teach practical Sunday-school methods, from July 20 to 27, and the other for the Women's Missionary societies of the United States and Canada, from July 23 to 30. From August 2 to the eighteenth the general conference for Christian workers, established by D. L. Moody, will hold sessions, and during the following month there will be post-conference addresses and a series of lectures at the Northfield schools.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

S. S. Swackhamer will speak at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church will hold a business meeting Tuesday night, May 7.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society of New Jersey will be held on Thursday, May 2, at the First Baptist church, Camden, N. J. Addresses will be made by Mrs. Safford and Miss Shann, of Boston, and Mrs. Swett, a missionary from China.

The members of the Ebenezer Baptist church will hold a woman's day rally in the Reform Hall rooms next Sunday. The choir will render special music and Prof. R. E. Randolph will be in charge and make an address. At the evening service a sermon will be given by a woman preacher from New York city.

A business meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the rooms on Madison avenue Thursday afternoon at 3:30.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Plainfield Aerie, No. 866, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will hold an important meeting in Eagles' Hall, East Second street, tonight.

In an effort to reorganize the Sons of Temperance in this city a meeting will be held in G. A. R. Hall tonight. Plans for reviving John Hand Camp will be discussed. It is expected that the division commander will be present.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., is completing arrangements for the trip to Philadelphia in connection with the annual reunion in July. The members are now placing orders for badges to be worn and also for trading purposes, a custom that has marked all Elk gatherings. The Plainfield badge is original and very artistic, being of solid metal and showing Washington Rock in Relief.

GIRL ARRESTED AS A POOR-BOX THIEF.

Priest Alleges She Had Pennies That Had Been Marked for Identification.

New Brunswick, N. J., April 30.—Bertha Clarke, or Bertha Mills, as she claims to have married William Mills, of Perth Amboy, is in the city lock-up here on a charge of robbing the poor boxes at St. Peter's Roman Catholic church. The police assert the young woman has been looting the boxes for months. She denies this.

Mrs. Mills is twenty-two years old. Her parents live on Stone street, New Brunswick, and are reputable working persons. For the past three months the church has been undergoing extensive alterations and improvements. The regular poor boxes, strongly locked, and of iron, were removed and a temporary box was placed in the vestibule.

Very soon the falling off in the amount secured indicated the box was being tempered with. Sunday noon, after the masses, seemed to be the favorite time for the looting. Mgr. O'Grady placed seven marked pennies in the box and kept watch. According to the complaint and testimony the Clarke girl entered the church and left soon after. On being charged by the rector with having taken the money from the box she denied it and produced seven pennies she claimed as her own. They were marked.

The rector permitted her to go, but the next day she was arrested. She insists she is wrongfully accused.

SENT IMPROPER LETTER.

Good Character of Accused Had Its Weight With Court.

Trenton, April 30.—Before Judges Lanning and Cross in the United States District Court yesterday, William Ceeckler, of Central avenue, Harrison, through his counsel, Frank M. McDermott, pleaded non vult to an indictment charging him with having sent an improper letter to Mrs. Elizabeth Gregory, of Kearny.

Affidavits from Drs. Livingston S. Hinckley and Albert S. Hardin showing that Ceeckler's mind is weak were presented to the court. Letters from Mayor Riordan, Peter Hauck and a score of clergymen and residents of Harrison certifying to the former good reputation of Ceeckler also were introduced.

He was fined $300, which was paid, and he was discharged.

Fined $100 for Dog's Death.

Lexington, Ky., April 30.—The methods pursued by Miss Grace Wilson as punishment for a howling dog, that of pouring kerosene on him and then applying a match, was too much for Judge John J. Riley, who yesterday fined the young woman $100 and costs. She confessed through her attorney, who asked for clemency because of the fact that the girl was worried over the death of her sweetheart, who died two weeks ago. He asserted that she was not responsible for her act. Judge Riley, however, disregarded the plea.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT ACTS, SINGS AND MAKES A SPEECH.

His First Appearance In Plainfield Draws Capacity Audience to Local Playhouse.

Chauncey Olcott, the delightful singer of sweet songs and portrayer of Celtic romance, paid his first visit to Plainfield last night and received such an enthusiastic welcome at the New Plainfield theatre that it seemed as if he had been appearing there regularly for many years. The playhouse held a capacity audience and every member of it seemed bent on outdoing his neighbor in applause. At the close of the third act, Mr. Olcott bowed to three curtain calls and finally had to deliver a breezy little speech before he was let go.

The play in whfch the popular actor was seen is Theodore Burt Sayre's "Eileen Asthore," a pretty little drama, the action of which takes place in and about Dublin in 1804. Mr. Olcott portrayed the part of "Dick Temple," an impetuous, warm-hearted young blade of the period, who, after having gone the paces, suddenly looks into a young woman's eyes and sees something there which causes him to throw off his wild associates and attempt to regain the position in life to which he was born. The scenes afford him an opportunity to display his love-making, an art in which he is past master, and also to sing several songs of the Olcott stamp. The prettles were "Eileen Asthore" and "Day Dreams," the former being "featured."

The supporting company was excellent, Miss Florence Lester having the leading feminine role. Daniel Jarret as "Corney Delaney" stood out prominently in comedy situations and proved an able second to Mr. Olcott.

Alabama Jackies Win.

Norfolk, Va., April 30.—American jackies from the battleship Alabama won the international boat race between the crews of the warships in Hampton Roads yesterday. In the contest were the crews of the Alabama, Virginia and the British cruiser Roxburgh. The latter were left far behind, although they were in teh lead at the start. The victory of the Alabama men won for them the "Jamestown Cup," offered for the fastest crew of rowing officers in the fleets of America, England, Germany and Austria, assembled here for the Exposition.

Says Woman Used Axe On Him.

Elizabeth, April 30.—John Carbage, forty-five years old, was badly assaulted yesterday morning and his boarding mistress, Mary Ann Friese, of 54 Erie street, Elizabethport, is charged with attacking him. The man was about to quit the place, and this, it is claimed, enraged the woman. The police say she attacked him with an axe and inflicted an ugly wound on his head. Carbage came to police headquarters with his face covered with blood and swore out a complaint against the woman, who was arrested yesterday. The injured man had to go to the hospital.

Woman Weighing 300 Dies.

New York, April 30.—Mrs. Minnie Feinberg, four feet seven inches in height, weighing 300 pounds, was found dead in bed in her home, No. 1,464 Second avenue, yesterday. Asthma caused her death. Mrs. Feinberg's fourteen-year-old daughter weighs 180 pounds, and her son, who is nine, weighs 150. Mrs. Feinberg's flesh was such a burden to her that she was scarcely able to move about and she usually slept eighteen hours a day.

Cleveland's Birthplace in Danger.

The birthplace of ex-President Grover Cleveland, at Caldwell, N. J., narrowly escaped destruction by fire yesterday, when a barn in the rear of the residence of Edward S. Leskom caught fire from a bonfire. The flames spread so rapidly the old Cleveland home was saved with much difficulty.

Miss Olla Kline, of West Eighth street, who has been quite ill for several weeks, is recovering slowly.

TO MAKE P. S. C. GIVE BETTER CAR SERVICE.

Elizabeth Council Will Attempt to Regulate Trolley Schedule by Ordinance.

With the view of legally compelling the Public Service Corporation to establish a satisfactory trolley schedule on the First and Third street lines in Elizabeth, City Attorney James C. Connolly has prepared an ordinance to be presented at the next meeting of the City Council, on Wednesday, which practically provides a new time table.

This step has been taken after repeated efforts on the part of the Elizabeth Council to obtain better service on the downtown lines and after several promises of improvement have been made by the Public Service Corporation without result. It was finally determined by the Law Committee of the Council to take legal action in the matter, the purpose being at least to make a test case of the appeal which the company will doubtless make.

At the Elizabeth city hall last night committees from the Board of Trade and from the Business Men's Association met with the City Attorney and the Committee on Railroads and Street Railways of the City Council and in every way approved the action decided upon by Mr. Connolly and his advisory committee. Those who have been associated with Mr. Connolly in framing the new schedule ahe Patrick J. McGurn, chairman; Edward Nugent and Kimber C. Taylor.

It was decided at last night's meeting that tomorrow's Council session determined steps will be taken in the line of trolley regulation. Besides the improvement of the First and Third street lines, the regular operation of the Fifth street line will be urged and steps will be taken toward the annulment of the franchise of the Jefferson avenue line, which the Public Service Corporation does not use. In accordance with a resolution passed two months ago, the officials of the Public Service Corporation have been notified to appear at tomorrow's meeting and show cause why action should not be taken in the cases cited above.

EDWARD MAYNARD ORDAINED BY BISHOP.

Colored Barber Licensed to Preach by African Methodist Episcopal Conference.

The African Methodist Episcopal Conference, which ordained Edward B. Maynard a minister, on Sunday, closed at Paterson yesterday, when the various appointments were announced. Rev. H. C. Ashley, who has been pastor of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, this city, goes to New Brunswick, and Rev. J. T. Diggs, of the latter place, will succeed him in this city. Mr. Diggs is a middle-aged man, unmarried, and is considered one of the strongest preachers in the denomination.

The ordination of Mr. Maynard to the deaconate was impressive. Bishop Wesley Gains, who presided, preached the sermon. Mr. Maynard stood at the head of the class of candidates, having passed the best examination. His credentials license him to preach, officiate at funerals and weddings and do a general work of the ministry.

Quits Saloon for Religion.

New York, April 30.—John Fulton, for twenty-five years proprietor of a saloon at Buffalo avenue and Dean street, Brooklyn, and owner of fast horses, has renounced liquor and all its associations to join the Salvation Army. Residents of East New York, who had known Fulton for many years, saw with their own eyes the evidence of his conversion last night when, with a little band of Salvation Army workers he took up his stand at the corner of Rochester avenue and Fulton street and joined in the services. Fulton says he had had a dream a month ago in which he saw the danger attached to dispensing liquor and that he determined to quit the business forever.

Fitzmaurice explained to his friends today that he never knew what it was to love a woman until the nurse girl brought him out of a long siege of typhoid fever.

Hundred Hurt In Circus Crash.

White Plains, N. Y., April 30.—Collapse of the entire reserved section of seats during the evening performance of Hargreaves' circus here last night caused fractured ankles, arms and legs to a dozen residents of this place, while a hundred or more of the thousand persons thrown to the ground received slighter injuries. The most seriously hurt are Mrs. George Newell, Mrs. George H. Webster, Miss Mamie Coffey, Mrs. Sidney Bare, Mrs. Edward Townsend, Leonard Carney and John Piola. Four of them were taken to a hospital, and the others were removed to their homes after receiving medical attention.

Burned with Her Money.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 30.—Mrs. Kate Kearner was burned to death in her home here yesterday while preparing breakfast, and $700 in notes in a pocket of her dress were destroyed. She also carried $75 in gold, but this was found. Mrs. Kearner poured oil into the kitchen stove to quicken the fire and a burst of flames set her clothes ablaze. The money she carried represented the savings of the family for five years and was to have been applied to the purchase of a home.

Casino Events Scheduled.

Among the musical events planned for the near future is a concert to be given at the Casino on Tuesday night, May 21, under the direction of J. Edmund Skiff. A violin and piano recital is another event to be held at the Casino on Monday night, May 27.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

That quaintest and most delightful of home plays, "The Old Homestead," is the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight. All the same features that have marked "The Old Homestead" in the past as a success are promised, including the famous double quartette, which will be heard in some new and effective numbers. Practically the same cast will be seen as for a dozen years past, which is so closely identified with the play as the author himself.

"At Piney Ridge," a southern drama by David Higgins, will be given at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night. This most excellent dramatic story of the South has no real rival in the theatrical field. "It is easily the best, strongest and most natural of all the plays of the south," has been repeatedly said of it. There are some dramas that remain ever new and interesting and "At Piney Ridge" is one of them. It is a rare combination of quaint characters, rich humor, intensely absorbing scenes and American life. With these elements this play is reasonably sure of a long career as a standard play. The drama will be carefully produced by a competent company.

"Sis Hopkins," that delightfully fragrant play of country life in the Hoosier State, which is now on its eighth tour, has been booked for an engagement at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. Miss Rose Melville, the originator of the peculiarly fascinating type of stage character represented by "Sis Hopkins," is playing the title role again and is supported by a company which fairly scintillates in character studies. The story of the play remains the same in its theme, but there is much in the way of comedy and specialty which has been added by Miss Melville's manager, J. R. Stirling. The now famous seminary scene has become a dazzling display of fairy-like splendor and is brimming over with most delightful specialty.

The chorus of Klaw & Erlanger's production of "The Ham Tree," in which McIntyre and Heath are the stars, booked for presentation in this city at the New Plainfield Saturday, May 11, afternoon and night, is a remarkable one. It consists of sixty young girls ranging from eighteen to twenty-two years of age and twenty young men, not one of whom is over twenty-two. They were carefully selected for their ability as singers and dancers. They introduce their songs and dances throughout the performance. The beauty of the girls and the attractiveness of the boys adds a great interest to this production, which is recognized by all critics as the funniest now on the stage. McIntyre anw Heath appear as minstrels in the first and second acts and as an Indian rajah and ragee in the third. They, with Belle Gold, the comedienne, who plays the role of Desdomone, are the only three black-face characters in the piece. All the other parts are white and are played by notable actors and actresses, among them W. C. Fields, the tramp juggler; Frederick V. Bowers, the popular tenor and song writer; Jeanne Towler, Carolyn Gordon and Alfred Fisher.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

When you get ready to paint or paper your house give the contract to Charles Conover & Co., of Elmwood place, and the work will be done to your entire satisfaction.

The Hotel Iroquois offers every convenience to either the permanent or transient guest. Manager Jerome W. Leary will furnish rates upon request. The dining room service at this hostelry is unsurpassed.

Injured Man Seeks $10,000.

Elizabeth, April 30.—A suit for $10,000 damages has been commenced in the Union County Circuit Court here by John Buckson, of this city, against the Moore Brothers' Company, iron founders, at Elizabethport. A lot of pig iron fell on the plaintiff December 19, 1906, while he was at work in the company's plant. He was badly injured by the accident and has been laid up ever since. He charges carelessness, on the part of his employers, with causing the mishap.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

"I see Goodrich drove a hard bargain," said I. "Yet he came on his knees, if you had but realized it."

Burbank's color mounted. "What do you mean, Sayler?" he inquired, the faint beginnings of the insulted god in his tone and manner.

"You asked my opinion," I answered, "I'm giving it. I don't recall a single name that isn't obviously a Goodrich suggestion. Even the Roebuck appointment—"

"Sayler," he interrupted, in a forbearing tone, "I wish you would not remind me so often of your prejudice against Senator Goodrich. It is unworthy of you. But for my tact—pardon my frankness—your prejudice would have driven him away, and with him a support he controls—"

I showed my amusement.

"Don't smile, Sayler," he protested, with some anger in his smooth, heavy voice. "You are not the only strong man in the party, and I venture to take advantage of our long friendship to speak plainly to you. I wish to see a united party. One of my reasons for sending for you was to tell you how greatly I am distressed and chagrined by the attacks on Senator Goodrich in our papers."

"Did you have any other reason for sending for me?" said I very quietly.

"That was the principal one," he confessed.

"Oh!" I exclaimed.

"What do you mean, Sayler?"

"I thought possibly you might also have wished to tell me how unjust you thought the attacks on me in the eastern papers, and to assure me that they had only strengthened your friendship.

He was silent.

I rose, threw my overcoat on my arm, took up my hat.

"Wait a moment, please," he said. "I have always found you very impartial in your judgments—your clear judgment has been of the highest usefulness to me many times."

"Thank you," I said. "You are most kind—most generous."

"So," he went on, not dreaming that he might find sarcasm if he searched for it, "I hope you appreciate why I have refrained from seeing you, as I wished. I know, senator, your friendship was loyal. I know you did during the campaign what you thought wisest and best. But I feel that you must see now what a grave mistake you made. Don't misunderstand me, Harvey. I do not hold it against you. But you must see, no doubt you do see, that it would not be fair for me, it would not be in keeping with the dignity of the great office with which the people have intrusted me, to seem to lend my approval."

I looked straight at him until his gaze fell. Then I said, my voice even lower than usual: "If you will look at the election figures carefully you will find written upon them a very interesting fact. That fact is: In all the doubtful states—the ones that elected you — Scarborough swept everything where our party has heretofore been strongest; you were elected by carrying districts where our party has always been weakest. And in those districts, James, our money was spent—as you well know."

I waited for this to cut through his enswaddlings of self-complacence, waited until I saw its acid eating into him. Then I went on: "I hope you will never again deceive yourself, or let your enemies deceive you. As to your plans—the plans for Goodrich and his crowd—I have nothing to say. My concern is to have Woodruff's matters—his pledges—attended to. That I must insist upon.

"I Pledged My Word, You Made the Promises—the Debts MUST Be Paid."

He lowered his brows with a heavy frown.

"I have your assent?" I insisted.

"Really, Harvey"—there was an astonishing change from his complacent, superior voice of a few minutes before—"I'll do what I can—but—the impossibilities—the duties of—of my position—"

"You are going to take the office, James," said I. "You can't cheat the men who gave it to you."

He did not answer.

"I pledged my word," I went on. "You gave the promises. I indorsed for you. The debts must be met." Never before had I enjoyed using that ugliest of words.

"You ask me to bring myself into unpopularity with the entire country," he pleaded. "Several of the men on your list are ex-convicts. Others are about to be indicted for election frauds. Many are men utterly without character—"

"They did your work, James," said I. "I guarantee that in no case will the unpleasant consequences to you be more than a few disagreeable but soon forgotten newspaper articles. You haggle over these trifles, and—why, look at your cabinet list! There are two names on it—two of the four Goodrich men—that will cost you blasts of public anger—perhaps the renomination."

"Is this my friend Harvey Sayler?" he exclaimed, grief and pain in that voice which had been used by him for 30 years as the sculptor uses the molding clay.

"It is," I answered calmly. "And never more your friend than now, when you have ceased to be a friend to him—and to yourself."

"Then do you ask me to share the infamy of those wretches," he pleaded.

"They are our allies and helpers," I said, "wretches only as I and all of us in practical politics are wretches. Difference of degree, perhaps; but not of kind. And, James, if our promises to these invaluable fellow workers of ours are not kept, kept to the uttermost, you will compel me and my group of senators to oppose and defeat your most important nominations. And I shall myself, publicly, from the floor of the senate, show up these Goodrich nominees of yours as creatures of corrupt corporations and monopolists." I said this without heat; every word of it fell cold as arctic ice upon his passion.

A long pause, then: "Your promises shall be kept," he assented with great dignity of manner; "not because you threaten, Harvey, but because I value your friendship beyond anything and everything. And I may add I am sorry, profoundly sorry, my selections for the important places do not please you."

"I think of your future," I said. "You talk of friendship—"

"No, no, Harvey," he protested, with a vehemance of reassurance that struck me as amusing.

"And," I went on, "it is in friendship, James, that I warn you not to fill all your crucial places with creatures of the Goodrich crowd. They will rule your administration, they will drive you, in spite of yourself, on and on, from excess to excess. You will put the middle west irrevocably against you. You will make even the east doubtful. You are paying, paying with your whole future, for that which is already yours. If you lose your hold on the people, the money-crowd will have none of you. If you keep the people, the money-crowd will be your very humble servant."

DECISIVE SUIT CUTS

In order to reduce our stock of $19.75 to $49.50 gowns we have decided to offer them at the following figures. In view of the fact that spring has barely made her debut this sale should attract a great deal of attention, and everyone who can possibly make use of a stylish suit should aim to take advantage of it.

$44.75 and $49.50 Suits $39.50—Those who have waited long now to purchase their Spring Suits will be amply repaid tomorrow. Choice of any of our $44.75 and $49.50 silk lined voile suits, made of Altman's best wire voile in black, blue, champagne, tan, and raspberry, over finest taffeta silk—beautifully trimmed with silks, braid and laces $39.50

Smart Eton Suits of Panama cloth in blue, brown, gray or champagne; also gray mixtures—they are tastefully trimmed braids and lace and have plaited skirts—regular $29.50, special $19.75

Popular Cut-a-way Suits of smart gray, brown or green checks, also new Prince Chap suits of becoming gray mixtures—all perfectly made and tastefully trimmed—regular $30.00, special $24.75

Tailored Suits—Broken lines and sizes—only few of a style—made of Panama cloths, checks and mixtures; too many styles in the lot to attempt to describe—originally $14.75 to $19.75 ..... $12.75

Tailored Silk Suits—Made of good, heavy taffeta in black, blue or leather shade—popular Eton and Pony styles—full pleated skirts—regular $30.00 suits selling special tomorrow at $24.75

STATE NEWS BRIEFS.

Seven-year-old George Kurth, of Westville, was drowned in Timber Creek Wednesday but the body was not discovered until late that night, after the tide had gone down.

The announcement of the resignation of Captain L. W. Harris as postmaster at Newfield has brought out two lively candidates for the job—Frank Morrell and Fenton Louder.

Vice-Chancellor Garrison has handed down an opinion in the suit brought by Albert Fogg against the Ocean City Sewer Company sustaining the company's rates, which Fogg had contested.

The Bridgeton authorities have received information from the government engineers that the dredging and improvement of the Cohansey river will be done during the present summer. The appropriation is $65,500.

The Jersey City public school teachers have decided to demand an increase of pay, and have appointed a committee and instructed it to persistently keep at the city officials who have the authority and not desist until a new salary schedule is adopted.

Guslanti Garaski, of 29 Spring street, Paterson, was hit in the face by a falling steel beam in the Passaic Steel Works yesterday and was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital suering with a compound fracture of the nose and a deep wound in his forehead.

Hundreds of persons watched the first haul of the big shad seine last Thursday at the Washington Park fishery, Gloucester. The result follows: One hundred shad, 100 herring and about 100 fish of other varieties. The shad were sold to Philadelphians at an average price of $1 each.

A BEASTLY BIG THING.

A Whole Performing Menagerie In One Arena.

When the Frank A. Robbins & Co. All New Great Feature Shows were being organized, the New York Clipper spoke of them as "The Birth of the Big One," and that description may be extended so that stupendously sensational feature which involves the introduction in one arena in simultaneous performances of almost every species of wild and domesticated beasts that can be safely handled in the open before an audience, and with enough brains to learn every trick possible to the limitations of quadrupedal anatomy. This collossally cosmopolitan assemblage of wise mammoths and cute and cunning creatures includes elephants, zebras, water buffalo, camels, dogs, goats, horses, llamas, ponies, donkeys, dromedaries, mules, bears, monkeys and sacred cattle, and has cost its originator, Manager Robbins, a big lot of both "the long green" and trouble, but the years of expenditure, experiment and patient training have at length found ample reward in most impressive, surprising and amusing results. This millennium-like feature and all the other wild beasts, circus and hippodrome ones of the enterprise named will be bought to us by special railroad trains on Thursday, May 2.

Miss Carrie Engel, of Somerset street, who has been detained at home for some time by illness, is much improved and is able to be out again.

Mrs. Frank H. Moffett, of Brunswick, Ga., is visiting her parents, Captain and Mrs. P. E. Stuart, of Grove street. She returned home on account of the illness of her father.

Buttling's Great Race.

New York, April 30.—Just how much money "Dave" Johnson and those who follow his lead lost at the Jamaica track yesterday on F. Burlew's Samson, in the third race, and on Johnson's own colt, Senator Clay, in the fourth race, may never be known, but it is a fact that both horses carried enormous commissions and both were beaten. Samson has not run a really good race in this vicinity since he began his Eastern campaign, but yesterday his competitors included the patched up cripple Buttling, making his first appearance in nearly two years, and three others which had little class. Buttling had been patiently handled in the interim, having been driven to a buggy to keep the wieght off his back, and yesterday the resuscitated cripple ran, perhaps, the best race of his life. Despite his 124 pounds Buttling ran the first five furlongs in 1:00 4-5, which is at a sprinter's pace, and long before the race was over those who backed Samson were calling themselves all sorts of names at their poor judgment.

P. S. C. CONDUCTOR RUN DOWN BY AUTO

IRVING W. HARTMAN BADLY INJURED—IS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Irving W. Hartman, of Roselle, a conductor of a P. S. C. main line trolley car, was knocked down and badly injured by an automobile as he alighted from his car. The accident happened on West Front street near Clinton avenue at 2:30 this afternoon. The injured man was hurried to the hospital in the auto.

It is said that the automobile was going at a fair rate of speed, running towards Dunellen and was on the right side of the road. Conductor Hartman is said to have jumped off the back of his car without looking ahead and in a moment he was knocked down.

The number of the automobile was 16108. The owner of the machine put the man aboard his machine and rushed him to the hospital. On the way Detective Sergeant Overbaugh was taken aboard the car.

When the accident happened a man and woman were in the auto.

—In the account of the funeral of William E. Koeyer in yesterday's issue of The Daily Press it was stated in mistake that burial was made in St. Mary's cemetery. The interment was in the North Plainfield cemetery.

—Ruth Freeman, the seven-year-old girl, who was run over on Park avenue, Saturday, by a stone wagon, receiving a compound fracture of the left leg, is steadily improving. The physician in charge does not now believe that the girl will lose her leg.

Some actors know so little that they don't know enough to know that they don't know everything.

It5s'a good thing we are never satisfied; if we were we would quit sawing wood and surprising the world.
